rules and regulations

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains regulatory documents having general applicability and legal effect most of which are keyed to and codified in the Code of Federal Regulations, which is published under 50 titles pursuant to 44 U.S.C. 1510.

The Code of Federal Regulations is sold by the Superintendent of Documents. Prices of new books are listed in the first FEDERAL REGISTER issue of each month.

Title 7—Agriculture

CHAPTER IX—AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE (MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND ORDERS; FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

PART 981—ALMONDS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

Administrative Rules and Regulations; Quality Control

Notice of a proposal to amend Subpart—Administrative Rules and Regulations (7 CFR 981.441–981.481) by adding a new § 981.442 was published in the August 26, 1976, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 36034). The proposed section provides for quality control of incoming almonds. It prescribes how the quantity of inedible kernels in each variety of almonds received by a handler must be determined and disposed of by the handler.

The subpart is pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 981, as amended (7 CFR Part 981; 41 FR 26852, 27827, 53650), hereinafter collectively referred to as the "order", regulating the handling of almonds grown in California. The order is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). The proposal was based on a unanimous recommendation of the Almond Control Board.

The notice afforded interested persons an opportunity to submit written data, views, or arguments with respect to the proposal; one such comment was received from the Almond Board of California.

Section 981.42 (effective July 1, 1976; 41 FR 26852, 27827) provides among other things that each handler shall cause to be determined, through the inspection agency, and at the handler's expense, the percent of inedible kernels in each variety of almonds received by him, and shall report this determination to the Board. The quantity of inedible kernels in each variety in excess of two percent of the kernel weight received, shall constitute a weight obligation to be accumulated in the course of processing and shall be delivered to the Board, or Board accepted crushers, feed manufacturers, or feeders. Section 981.42 also authorizes the Board, with the approval of the Secretary, to establish rules and regulations necessary and incidental to the administration of this provision, including the method of determining inedible kernel content and satisfaction of the disposition obligation. It also provides that the Board for good cause may waive portions of obligations for those handlers not generating inedible material from such sources as blanching or manufacturing.

The notice proposed the addition of a new section, pursuant to the authority contained in § 981.42. The new § 981.442 specified the manner in which the inedible kernelweight of almonds would be determined and methods by which a handler could satisfy his inedible kernelweight obligation. The proposal also provided procedures for maintaining the identity of the various forms of almond receipts by variety, reporting requirements, and waiving a portion of the disposition obligations of those handlers not blanching almonds or manufacturing almond products.

On the basis of the Board's comment several changes are being made in § 981.442, as proposed in the notice. The last sentence of § 981.442(a)(1) is changed to require each handler to submit to the Board such reports of the quantity received by the method of acquisition—i.e. contract, field purchases, etc.—as the Board may require. In its comment, the Board indicated that this provision should not impose a mandatory requirement, but rather provide the Board with authority to obtain this information if needed for compliance.

The Board commented that that portion of § 981.442(a)(2) dealing with the definition of an "unknown" lot is at variance with handler practice in that the term "unknown" is applied only to a lot in which the unknown variety comprises 90 percent or more of the lot. Therefore, the definition of an "unknown" lot has been revised accordingly.

The Board noted that, in § 981.442(a)(3), "total kernel weight" had been proposed as a basis for inspection service reporting. This term, however, is at variance with the industry's concept of "sound meat shell-out" which takes into consideration a shellout loss. Therefore, subparagraph (3) is revised to require the inspection agency to prepare a report for each handler showing, by variety, the total kernel weight received by the handler less any allowance for shellout loss as the Board may prescribe, and the inedible kernel weight. Also, on the basis of the Board's comment, the provision for the inspection agency to include, in its report, the total kernel weight of almonds acquired by the handler, has been deleted. The Board indicated that this information is of no value to it for inedible determination. In conformity with the change in subparagraph (3), § 981.442(a)(4) is changed to require disposition of the weight of inedible kernels in excess of two percent of the kernel weight reported to the Board, instead of two percent of "total kernel weight" proposed in the notice.

In its comment, the Board also requested that almonds of the Peerless variety designated as bleaching stock be exempted from the requirements of §§ 981.42 and 981.442 for inedible determination and disposition. It also proposed that § 981.442(a)(4) be changed to permit an adjustment of the disposition obligation if almond varieties other than Peerless are used as bleaching stock.

Subsequent to the submission of the Board's comment, the order was amended December 6, 1976 (41 FR 53650). The amendment permits the Board, with the approval of the Secretary, to exempt bleaching stock almonds from inedible kernel determination or obligation pursuant to § 981.42(a). Bleaching stock are almonds which are marketed in the shell. Previously, this section which became effective July 1, 1976, provided that each handler cause to be determined the percent of inedible kernels in each variety of all almonds he receives and report the determination to the Board. The requirements of § 981.42(a), however, were designed primarily to control inedible kernels in shelled almonds. Therefore, § 981.442(a)(1) as proposed in the notice has been changed to permit the exemption of Peerless variety almonds designated as bleaching stock from the determination and obligation requirements. Also, § 981.442(a)(4) has been revised so that a proportionate reduction from the disposition obligation would be permitted for almonds of varieties other than Peerless when used as bleaching stock.

The Board requested that § 981.442(a)(7) be essentially the language it had previously recommended to the Secretary. The proposal in the notice would have required that all lots received from growers, as "inedible almonds unfit for processing", be disposed of in their entirety as provided in § 981.442(a)(5). Proposed subparagraph (5) would have required these lots to be received and kept under surveillance of the inspection agency, and identified as the inspection agency and the Board may require. The Board noted in its comment, however, that these requirements were unnecessary and burdensome on handlers. It said that disposition of such an inedible lot should be a separate and additional obligation, and that inspectors were not always available to perform functions specified in the notice. Therefore, § 981.442(a)(7) is changed to require all lots received from growers as "inedible almonds unfit for processing", be exempt from the requirements of § 981.442(a)(1) and (3). The lots, however, shall be disposed of in their entirety other than pickouts, as provided in § 981.442(a)(5).

Such disposition of these lots would be in addition to the disposition obligation of § 981.442(a)(4). If a grower sells or ships inedible almonds to a person other than a handler, the grower would thereby become a handler and subject to all the requirements of § 981.442(a).

The Board also requested that the introductory paragraph of § 981.442(a) be changed to that it had proposed. The Board said this should be a "general statement which does not resolve later issues." However, the language which appeared in the notice is more appropriate in that it restates the guidelines set forth in § 981.42(a), which § 981.442 implements. Thus, the wording proposed in the notice should be adopted.

Therefore, after consideration of all relevant matter presented, including that in the notice, the information and recommendation submitted by the Board, the comment received, and other available information, it is found that to amend the administrative rules and regulations as herein set forth will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

It is further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective time of this action until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that: (1) These rules apply to 1976 crop almonds; (2) The delivery of the 1976 almond crop is well under way and the final details of the inedible determination and obligation are urgently needed; (3) Further delay would burden the field buying and processing activities of handlers; and (4) No useful purpose would be served by postponing its effective time beyond that hereinafter provided.

It is therefore, ordered, That Subpart—Administrative Rules and Regulations (7 CFR 981.441–981.481) be amended by adding a new § 981.442 reading as follows:

§ 981.442 Quality control.

(a) Incoming. Pursuant to § 981.42(a), the quantity of inedible kernels in each variety of almonds received by a handler, including almonds of his own production, shall be determined and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph.

(1) Sampling. Each handler shall cause a representative sample of almonds to be drawn from each lot, except lots of Peerless variety designated as bleaching stock, of any variety received by him. The sample shall be drawn before inedible kernels are removed from the lot, or the lot is processed or stored by the handler. For receipts at premises with mechanical sampling equipment and under contracts providing for payment by the handler to the producer for sound meat content, samples shall be drawn by the handler in a manner acceptable to the Board and the inspection agency. The inspection agency shall make periodic checks of the mechanical sampling procedures. For all other receipts, including but not limited to field examination and purchase receipts, accumulations purchased for cash at the handler's door or from an accumulator, or almonds of the handler's own production, samples shall be drawn by or under the surveillance of the inspection agency. All samples shall be bagged and identified in a manner acceptable to the Board and the inspection agency. Each handler shall identify his receipts according to the method of acquisition. Each handler shall submit to the Board such reports of the quantity received by method of acquisition, as the Board may require.

(2) Variety. For the purpose of classifying receipts by variety to determine a handler's disposition obligation, "variety" shall mean that variety of almonds which constitutes at least 90 percent of a lot. If no variety constitutes at least 90 percent of the almonds in a lot, the lot shall be designated as "mixed". If the variety which constitutes at least 90 percent of the almonds in the lot is unknown, the lot shall be designated "unknown".

(3) Analysis of sample. Each sample shall be analyzed by or under the surveillance of the inspection agency to determine the kernel content and the proportion of inedible kernels in the sample. The inspection agency shall prepare a report for each handler showing, by variety, the total kernel weight received by the handler less any allowance for shellout loss as the Board may prescribe, and the inedible kernel weight. The report shall cover the handler's daily receipts or the handler's total receipts during a period not exceeding one month, and shall be submitted by the inspection agency to the Board and the handler.

(4) Disposition obligation. The weight of inedible kernels in excess of two percent of the kernel weight reported to the Board of any variety received by a handler shall constitute his disposition obligation. If a variety other than Peerless is used as bleaching stock, the weight so used may be reported to the Board and the disposition obligation for that variety reduced proportionately.

(5) Meeting the disposition obligation. Each handler shall meet his disposition obligation by delivering packer pickouts, kernels rejected in blanching, pieces of kernels, meal accumulated in manufacturing, or other material, to crushers, feed manufacturers, feeders, or dealers in nut wastes, on record with the Board as Accepted Users. Each disposition of such almond material shall be sampled and the almond meat content determined at the time of loading for delivery to the accepted user or at the user's destination by the inspection agency or the Board. The almond meat content of each delivery shall be reported to the Board and the handler and credited to the handler's disposition obligation. Deliveries containing less than 10 percent almond meat content shall not be credited against the disposition obligation: Each handler's disposition obligation shall be satisfied when the almond meat content of the material delivered to accepted users equals the disposition obligation, but no later than July 31 succeeding the crop year in which the obligation was incurred.

(6) Partial waiver of obligation. Any handler generating inedible kernels only in the form of pickouts after shelling, may petition the Board for a waiver of the difference between this inedible weight and his disposition obligation. The petition will be granted only if the handler certifies to the Secretary and the Board that (i) He did not engage in any blanching, cutting, chopping or other processing of almond kernels during the crop year, (ii) All almonds shelled by or for him were hand-picked on belts and the visibly inedible almonds removed, and (iii) That he did not place into trade channels any almonds with more than two percent of the handler's inedible disposition obligation.

(7) Inedible almonds unfit for processing. All lots received from growers as "inedible almonds unfit for processing," shall be exempt from the requirements of paragraphs (a)(1) and (3) of this section, but shall be disposed of in their entirety (other than as pickouts), as provided in paragraph (a)(5) of this section. Disposition of these lots shall not be credited toward the disposition obligation of paragraph (a)(4) of this section. If a grower sells or ships inedible almonds to a person other than a handler, the grower thereby becomes a handler and subject to all the requirements of this paragraph.

Dated: January 12, 1977, to become effective January 17, 1977.

CHARLES R. BRADER,
Acting Director,

Title 19—Customs Duties

CHAPTER I—UNITED STATES CUSTOMS SERVICE

[T.D. 77-26]

PART 4—VESSELS IN FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC TRADES

Equipment Purchased in Foreign Ports

On February 27, 1976, a notice of proposed rulemaking was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 8490), which proposed to amend § 4.15 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 4.15) pertaining to the dutiability under section 466, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1466), of vessel equipment purchased in foreign ports by American fishing boats.

An American vessel licensed to engage in the fisheries is not considered to be engaged in foreign trade and therefore is not subject to duties arising under section 466 of the Tariff Act, except when such vessel exchanges its license for a registry or obtains a permit to touch and trade on Customs Form 1379 as required by § 4.15(a) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 4.15(a)), or does in fact engage in foreign trade. The United States Customs Service has ruled, as reflected in footnote 28 to § 4.15(a), that a vessel licensed for the fisheries which "puts into a foreign port or place and only obtains bunkers, stores, or supplies suitable for a fishing voyage" is not considered to have touched and traded there. Furthermore, the Customs Service has not required American fishing vessels to obtain a clearance or a permit to touch and trade when they depart the United States with the intention of purchasing fish nets or netting or other vessel equipment outside of the United States. Consequently, fish nets or netting purchased in this manner by American fishing vessels has not been subject to the assessment of the 50% duty provided for in section 466, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended.

The United States Customs Service reviewed its position in this matter in light of the amendment to section 466 of the Tariff Act of 1930 by Public Law 91–654, January 5, 1971, and has determined that the term "vessel supplies," as used in footnote 28 to § 4.15 of the Customs Regulations, does not include fish nets or netting. Thus, American fishing vessels which depart the United States for foreign ports with the intent of purchasing fish nets or netting or other vessel equipment (other than equipment which was damaged or lost on the voyage) shall be required to obtain either a clearance for the foreign port (where the vessel holds a register) or a permit to touch and trade (where the vessel is merely licensed to engage in the fisheries), whether or not the vessel engages in fishing on that voyage.

The purpose of the amendments is to require the payment of duty under section 466 of the Tariff Act on fish nets or netting or other vessel equipment purchased and laden in foreign ports, including preordered equipment. Therefore, the amendments provide that equipment purchases are dutiable, whether intended or not, inasmuch as vessels making those purchases are considered to be engaged in the foreign trade. It is emphasized that the duty under section 466 on fish nets or netting or other vessel equipment purchased in a foreign port will be remitted if the purchases replace items that, having been aboard the vessel when it cleared the United States, were damaged during the course of the voyage as a result of stress of weather or other casualty.

Interested persons were given until April 28, 1976, to submit relevant data, views, or arguments regarding the proposal. After consideration of all comments received, the following modifications were made in the proposed amendments:

The second sentence of the amendment to § 4.15(a) has been reworded to clarify the circumstances under which the master must clear for a foreign port or obtain a permit to touch and trade. Those circumstances are when a fishing vessel departs from the United States and there is an intent to stop at a foreign port (1) to lade vessel equipment which was preordered, (2) to purchase and lade vessel equipment, or (3) to purchase and lade vessel equipment to replace existing vessel equipment.

Two new sentences are added at the end of § 4.15(a) to provide that purchases of fish nets or netting or other vessel equipment, whether intended at the time of departure or not, are subject to declaration, entry, and payment of duty pursuant to section 466 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, and that the duty may be remitted if it is established that the purchases resulted from stress of weather or other casualty.

The words "Fish netting," used in the parenthetical statement in the amendment to footnote 28, are changed to "Fish nets and netting," in order to conform with the terms used in section 466 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, and the parentheses are deleted.

Accordingly, § 4.15(a) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 4.15(a)) and the last paragraph of footnote 28 to § 4.15(a), modified to include these changes, are adopted as set forth below.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective 90 days after publication in the Customs Bulletin.

VERNON D. ACREE,
Commissioner of Customs.

Approved: January 14, 1977.

JERRY THOMAS,
Under Secretary of the Treasury.

1. Section 4.15(a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 4.15 Fishing vessels touching and trading at foreign places.

(a) Before any vessel enrolled and licensed or licensed to engage in the fisheries shall touch and trade at a foreign port or place, the master shall obtain from the district director a permit on Customs Form 1379 to touch and trade.

When a fishing vessel departs from the United States and there is an intent to stop at a foreign port (1) to lade vessel equipment which was preordered, (2) to purchase and lade vessel equipment, or (3) to purchase and lade vessel equipment to replace existing vessel equipment, the master of the vessel must either clear for that foreign port or obtain a permit to touch and trade, whether or not the vessel will engage in fishing on that voyage.[28] Purchases of such equipment, whether intended at the time of departure or not, are subject to declaration, entry, and payment of duty pursuant to section 466 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1466). The duty may be remitted if it is established that the purchases resulted from stress of weather or other casualty.

2. The last paragraph of footnote 28 to § 4.15(a) is amended to read as follows:

[28] * * *

* * * * *

If such a vessel puts into a foreign port or place and only obtains bunkers, stores, or supplies suitable for a fishing voyage, it is not considered to have touched and traded there. Fish nets and netting are considered vessel equipment and not vessel supplies.

PART 10—ARTICLES CONDITIONALLY FREE, SUBJECT TO A REDUCED RATE, ETC.

PART 172—LIQUIDATED DAMAGES

Entries of Merchandise Under Generalized System of Preferences

Treasury Decision 76–2, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 31, 1975 (40 FR 60047), added §§ 10.171 through 10.178 to the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 10.171–178) to set forth a procedure for the duty-free entry of certain merchandise from designated beneficiary developing countries pursuant to the Generalized System of Preferences established by the President in accordance with Title V of the Trade Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93–618, 88 Stat. 1978).

Under § 10.173(a) of the Customs Regulations, the importer or consignee of a shipment of eligible merchandise valued in excess of $250 is required to file with the district director of Customs at the time of entry a properly completed Certificate of Origin, Form A (or an acceptable duplicate thereof), as evidence of the country of origin. If a properly completed Certificate of Origin (or duplicate thereof) is not produced at the time of entry, the entry will still be accepted, if all other applicable requirements are met, provided the importer or consignee gives a bond on Customs Form 7551, 7553, or 7595 for the production of the required Certificate of Origin.

The bond is required to be given in the amount prescribed for that bond under § 113.14 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 113.14): in the case of the single entry bond, Customs Form 7551, the amount must be equal to the value of the merchandise as set forth in the entry, plus the estimated duty (including any taxes required by law to be treated as duties) and the estimated amount of any other taxes imposed upon or by reason of importation; in the case of the term bonds, Customs Forms 7553 and 7595, the required amounts are $10,000 and $100,000, respectively, or such larger amount as the district director may deem necessary.

In the event a properly completed Certificate of Origin (or duplicate thereof) is not delivered by the importer or consignee within 60 days after the entry, or such additional period as the district director may, for good cause, allow, § 10.173(a)(3) presently requires that liquidated damages be assessed in the full amount of the bond, if the bond was given on Customs Form 7551, or in the event the bond was given on Customs Form 7553 or 7595, in the amount that would have been demanded had bond been given on Customs Form 7551.

However, § 172.22(c) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 172.22(c)), provides, in part, that when free entry is dependent upon the production of a document which the importer fails to produce, the district director shall treat the claim for free entry as abandoned upon the assessment and payment of duty and may cancel the bond given for the production of the free entry document without the collection of liquidated damages.

In view of the conflict presently existing in these provisions with respect to the assessment of liquidated damages in the event of a failure to produce a document on which a claim for free entry depends, a reappraisal of the requirements in this regard presently set forth in § 10.173(a)(3) of the Customs Regulations has resulted in the conclusion that the assessment of liquidated damages in the manner prescribed by that section is unwarranted.

Therefore, it is considered desirable to amend § 10.173(a)(3) of the Customs Regulations to provide that, in the event the importer or consignee fails to deliver a properly completed Certificate of Origin to the district director within the time allowed, the district director shall treat the entry as dutiable and may cancel the bond (or the charge against the bond) given for the production of the Certificate of Origin in accordance with § 172.22(c) of the Customs Regulations.

Upon a reexamination of the wording of § 172.22(c) of the Customs Regulations, it is also considered necessary to amend that section to emphasize that, in the event a term bond is given to secure the production of a duty-free document, it is the charge against the bond (created by the failure to produce the document), and not the bond itself, which is subject to cancellation by the district director.

Accordingly, §§ 10.173(a)(3) and 172.22(c) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 10.173(a)(3), 172.22(c)) are amended in the following manner:

1. Paragraph (a)(3) of § 10.173 is amended by deleting the fourth and fifth sentences and adding in lieu thereof a new fourth sentence to read as follows:

§ 10.173 Evidence of the country of origin.

(a) • • •

(3) Release under bond. • • • If the Certificate of Origin is not delivered to the district director within 60 days of the date of entry or such additional period as the district director, for good cause, may allow, the district director shall treat the entry as dutiable and may cancel the bond or the charge against the bond, as appropriate, in accordance with § 172.22(c) of this chapter.

• • • • • •

2. Paragraph (c) of § 172.22 is amended to read as follows:

§ 172.22 Special cases acted on by District Director of Customs.

• • • • • •

(c) Nonproduction of free-entry or reduced-duty documents. When free entry or the application of a reduced rate of duty is dependent upon the production of a document which the importer fails to produce, or when a conditionally-free or reduced duty provision claimed on entry is held to be inapplicable, the claim for free entry or reduced rate of duty shall be treated by the district director as abandoned upon the assessment and payment of duty and the bond (or, in the case of a term bond, the charge against the bond) given for the production of the free-entry or reduced-duty document may be cancelled without the collection of liquidated damages.

• • • • • •

Inasmuch as the foregoing amendments liberalize or clarify the present provisions of the Customs Regulations and place no affirmative duty or burden on the public, prior notice and public procedure thereon is unnecessary and good cause is found for dispensing with the delayed effective date provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553(d).

Effective date: This amendment shall be effective January 17, 1977.

VERNON D. ACREE,
Commissioner of Customs.

Approved: January 6, 1977.

Under Secretary of the Treasury.

Title 24—Housing and Urban Development

CHAPTER II—OFFICE OF ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR HOUSING—FEDERAL HOUSING COMMISSIONER, DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

SUBCHAPTER B—MORTGAGE AND LOAN INSURANCE PROGRAMS UNDER NATIONAL HOUSING ACT

[Docket No. R-77-431]

PART 241—SUPPLEMENTARY FINANCING FOR INSURED PROJECT MORTGAGES

Eligibility of Hospitals for Supplemental Loans

The following amendments are being made to §§ 241.110, 241.125, and 241.140 of Title 24 of the Code of Federal Regulations in order to implement Section 5 of the Housing Authorization Act of 1976, which amends Section 241 of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1715z-6) to clarify that hospitals insured under Section 242 of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1715z-7) are eligible for supplemental loans under Section 241. Inasmuch as the amendments to the regulations implement a statutory amendment which clarifies existing eligibility requirements to provide financing for needed additions to hospitals and will not adversely affect any present participant or any potential applicants in the Section 241 program, the Secretary has determined that advance publication, notice and public procedure are impracticable and unnecessary and good cause exists for making this amendment effective upon publication.

The Department has determined that an Environmental Impact Statement is not required with respect to this rule. The Finding of Inapplicability, in accordance with HUD's environmental procedures handbook (HUD Handbook 1390.1) is available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk, Room 10141, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, D.C.

1. Section 241.110 is amended to add a new subparagraph (4) to paragraph (b) as follows:

§ 241.110 Certificate of use for transient or hotel purposes.

• • • • • •

(b) • • •

(4) In connection with a hospital covered by a mortgage insured under the provisions of §§ 242.1 et seq. of this chapter or by a mortgage held by the Secretary.

• • • • • •

2. Section 241.125 is amended to read as follows:

§ 241.125 Use of loan proceeds.

The proceeds of the loan shall be used only to finance improvements or additions to a multifamily project, group practice facility or hospital which is subject to a mortgage insured under any section or title of the Act or covered by a mortgage held by the Secretary. The proceeds of a loan involving a nursing home, group practice facility or hospital may also be used in the operation of such nursing home, group practice facility or hospital.

3. Section 241.140(c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 241.140 Assurance of completion.

• • • • • •

(c) Supplemental loans, incurred solely for the purpose of purchasing equipment in a nursing home, group practice facility or hospital, are exempt from the above assurance of completion requirements.

(Sec. 7(d), Department of HUD Act; (42 U.S.C. 3535(d)).)

NOTE: It is hereby certified that the economic and inflationary impacts of this final rule have been carefully evaluated in accordance with OMB Circular A-107.

Effective date. These amendments will be effective on January 17, 1977.

JOHN T. HOWLEY,
Acting Assistant Secretary for Housing—Federal Housing Commission.

CHAPTER X—FEDERAL INSURANCE ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

PART 1905—STATEWIDE "FAIR" PLANS

Assurance of Completion Requirements; Correction

The Notice published December 30, 1976, at 41 FR 56793 is corrected to read as follows:

Pursuant to Title XI and Title XII of the National Housing Act (added by the Urban Property Protection and Reinsurance Act of 1968, 12 U.S.C. 1749bbb—1749bbb-21), (5 U.S.C. 553), as amended by the National Insurance Development Act of 1975 (Pub. L. 9413, 89 Stat. 68, 12 U.S.C. 1749bbb Note), and delegation of authority by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (34 FR 2680, February 27, 1969), the Federal Insurance Administrator published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 1499, 1500, January 8, 1976) a notice of proposed rulemaking pertaining to Part A of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1749bbb—1749bbb-21) as a new § 1905.13 of Part 1905 of Chapter X of Title 24.

The purpose of the new § 1905.13 as adopted is to promulgate in regulatory form a requirement that each FAIR Plan offering insurance pursuant to the Act (12 U.S.C. 1749bbb—1749bbb-21) shall provide a notice to all FAIR Plan policyholders with all new or renewal policies mailed on and after April 15, 1977, that consumer oriented inquiries and complaints dealing with the policy issuance and/or claims handling performance of the FAIR Plan and its agents and employees may be directed by the policyholder to the State insurance regulatory body thus being available for Federal Insurance Administration audit; to implement the Department of Housing and Urban Development's commitment to a plement the Department of Housing and and interests of consumers are fully considered and duly respected; and to comply with the spirit of President Ford's April 17, 1975, letter to the Congress stressing the importance of assuring that consumer interests "receive full consideration in all Government actions" and the President's Directive that each agency and Department undertake a review of its policies and procedures as they affect consumer representation in agency decision making.

Interested parties were given 60 days within which to submit written comments relative to the proposed rule and written comments were received from 10 State insurance authorities, 4 State FAIR Plans, 2 national trade associations, and 10 individual companies or associations of companies, a total of 26 written comments. All relevant comments were given full and careful consideration. While two State regulatory authorities endorsed the proposed rulemaking entirely, there was an expression in some of the comments that the Federal Insurance Administration should not be routinely informed of all consumer inquiries because the State insurance regulatory authorities are eminently able to protect the FAIR Plan consumer's interest and to evaluate and respond to consumer inquiries and complaints dealing with FAIR Plan activities in the jurisdictions of the insurance regulatory authorities of the several States. Such views are consistent with the Federal Insurance Administration's long-standing position that the public is best served by an insurance system under which the private insurance sector remains the principal provider, and the States the regulators of insurance. Accordingly, in order to accommodate the understandable concerns of State regulators with the needs of FIA, the provision requiring inclusion of the Federal Insurance Administrator's name as a person to be contacted in respect to complaints has been eliminated in favor of a request to regulators to segregate and separately maintain inquiries and complaints dealing with FAIR Plans to the end that they may be readily available incident to FAIR Plan audits by FIA's Office of Review and Compliance.

There were questions raised in some of the written comments as to whether the Federal Insurance Administrator had authority to issue the proposed rule to effectuate the review, by the Federal Insurance Administration, of consumer oriented inquiries and complaints dealing with the performance of the FAIR Plans of the States in which such Plans are in effect. Such authority was clearly established by the 1970 amendments to the National Insurance Development Program which established the Office of Review and Compliance under the Federal Insurance Administrator (Sec. 603 Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970, Pub. L. 91-609, approved December 31, 1970, 84 Stat. 1770, 1791, added Section 1215 to Title XII—National Insurance Development Program). Under the Office of Review and Compliance such authority includes, among other things, the implementation of review, audit and public hearing functions by the Federal Insurance Administrator. This authority is fortified by the revised purpose clause of the National Insurance Development Act of 1975 extending the authority granted in the 1970 and 1968 Acts.

The comments and advice of interested parties have been fully taken into consideration in the preparation of the regulations which are hereby adopted.

To allow the various State FAIR Plans sufficient time to implement the resulting regulations, as revised, and in accordance with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553(d), these regulations are effective on April 15, 1977.

It has been determined that these amendments do not have a substantial effect upon the quality of the environment nor do they have an economic impact as determined under OMB Circular A-107. Accordingly, findings of inapplicability have been prepared with respect to both environmental and economic considerations and copies of both these determinations are available for public inspection in the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk, Room 10141, Office of the Secretary.

§ 1905.13 Notice to Policyholders.

(a) Each participating or cooperating insurer offering insurance pursuant to this program (12 U.S.C. 1749bbb-1749bbb-21) shall provide a notice to all FAIR Plan policyholders with all new or renewal policies mailed on and after April 15, 1977, containing the following information: (1) Authority for issuance of policy; (2) FAIR Plan name, address, and telephone numbers; (3) State Insurance Department addresses and telephone numbers.

(b) Compliance with the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section will be satisfied provided the participating or cooperating insurer complies with a format of notice as designated by the Federal Insurance Administrator; such notices shall, as a minimum, include the following information employing the same terms or substantially similar terms.

Dear Policyholder: The attached FAIR Plan Insurance Policy, or renewal thereof, has been issued to you by the FAIR Plan in cooperation with your State Insurance Authority and the Federal Insurance Administration of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development. The policy is serviced generally by the statewide FAIR Plan, as listed at the end of this Notice. The FAIR Plan or your insurance agent will assist you if you need to report a loss or if you have any questions pertaining to the premium charged or the scope of the coverage afforded under the policy. In addition, your State Insurance Department which has regulatory authority over the FAIR Plan is ready to be of assistance to you in these matters, if the FAIR Plan or agent cannot help you. Moreover, since the FAIR Plan Program is intended to provide you with the highest caliber of service, your State Insurance Department would welcome any suggestions you may have for improving the program. Please do not hesitate to write, for assistance, to:

(1) FAIR Plan: (Name, Address, Telephone Number).

(2) State Insurance Department (Name, Address, Telephone Number).

(Sec. 7(d), 70 Stat. 670 (42 U.S.C. 3535d); Sec. 1103, 82 Stat. 566 (12 U.S.C. 1749bbb-17).)

Effective date. This section shall be effective on April 15, 1977.

J. ROBERT HUNTER,
Acting Federal Insurance Administrator.

Title 40—Protection of Environment

CHAPTER I—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

SUBCHAPTER N—EFFLUENT GUIDELINES AND STANDARDS

PART 409—SUGAR PROCESSING POINT SOURCE CATEGORY

Notice of Suspension

On February 27, 1975, notice was given that effluent limitations and guidelines for existing sources to be achieved by the application of best practicable control technology currently available as set forth in interim final form were promulgated by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The regulation amended Part 409—sugar processing point source category by adding the Louisiana raw cane sugar processing subcategory (Subpart D), the Florida and Texas raw cane sugar processing subcategory (Subpart E), the Hilo-Hamakua Coast of the Island of Hawaii raw cane sugar processing subcategory (Subpart F), the Hawaiian raw cane sugar processing subcategory (Subpart G), and the Puerto Rican raw cane sugar processing subcategory (Subpart H), pursuant to sections 301 and 304 (b) and (c) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended (33 U.S.C. 1251, 1311, and 1314 (b) and (c), 86 Stat. 816 et seq.; Pub. L. 92-500) (the Act).

When 40 CFR Part 409 was promulgated in interim final form comments on 40 Part 409 and comments on the development document supporting the regulation were solicited.

A number of comments were received relating to the Agency's use of bench and pilot scale data in the establishment of effluent limitations for the Hilo-Hamakua Coast of the Island of Hawaii raw cane sugar processing subcategory (Subpart F). The commenters stated that until implementation and operation of treatment systems occur, it would be difficult to predict what levels of effluent reductions would be achieved.

The Agency has learned that a full-scale treatment system treating effluent from a Hilo-Hamakua Coast cane sugar mill has been constructed. This treatment system, which incorporates essentially what was identified in the interim final regulations as the best practicable control technology currently available, has been operational since July 1, 1976. The Agency will reevaluate the technical bases on which the interim final effluent limitations for Subpart F were established to evaluate the performance of the best practicable control technology currently available over the entire range of operating conditions typical of full-scale facilities. All available data regarding the treatment of effluents from cane sugar mills operating along the Hilo-Hamakua Coast of the Island of Hawaii will be considered. This reevaluation prompts the Agency to suspend the effectiveness of Subpart F of the interim final regulation for the duration of the review.

Interested persons are encouraged to submit written comments pertaining to the Hilo-Hamakua Coast of the Island of Hawaii raw cane sugar processing subcategory (Subpart F) of the sugar processing point source category. Comments should be submitted in triplicate to the Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20460, Attention: Distribution Officer, WH-552. All comments received before July 1, 1977, will be considered and included in the administrative record. Steps previously taken by the Environmental Protection Agency to facilitate public response within this time period are outlined in the advance notice concerning public review procedures published on October 6, 1973 (38 FR 21202).

A copy of all public comments will be available for inspection and copying at the EPA Public Information Reference Unit, Room 2922 (EPA Library), Waterside Mall, 401 M Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20460.

In consideration of the foregoing discussion, 40 CFR Part 409.62 (the Hilo-Hamakua Coast of the Island of Hawaii raw cane sugar processing subcategory (Subpart F) of the sugar processing point source category) is suspended until March 1, 1978.

Dated January 10, 1977.

JOHN QUARLES,
Administrator.

PART 440—ORE MINING AND DRESSING POINT SOURCE CATEGORY

Notice of Further Suspension

On November 6, 1975, notice was given that effluent limitations and guidelines for existing sources to be achieved by the application of best practicable control technology currently available as set forth in interim final form were promulgated by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The regulation established Part 440—ore mining and dressing point source category and is applicable to existing sources for the iron ore subcategory (Subpart A), the base and precious metals subcategory (Subpart B), the bauxite subcategory (Subpart C), the ferroalloy ore subcategory (Subpart D), the uranium, radium and vanadium ore subcategory (Subpart E), the mercury ore subcategory (Subpart F), and the titanium ore subcategory (Subpart G) of the ore mining and dressing point source category pursuant to sections 301, 304 (b) and (c), of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended (33 U.S.C. 1215, 1311, 1314 (b), and (c), 86 statute 816 et. sequence; Pub. L. 92-500) (the Act).

When 40 CFR Part 440 was promulgated in interim final form, comments on 40 CFR Part 440 and comments on the development document supporting the regulation were solicited.

A number of comments were received which related to the adequacy of the data available and relied upon by the Agency as a basis for the base and precious metals subcategory (Subpart B), that portion of the ferroalloy ore subcategory (Subpart D) which is applicable to the quantity of pollutants or pollutant properties discharged from mills processing ferroalloy ores by leaching techniques (either acid or alkaline) and associated chemical beneficiation techniques and the uranium, radium and vanadium subcategory (Subpart E).

In that serious questions were raised concerning the adequacy of the data base used to support these portions of this regulation, the Agency suspended the effectiveness of these portions of the regulation on May 24, 1976 (41 FR 21191) until November 1, 1976.

Interested persons were encouraged to submit written comments on the base and precious metals subcategory (Subpart B), that portion of the ferroalloy ore subcategory (Subpart D) which is applicable to the quantity of pollutants or pollutant properties discharged from mills processing ferroalloy ores by leaching techniques (either acid or alkaline) and associated chemical beneficiation techniques and the uranium, radium and vanadium subcategory (Subpart E).

Comments and additional data received relative to the above subparts of the regulation have brought about reconsideration by the Agency of these portions of the regulation. However, there is a need to continue the evaluation of data and comments for an additional period of time.

While the Agency is evaluating the technical and economic basis for these portions of the regulation, 40 CFR 440.22 applicable to the base and precious metals subcategory (Subpart B), 40 CFR 440.42 subparagraph (a)(5) applicable to that portion of the ferroalloy ores (Subpart D) mills processing ferroalloy ores by leaching techniques (either acid or alkaline) and associated chemical beneficiation techniques and 40 CFR 440.52 applicable to the uranium, radium and vanadium ores subcategory (Subpart E) are further suspended until April 30, 1977.

Dated: January 10, 1977.

JOHN QUARLES,
Acting Administrator.

PART 1068—GRANTEE FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

Additional Criteria for Waiver of Non-Federal Share

Sections 225(c) and 714 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended, require a non-Federal contribution for grants made under certain sections of Titles II and VII. Sections 225(c) and 714 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 as amended provided the Director with the authority to develop, objective criteria under which part or all of the non-Federal share may be waived.

The following regulations are hereby promulgated to publish additional criteria for waiver of the non-Federal share for phase out grants awarded as a result of termination of grantee operations.

CSA welcomes public comment on the additional waiver criteria. Comments received prior to February 16, 1977, will be taken into consideration in revising the subpart if warranted. Please address comments to the Policy Development and Review Division, Office of Operations, Community Services Administration, 1200 19th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506.

Effective date: February 16, 1977.

SAMUEL R. MARTINEZ,
Director.

45 CFR 1068 is amended by adding the following:

Subpart—Additional Criteria for Waiver of Non-Federal Share (CSA Instruction 6802-6)

Sec.
1068.23-1 Applicability.
1068.23-2 Background.
1068.23-3 Purpose.
1068.23-4 Policy.

AUTHORITY: Sec. 602, 78 Stat. 530; 42 U.S.C. 2942.

Subpart—Additional Criteria for Waiver of Non-Federal Share (CSA Instruction 6802–6)

§ 1068.23–1 Applicability.

This subpart is applicable to all grants funded under Title II, sections 221 and 222(a) and Title VII, section 712 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended if the assistance is administered by the Community Services Administration.

§ 1068.23–2 Background.

Sections 225(c) and 714 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended require a non-Federal share contribution for grants made under certain sections of Titles II and VII. One of the major objectives of non-Federal share is to provide local resources for and to encourage involvement at the local level in the operating programs of CSA grantees. In certain instances and under defined procedures, CSA terminates and closes out grantee operations. As necessary, CSA may award additional Federal funds when there is a grantee termination and phase-out action and there are not sufficient funds on hand to meet liabilities of the grantee and/or its delegate agencies to third parties when such costs result from the phase-out activities. However, to require non-Federal share contributions for grants awarded to meet the legal obligations of grantees is inconsistent with the major intent of the legislation. Consequently, the Director is exercising his authority under sections 225(c) and 714 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended to develop objective criteria under which part or all of the non-Federal share may be waived.

§ 1068.23–3 Purpose.

The purpose of this subpart is to introduce additional waiver criteria under which GSA grantees who are awarded phase-out grant will not be required to contribute non-Federal share.

§ 1068.23–4 Policy.

(a) New Waiver Criteria. Any grantee funded under Title II, sections 221 and 222(a) and Title VII, section 712 who, as a result of termination receives a phase-out grant will not be required to meet non-Federal share requirements when the grant includes no operational elements, when all required work of the grant has been completed, and when there is documented evidence that the grantee has insufficient Federal funds to meet those liabilities which are costs of phasing out.

(b) Grants Affected. This waiver policy is retroactive for all current phase-out grants that contain a non-Federal share requirement.

CHAPTER I—FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

PART 0—COMMISSION ORGANIZATION

PART 1—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

PART 97—AMATEUR RADIO SERVICE

Changing the Name of the Amateur and Citizens Division to the Personal Radio Division

Adopted: January 5, 1977.

Released: January 6, 1977.

In the matter of editorial amendments of Parts 0, 1, and 97 of the Commission's Rules to change the name of the Amateur and Citizens Division to the Personal Radio Division.

1. This Order is being issued to change the organization statement of the Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau. The Amateur and Citizens Division has recently undergone reorganization, and the name of the Division is herewith changed to the Personal Radio Division.

2. This amendment relates to internal Commission organization, and hence, the prior notice, procedure, and effective date provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act (5 U.S.C. 553) are not applicable. Authority for the promulgation of this amendment is contained in Sections 4(i), 5(b), 5(d), and 303 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended and § 0.231(d) of the Commission's Rules.

3. Accordingly, it is ordered, effective January 20, 1977, that Parts 0, 1, and 97 of the Rules and Regulations are amended as set forth in the Appendix attached hereto.

(Secs. 4, 5, 303, 48 Stat., as amended, 1066, 1068, 1082; 47 U.S.C. 154, 155, 303.)

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
RICHARD D. LICHTWARDT,
Executive Director.

Parts 0, 1, and 97 of Chapter 1 of Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations are amended, as follows:

In Sections 0.132(e), 1.951(a), 97.25 (d), and 97.41(d), the words "Amateur and Citizens Division" are deleted, and the words "Personal Radio Division" are substituted in each instance therefore.

INTERIM AMATEUR PERMITS

Instituting a System in the Amateur Radio Service

Adopted: January 5, 1977.

Released: January 13, 1977.

In the matter of Revision of Parts 0, 1, and 97 of the Commission's Rules to institute a system of Interim Amateur Permits in the Amateur Radio Service.

1. Under the existing Amateur Radio Service licensing system, Amateur Radio Service licensees successfully completing examinations for higher class licenses than the licenses they hold must wait while their new license applications are processed at the Commission's Gettysburg, Pennsylvania facility before they may take advantage of the added privileges afforded them by their new operator licenses. A delay of several weeks may be involved, although both the licensee and the Commission are aware of the results of the examination and know a new license will be issued.

2. By this Order, we are revising Parts 0, 1, and 97 of the Commission's Rules to permit the issuance of Interim Amateur Permits by the Engineers in Charge of the various Commission field offices. Interim Amateur Permits (FCC Form 660–B) will be issued to applicants already holding amateur operator licenses as soon as possible after successful completion of higher class license examinations and will authorize immediate utilization of all additional operating privileges acquired. Licensees operating under the authority of Interim Amateur Permits will be required to add distinctive suffixes to their station call signs denoting the Commission district office at which their higher class licenses were obtained. Interim Amateur Permits will be valid for a period of 90 days or until issuance of the permanent station and operator licenses, whichever is less. A record of the issuance of an Interim Amateur Permit will be retained at the office of issuance, and requests for confirmation of an operator's status must be directed to that office.

3. Authority for these amendments appears in sections 4(i), 5(d), 303, 307, 308, and 309 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. Some of the Amendments adopted herein are editorial and procedural in nature, and the prior notice and public procedure provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 553, are not applicable. Further, because of the enormous number of Amateur and Citizens Radio Service license applications we receive each month, rapid implementation of the interim permit system is essential, and we are, for good cause, dispensing with the prior notice and public procedure provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act as impracticable.

4. Accordingly, in view of the foregoing, the public interest being served thereby, it is ordered that Parts 0, 1, and 97 of the Commission's Rules are amended as set forth below effective March 1, 1977.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,[1]
VINCENT J. MULLINS,
Secretary.

[1] Commissioner Lee absent.

Parts 0, 1 and 97 of Chapter 1 of Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations are amended, as follows:

PART 0—COMMISSION ORGANIZATION

1. In § 0.314, a new paragraph, (v), is added, as follows:

§ 0.314 Additional authority delegated.

• • • • • •

(v) To issue Interim Amateur Permits to Amateur Radio Service licensees, pursuant to Part 97 of this Chapter.

PART 1—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

2. In § 1.922, a new FCC Form and Title are added, as follows:

§ 1.922 Forms to be used.

FCC form	Title
• • • • •
660–B	Interim Amateur Permit
• • • • •

3. In § 1.925, the headnote is amended, and a new paragraph, (e), is added, as follows:

§ 1.925 Application for special temporary authorization, temporary permit, or interim amateur permit.

• • • • • •

(e) Upon successful completion of a Commission supervised Amateur Radio Service operator examination, an applicant already licensed in the Amateur Radio Service may operate his amateur radio station pending issuance of his permanent amateur station and operator licenses by the Commission for a period of 90 days or until issuance of the permanent operator and station licenses, whichever comes first, under the authority of a properly executed Interim Amateur Permit (FCC Form 660–B). An Interim Amateur Permit conveys all operating privileges of the licensee's new operator license, but may be set aside by the Commission within the 90 day term if it appears that the permanent operator and station licenses cannot be granted routinely.

4. Section 1.934 is revised, as follows:

§ 1.934 Procedure with respect to amateur radio operator license.

After an application for an amateur radio operator license is accepted and an examination conducted by the Commission in accordance with Part 97 of this Chapter, the examination is graded by the office supervising the examination. If the applicant is successful, and if the applicant already holds a license in the Amateur Radio Service, the supervising office issues the applicant an Interim Amateur Permit conveying all operating privileges of the applicant's new operator license. The results of the examination are forwarded to the Commission's Gettysburg, Pennsylvania facility for issuance of a license.

5. In § 1.1115, paragraph (c)(6) is revised, as follows:

§ 1.1115 Schedule of fees for the Safety and Special Radio Services.

• • • • • •

(c) • • •

(6) Applications for Interim Amateur Permits or Novice Class licenses in the Amateur Radio Service, applications for amateur stations under military auspices, and applications in the Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service (RACES).

• • • • • •

PART 97—AMATEUR RADIO SERVICE

6. In § 97.3(d), the definition for "operator license" is amended and a new definition, "Interim Amateur Permit", is added, as follows:

§ 97.3 Definitions.

• • • • • •

(d) • • •

Operator license. The instrument of authorization including the class of operator privileges.

Interim Amateur Permit. A temporary operator and station authorization issued to licensees successfully completing Commission supervised examinations for higher class operator licenses.

Station license. The instrument of authorization for a radio station in the Amateur Radio Service.

7. A new § 97.32 is added, as follows:

§ 97.32 Interim Amateur Permits.

(b) An interim Amateur Permit conveys all operating privileges of the applicant's new operator license classification.

(c) The transmissions of amateur radio stations operated under the authority of Interim Amateur Permits shall be identified in the manner specified in § 97.87.

(d) The original Interim Amateur Permit of an amateur radio operator shall be kept in the personal possession of or posted in a conspicuous place in the room occupied by such operator when operating an amateur radio station under the authority of an Interim Amateur Permit.

(e) Interim Amateur Permits are valid for a period of 90 days from the date of issuance or until issuance of the permanent station and operator licenses, whichever comes first, but may be set aside by the Commission within the 90 day term if it appears that the permanent operator and station licenses cannot be granted routinely.

(f) Interim Amateur Permits shall not be renewed.

8. In § 97.87, paragraph (f) as amended, is redesignated paragraph (g) and a new paragraph (f) is added, as follows:

§ 97.87 Station identification.

• • • • • •

(f) When operating under the authority of an Interim Amateur Permit with privileges authorized by the Permit, but which exceed the privileges of the licensee's permanent operator license, the station must be identified in the following manner:

(1) On radiotelephony, by the transmission of the station call sign, followed by the word "interim", followed by the special identifier shown on the interim permit;

(2) On radiotelegraphy, by the transmission of the station call sign, followed by the fraction bar DN, followed by the special identifier shown on the interim permit.

(g) The identification required by this section shall be given on each frequency being utilized for transmission and shall be transmitted either by telegraphy using the international Morse code, or by telephony, using the English language. If the identification required by this section is made by an automatic device used only for identification by telegraphy, the code speed shall not exceed 20 words per minute. The Commission encourages the use of a nationally or internationally recognized standard phonetic alphabet as an aid for correct telephone identification.

PART 73—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

TV Broadcast Stations in Andrews, Bryson City, and Waynesville-Canton, North Carolina; Changes in Table of Assignments Adopted: December 23, 1976.

Released: January 6, 1977.

In the matter of amendment of § 73.606(b), table of assignments, television broadcast stations. (Andrews, Bryson City, and Waynesville-Canton, North Carolina).

1. On April 19, 1976, the Commission adopted a Notice of Proposed Rule Making in this proceeding (41 FR 17782). At the request of the University of North Carolina ("UNC"), comments were requested on the assignment and reservation of three UHF television channels in western North Carolina. The present Waynesville Channel 59 assignment was proposed to be deleted and reassigned to Andrews; Channel 67 was proposed for assignment at Bryson City; and Channel 27 was proposed as a joint assignment to Waynesville and Canton.

2. UNC is presently authorized to operate eight noncommercial educational television stations and three television translators in North Carolina.[1] The proposed assignments were requested to enable UNC to extend a first educational television service, by means of translators, to persons residing in and around the four specified communities. Three assignments were requested since the mountainous terrain and widely scattered population does not permit a single translator to provide effective coverage.

3. In its Notice, the Commission proposed to amend the Television Table of Assignments as requested by UNC. We noted at that time that two of the proposed assignments were short-spaced to the reference points of two existing vacant assignments: the proposed Bryson City Channel 67 assignment was short-spaced to the vacant Channel 52 assignment at Carnesville, Georgia, and the proposed Waynesville-Canton Channel 27 assignment was short-spaced to the vacant co-channel assignment at Draketown, Georgia. In view of this, the Commission requested UNC to provide additional information demonstrating that transmitter sites were available at Carnesville and Bryson City on the one hand and Draketown and Waynesville-Canton on the other, that would permit compliance with the mileage separation requirements and still provide principal community coverage.

4. The comments filed by petitioner address this request. UNC states there is an adequate area available near Draketown, Georgia, where a Channel 27 transmitter may be located in order to permit a transmitter occupying the proposed Waynesville-Canton Channel 27 assignment to meet the mileage separation requirement. Alternatively, UNC suggests the Draketown assignment may be reassigned to Buchanan, Georgia, a community located nine miles west of Draketown.

5. If this were done, the reference points of Buchanan and Canton would meet the separation criteria but those of Waynesville and Buchanan would not. Under these circumstances, UNC states it would accept the assignment of Channel 27 to Canton only. With respect to the proposed Bryson City assignment, petitioner notes the existence of areas around it and Carnesville where transmitters may be located in compliance with the separation requirements.

6. UNC further states its intention to apply for the use of the channels if they are assigned. It presently holds construction permits for 100 watt translators operating on the requested channels at Andrews and Waynesville-Canton [3] and plans to apply for the use of 1000 watt translators at these locations if the requested assignments are made. (The Bryson City facility is to be of a lower power due to siting and construction difficulties.) No other comments were filed.

7. The Commission is persuaded that the channels sought by UNC should be assigned essentially as proposed. We note the substantial first educational television service to be furnished by translators operating on them. We are also convinced that compliance with our separation requirements for the Bryson City and Waynesville-Canton proposals may be achieved. If these assignments are ever occupied by full-fledged stations rather than translators, the transmitters of the Bryson City and Carnesville stations, and the Waynesville-Canton and Draketown stations, may simply be located a short distance removed from the respective communities. This would permit each to meet the minimum mileage standard. However, it is unclear whether a station operating on the proposed Waynesville-Canton Channel 27 assignment and located to meet the spacing requirements could provide the required principal community coverage to Waynesville. Therefore, we do not believe this channel should be assigned jointly to Waynesville and Canton. Instead it is being assigned solely to Canton. Reassignment of the Draketown channel to Buchanan under these circumstances therefore is not required.

8. Accordingly, and pursuant to authority contained in Sections 4(i), 5(d)(1), 303 (g) and (r) and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281(b)(6) of the Commission's Rules, it is ordered, That, effective February 11, 1977, § 73.606(b) of the Commission's Rules is amended as follows for the cities in North Carolina listed below:

Bryson City	*67,
Canton	*27

9. It is further ordered, That this proceeding is terminated.

PART 87—AVIATION SERVICES

Extending Time for Operating a Private Aircraft Radio Station Under Special Temporary Authority.

Adopted: January 4, 1977.

Released: January 11, 1977.

In the matter of amendment of Part 87 of the rules to extend the period of time which a purchaser of a new aircraft with factory installed radio equipment may operate a private aircraft radio station under special temporary authority.

1. By this Order, the Commission is amending Part 87 of the rules by extending from 30 days the period of time which a purchaser of a new aircraft with factory installed radio equipment may operate a private aircraft radio station on the aircraft under special temporary authority evidenced by a copy of a certificate (FCC Form 453-B) executed by the manufacturer, dealer, or distributor of such aircraft.

2. This action will eliminate the filing of requests for extension of the present 30 day special temporary authority by purchasers of new aircraft when the processing time of applications for new aircraft radio stations exceeds 30 days.

3. In that the amendment adopted herein relieves a restriction, is minor in nature, and is one in which the public is not particularly interested the prior notice and effective date provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553 are unnecessary.

4. It is ordered, That, pursuant to the authority contained in Sections 4(i) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, Part 87 of the Commission's rules is amended as set forth below, effective January 19, 1977.

Part 87 of Chapter I of Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

Section 87.29 is amended by revising paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 87.29 Application for aircraft radio station license.

* * * * *

(c) The purchaser of new aircraft with factory installed radio equipment may operate a private aircraft radio station on the aircraft for a period of 60 days under special temporary authority evidenced by a copy of a certificate (FCC Form 453-B) executed by the manufacturer, dealer, or distributor of such aircraft, the original of which has been mailed to the Commission with an application for new station license on FCC Form 404.

PART 1—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

Suspension of Fees

Adopted: January 4, 1977.

Released: January 7, 1977.

Clarifying Order (FFC 76-1197) of December 22, 1976 suspending collection of all fees effective January 1, 1977.

In the matter of suspension of Subpart G of Part 1 of the Commission's Rules relating to the schedule of fees.

1. As a result of our Order of December 22, 1976 (FCC 76-1197; 41 FR 56646, December 29, 1976) suspending collection of all fees effective January 1, 1977, several parties have inquired as to the applicability of that Order to certain grant fees.

2. Where a separate grant fee was required, § 1.1102(d) of the Rules provided that the grant fee was payable either within 45 days after grant or, in the case of assignments or transfers of broadcast stations, "immediately following" consummation. Thus, for some grants that were made prior to January 1, 1977, fees were not payable until after that date. Since we contemplate some refund of most fees, our suspension order was intended to cover all fee payments, regardless of whether the actual liability for the fee was incurred before or after January 1, 1977. Our intention was, and is, that until further notice, no fees are to be submitted to the Commission after January 1, 1977—without exception.

CHAPTER X—INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

[Ex Parte No. MC-19 (Sub-No. 28)]

PART 1056—TRANSPORTATION OF HOUSEHOLD GOODS IN INTERSTATE OR FOREIGN COMMERCE

Practices of Motor Common Carriers of Household Goods (Advertising)

At a General Session of the INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 21st day of December 1976.

It appearing, That by Notice of Proposed Rulemaking dated December 23, 1975, this Commission instituted a proceeding to investigate certain specified matters described in the attached report concerning advertising practices of motor common carriers of household goods in interstate or foreign commerce and their agents;

And it further appearing, That investigation of the matters and things involved in this proceeding has been made and that the Commission has made and filed its report herein containing its findings of fact and conclusions thereon, which report is hereby referred to and made a part hereof:

It is ordered; That Part 1056 of Chapter X of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations be, and it is hereby, amended by relettering the present subsection 1056.1(d) by making it paragraph (e) without any other changes and supplemented by adding the new section 1056.30 and the new subsection 1056.1(d) as set forth in the notice attached hereto.

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective on February 25, 1977, and shall remain in effect until modified or revoked in whole or in part by further order of the Commission.

And it is further ordered, That notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the Office of the Secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, D.C., and by filing a copy of the attached notice with the Director, Office of the Federal Register (49 U.S.C. 301, 302, 304, 306, 307, 308, 312, 316, and 322, 5 U.S.C. 552, 553, and 559).

ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

• Purpose: The purpose of this notice is to inform the public that the Interstate Commerce Commission has adopted regulations which require motor common carriers of household goods in interstate or foreign commerce to include in every advertisement (as defined by the Commission) the name and certificate or docket number of the carrier under whose authority each shipment of household goods will originate. •

The Interstate Commerce Commission in the above-entitled proceeding has adopted new rules relative to advertising practices of motor common carriers of household goods. Notice of the proposed rulemaking was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 9, 1976, and on March 18, 1976. In this proceeding the Commission amended Part 1056 of the Commission's General Rules and Regulations (49 CFR 1056.1 et seq.) by adding § 1056.30 to that part, by relettering § 1056.1(d) and making it § 1056.1(e) without any other changes, and by adding a new § 1056.1(d).

This action was taken as a result of complaints the Commission has received relative to unauthorized transportation of household goods shipments. Individuals complain that they are not told in advance that the party advertising household goods transportation services will not be responsible for the actual transportation of the shipment in question. Others find that the carrier whose services they have requested are not authorized to perform those services. Although the Commission does have power to require illegal operations to cease, orders to cease illegal operations offer little consolation to the shipper who has already been deceived as to the identity and operating authority of the advertising carrier.

The new regulations require motor common carriers of household goods in interstate or foreign commerce and their agents to disclose, in each advertisement as defined by the Commission, the name and certificate or docket number of the carrier under whose operating authority the potential customer's shipment will be transported. The Commission believes that the new regulations will enable household goods shippers to make a more informed selection from among the motor transportation services being offered in printed advertising such as the yellow pages. Disclosure of the name of and certificate or docket number of the carrier responsible for providing transportation services will assist the Commission in its efforts to eliminate unauthorized operations and in our endeavor to reduce the number of complaints received concerning carriers who conduct such unauthorized operations.

This modification of regulations is issued under the authority of sections 552, 553, and 559 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 552, 553, and 559) and sections 201, 202, 204, 206, 207, 208, 212, 216, and 222 of the Interstate Commerce Act (49 U.S.C. 301, 302, 304, 306, 307, 308, 312, 316, and 322).

ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

Accordingly, 49 CFR is modified in the manner set forth below. The following new section is added to 49 CFR 1056:

§ 1056.30 Advertising by motor common carriers of household goods.

(a) On and after March 1, 1977, every motor common carrier engaged in the transportation of household goods in interstate or foreign commerce, including any carriers providing any accessorial service incidental to or part of such interstate or foreign transportation, shall include, and shall require each of its agents to include, in every advertisement as defined in § 1056.1(d) the name or trade name of the motor carrier under whose operating authority the advertised service will originate, and the certificate or docket number assigned to such operating authority by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

(b) Such certificate or docket number shall be in the following form in every advertisement: "I.C.C. No. MC-_____" but shall not include any subnumbers which may have been assigned.

Present § 1056.1 is modified by relettering the present paragraph (d) and making it paragraph (e) without any other change, and by inserting a new paragraph (d) as follows:

* * * * *

(d) Advertisement. The term "advertisement" means any communication to the public, in written or printed form, in connection with an offer or sale of any interstate or foreign transportation service, but shall not be construed to include a simple listing of a carrier's name, address, and telephone number.

Commissioner Christian, dissenting:

I share the majority's commitment to protect the household goods shipper. I also understand the personal difficulties which may arise when a person selects a carrier to move his personal belongings on the strength of an advertisement which is deceptive or misleading. However, I do not believe that the regulation adopted by the majority will put an end to carrier abuses or arm the public with information which will truly assist in selecting an appropriate carrier.

In my view, the better approach to the problem would be to instruct our field staff to monitor carrier advertising practices and take effective enforcement action against those who attempt to deceive the public.

Title 14—Aeronautics and Space

CHAPTER I—FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

[Docket No. 76-EA-74; Amdt. 39-2806]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVE

Piper Aircraft

The Federal Aviation Administration is amending § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to issue an airworthiness directive applicable to Piper PA-31 type airplanes.

As a result of surveillance of the manufacturer's facility, it has been determined that approximately 85 airplanes may have been released without the proper number of rivets attaching the horizontal stabilizer skin to the spanwise stiffeners.

Since the foregoing deficiency may exist in aircraft of the subject type, an airworthiness directive is being issued which will require an inspection and repair when necessary. The deficency is one which can affect the integrity of the skin in the affected area.

We have determined that the expected impact of the proposed regulation is so minimal that the proposal does not warrant an evaluation.

In view of the foregoing and because the deficiency is one which affects air safety, notice and public procedure hereon are impractical and good cause exists for making the amendment effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, 14 CFR 11.89 [31 FR 13697] § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by issuing a new Airworthiness Directive as follows:

PIPER: Applies to Models PA-31 and PA-31-325, Serial Nos. 31-7612060 through 31-7612080, 31-7612082 through 31-7612089, 31-7612091, 31-7612096 and 31-7612099; Model PA-31-350, Serial Nos. 31-7652105 through 31-7652115, 31-7652117, 31-7652118, 31-7652120 through 31-7652146, 31-7652148 through 31-7652162, 31-7652164, 31-7652165 and 31-7652168 and above model aircraft which have had a replacement horizontal stabilizer installed in the field subsequent to April 1976, certificated in all categories.

To prevent possible hazards in flight associated with missing horizontal stabilizer skin-stiffener rivet attachments, accomplish the following within the next fifty hours in service from the effective date of this AD unless previously accomplished:

(a) Inspect and, if required, repair the horizontal stabilizer skin-stiffener rivet attachment in accordance with the "Instructions" section of Piper Service Bulletin No. 521 or equivalent procedures approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA, Eastern Region.

NOTE.—The Federal Aviation Agency has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

This amendment is effective January 19, 1977.

(Sec. 313(a), 601 and 603 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 [49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421 and 1423], and section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act [49 U.S.C. 1655(c)].)

Issued in Jamaica, N.Y., on January 5, 1977.

L. J. CARDINALI,
Acting Director, Eastern Region.

[Docket No. 77-NE-2; Amdt. 39-2807]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVE

Pratt & Whitney Aircraft JT9D Engines

Inspection of certain fifth stage turbine hubs removed from Pratt & Whitney Aircraft JT9D engines has disclosed low cycle fatigue cracking in the snap area where the sixth disk mates with the fifth hub. Since this condition is likely to exist in other engines with hubs having the same part number, an airworthiness directive is being issued to reduce their cycle life in order to prevent engine failure. Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

The Federal Aviation Administration has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OBM Circular A-107

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (14 CFR 11.89), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

PRATT & WHITNEY AIRCRAFT. Applies to all Pratt & Whitney Aircraft JT9D-3A, -7, -7H, -7A, -7AH, -7F, and -20 turbofan engines containing fifth stage turbine hubs, P/N 704705, 714905, 718905, 719205, and 726805.

Compliance required as indicated.

To prevent cracking and possible failure of fifth stage turbine hubs, the cyclic life limits on these parts have been reduced below the figures currently approved. Unless already accomplished, remove from service fifth stage turbine hubs prior to reaching the revised life limit listed below or within the next 25 cycles in service after the effective date of this AD, whichever is later:

	Previous life limit (cycles)	Revised life limit (cycles)
Hub part No.:
704705	15,000	7,000
714905	15,000	6,000
718905	8,000	5,000
719205	8,000	5,000
726805	8,000	5,000

Upon request of the operator, an FAA maintenance inspector, subject to prior approval of the Chief, Engineering & Manufacturing Branch, New England Region, may adjust the 25 cycle compliance interval to permit compliance at an established inspection period of the operator if the request contains substantiating data to justify the increase for that operator.

NOTE.—Pratt & Whitney Alert Service Bulletin No. 4671 pertains to this subject.

This amendment becomes effective January 17, 1977.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, and 603, of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1423) and of sec 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).)

Issued in Burlington, Massachusetts on January 6, 1977.

QUENTIN S. TAYLOR,
Director, New England Region.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone and Transition Area

On November 4, 1976, a Notice of Proposed Rule Making (NPRM) was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 48541) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would alter the Pensacola, NAS, Fla., control zone and the Pensacola, Fla., transition area.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. No comments were received.

Subsequent to publication of the notice, the U.S. Navy closed NAS Saufley Field and cancelled associated instrument approach procedures. Consequently, it is necessary to alter the proposed description of the Pensacola 700-foot transition area to revoke those segments which were formerly associated with NAS Saufley Field. Additionally, it is necessary to enlarge the segments associated with Forrest Sherman Field to provide sufficient controlled airspace to accommodate operations at that field. Separate airspace action is being taken to revoke the Pensacola, Fla., (NAS Saufley Field) control zone.

Although the Pensacola transition area description is altered from that proposed in the notice, the adjustment is considered a minor matter upon which the public would have no desire to comment. Therefor, it may be effected herein without recourse to further public notice.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., April 21, 1977, as hereinafter set forth.

1. In § 71.171 (42 FR 355) the description of the Pensacola, NAS, Fla., control zone is revised as follows:

PENSACOLA, NAS, FLA.

Within a 6-mile radius of Forrest Sherman Field (Lat. 30°20'53" N., Long. 87°19'04" W.); within 3 miles each side of the 174° bearing from NAS Pensacola UHF RBN, extending from the 6-mile radius zone to 8.5 miles south of the RBN.

2. In § 71.181 (42 FR 440) the description of the Pensacola, Fla., transition area is revised as follows:

PENSACOLA, FLA.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within an 8.5-mile radius of Pensacola Regional Airport (Lat. 30°28'25" N., Long. 87°11'20" W.); within 3 miles each side of the ILS localizer north course, extending from the 8.5-mile radius area to 8.5 miles north of Brent LOM; within an 8.5-mile radius of Forrest Sherman Field (Lat. 30°20'53" N., Long. 87°19'04" W.); and within a 17.5-mile radius of the NAS Pensacola TACAN, extending clockwise from the 070° radial to the 270° radial.

(Sec. 307(a) and 1110 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a), and 1510), Executive Order 10854 (24 FR 9565) and sec. 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 7, 1977.

Chief, Airspace and Air Traffic Rules Division.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area Honolulu, Hawaii (Wheeler AFB)

On November 1, 1976, a notice of proposed rulemaking was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 47948) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration was considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulation that would alter the transition area at the Wheeler AFB, Island of Oahu, Hawaii.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the rulemaking through the submission of comments. No objections to the proposed alteration have been received.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended effective 0901 G.m.t. February 24, 1977, as hereinafter set forth.

In 71.181 (41 FR 513), the Honolulu, Hawaii (Wheeler AFB), transition area is amended as follows:

HONOLULU, HAWAII

WHEELER AFB

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within 2 miles each side of the Honolulu VORTAC 358° radial extending from the arc of a 3-mile radius circle centered on Wheeler AFB (latitude 21°29'00" N, longitude 158°02'30" W) to the INT of the Honolulu, Hawaii, VORTAC 358° and the Koko Head, Hawaii, VORTAC 298° radials, and that airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within 2 miles northwest of and parallel to the centerline of Runway 06 (068°38'40" true bearing) beginning at the 3-mile radius arc and extending northeast to intercept an arc of a 5-mile radius circle centered on Wheeler AFB (latitude 21°29'00" N, longitude 158°02'30" W) thence clockwise along the 5-mile arc to the Koko Head, Hawaii, VORTAC 305° radial; thence northwest along the Koko Head, Hawaii, VORTAC 305° radial to the arc of the 3-mile radius circle.

(Sec. 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)); Sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).)

Issued in Honolulu, Hawaii, on January 5, 1977.

Regional Director, Pacific-Asia Region.

PART 97—STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURES

Recent Changes and Additions

This amendment to Part 97 of the Federal Aviation Regulations incorporates by reference therein changes and additions to the Standard Instrument Approach Procedures (SIAPs) that were recently adopted by the Administrator to promote safety at the airports concerned.

The complete SIAPs for the changes and additions covered by this amendment are described in FAA Forms 8260-3, 8260-4, or 8260-5 and made a part of the public rule making dockets of the FAA in accordance with the procedures set forth in Amendment No. 97-696 (35 FR 5609).

SIAPs are available for examination at the Rules Docket and at the National Flight Data Center, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20591. Copies of SIAPs adopted in a particular region are also available for examination at the headquarters of that region. Individual copies of SIAPs may be purchased from the FAA Public Information Center, AIS-230, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20591 or from the applicable FAA regional office in accordance with the fee schedule prescribed in 49 CFR 7.85. This fee is payable in advance and may be paid by check, draft, or postal money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States. A weekly transmittal of all SIAP changes and additions may be obtained by subscription at an annual rate of $150.00 per annum from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Additional copies mailed to the same address may be ordered for $30.00 each.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this amendment, I find that further notice and public procedure hereon is impracticable and good cause exists for making it effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 97 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended as follows, effective on the dates specified:

1. Section 97.23 is amended by originating, amending or canceling the following VOR-VOR/DME SIAPs, effective March 3, 1977.

Title 12—Banks and Banking

CHAPTER II—FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

SUBCHAPTER A—BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

[Docket No. R-0075]

PART 206—SECURITIES OF STATE MEMBER BANKS FORMS FOR FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Form F-9, A, B, C, D, and E

Pursuant to its authority under section 12(i) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. 781(i)), the Board has amended Form F-9 (12 CFR 206.71), which provides the forms of financial statements that State member banks whose securities are registered under section 12 of that Act (12 U.S.C. 781(g)) are required to file with the Board under sections 12, 13, and 14 of that Act. The amendments to Form F-9 conform the forms of such financial statements to the financial reports that all State member banks are required to publish and file with the System, pursuant to section 9, ¶6 of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. 324). Earlier this year, the Board, the Comptroller of the Currency, and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation jointly revised the supervisory reporting requirements for all federally-insured banks.

In that the amendment of Form F-9 relieves the 61 State member banks registered under section 12 of the Act of the burden of preparing financial statements for the Board under varying formats and instructions; in that the recent amendments to the financial statement formats were adopted after notice and receipt of public comment (see 40 FR 46399 (1975)); and in that these amendments to Form F-9 represent merely a change in form and not a substantive change, notice and public procedure in the adoption of these amendments to Form F-9 was unnecessary.

The text of the amendment of Form F-9 which supersedes existing Form F-9 reads as follows:

§ 206.71 Forms for financial statements (Forms F-9, A, B, C, D, and E).

BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

FORM F-9: FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

[Revised November 15, 1976]

A. Balance Sheet (Form F-9A)

B. Statement of Income (Form F-9B)

C. Statement of Changes in Capital Accounts (Form F-9C)

D. Schedules (Form F-9D)

E. Statement of Changes in Financial Position (Form F-9E)

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

1. Preparation of forms. The forms for financial statements are not to be used as blank forms to be filled in but only as guides in the preparation of financial statements. The requirements with respect to the filing of balance sheets and statements of income are contained in the instructions as to certain other forms required by this Part. Particular attention should be given to the general requirements as to financial statements in § 206.7 of this Part, including paragraphs (e), (f), and (g) thereof, which prescribe when statements of changes in capital accounts and schedules will be filed. Although inapplicable items specified in the forms for financial statements should be omitted, the detailed instructions that relate to applicable items shall be followed.

2. Accrual accounting. Financial statements shall generally be prepared on the basis of accrual accounting whereby all revenues and all expenses shall be recognized during the period earned or incurred regardless of the time received or paid, with certain exceptions: (a) where the results would be only insignificantly different on a cash basis, or (b) where accrual is not feasible. Statements with respect to the first fiscal year that a bank reports on the accrual basis shall indicate clearly, by footnote or otherwise, the beginning-of-year adjustments that were necessary and their effect on prior financial statements filed under this Part.

(b) Reciprocal demand balances with banks in the United States, except those of private banks and American branches of foreign banks, shall be reported net.

(c) Do not include unavailable balances with closed or liquidating banks. Such balances should be reported in "other assets".

(d) Cash items in process of collection include: (1) checks in process of collection drawn on another bank, private bank, or any other banking institution that are payable immediately upon presentation (including checks with a Federal Reserve Bank in process of collection and checks on hand that will be presented for payment or forwarded for collection on the following business day); (2) Government checks and warrants drawn on the Treasurer of the United States that are in process of collection; and (3) such other items in process of collection, including redeemed United States savings bonds, payable immediately upon presentation in the United States, as are customarily cleared or collected by banks as cash items.

(e) Checks drawn on a bank other than the reporting bank that have been deposited in the reporting bank (or offices or branches of such bank) and have been forwarded for collection to other offices or branches of the reporting bank are cash items in the process of collection.

(f) Do not include commodity or bill-of-lading drafts payable upon arrival of goods against which drawn, whether or not deposit credit therefor has been given to a customer. If deposit credit has been given, such drafts should be reported as "loans"; but if the drafts were received by the reporting bank on a collection basis they should not be included in the reporting bank's statement until such time as the funds have been actually collected.

(g) Unposted debits should preferably be deducted from the appropriate deposit liability caption. If such items are included hereunder, the amount shall be stated parenthetically.

2. Investment securities. (a) State separately book value of (1) U.S. Treasury securities; (2) Obligations of other U.S. Government agencies and corporations; (3) Obligations of States and political subdivisions; and (4) Other securities owned by the bank; include securities pledged, loaned or sold under repurchase agreements and similar arrangements.

(b) The aggregate amount on the basis of fair market value at the balance sheet date shall be shown either parenthetically on the balance sheet or by a reference note for each category of investment securities reported under caption 2 of each balance sheet required to be filed.

(c) Book value with respect to investment quality securities reported in paragraph (a) shall be cost adjusted for amortization of premium and for accretion of discount. There shall be set forth in a note to financial statements (1) the basis of accounting for book value, and (2) if bond discount amounts to 5 per cent or more of interest and dividends on investments, the total of accretion income and deferred income taxes applied thereto.

(d) Include in category (3) of paragraph (a) obligations, including warrants and tax anticipation notes, of the States of the United States and their political subdivisions, agencies, and instrumentalities; also obligations of territorial and insular possessions of the United States. Do not include obligations of foreign states.

(e) Do not include borrowed securities or securities purchased under resale agreements or similar arrangements.

3. Trading account securities. State the aggregate value at the balance sheet date, of securities of all types carried by the bank in a dealer trading account (or accounts) that are held principally for resale to customers. Indicate parenthetically, or otherwise in a note to financial statements, whether the inventory is valued at (1) cost, (2) lower of cost or market, or (3) market. If cost basis of valuation is used, furnish aggregate market value of the trading account inventory at the current fiscal year balance sheet date.

4. Federal funds sold and securities purchased under agreements to resell. (a) State the aggregate value of Federal funds sold and securities purchased under resale agreement or similar arrangements. All securities purchased under transactions of this type should be included regardless of (1) whether they are called simultaneous purchases and sales, buy-backs, turnarounds, overnight transactions, delayed deliveries, etc., and (2) whether the transactions are with the same or different institutions if the purpose of the transactions is to resell identical or similar securities.

(b) Federal funds sold and purchases of securities under resale agreements should be reported gross and not netted against purchases of Federal funds and sales of securities under repurchased agreements.

5. Loans. (a) (1) State the aggregate gross value of all other loans including (a) acceptances of other banks and commercial paper purchased in the open market; (b) acceptances executed by or for the account of the reporting bank and subsequently acquired by it through purchase or discount; (c) customers' liability to the reporting bank on drafts paid under letters of credit for which the bank has not been reimbursed; and (d) "cotton overdrafts" or "advances," and commodity or bill-of-lading drafts payable upon arrival of goods against which drawn, for which the reporting bank has given deposit credit to customers.

(2) Include (a) paper rediscounted with the Federal Reserve or other banks; and (b) paper pledged as collateral to secure bills payable, as marginal collateral to secure bills rediscounted, or for any other purpose.

(3) Do not include contracts of sale or other loans indirectly representing bank premises or other real estate; these should be included in "bank premises" or "other real estate."

(4) Do not deduct bona fide deposits accumulated by borrowers for the payment of loans if such deposits do not immediately reduce the unpaid balance of the loan.

(5) Deduct unearned income on loans.

(b) Less: Reserve for Possible Loan Losses. State the balance of the loan loss allowance account at the end of the fiscal year. Include in this allowance only the valuation portion that has been established through charges against income.

NOTE.—For banks on reserve method of accounting for loan losses, the single value reserve account representing the amount calculated pursuant to IRS regulations will be reclassified into three existing components: (1) valuation portion; (2) contingency portion; and (3) deferred tax portion.

Valuation portion. If prior to January 1, 1969, a bank did not distinguish the different parts of the reserve for loan losses, the total balance in the reserve for loan losses at January 1, 1969, is considered to have been entirely a valuation reserve. Such balance is increased by the amount of provision for loan losses charged to income in each period since December 31, 1968, and the amount of the loan recoveries in each period since December 31, 1968, and reduced by the loan losses charged to reserve for loan losses in each period since December 31, 1968. The resulting balance is the valuation portion of the reserve which is required to be deducted from total loans in the Report of Condition. Only the valuation portion of the reserve for loan losses is available for absorbing loan losses.

Contingency portion. The cumulative amount equivalent to the difference between transfers to the bad debt reserve calculated pursuant to IRS regulations, and the provisions for loan losses charged against income in each report period since December 31, 1968. Such amount, net of applicable income tax reduction benefit, should be included in the "undivided profits" account.

Deferred tax portion. The amount of deferred tax related to the contingency portion described above constitutes the deferred income tax portion and should be reported in "Other liabilities."

NOTE.—In the [illegible] circumstances where the cumulative provisions for loan losses charged against income have exceeded cumulative transfers to the bad debt reserve account calculated pursuant to IRS regulations in the period since December 31, 1968, the entire balance of the reserve for loan losses is considered a valuation reserve.

6. Direct lease financing. Report all lease financing transacted pursuant to applicable state statutes authorizing direct lease financing by banks. Amounts to be reported in this item for all such leases, regardless of form, are to be based on a "financing method" of accounting.

7. Bank premises and equipment. (a) State the aggregate cost of (1) bank premises owned, (2) leasehold improvements, and (3) equipment less any accumulated depreciation or amortization with respect to such assets.

(b) All fixed assets acquired subsequent to December 31, 1959, shall be stated at cost less accumulated depreciation or amortization.

(c) All fixed assets acquired prior to January 1, 1960, that are not presently accounted for by the bank on the basis of cost less accumulated depreciation or amortization, may be stated at book value. Any such assets that are still in use and would not have been fully depreciated on an acceptable method of accounting for depreciation if the bank had recorded depreciation on such basis shall be described briefly in a footnote, together with an explanation of the accounting that was used with respect to such assets.

(d) The term "leasehold improvements" comprehends two types of situations: (1) where the bank erects a building on leased property; and (2) where a bank occupies leased quarters or uses leased parking lots and appropriately capitalizes disbursements for vaults, fixed machinery and equipment directly related to such leased quarters, or resurfacing or other improvements directly related to such parking lots that will become an integral part of the property and will revert to the lessor on expiration of the lease.

(e) Bank premises includes valuts, fixed machinery and equipment, parking lots owned adjoining or not adjoining the bank premises that are used by customers or employees, and potential building sites.

(f) Equipment includes all movable furniture and fixtures of the bank.

8. Real estate owned other than bank premises. (a) State the aggregate cost of all real estate owned by the bank that is not a part of bank premises.

(b) With respect to real estate acquired through default of a loan, aggregate cost shall include the unpaid balance on the defaulted loan plus the bank's out-of-pocket costs in acquiring clear title to the property. Any adjustments from aggregate cost shall be explained in a footnote.

(c) The aggregate market value of all real estate owned by the bank that is not a part of bank premises shall be set forth in a footnote, together with an explanation of the method of determining such market value.

9. Investments in unconsolidated subsidiaries and associated companies. State the aggregate investment, including advances, in unconsolidated subsidiaries and associated companies (i.e., those companies where the bank directly or indirectly owns 20 to 50 per cent of common stock).

10. Customers' acceptance liability. (a) State the liability to the reporting bank of its customers on drafts and bills of exchange that have been accepted by the reporting bank or by other banks for its account and that are outstanding—that is, not held by the bank, on the reporting date. (If held by the reporting bank, they should be reported as "loans".)

(b) In case a customer anticipates his liability to the bank on outstanding acceptances by paying the bank either the full amount of his liability or any part thereof in advance of the actual maturity of the acceptance, the bank should decrease the amount of the customer's liability on outstanding acceptances. If such funds are not received for immediate application to the reduction of the indebtedness to the bank or the receipt thereof does not immediately reduce or extinguish the indebtedness, then such funds held to meet acceptances must be reported in "demand deposits".

(c) Do not include customer's liability on unused commercial and travelers' letters of credit issued under guaranty or against the deposit of security—that is, not issued for money or its equivalent.

11. Other assets. State separately, if material, (1) income earned but not collected; (2) prepaid expenses; and (3) any other asset not included in the preceding items.

12. Total assets. State the sum of all asset items.

LIABILITIES AND CAPITAL

13. Deposits. (a) State separately (1) demand deposits in domestic offices of the bank, (2) savings deposits in domestic offices of the bank, (3) time deposits in domestic offices of the bank, and (4) deposits in foreign offices. State in a note to financial statements the aggregate amount of time certificates of deposits of $100,000 or more. Related unposted debits, if any, should preferably be deducted from domestic deposits.

(b) The domestic deposit liability categories shall be segregated in accordance with the Rules and Regulations of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Part 327.2—Classification of Deposits.

(c) The term "unposted debit" means a cash item in the bank's possession drawn on itself that has been paid or credited and is chargeable against, but has not been charged against, deposit liabilities at the close of the reporting period. This term does not include items that have been reflected in deposit accounts on the general ledger, although they have not been debited to individual deposit accounts.

(d) Reciprocal demand deposit balances with banks in the United States, except those of private banks and American branches of foreign banks, shall be reported net.

(e) Include outstanding drafts (including advices or authorizations to charge the bank's balance in another bank) drawn in the regular course of business by the reporting bank on other banks pursuant to customer order.

(f) Do not include trust funds held in the bank's own trust department that the bank keeps segregated and apart from its general assets and does not use in the conduct of its business.

14. Federal funds purchased and securities sold under agreements to repurchase. (a) State the aggregate value of Federal funds purchased and securities sold under repurchase or similar arrangements. All securities sold under transactions of this type should be included regardless of (1) whether they are called simultaneous purchases and sales, buy-backs, turnarounds, overnight transactions, delayed deliveries, etc., and (2) whether the transactions are with the same or different institutions if the purpose of the transactions is to repurchase identical or similar securities.

(b) Federal funds purchased and sale of securities under repurchase agreements should be reported gross and not netted against sales of Federal funds and purchases of securities under resale agreements.

15. Other liabilities for borrowed money. State the aggregate amount borrowed by the reporting bank on its own promissory notes, on notes and bills rediscounted (including commodity drafts rediscounted), or on any other instruments given for the purpose of borrowing money.

16. Bank's acceptances outstanding. (a) State the aggregate of unmatured drafts and bills of exchange accepted by the reporting bank, or by some other bank as agent for the reporting bank (other than those reported in "demand deposits"), less the amount of such acceptances acquired by the reporting bank through discount or purchase and held on the reporting date.

(b) Include bills of exchange accepted by the reporting bank that were drawn by banks or bankers in foreign countries, or in dependencies or insular possessions of the United States, for the purpose of creating dollar exchange as required by usage of trade in the respective countries, dependencies, or insular possessions.

17. Mortgages payable. (a) State separately here, or in a note referred to herein, such information as will indicate (1) the general character of the debt including the rate of interest; (2) the date of maturity; (3) if the payment of principal or interest is contingent, an appropriate indication of such contingency; and (4) a brief indication of priority.

(b) If there are any liens on bank premises or other real estate owned by the bank or its consolidated subsidiaries which have not been assumed by the bank or its consolidated subsidiaries, report in a footnote the amount thereof together with an appropriate explanation.

18. Other liabilities. State separately, if material, (a) accrued payrolls; (b) accrued income tax liability (Federal, State and local, and foreign); (c) accrued interest; (d) cash dividends declared but not paid; (e) income collected but not earned; (f) aggregate amount of deferred income taxes; (g) state the aggregate amount of minority stockholders' interests in capital stock, surplus, and undivided profits of consolidated subsidiaries (if material, minority interest shall be appropriately segregated); and (h) any other liability not included in Items 13 through 17.

19. Total liabilities (excluding subordinated notes and debentures). State the sum of items 13 through 18.

20. Subordinated notes and debentures. State separately here, or in a note referred to herein, each issue or type of obligation and such information as will indicate (a) the general character of each type of debt including the rate of interest; (b) the date of maturity (or dates if maturing serially) and call provisions; (c) the aggregate amount of maturities, and sinking fund requirements, each year for the 5 years following the date of the balance sheet; (d) if the payment of principal or interest is contingent, an appropriate indication of the nature of the contingency; (e) a brief indication of priority; and (f) if convertible, the basis.

21. Equity capital. (a) Capital stock. State for each class of shares the title of issue, the number of shares authorized, the number of shares outstanding and the capital share liability thereof, and, if convertible, the basis of conversion. Show also the dollar amount, if any, of capital shares subscribed but unissued, and of subscriptions receivable thereon.

(b) Surplus. State the net amount formally transferred to the surplus account on or before the reporting date.

(c) Undivided profits. State the amount of undivided profits shown by the bank's books.

(d) Reserve for contingencies and other capital reserves.

(1) State separately each such reserve and its purpose.

(2) These reserves constitute amounts set aside for possible decrease in the book value of assets, or for other unforeseen or indeterminable liabilities not otherwise reflected on the bank's books and not covered by insurance.

(3) As these reserves represent a segregation of undivided profits, do not include any element of known losses, or losses the amount of which can be estimated with reasonable accuracy.

(4) Reserves for possible security losses, contingency portion of the former tax-based reserve for loan losses may be included herein at the option of the bank, and other contingency reserves that are established as precautionary measures only shall be included in these reserves, as they represent segregations of "undivided profits".

22. Total equity capital. State the total of Item 21.

23. Total liabilities and equity capital. State the total of Items 19, 20 and 22.

7. Income before extraordinary items
8. Extraordinary items, less related tax effect, $——
9. Net income
10. Earnings per common share: [1]
Income before securities gains (losses)
Net income

[1] Per share amount of securities gains (losses) may be stated separately. If extraordinary items are reported per share amount of income before extraordinary items and per share amount of extraordinary items shall be stated separately.

1. Operating income. State separately:

(a) Interest and fees on loans.

(1) Include interest, fees and other charges on all assets that are reported on the balance sheet as other loans.

(2) Include interest on acceptances, commercial paper purchased in the open market, drafts for which the bank has given deposit credit to customers, etc. Also include interest on loan paper that has been rediscounted with Federal Reserve or other banks or pledged as collateral to secure bills payable or for any other purpose.

(3) Include service charges and other fees on loans.

(4) Include profits (or losses) resulting from the sale of acceptances and commercial paper at discount rates other than those at which such paper was purchased.

(5) Current amortization of premiums on mortgages or other loans shall be deducted from interest on loans and current accumulation of discount on such items shall be added to interest on loans.

(b) Interest on balances with banks. State the amount of interest income received or accrued during the current reporting period on balances carried with domestic and foreign banks.

(c) Income on Federal funds sold and securities purchased under agreements to resell. Include the total gross revenue from Federal funds sold and securities purchased under agreements to resell.

(d) Interest and dividends on investments. (1) State separately interest and dividends from (A) U.S. Treasury securities, (B) obligations and other U.S. Government agencies and corporations, (C) obligations of States and political subdivisions, and (D) other securities owned by the bank, including securities pledged, loaned, or sold under repurchase agreements and similar arrangements.

(2) Include accretion of discount on securities, deduct amortization of premiums on securities. If accretion of bond discount amounts to 5 per cent or more of the total of interest and dividends on investments, state in a note to financial statements, the amount of accretion income and deferred income taxes applicable thereto.

(3) When securities are purchased, any payment for accrued interest shall not be charged to expenses, nor when collected be credited to earnings. Such interest shall be charged to a separate account that will be credited upon collection of the next interest payment. The balance in the account shall be shown as "Other assets" in the balance sheet.

(e) Income from direct lease financing. Include net income earned from the leasing of personal property acquired for that purpose.

(1) Include gross income from services performed by the bank in any authorized fiduciary capacity.

(2) This item may be reported on the cash basis in those instances where the presentation of the item on the financial statements would not be materially affected thereby.

(g) Service charges on deposit accounts. Include amounts charged depositors that fail to maintain specified minimum deposit balances; charges based on the number of checks drawn on and deposits made in deposit accounts; charges for account maintenance and for checks drawn on "no minimum balance" deposit accounts; return check charges; etc.

(h) Other service charges, collection and exchange charges, commissions, and fees. State the aggregate of other service charges, collection and exchange charges, commissions, and fees. Exclude charges on loans and deposits and those related to the Trust Department. Do not include reimbursements for out-of-pocket expenditures made by the bank for the account of customers. If expense accounts were charged with the amount of such expenditures, the reimbursements should be credited to the same expense accounts.

(i) Other operating income.

(1) Include all operating income not reported in Items 1(a) through (h).

(2) Include (A) net trading account income consisting of profits and losses, interest, and other income and expense related to securities carried in a dealer trading account or accounts that are held principally for resale to customers, but exclude salaries, commissions, and other indirect expenses; (B) gross rentals from "other real estate" and safe deposit boxes; (C) net income from unconsolidated subsidiaries and associated companies; such net income should be accounted for on the equity method of accounting; and (D) all other recurring credits (such as miscellaneous recoveries) and immaterial nonrecurring credit items.

(3) Do not include rentals from bank premises. Such rental income shall be reported in the inset to Item 2(h). In the event there is a net occupancy income, the income shall be shown in parentheses in item 2(h).

(4) Itemize (A) net trading account income. (B) equity in net income of unconsolidated subsidiaries and associated companies, and (C) all other amounts that represent 25 per cent or more of the total of this sub-item, unless "other operating income" is less than 5 percent of "total operating income."

(j) Total operating income. State the sum of Items 1(a) through (i).

2. Operating expenses. State separately:

(a) Salaries, and employee benefits.

(1) Include compensation for personal services of all officers and employees, including dining room and cafeteria employees but not building department employees.

(2) Include amounts withheld from salaries for Social Security taxes and contributions to the bank's pension fund.

(3) Include bonus and profit sharing paid directly or through a trustee.

(4) Do not include compensation of officers and employees who spent the major portion of their working time on bank building and related functions. Such compensation shall be included in Item 2(h).

(5) Do not include amounts paid to legal, management, and investment counsel for professional services if such counsel are not salaried officers or employees of the bank. Such amounts shall be included in Item 2(h).

(6) Include all supplementary benefits, other than direct compensation accrued during the report period on behalf of all officers and employees except building department personnel (see Item 2(h)).

(7) Include the bank's own contribution to its pension fund; unemployment and Social Security taxes for the bank's own account; life insurance premiums (net of dividends received) and hospitalization insurance payable by the bank; and other employee benefits.

(8) Do not include expenses related to testing, training or education of officers and employees; the cost of bank newspapers and magazines; premiums on insurance policies where the bank is beneficiary; and athletic activities where the principal purpose is for publicity or public relations and employee benefits are only incidental. Such amounts shall be included in Item 2(h).

(b) Interest on time certificates of deposit of $100,000 or more. Include all interest expense on such time certificates of deposits issued by domestic offices.

(c) Interest on deposits in foreign offices. Include all interest expense on deposits carried on the books of foreign offices.

(d) Interest on other deposits. Include interest on all other deposits.

(e) Expense of Federal funds purchased and securities sold under agreements to repurchase. Include the total gross expenses of Federal funds purchased and securities sold under agreements to repurchase.

(f) Interest on other borrowed money.

(1) Include all interest and discounts on bills payable, rediscounts, sales of participation in pools of loans, borrowings from Federal Reserve Banks, and other instruments issued for the purpose of borrowing money other than Federal funds purchased and securities sold under agreements to repurchase.

(g) Interest on subordinated notes and debentures.

(1) Include all interest on subordinated notes and debentures.

(2) Amortization of premium or discount shall be deducted from or included in the amount reported.

(h) Occupancy expense of bank premises, net.

(1) Include in "gross occupancy expense" inset the aggregate amount of (A) salaries, wages, and supplementary compensation of bank personnel who devote the major portion of their time to the operation of bank premises or its consolidated premises subsidiaries; (B) depreciation of bank premises and amortization of leasehold improvements; (C) rent expense of bank premises; (D) real estate taxes; (E) interest on mortgages on bank premises owned; and (F) other bank premises operating and maintenance expenses.

(2) Include in "rental income" inset the aggregate amount of rentals from bank premises leased by the bank or its consolidated premises subsidiaries.

(3) Report the net occupancy expense (or net income) of bank premises. If net income is reported, the amount shall be shown in parenthesis.

(i) Furniture and equipment expense.

(1) Include normal and recurring depreciation charges; rental costs of office machines and tabulating and data processing equipment, and ordinary repairs to furniture and office machines, including servicing costs. The amount applicable to depreciation charges shall be shown in parenthesis.

(2) Include taxes on equipment.

(j) Provision for loan losses.

Banks shall provide an amount sufficient to bring the balance in the "Reserve for Possible Loan Losses" account to an adequate level to absorb expected loan losses based upon management's knowledge and evaluation of the bank's current loan portfolio.

(k) Other operating expenses.

(1) Include all operating expenses not reported in Items 2(a) through 2(j).

(2) Include advertising, business promotion, contributions, cost of examinations by supervisory authorities, deposit insurance assessment, fees paid to directors and members of committees, memberships, net cash shortages or overages, operating expenses (except salaries) of "Real estate owned other than bank premises," postage, premium on fidelity insurance, publicity, retainer fees, stationery and office supplies, subscriptions, taxes not reported against other items, telegrams and cables, telephone, temporary agency help, travel, unreimbursed losses on counterfeits, forgeries, payments over stops, and all other recurring expenses and immaterial nonrecurring charges.

(3) Deposit insurance assessment expense shall be reported as a net figure—that is all assessment credits during the period shall be applied against the assessment expense.

(4) Itemize all amounts that represent 25 percent or more of this item.

(l) Total operating expenses. State the sum of Items 2(a) through 2(l).

3. Income before income taxes and security gains (losses). State the difference of Item 1(j) minus Item 2(l).

4. Applicable income taxes. (a) State the aggregate of Federal, State and local, and foreign taxes applicable to the amount reported in Item (3).

(b) Do not include taxes applicable to net security gains (losses) and extraordinary items. Such taxes (or tax credits) shall be reported in Items 6 and 8.

5. Income before securities gains (losses). State the difference of Item 3 minus Item 4.

6. Net security gains (losses). State the net result of security gains and losses realized. Related income taxes (or tax credits) shall be shown parenthetically.

7. Net income. State the sum or difference of Items 5 and 6.

NOTE.—If extraordinary items are reported (See Item 8) the caption to this Item shall read, "Income before extraordinary items."

8. Extraordinary items. State the material results of non-recurring transactions that have occurred during the current reporting period. Only the results of major events outside of the ordinary operating activity of the bank are to be reported herein. Such events would include, but not be limited to, material gain or loss from, and certain extinguishments of indebtedness between unrelated entities and application of operating tax loss carry forward benefits. Related income taxes (or tax credits) shall be shown parenthetically. (Less than material results of nonrecurring transactions are to be included in Items 1(l) or 2(k), as appropriate.)

9. Net income. State the sum or difference of Items 7 and 8.

10. Earnings per common share. State the per share amounts applicable to common stock (including common stock equivalents) and per share amounts on a fully diluted basis, if applicable. The basis of computation, including the number of shares used, shall be furnished in a note to financial statements.

C. Statement of changes in capital accounts

Increase (decrease)	Preferred stock $____ par	Common stock $____ par	Surplus	Undivided profits	Reserve for contingencies and other capital reserves
1. Net income transferred to undivided profits
2. Preferred stock and common stock sold (par or face value)

[2] State briefly in a footnote the basis of determining the amounts in this column.
[3] If provision for depreciation and amortization is credited in the books directly to the asset accounts, the amounts for the last fiscal year shall be stated in an explanatory footnote.
[4] The nature and amount of significant additions (other than provisions for depreciation and amortization) and deductions shall be stated in an explanatory footnote.
[5] Show in a footnote totals (corresponding to the first two columns) representing amounts reported for Federal income tax purposes.

Schedule V.—Investments in, dividend income from, and share in earnings or losses of unconsolidated subsidiaries

Name of subsidiary	Percent of voting stock owned	Total investment, including advances	Equity in underlying net assets at balance sheet date[1]	Amounts of dividends[2]	Bank's proportionate part of earnings or loss for the period
Total		$_____	$_____	$_____	$_____

[1] Equity shall include advances reported in preceding column to the extent recoverable.
[2] In a footnote state as to any dividends other than cash, the basis on which they have been reported as income. Also, if any such dividend received has been credited to income in an amount differing from that charged to surplus and/or undivided profits by the disbursing subsidiary, state the amount of such difference and explain.

Schedule VI.—"Other" liabilities for borrowed money

proposed rules

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains notices to the public of the proposed issuance of rules and regulations. The purpose of these notices is to give interested persons an opportunity to participate in the rule making prior to the adoption of the final rules.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 52]

UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR GRADES OF DEHYDRATED (LOW-MOISTURE) APPLES

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

Notice is hereby given that the United States Department of Agriculture is proposing a revision of the United States Standards for Grades of Dehydrated (Low-Moisture) Apples (7 CFR 52.2341).

These grade standards are issued under authority of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (Secs. 203, 205, 60 Stat. 1087, as amended, 1090, as amended, 7 U.S.C. 1622, 1624), which provides for the issuance of official U.S. grades to designate different levels of quality for the voluntary use of producers, buyers, and consumers. Official grading services are also provided under this Act upon request of the applicant and upon payment of a fee to cover the cost of such service.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposal should file the same in duplicate by March 31, 1977 with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250. All written submittals made pursuant to this notice will be available for public review at the Office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.17(b)).

NOTE.—Compliance with the provisions of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, or with applicable State laws and regulations.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATION

The current U.S. Standards for Grades of Dehydrated (Low-Moisture). Apples, hereinafter referred to as "dehydrated apples" have been in effect since July 1, 1957. Since that time there have been significant changes in the preparation and processing of dehydrated apples.

The proposed revision includes:

1. Designating the grades as U.S. Grade A, U.S. Grade B and Substandard, dropping the descriptive names of Fancy and Choice.

2. Eliminating the 500 parts per million limit for sulfur (sulphur) dioxide in the finished product.

Descriptive terms, such as "U.S. Fancy" would be eliminated—editorially in the final publication of the revised standards—to conform to consumer preference for a single letter grade designation.

The elimination of the limit on sulfur (sulphur) dioxide will permit the manufacture of a better colored product and one that can be prepared from readily available raw materials rather than those that are prepared especially for the manufacture of dehydrated apples. The use of sulfur (sulphur) dioxide in the processing of dried and dehydrated fruits is an old, established practice that is permitted under Food and Drug regulations. Their regulations permit its use, "• • • in such amounts as may be necessary • • •". The amount used in processing is self-limiting because too great an amount of sulfur (sulphur) dioxide will impart an off-flavor to the product. When used in adequate amounts, all traces of the sulfur (sulphur) dioxide are eliminated from the dehydrated apples during cooking.

In addition to contemplated editorial changes in the text and format—which will not change any of the requirements of these standards—the proposed amendment would change § 52.2341 (only) to read:

§ 52.2341 Product description.

Dehydrated (low-moisture) apples, hereinafter referred to as "dehydrated apples," are prepared from clean and sound fresh or previously dried (or evaporated) apples from which the peels and cores have been removed and which have been cut into segments. The dried (or evaporated) apple segments may be cut further into smaller segments in preparation for dehydration whereby practically all of the moisture is removed to produce a very dry texture and are prepared to assure a clean, sound, wholesome product. The product shall have been subjected to a sulfur treatment that is suitable and sufficient to retain a characteristic color. No other additives may be present.

Dated: January 12, 1977.

Administrator.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

[10 CFR Parts 2 and 51]

LICENSING AND REGULATORY POLICY AND PROCEDURES FOR ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

Distribution of Applications and Environmental Statements to Local Officials

By letter dated July 7, 1976, the Township of Lower Alloways Creek, New Jersey filed with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission a petition for rule making to amend 10 CFR 2.101 and 10 CFR 51.24 of the Commission's regulations. A notice of filing of petition for rule making (PRM-51-2) was published by the Commission in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 5, 1976 (41 FR 32801) inviting written comments or suggestions concerning the petition for rule making by October 4, 1976.

The petitioner requests that the Commission amend 10 CFR 51.24(c)(4) to provide that copies of the draft environmental impact statement and the applicant's environmental report will be provided to:

All parties to the licensing proceedings, if the draft statement is for a licensing action, including the chief executives of all the municipalities which are considered in the draft statement as either preferred or alternate locations for the licensed facility or activity.

The petitioner also requests the Commission to amend 10 CFR 2.101 to provide that if the applicant is required to consider alternate locations in his application, the applicant will also serve a copy of the application on the chief executives of the appropriate alternate municipalities or counties.

The petitioner states that although existing regulations of the Commission require the consideration of alternate sites for a facility, the regulations provide for notification only of the authorities having jurisdiction over the preferred site, and officials with jurisdiction over alternate sites are not guaranteed the knowledge that a site in their area is under consideration or that the relative merits of such a site may have been the subject of dispute at hearings held in a different locale.

The petitioner states also that authorities for the preferred site have an opportunity at Commission hearings to present evidence in favor of moving the facility to an alternate location, without rebuttal from representatives from that location, and the present rules place an unreasonable burden on the authorities in the alternate location if the preferred site is disallowed or deemed unsuitable at some point in the licensing.

It is the view of the petitioner that in the interest of providing a thorough, well-balanced, and informed review of preferred and alternate sites for nuclear facilities, all of the communities involved should be notified at the same time the original application is submitted to the Commission.

One comment has been received in response to the notice of filing of petition for rule making published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 5, 1976. The commenter recommended that the Commission reject the amendments proposed by the petitioner, but if some action is desired in this area, the Commission should serve a notice of the availability of environmental reports and environmental statements upon the chief executives of municipalities which are identified as alternate locations for facilities. To the extent that officials of such municipalities are interested, they could then request copies of the materials.

It is the view of the Commission's staff at this time that local officials of all of the communities involved should be informed of the plans for a facility or a commercial waste disposal service or activity at the time the initial application is submitted to the Commission. This would permit responsible officials of alternate sites to study documentation on the proposed facility or activity and the potential impact of the facility or activity on the municipality or county, and to be prepared to represent the interests of their community in the event that the preferred site is deemed unsuitable at some point in the licensing proceeding.

In accordance with the petitioner's request, the Commission is considering proposed amendments of 10 CFR 2.101 and 10 CFR 51.24 as set forth below.

It is to be noted that the site selection process is a screening process in which the applicant may consider as many as eighty sites. In the process of screening the applicant eliminates many sites for obvious reasons. In the environmental report, final site selection usually is narrowed down to four or five sites which are considered in some detail. The reference to "alternate sites" in the proposed amendments is intended to apply to the final few sites considered in the site selection process.

The proposed amendment of § 2.101 adds a provision to paragraph (a)(3)(ii) that the applicant will also be requested to serve a copy of the tendered application and/or environmental report on the chief executives of the appropriate alternate municipalities or counties which have been identified in the application or environmental report as alternate sites.

The proposed amendment of § 2.101 adds a provision to paragraph (b) which pertains to applications for licenses for receipt of waste radioactive material from other persons for the purpose of commercial disposal by the waste disposal licensee, that the applicant will also serve a copy of the application and environmental report, as appropriate, on the chief executives of the appropriate alternate municipalities or counties which have been identified in the application or environmental report as alternate sites.

The proposed amendment of § 51.24 revises paragraph (c)(4) to provide that if the draft environmental impact statement is for a licensing action, copies of the draft statement and the applicant's environmental report will be provided to all parties to the licensing proceeding and the chief executives of all municipalities or counties which are identified in the draft statement as either preferred or alternate sites for the proposed facility or activity.

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974, as amended, the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, and section 553 of Title 5 of the United States Code, notice is hereby given that adoption of the following amendments to 10 CFR Parts 2 and 51 is contemplated. All interested persons who desire to submit written comments or suggestions in connection with the proposed amendments should submit them by February 16, 1977 to the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Branch. Copies of the comments received on the proposed amendments may be examined at the Commission's Public Document Room at 1717 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.

Section 2.101 of 10 CFR Part 2 is amended by revising § 2.101(a)(3)(ii) to read as follows and by adding the following sentence at the end of paragraph (b):

§ 2.101 Filing of application.

(3) • • •

(ii) Serve a copy on the chief executive of the municipality in which the facility is to be located or, if the facility is not to be located within a municipality, on the chief executive of the county, and on the chief executives of the appropriate alternate municipalities or counties which have been identified in the application or environmental report as alternate sites.

• • • • • •

(b) • • • The applicant will also serve a copy of the application and environmental report, as appropriate, on the chief executives of the appropriate alternate municipalities or counties which have been identified in the application or envrionmental report as alternate sites.

• • • • • •

Sertion 51.24 is amended by revising paragraph (c)(4) to read as follows:

§ 51.24 Distribution of draft environmental impact statement; new releases.

• • • • • •

(c) • • •

(4) If the draft statement is for a licensing action, all parties to the licensing proceeding and the chief executives of all municipalities or counties which are identified in the draft statement as either preferred or alternate sites for the proposed facility or activity.

[Airspace Docket No. 76-CE-13]

EXTENSION OF LOW ALTITUDE VOR FEDERAL AIRWAYS

Proposed Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is considering amendments to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate and extend VOR Federal Airways in the Wichita, Kans., Tulsa, Okla., areas.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the airspace docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Central Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, 601 E. 12th Street, Kansas City, Mo. 64106. All communications received on or before February 16, 1977 will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendments. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

An official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the Chief Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, AGC-24, 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591. An informal docket also will be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

A request for copies of this Notice of Proposed Rule Making should be addressed to the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of Public Affairs, Attention; Public Information Center, APA-430, 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591. The FAA has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflationary Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

The proposed amendments would:

1. Designate a VOR Federal Airway from Emporia, Kans., direct to Ponca City, Okla.

2. Designate a VOR Federal Airway from Wichita, Kans., to Chanute, Kans.

3. Extend Victor 73 from Wichita, Kans., direct to Tulsa, Okla.

Peak traffic over the routes described above has steadily increased over the last two years. Safety will be enhanced by charting airways, establishing MEA's, depicting radials and mileages, and providing airway mapping on controllers' displays.

These amendments are proposed under the authority of Sec. 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348 (a)) and Sec. 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on January 7, 1977.

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to designate a transition area at Caledonia, Minnesota.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Great Lakes Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, 2300 East Devon, Des Plaines, Illinois 60018. All communications received on or before February 16, 1977 will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

A public docket will be available for examination by interested persons in the Office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, 2300 East Devon, Des Plaines, Illinois 60018.

A standard instrument approach procedure has been developed to the Houston County Airport, Caledonia, Minnesota. Controlled airspace is required to protect the procedure.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as hereinafter set forth:

In § 71.181 (42 F.R. 440), the following transition area is added:

CALEDONIA, MINNESOTA

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 5-mile radius of the Houston County Airport (latitude 43°35'48" N, longitude 91°30'15" W) and within 2 miles each side of the 184° radial of the Nodine VORTAC extending from the 5-mile radius area to 6 miles north of the airport, excluding that portion which overlies the La Crosse, Wisconsin, transition area.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of Section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348), and of Section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act [49 U.S.C. 1655 (c)].

NOTE.—The Federal Aviation Administration has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

A public docket will be available for examination by interested persons in the Office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, 2300 East Devon, Des Plaines, Illinois 60018.

A standard instrument approach procedure has been developed for the Caro, Michigan Airport. Controlled airspace is required to protect the procedure.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as hereinafter set forth:

In § 71.181 (42 FR 440), the following transition area is added:

CARO, MICHIGAN

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 6-mile radius of the Caro Airport (latitude 43°27'45" N., longitude 83°26'30" W.).

This amendment is proposed under the authority of Section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348), and of Section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act [49 U.S.C. 1655(c)].

[PSDR-45A; Docket 30123; Dated January 12, 1977]

PART 399—STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY

Standards for Determining Priorities of Hearings; Extension of Comment Period

By notice of Proposed Rulemaking PSDR-45, 41 FR 52698, December 1, 1976, the Civil Aeronautics Board gave notice that it was proposing to amend Part 399 of the regulations so as to delineate standards for determining priorities of hearing with respect to competing applications for operating authority. The Board requested that interested parties file comments on or before January 17, 1977.

By letter dated January 6, 1977, counsel for the local service carriers requested that the due date for filing comments be extended. The reason for the request is that Board Members Minetti and West have not yet filed their separate statement on route hearing priorities, and the carriers wish to address themselves to the views of the majority and dissenting Board Members at the same time. Accordingly, counsel for the local service carriers requests that the due date for filing comments be extended until 30 days after the issuance of the separate statement. For the same reason, counsel for Delta Air Lines, in a letter dated January 7, 1977, requests that the due date for filing comments be extended until four weeks after the issuance of the separate statement of Members Minetti and West. In any event, counsel for Delta requests an extension of at least two weeks from January 17, 1977.

In the interest of receiving the views of all interested persons, the undersigned finds that good cause has been shown for a thirty-day extension of time for filing comments.

Accordingly, pursuant to authority delegated in § 385.20(d) of the Board's Organization Regulations (14 CFR 385.20 (d)), the undersigned hereby extends the time for filing comments to February 16, 1977.

(Secs. 101, 204, 401, and 1002 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, 72 Stat. 737 (as amended), 743, 754 (as amended), 788 (49 U.S.C. 1301, 1324, 1371, and 1482).)

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

Office of Assistant Secretary—Federal Housing Commissioner

[24 CFR Part 866]

[Docket No. R-77-344]

LOW INCOME HOUSING

Lease and Grievance Procedures; Tenant Maintenance

The Department of Housing and Urban Development proposes to amend Title 24, Chapter VIII, Part 866, § 866.4(g) Tenant maintenance.

It has come to the Department's attention that interested parties have interpreted this section, which permits leases to provide for tenant performance of seasonal and other maintenance tasks, as (1) being limited to tenants of projects of the specified architectural or structural types mentioned as examples in the section and (2) specifying that the option of tenant performance shall be embodied in an agreement between the Public Housing Agency (PHA) and the tenant which is separate from the lease.

The proposed amendment clarifies the intent of the original issuance which was to permit PHAs to incorporate into the lease a provision for the performance of seasonal and other maintenance tasks by tenants where it has been common practice for tenants of the given type of dwelling unit to perform such tasks.

All interested persons are encouraged to submit written suggestions with respect to this amendment concerning the subject matter of the interim rule to the Rules Docket Clerk, Office of the Secretary, Room 10141, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 7th Street, SW., Washington, D.C. 20410. All relevant material received by February 18, 1977, will be considered prior to the adoption of final amendments. A copy of each communication will be available for public inspection during regular business hours at the above address.

The Secretary has determined that Title 24, Chapter VIII, Part 866, Subpart A does not have a substantial environmental impact and a finding of inapplicability is available for public inspection in the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk at the above address.

NOTE.—It is hereby certified that the economic and inflationary impact of Part 866, Subpart A have been carefully evaluated in accordance with OMB Circular A-107.

1. Section 866.4(g) is amended to read as follows:

§ 866.4 Lease requirements.

* * * * *

(g) Tenant maintenance. The lease may provide that the tenant shall perform seasonal maintenance tasks or other maintenance tasks, as specified in the lease, where performance of such tasks by tenants of dwelling units of a similar design and construction is customary: Provided, That such provision is ineluded in the lease in good faith and not for the purpose of evading the obligations of the PHA.

Tuition Remission Programs; Withdrawal of Notice of Proposed Rule Making

• Purpose. The purpose of this document is to withdraw the notice of proposed rulemaking relating to the treatment of amounts received under tuition remission programs for purposes of section 117 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, which appeared in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 2, 1976 (41 FR 48132). •

On January 7, 1977, a public hearing was held on the proposed regulations. Testimony presented at that hearing, as well as written statements submitted previously and thereafter, pointed out problems associated with changing the tax treatment of amounts received under tuition remission programs. In view of these problems and the joint study of the tax treatment of scholarships and fellowships called for by the House and Senate Committee Reports on the Tax Reform Act of 1976, it has been concluded that the notice of proposed rulemaking should be withdrawn.

Accordingly, at the direction of the Secretary, the notice of proposed rulemaking on tuition remission programs published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 48132) is hereby withdrawn.

• Purpose: The purpose of these proposed amendments is to better define and describe the policy and procedures followed by the Coast Guard in processing bridge permit actions. It is proposed that paragraph (h) of § 114.05 be amended by deleting the words "document authorizing work and structures to be built or placed" and inserting the words "license permitting bridges and approaches thereto" to more clearly define the term "permit" as used in 5 U.S.C. 551. ●

A new § 114.45 is proposed to define what is considered a timely application for extensions of time for commencement and completion of work and extensions of time for removal of bridges being replaced in whole or in part.

It is proposed that § 115.60(c)(1) be amended to describe the manner in which public procedures will be conducted for cases where there are substantial issues relevant to the effect that a proposed bridge will have on the reasonable needs of navigation.

Interested persons are invited to participate in this proposed rule making by submitting written data, views or arguments to the Commandant (G-CMC/81), U.S. Coast Guard, Washington, D.C. 20590. Each person submitting a comment should include his name and address, identify the notice (CGD 76-144), and give reasons in support of his comment. Comments received before March 3, 1977, will be considered before final action is taken on this proposal. Copies of all written comments received will be available for examination by interested persons in Room 8117, Department of Transportation, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. The proposal may be changed in light of the comments received.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed that Parts 114 and 115 of Title 33 of the Code of Federal Regulations be amended by:

1. Revising § 114.05(h) to read as follows:

§ 114.05 Definitions.

• • • • •

(h) Permit. The term "permit" means the license permitting construction of bridges and approaches thereto in or over navigable waters of the United States, issued under the rules and regulations in this subchapter.

• • • • •

2. Adding a new § 114.45 immediately after § 114.40 to read as follows:

§ 114.45 Applications, extensions of time.

Extensions of time to commence or complete construction of a bridge or remove a bridge that has been replaced as an element of a permitted bridge project must be submitted to, and received by, the District Commander at least 30 days before the existing permit expires to allow the permit to remain in effect until the final agency action is taken.

3. Amending § 115.60(c)(1) to read as follows:

§ 115.60 Procedures for handling applications for bridge construction authorization.

• • • • •

(c) Notice and hearing. (1) Public hearings are held on those cases where there are substantial issues relevant to the effect that the proposed bridge will have on the reasonable needs of navigation. The Chief, Office of Marine Environment and Systems, issues the notice of public hearing described in paragraph (c)(2) of this section.

• • • • •

(Sec. 5, 28 Stat. 362, as amended; (33 U.S.C. 401, 491, 525, 535; 49 U.S.C. 1655(g)(6)); 49 CFR 1.46(c)(8), (9), (10), (q))

NOTE.—The Coast Guard has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

PUGET SOUND VESSEL TRAFFIC SERVICE

Proposed Amendments to Operating Requirements

The Coast Guard proposes to amend the operating regulations for the Puget Sound Vessel Traffic Service to simplify reporting requirements and to reduce congestion on the assigned radio frequency. A new requirement is added to prevent vessels from getting underway in reduced visibility if they lack radio communications and are not able to obtain permission to get underway from the VTC by other means.

Interested persons may participate in this proposed rulemaking by submitting written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposal to the Commandant (G-CMC/81), U.S. Coast Guard, Washington, D.C. 20590. Each person submitting a comment should include his name, address, and organization, if any, identify the notice number (CGD 75-173) and give reasons for any recommendations. Copies of all written comments received will be available for examination in Room 8117, Department of Transportation, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, D.C. All comments received on or before March 3, 1977, will be considered before final action is taken on this proposal. The proposal may be changed in light of the comments received.

It is proposed to amend the title of Part 161 from "Vessel Traffic Systems" to "Vessel Traffic Management". Part 161 is intended to include Advance Notice of Arrival and Regulated Navigation Areas as well as Vessel Traffic Services; therefore, "management" is more descriptive of the regulations in this part. It is also proposed to change the Title of Subpart B from "Puget Sound Vessel Traffic System" to "Vessel Traffic Services (VTS)". All future VTS's will be in Subpart B, and "services" is considered a more appropriate word because the Coast Guard is providing mariners with a vessel traffic center to monitor vessel movement.

Operational experience at the Vessel Traffic Center (VTC) shows that both the initial and follow-up reports are not needed and that movement reports are too complicated. Therefore, it is proposed to require only a single report at least 15 minutes before a vessel enters the VTS area, and to simplify the movement reports. Section 161.128 Initial report would be changed by adding the information necessary for the report from the follow-up report and § 161.130 Follow-up report would be deleted. Much of § 161.142 Movement reports is proposed to be amended by shortening and simplifying reporting requirements.

Section 161.128(a) would add the requirement to report the vessel type to the requirement to report the name of the vessel. Section 161.128(f) would require that the vessel speed be reported while transiting the VTS. Section 161.128(g) would require the vessel to advise the VTC of its intent to use the Traffic Separation Scheme.

Section 161.128(h) would require that towing vessels report the overall length of their tows, including the towing vessel.

Section 161.129 applies to vessels operating within their local harbor areas. This section would replace the initial and follow-up reports with a single report, thereby reducing the number of reports to be made for this type of operation.

Section 161.131, Final report, would be revised to allow the report to be made up to 60 minutes before the vessel actually anchors, moors, or departs from the VTS area. However, the vessel must be out of the Traffic Separation Scheme when reporting.

Section 161.133, Radio failure, would be revised to require that a vessel unable to communicate with the VTC by radiotelephone must obtain permission from the VTC before getting underway. If unable to get such permission by telephone or other means, the vessel may not proceed unless visibility is more than 2 miles. It is essential for the VTC to have knowledge of those vessels getting underway in reduced visibility without communication capability so that the VTC may advise other vessels of their movements.

Section 161.142, Movement reports, is revised to eliminate unnecessary information. Section 161.142(b) would only require reporting the name of the vessel and reporting point and only when specifically directed to do so by the VTC.

Section 161.142(a)(6) is now § 161.142(a)(1) and is reworded to require the reporting of changes in speed in excess of one knot instead of any speed change.

Proposed § 161.142(a)(2) would require a vessel to report 10 minutes before it crosses through the TSS and again when clear.

All other requirements under § 161.142 are deleted.

Section 161.189, Reporting points, would be revised by deleting three points previously used because of added radar surveillance and by adding two new points that are actually used.

In view of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend Part 161 of Title 33 of the Code of Federal Regulations as follows:

PART 161—VESSEL TRAFFIC MANAGEMENT

1. By revising the title of Part 161 to read: "VESSEL TRAFFIC MANAGEMENT".

Subpart B—Vessel Traffic Services

2. By revising the title of Subpart B of Part 161 to read: "Vessel Traffic Services".

§ 161.101 [Amended]

3. In § 161.101, by striking the word "system" and inserting the word "service" in place thereof on line 3 of paragraph (a).

§ 161.103 [Amended]

4. In § 161.103(a), by striking the word "system" and inserting the word "service" in place thereof at the end of the paragraph.

5. In § 161.103(b), by striking the word "system" and inserting the word "service" in place thereof on the first line of the paragraph.

§ 161.120 [Amended]

6. In § 161.120, by inserting the words "current edition of" between the words "designated in" and "Puget Sound VTS Operating Manual."

7. By revising § 161.128 to read:

§ 161.128 Initial report.

Except as provided in § 161.129, at least 15 minutes before a vessel enters or begins to navigate in the VTS Area the master of the vessel shall report, or cause to be reported, the following information to the VTC:

(a) Name and type of the vessel.
(b) Position of the vessel.
(c) Estimated time of entering or beginning to navigate in the VTS area.
(d) Destination in the VTS Area.
(e) ETA of the vessel at its destination.
(f) Vessel speed in the VTS Area.
(g) Whether or not the vessel intends to use the TSS.
(h) If the vessel is a towing vessel, the overall length of the tow including the towing vessel.
(i) Whether or not any dangerous cargo listed in § 124.14 of this chapter is on board the vessel or its tow.
(j) Any impairment to the operation of the vessel as described in § 161.135(a) and (b).

8. By adding new § 161.129 to read:

§ 161.129 Local harbor report.

(a) When a vessel moves within a three mile radius of its point of departure in the VTS area, the movement is a local harbor movement. A vessel making a local harbor movement is exempted from the reporting requirements in §§ 161.128 and 161.131.

(b) At least 5 minutes, but not more than 45 minutes, before a vessel makes a local harbor movement under paragraph (a) of this section, the master shall report, or cause to be reported, the following information to the VTC:

(1) Name and type of vessel.
(2) Position of departure.
(3) Time of departure.
(4) Destination and ETA.
(5) General description of operation to be performed.

(c) The master shall report, or cause to be reported, any changes from the information reported under paragraph (b) of this section, except that departing or ETA times must be reported only if they vary by 15 minutes or more from the report.

9. By deleting § 161.130.

§ 161.136 [Amended]

10. By striking the references "§ 161.130" in § 161.136(a).

11. By revising § 161.131 to read:

§ 161.131 Final report.

(a) Whenever a vessel anchors, moors in, or departs from the VTS Area the master shall report, or cause to be reported, the place and time of anchoring, mooring, or departing, to the VTC.

(b) The report required in paragraph (a) of this section may be made up to 60 minutes before anchoring, mooring, or departing the VTS area, if the vessel is not in and will not be in the TSS after making the report.

(c) If the report in paragraph (b) of this section is made, the master shall report, or cause to be reported, the revised estimated time of action immediately if it varies by 15 minutes or more from the report.

12. By revising § 161.133 to read:

§ 161.133 Radio failure.

Whenever a vessel's radiotelephone equipment fails—

(a) Before entering or while underway in the VTS area—

(1) Compliance with §§ 161.120 and 161.142 is not required; and

(2) Compliance with §§ 161.128 and 161.131 is not required unless the reports can be made by other means;

(b) Before getting underway in the VTS area—

(1) Permission to get underway must be obtained from the VTC;

(2) If unable to contact the VTC and visibility is more than 2 miles, compliance with paragraph (b)(1) of this section is not required; and

(c) The master shall restore the radiotelephone to operating condition as soon as possible.

13. By revising § 161.142 to read:

§ 161.142 Movement reports.

(a) The master of a vessel shall report, or cause to be reported, the following information to the VTC by radiotelephone:

(1) Any increase or decrease in speed of more than one knot.
(2) The intent to cross through the TSS at least 10 minutes before beginning to cross the TSS.
(3) When the vessel clears the TSS after crossing.

(b) When directed by the VTC, and when the vessel passes a reporting point listed in § 161.189, the master of a vessel shall report, or cause to be reported, the following information to the VTC by radiotelephone:

(1) The name of the vessel.
(2) The reporting point.

14. By revising § 161.189 to read:

§ 161.189 Reporting points.

The reporting points are—

(a) When North of New Dungeness Light—Buoy R at latitude 48°16'26" N., longitude 123°06'30" W.

(b) When Northeast of Colville Point—Buoy RB at latitude 48°26'24" N., longitude 122°45'12" W.

(c) When Northeast of Lawrence Point—Buoy C at latitude 48°40'34" N., longitude 122°42'44" W.

(d) When Abeam of Matia Island—Buoy CA at latitude 48°45'19" N., longitude 122°46'26" W.

(e) When West of West Point Light—Buoy SH at latitude 47°39'42" N., longitude 122°27'48" W.

(f) When Abeam of Robinson Point—Buoy TB at latitude 47°23'07" N., longitude 122°21'08" W.

(g) When Abeam of Browns Point—Buoy TC at latitude 47°19'30" N., longitude 122°27'19" W.

(h) The boundary of the TSS.

FUEL AND FUEL ADDITIVES

Control of Lead Additives in Gasoline; Proposed Small Refiner Amendments

BACKGROUND

On December 6, 1973 (38 FR 33734), the Environmental Protection Agency

published in the FEDERAL REGISTER regulations controlling the amount of lead additives used in gasoline. Under the regulations, the average lead content of a gallon of gasoline was to be reduced to 0.5 grams per gallon (gpg) after January 1, 1979, in accordance with a prescribed reduction schedule Small refiners, defined as those with not more than 30,000 barrels per day (BPD) crude oil or bona fide feed stock capacity, were exempted from meeting the first 2 yearly reductions in recognition of their special problems in raising capital and constructing new facilities.

Following a lengthy period of litigation during which enforcement was suspended, EPA published a notice of intent to resume enforcement of the phase-down schedule on October 1, 1976 (41 FR 28352, July 9, 1976). On October 1, 1976, following a period of comment and review, EPA formally resumed enforcement of a revised phase-down schedule (41 FR 42675, September 28, 1976). Changes were made to the original schedule in light of the length of the litigation and changes that had occurred in the national petroleum situation since the original promulgation. The September 28 notice, however, did not deal with the small refiner issue. Rather, it indicated that additional analysis was necessary with further changes to the regulations in this regard being actively considered.

The consulting firm of Sobotka and Co., Inc., under contract to EPA, investigated possible justifications for differentiation in lead phase-down regulations between various classes of refiners. In particular, they investigated whether small refiners were differentially impacted by the regulations so that those regulations in themselves would cause premature or avoidable closures of otherwise viable companies. They further investigated whether the regulations might put small refiners at a competitive disadvantage relative to the conditions that would otherwise prevail. Finally, they analyzed certain other aspects of the issue at EPA's request.

The analysis by Sobotka and Co., Inc., has been completed ("Impact of Lead Phase-down Rules on Small Refineries," dated December 30, 1976) along with other internal EPA staff investigations. The purpose of this notice is to propose amendments to the lead phase-down regulations with regard to gasoline produced by small refiners and discuss the rationale behind the proposal.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

The lead phase-down regulation is a health based regulation promulgated to ensure a positive and lasting reduction in lead emissions to the ambient air. At the time of promulgation, the introduction of catalytic converters was expected to begin in late 1974 (1975 model year cars). The widespread use of the catalytic converter, which requires lead-free fuel for proper operation, was projected to result in an independent reduction in lead emissions. However, the converter was not required, and there was no assurance that its use would be either widely accepted or long-lived. Thus, the promulgation of the phase-down regulation was necessary to both speed the reduction of lead in gasoline and to provide the certainty that lead levels would be reduced. The reduction timetable (with the delay for small refiners) and the 0.5 gpg final average lead level were chosen after appropriate consideration of health effects, economics and technological feasibility.

Prior to the origin promulgation of the lead phase-down regulation, the refining industry's capability to meet the regulated levels was assessed through technical and economic studies. These analyses surfaced the capital availability constraints of the small refiner which prompted the two-year delay in meeting regulated lead levels for that segment of the industry. However, these analyses did not focus on the differential economic burden which would face various classes of refiners (and refineries) striving to meet the same .5 gpg average pool lead level. Only with the recent analysis from Sobotka and Company, Inc. (and to some extent from industry comments in response to the July 9, 1976 and September 28, 1976 FEDERAL REGISTER notices) has EPA been fully advised of the differential economic impact of the existing regulation on the small refiner (and refinery).

This recent analysis shows that because of his typical production slate and refinery configuration the small refiner will in general face relatively higher costs (with less capital available to meet those costs) in meeting the .5 gpg standard than will the large refiner. These cost and capital availability differences have led EPA to propose an amendment to the existing regulation which would require the small refiner (any refiner which on and after October 1, 1976 has FEA certified capacity of not more than 30,000 BPD of crude throughput) to meet by October 1, 1979, a pool average lead level of 1.0 gpg rather than the present .5 gpg level. Any new (or old) refinery not in operation as of October 1, 1976, is required to meet the .8 gpg and .5 gpg pool average lead levels set forth in paragraph (a) of the existing regulations.

It is at approximately the pool average lead level of 1.0 gpg that the unit cost for lead removal for the small refiner is comparable to the unit cost for reduction by the larger refiner to the promulgated 0.5 gpg level. Although this amendment would not necessarily result in the same lead emission reduction as originally prescribed, the resulting lead content is only about 3 to 4 percent higher. The effect on ambient lead concentrations is considered to be negligible, in part due to the generally rural nature of small refiners and their markets.

Reporting requirements for the small refiner will be substantially reduced from that outlined in the September 28, 1976 FEDERAL REGISTER notice. Under these revisions for the small refiner the Administrator may still require, upon 30 days written notice, any reports he deems relevant to a determination of compliance with this regulation. However, the only required report is a certificate of intent to meet the 1.0 gpg standard by October 1, 1979, to be submitted in writing to the Administrator by March 31, 1977.

SMALL REFINER ANALYSIS

In the original promulgation, the requirement for compliance by small refiners was deferred 2 years "* * * in recognition of the special lead time problems faced by this group." Analysis at that time concluded that from 12 to 20 of the nation's 189 small refineries might close because of the lead phase-down regulation. It was recognized that the future use of lead-free gasoline would greatly influence this eventuality, and that if lead-free demand grew at realistic rates, those 12 to 20 refineries would probably close anyway; the phase-down regulation would only accelerate the time of closure.

Since that time other forces have come into play. In particular, the changes in the world petroleum market have placed unusual constraints on the industry, which, in response to Congressional actions and concerns, have resulted in the introduction of more complex and comprehensive governmental regulations on refinery operations. For example, with the two-tiered domestic crude oil pricing system, and high-priced foreign imports, many small refiners are viable only so long as the crude oil entitlement program, or some other similar relief, assures them of a supply of crude oil that is comparably priced to that available to the larger refiners who own and produce most of the cheaper U.S. oil.

In order to properly analyze the small refiners' present situation, a great deal of information was assessed. First, governmental sources including the Federal Energy Administration and the Bureau of Mines were queried. Next, industry responses to the July 9, 1976, Federal Register notice produced considerable relevant data. Finally, Sobotka and Co., Inc., provided independent information while they were preparing their analysis of industry submissions for EPA. Some of the pertinent data are summarized below.

The most current Government information identifies 83 small refiners (operating 100 refineries). Although these represent in number a significant fraction of the nation's approximately 270 refineries, they collectively produce less than about 3½ percent of U.S. gasoline. The majority of small plants are remotely located and a substantial portion of their product mix consists of farm or truck business which will continue to consume predominantly leaded gasoline. The July 1976 responses show that many small refiners now produce a larger fraction of regular, leaded gasoline than larger refiners, and therefore the small refiner has farther to go in terms of reducing lead content to the required level for the average pool. This and the fact that small refineries will suffer diseconomies of scale imply that small refiners will in general face higher unit costs in meeting a given lead level than will the large refiner.

Although capital constraints frequently have been referred to by small refiners, and by EPA in the original promulgation, it is difficult to verify that such constraints actually exist. However, the general lack of an assured crude oil supply, the potentially transient nature of many governmental regulations and legislation, and the more limited financial base of the small refiner lead us to conclude that small firms will have more difficulty raising capital for plant facilities to meet phase-down schedules. This difficulty will continue at least until the entitlements program is continued or a substitute is assured in 1979.

For these reasons, EPA remains convinced that the small refiner segment of the industry can reasonably be considered separately from the rest of the industry. This view was also expressed by Congress in the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973, Section 4(b)(1) which provides for mandatory allocations and pricing "* * * to preserve the competitive viability of independent refiners, small refiners, non-branded marketers."

AVAILABLE OPTIONS

Several options are available with numerous possible variations. Four major options were considered by EPA and Sabotka and Co., in this analysis. First, no special relief could be granted to the small refiner. This would provide for the maximum in lead emission reduction, although the impact of small refiners on total emissions is relatively small and most of these facilities are rural, thus not affecting the urban areas where lead emission problems would be most severe. This option would also result in uniform regulations with attendant enforcement advantages. However, most small refiners would be faced with higher unit costs than large refiners. Assuming the entitlement program or some other equivalent form of subsidy is continued past 1979, small refiners will remain viable, but this option would be likely to result in gasoline production shifts from small to large refineries.

A second option would impose a standard of 1.4 gpg in the 1979 period to be continued until a drop to 0.5 gpg in the mid-1980's. The 1.4 gpg figure coincides with a recent California lead phase-down regulation. This option best provides for eventual attainment of the 0.5 gpg standard by all refiners. However, this only delays the eventual exit from the gasoline business of those refiners who cannot economically reach 0.5 gpg.

The third option, a variation of the second, would impose the standard of 1.0 gpg[1] in 1979 without requiring a further reduction. The major advantage of this option is that it tends to equalize the unit costs between small and large refiners better than the other options while still requiring reasonable effort on the part of the small refiners to reduce lead usage. The disadvantage is that a small increase in lead emissions results over and above what could theoretically be attained if everyone met 0.5 gpg. However, this would only increase the nationwide average lead content in the gasoline pool from 0.5 gpg to about 0.53 gpg, and as mentioned, the increase would be dispersed in more rural areas.

The final option provides that all small refiners (or some subset would be excluded from the regulatory requirements on the grounds that this would prevent accelerated closure of many small businesses. However, the principal disadvantage of this option is the substantial production cost benefit that many small refineries would receive, a fact that would seem inequitable to many others. Furthermore, this option would result in minimum lead reductions.

[1] EPA originally considered 1.4 as the gram per gallon figure which would best equalize unit cost. Later analysis supported 1.0 gpg however. Comments are invited on the difference.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

In the comments received in response to the July 9 FEDERAL REGISTER notice, several other issues were raised. Foremost was the distinction between refiner and refinery. The original promulgation deferred compliance for refiners with not more than 30,000 barrels per day crude oil or feed stock capacity. The rationale for focusing on the refiner instead of the refinery was the desire to recognize small business' difficulties in raising capital. Also, larger refiners were generally seen as having more options available to them than the small refiner and could spread the relatively high costs of small refinery conversion over a considerably larger base. In addition, the refinery configuration of the small refineries owned by the larger refiners is generally such that these larger refiners would not experience as large a unit cost increase as would the small refiners. Consequently, there do not appear to be any new or unusual reasons for changing the existing definitions. Capital availability and relative costs are still the major reasons for special consideration for small refiners.

In the recent California regulation, the baseline for compliance was changed from crude oil capacity to gasoline produced. Several comments requested a similar change in this regulation. However, while gasoline production is probably a theoretically preferable system of classification, it presents intractable regulatory problems. Crude capacity is well-defined on a plant-by-plant basis by the Federal Energy Agency, the Small Business Administration and the Bureau of Mines. However, there is no unequivocal way of defining finished gasoline production or manufacturing capacity because the volumes of gasoline manufacture reported can easily be shifted between refineries by transfers of unfinished components. Therefore, EPA has determined that no change is warranted in the regulatory baseline.

Finally, several gasoline blending plants provided responses generally asking for special relief. These facilities do not process crude oil but simply purchase natural gasoline and/or other gasoline blending stocks and add lead to produce finished motor gasolines. Data indicate the aggregate supply of gasoline produced by blending plants is small in comparison even to the remaining small refiners. However, we see serious problems in defining blending plants in such a way as to include all possible cases and to prevent separation of blending and refining operations to take advantage of preferential relief. For these reasons, EPA has determined that no special relief should be granted to blending plants.

PUBLIC COMMENT

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments (in triplicate) on the regulations proposed below to Mr. Donald Walters, EPA Office of Air Quality Planning and Standards, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27711. The Administrator will welcome comments on all aspects of this proposed regulation. All relevant comments received on or before February 9, 1977, will be considered.

Dated: January 10, 1977.

RUSSELL E. TRAIN,
Administrator.

In Part 80, Chapter I, Title 40, of the Code of Federal Regulations, § 80.20 is proposed to be amended by adding new paragraphs (b)(1) and (b)(2) to read as follows:

§ 80.20 Controls applicable to gasoline refiners.

(b)(1) The provisions of paragraphs (a)(1) and (a)(4) of this section shall not be applicable to refineries in operation as of October 1, 1976, and owned by a small refiner. A small refiner is one which on and after October 1, 1976 does not have more than 30,000 barrels per day crude oil or bona fide feed stock capacity from owned or leased facilities or from facilities made available to such refiner under arrangements such as, but not limited to, an exchange agreement (except one on a refined product for refined product basis), or a throughput or other form of processing agreement, with the same effects as though such facilities had been leased.

(2)(i) Gasoline manufactured at any refinery in operation as of October 1, 1976, owned by a small refiner (as defined in paragraph (b)(1) of this section) shall not exceed an average lead content of 1.0 grams of lead per gallon for each three-month period (January through March, April through June, July through September, October through December) begining October 1, 1979.

(ii) The Administrator may require any small refiner at any time after March 31, 1977, upon thirty days written notice, to submit such written reports, construction schedules, contracts, documents and other information and evidence as the Administrator deems relevant to a determination of compliance with this regulation.

(iii) By March 31, 1977 the small refiner shall inform the Administrator in writing of his intent to either meet the required 1.0 gpg lead pool average by October 1, 1979 or to withdraw from the gasoline production business.

RENEWAL OF MERCHANT MARINE OFFICERS LICENSE WITH RADAR OBSERVER ENDORSEMENT

Proposed Clarification of Requirements for Demonstration of Skills

The Coast Guard is considering amending the regulations for the renewal of a merchant marine officer's license with a radar observer endorsement. This proposed change would clarify the requirements for demonstration of radar observer skills during license renewal.

Interested persons are invited to participate in this rulemaking by submitting written comments, data, views, or arguments to the Commandant (G-CMC/81), U.S. Coast Guard, Washington, D.C. 20590. Each person or organization submitting a comment should include his name and address, identify this notice (CGD 76-193), and give reasons for any recommendations made.

Comments received before March 3, 1977, will be considered before final action is taken on this proposal. Copies of comments received will be available for examination in Room 8117, Department of Transportation, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. This proposal may be changed in the light of comments received.

No hearing is contemplated, but one may be held at a time and place set out in a later notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, if requested by a person or organization desiring to comment orally at a public hearing and raising a genuine issue.

Present regulations for the licensing of merchant marine officers require certain qualification skill endorsements to be stated on the individual's license. At the time of license renewal requalification, these skills must be demonstrated. The Coast Guard has allowed the holder of a license with a radar observer endorsement to renew the license without the radar observer endorsement if the individual does not choose to demonstrate proficiency for the endorsement. However, the Coast Guard feels that an individual who serves in any capacity under the authority of his license must be qualified in all skill aspects commensrate with the tonnage of his license. These amendments are proposed in order to clarify and reflect this policy.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed that Part 10 of Title 46 of the Code of Federal Regulations be amended as follows:

By adding paragraphs (e) (7) and (8) to § 10.02-9 to read as follows:

§ 10.02-9 Requirements for renewal of license.

(e) * * *

(7) Except as required in paragraph (e) (8) of this section, an applicant who has obtained a radar observer's endorsement may renew an existing license without the radar observer's endorsement.

(8) A master, mate, or pilot whose license is for service in vessels of 300 gross tons and over must have a radar observer's endorsement if he is to serve in any capacity under the authority of his license.

* * * * * * *

(R.S. 4405, as amended (46 U.S.C. 375), R.S. 4462, as amended (46 U.S.C. 416), Sec. 6(b)(1), 80 Stat. 937 (49 U.S.C. 1655(b)(1)); 49 CFR 1.46(b).)

NOTE.—The Coast Guard has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

Dated: January 10, 1977.

W. M. BENKERT,
Rear Admiral, U.S. Coast Guard, Chief, Office of Merchant Marine Safety.

FM BROADCAST STATION IN SUMMERSVILLE, WEST VIRGINIA

Proposed Change in Table of Assignments

Adopted: December 30, 1976.

Released: January 7, 1977.

[1] See 41 FR 32899, August 6, 1976 and 41 FR 53364, December 6, 1976.

1. Petitioner, proposal and comments. (a) Petition for rule making filed May 27, 1976, by R & S Broadcasting Company, Inc., proposing the assignment of Class B Channel 225 as a first FM channel to Summersville, West Virginia.[1]

(b) The channel may be assigned without affecting any existing FM assignment and conforms with all minimum distance separation requirements.

2. Community data. (a) Location. Summersville is located approximately 64 kilometers (40 miles) east of Charleston, West Virginia, and 161 kilometers (100 miles) west of Staunton, Virginia.

(b) Population. (1970 U.S. Census)—Summersville, 2,429; Nicholas County, 22,552.

(c) Present aural services. None in Summersville or Nicholas County.

(d) Economic considerations. Petitioner has submitted information which indicates a level of commercial and economic activity in the Nicholas County area sufficient to support the assignment of a first FM channel.

3. Preclusion studies. Preclusion would occur on Channels 224, 225, 226, 227 and 228. Of these channels, 224 and 228 are Class A and the other three are Class B. Twelve communities in West Virginia with populations greater than 1,000 persons would be precluded as a result of the assignment of Channel 225 to Summersville. Of these twelve communities, eight have no FM assignments: Richwood, pop. 3,717; Fayetteville, 1,712; Mullens, 2,967; Marlinton, 1,286; Webster Springs, 1,038; Sutton, 1,031; Spencer, 2,261, and Pineville, 1,187. Richwood and Pineville each has a daytime-only AM station and Sutton and Spencer each has a Class IV AM station. Oak Hill, pop. 4,738; Montgomery, 2,525, and Beckley, 19,884, each has an FM assignment and AM stations. Mount Hope, pop. 1,829, has no AM assignment but does have an FM assignment. Petitioner should show whether or not there are any alternate channels available for assignment to the communities without FM assignments.

4. Additional considerations. Petitioner's Roanoke Rapids showing indicates that the proposed Class B station operating with maximum facilities would provide a first FM service to an area of approximately 3,906 square kilometers (1,508 square miles), with a population of 38,659. It also shows that a second FM service would be provided to an area approximately 873 square kilometers (337 square miles) with a population of 10,538. The only portion of the abovementioned areas presently receiving nighttime AM service is in the vicinity of Sutton, West Virginia (pop. 1,031) in the area of first FM service. It therefore appears that the areas of first and second nighttime aural service are virtually identical to the areas of first and second FM service. A staff engineering analysis shows that a Class A assignment would fail to serve large parts of the areas discussed herein as areas of first or second aural service, thereby making a Class B assignment more desirable. For these reasons and because a first local FM broadcast service would be provided for Summersville and Nicholas County, we are persuaded that the assignment should be proposed despite the fact that, in the usual instance, we would not assign a Class B channel to a community the size of Summersville.

[1] Public Notice of the petition was given on October 5, 1976 (Report No. 1006).

5. In view of the above, the Commission proposes to amend the FM Table of Assignments, § 73.202(b) of the Commission's Rules, with regard to Summersville, West Virginia, as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Summersville, W. Va.	.....	225

6. The Commission's authority to institute rule making proceedings; showings required; cut-off procedures; and filing requirements are contained in the attached Appendix and are incorporated herein.

7. Interested parties may file comments on or before February 14, 1977, and reply comments on or before March 7, 1977.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
PAUL WILLIAM PUTNEY,
Acting Chief, Broadcast Bureau.

APPENDIX

1. Pursuant to authority found in sections 4(i), 5(d)(1), 303(g) and (r), and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281(b)(6) of the Commission's Rules, it is proposed to amend the FM Tables of Assignments, §73.202(b) of the Commission's Rules and Regulations, as set forth in the Notice of Proposed Rule Making to which this Appendix is attached.

2. Showings required. Comments are invited on the proposal(s) discussed in the Notice of Proposed Rule Making to which this Appendix is attached. Proponent(s) will be expected to answer whatever questions are presented in initial comments. The proponent of a proposed assignment is also expected to file comments even if it only resubmits or incorporates by reference its former pleadings. It should also restate its present intention to apply for the channel if it is assigned, and, if authorized, to build the station promptly. Failure to file may lead to denial of the request.

3. Cut-off procedures. The following procedures will govern the consideration of filings in this proceeding:

(a) Counterproposals advanced in this proceeding itself will be considered, if advanced in initial comments, so that parties may comment on them in reply comments. They will not be considered if advanced in reply comments. (See § 1.420(d) of Commission Rules.)

(b) With respect to petitions for rule making which conflict with the proposal(s) in this Notice, they will be considered as comments in the proceeding and Public Notice to this effect will be given as long as they are filed before the date for filing initial comments herein. If filed later than that, they will not be considered in connection with the decision in this docket.

4. Comments and reply comments; service. Pursuant to applicable procedures set out in §§ 1.415 and 1.420 of the Commission's Rules and Regulations, interested parties may file comments and reply comments on or before the dates set forth in the Notice of Proposed Rule Making to which this Appendix is attached. All submissions by parties to this proceeding or persons acting on behalf of such parties must be made in written comments, reply comments, or other appropriate pleadings. Comments shall be served on the petitioner by the person filing the comments. Reply comments shall be served on the person(s) who filed comments to which the reply is directed. Such comments and reply comments shall be accompanied by a certificate of service. (See § 1.420 (a), (b) and (c) of the Commission Rules.)

5. Number of copies. In accordance with the provisions of Section 1.420 of the Commission's Rules and Regulations, an original and four copies of all comments, reply comments, pleadings, briefs, or other documents shall be furnished the Commission.

6. Public inspection of filings. All filings made in this proceeding will be available for examination by interested parties during regular business hours in the Commission's Public Reference Room at its headquarters, 1919 M Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration

[49 CFR Part 571]

[Docket No. 77-01; Notice 1]

LAMPS, REFLECTIVE DEVICES, AND ASSOCIATED EQUIPMENT

Proposed Location for Wide Trailer Side Marker Lamps

This notice proposes that 49 CFR 571.108, Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 108, be amended to require that rear side marker lamps on trailers 80 inches or more in overall width be located as close as practicable to the lower rear corner of the trailer. The proposed effective date of this amendment is September 1, 1977.

On July 30, 1975, in response to a petition from the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America (Teamster's Union), the Federal Highway Administration's Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety (BMCS) published an advance notice of intent to amend 49 CFR 393.14 to require large semi trailers and full trailers operating in interstate commerce to have the rear side marker lamps at or near the lower rear corner (40 FR 31959). The purpose of the proposal is to enhance traffic safety by providing a driver of a tractor pulling such a trailer with a reference light visible in the outside rearview mirror through which he may check the tracking of the trailer's rear end at night or at such other times as the headlamps are required. The NHTSA has tentatively determined that a companion amendment of Standard No. 108 is required to preclude a conflict between the requirements of that standard and the BMCS Regulations.

BMCS, having evaluated the comments to the Advance Notice, is proposing (41 FR 47948) that rear side marker lamps be "as near as practicable to the lower rear corner, and visible in the rearview mirror of the truck tractor when the trailer is tracking straight behind the tractor." The NHTSA proposal requires only that the lamps be located as close as practicable to the lower rear corner. The difference in requirements is dictated by the different safety missions of the two issuing agencies—that of NHTSA, to insure that motor vehicles are manufactured in accordance with Federal motor vehicle safety standards, and that of BMCS, to insure that commercial vehicles in interstate commerce are operated in accordance with that agency's safety requirements. Federal motor vehicle safety standards do not apply to a combination of vehicles (tractor and trailer) and it would not be possible to determine at time of manufacture whether the rear side marker lamp of the trailer would be visible in the rearview mirror of every possible tractor that could tow it.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is hereby proposed that Table II of 49 CFR 571.108, Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 108, be revised to read as follows:

TABLE II.—Location of required Equipment—Multipurpose passenger vehicles, trucks, trailers, and buses, of 80 or more inches overall width

Item	Location on—

	Col. 1	Col. 3

Side marker lamps	* * *	On each side—1 red as far to the rear as practicable and as close as practicable to the lower rear corner, and 1 amber as far to the front as practicable.

Interested persons are invited to submit comments on the proposal. Comments should refer to the docket number and be submitted to: Docket Section, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, Room 5108, 400 Seventh Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590. It is requested but not required that 10 copies be submitted.

All comments received before the close of business on the comment closing date indicated below will be considered, and will be available for examination in the docket at the above address both before an after that date. To the extent possible, comments filed after the closing date will also be considered. However, the rulemaking action may proceed at any time after that date, and comments received after the closing date and too late for consideration in regard to the action will be treated as suggestions for future rulemaking. The NHTSA will continue to file relevant material as it becomes available in the docket after the closing date, and it is recommended that interested persons continue to examine the docket for new material.

Comment closing date: February 28, 1977.

Proposed effective date: September 1, 1977.

[Order 77-1-11; Docket 29123]

INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT ASSOCIATION

Order Relating to North Atlantic Passenger Fares

JANUARY 4, 1977.

The member carriers of the International Air Transport Association (IATA) have reached an agreement on passenger fares to apply over the North Atlantic for a one year period commencing April 1, 1977.[1] Although the agreement has not been formally filed with the Board, sufficient information has been made available as to the proposed fare structure and fare levels to permit the issuance of this order. The proposed New York-London and Miami-London fares are shown in the attached table hereto.[2]

As the attached table indicates, fares from New York are proposed to be increased in varying amounts ranging up to 17 percent. Fares from Miami are proposed to be increased up to 22 percent. The present three-season fare structure, which historically has been applied to a number of fares, has been changed to a two-season structure with the peak season extended by one month.[3] The only exception to the two-season structure applies to the advance-purchase excursion fare (APEX) which would have a peak-of-peak surcharge of $20 one way for eastbound travel in July and for westbound travel in August. Existing weekend surcharges will continue to apply as would various conditions associated with the different fares with the exception of APEX and group inclusive-tour fares. The APEX fare for U.S.-originating traffic is proposed to have the advance-purchase condition lowered from the present 60 days to 45 days prior to travel. Further, effective October 1, 1977, the present 22/45-day length of stay is proposed to be increased to 14/45 days. The group inclusive-tour fares, presently available to groups of 10 or more are proposed to be available to groups of 5 or more.

The purpose of this order is to establish procedural dates for the submission of carrier justification in support of the agreement and of comments from interested persons. The carriers' justification for the agreement should assign costs attributable to scheduled passenger service under both the "space method" stipulated by the Board in its April 2, 1970 decision in Docket 18381, Nonpriority Mail Rates (Orders 70–4–9 and 70–4–10), and the "revenue-offset method," adopted April 2, 1971 in Phase 7 of the Domestic Passenger-Fare Investigation, Docket 21866–7 (Orders 71–4–59 and 71–4–60). The data should be set out in a tabular format as suggested in Order 75–7–88, July 17, 1975, starting with historical data as reported to the Board in Form 41 reports by functional account for total transatlantic services for the year ended September 30, 1976. This should be adjusted to show the exclusion of those market areas not covered by the agreement, e.g., mid-atlantic and intra-Europe/Asia/Africa as well as scheduled all-cargo and charter services within the North Atlantic area. The remainder, pertaining to North Atlantic scheduled combination services, should be adjusted to show the present economic status of scheduled passenger services in the market area covered by the agreement. Similarly, using the above two methods, the carriers are expected to submit forecast results under the agreement for the year ending March 31, 1978, both including and excluding the increased fares for which approval is sought.

In addition, the carriers will be required to submit detailed traffic data showing revenue passenger-miles and revenue by specific fare category, as well as capacity and load-factor information both for the historical period and for the forecast period, including and excluding the proposed fare increase.

Finally, the carriers are requested to specifically justify the proposed first-class fares, which are established at very high levels relative to the proposed normal economy fares, and additionally to demonstrate why approval of first-class fare increases is warranted in view of the unresolved matter of excess baggage charges. Carriers are directed to submit full economic support for any increase in normal economy fares, which the Board has noted are already excessive in relation to costs and therefore cross-subsidize low-rated fares; a detailed explanation for the proposed changed conditions in the APEX fares and the reduced group size for GIT fares; and the rationale warranting Board approval for increases in Miami fares considering the earnings position of National Airlines.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That:

1. All United States air carrier members of the International Air Transport Association providing services within the area concerned by the agreement shall file prior to January 25, 1977 full documentation and economic justification for the fares and related conditions embodied in the subject agreement;

2. Comments and objections from interested persons and parties shall be submitted prior to January 25, 1977;

3. Replies to submissions received in response to ordering paragraphs 1 and 2 above shall be submitted no later than February 14, 1977; and

4. Insofar as air transportation as defined by the Act is concerned, tariffs implementing the subject agreement should not be filed in advance of Board action on the subject agreement.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

CTAB PANEL ON ENERGY POLICY

Open Meeting

Pursuant to Section 10(a)(2) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act, 5 U.S.C. App. I (Supp. V, 1975), notice is hereby given that the next meeting of the Department of Commerce Technical Advisory Board (CTAB) Panel on Energy Policy will be held on Monday, February 7, 1977, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., and Tuesday, February 8, 1977, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., in Room 4830, of the Main Commerce Building, 14th Street and Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. (Public entrance to the building is on 14th Street, between Constitution and E Street, NW.)

The Panel has been established to assess the current energy situation from a private sector point of view and to provide an experienced and independent voice to assist the further development of a national energy program.

The agenda for the two-day meeting will be: (1) Review and revision of revised draft of the national energy policy document;

(2) Adoption of the format for the Panel's final report; and

(3) Adoption of the schedule for approval and publication of the Panel's final report.

The meeting will be open to public observation. The public may submit written statements or inquiries on agenda items with the Chairman before or after the meeting. A limited number of seats will be available for the public and to the press on a first-come first-serve basis.

Copies of minutes will be made available for copying, 30 days after the meeting, following their certification by the Chairman, in accordance with the Federal Advisory Committee Act, at the U.S. Department of Commerce, Central Reference and Inspection Facility, Washington, D.C. 20230.

Persons desiring further information on the Panel or on individual meetings should contact Mr. William Dorn, Room 3877, U.S. Department of Commerce, 14th and Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20230; telephone (202) 377–3668.

Dated: January 11, 1977.

COMMISSION ON POSTAL SERVICE

PUBLIC SERVICE COSTS OF POSTAL SERVICE

Hearings To Be Conducted in Toms River, New Jersey and Atchison, Kansas

Under section 7(c)(1) of the Postal Reorganization Act Amendments of 1976, Pub. L. 94–421, 90 Stat. 1309, the Commission on Postal Service gives notice of its intention to hold hearings in Toms River, New Jersey and Atchinson, Kansas. This notice will supplement an earlier notice of December 22, 1976 (41 FR 55738) which announced hearings to be held between January 18 and February 3, 1977, in 18 other cities throughout the nation, including Washington, D.C.

Members of the public are invited to appear before the Commission to address the five issues of postal policy enumerated in the FEDERAL REGISTER notice of November 22, 1976 (41 FR 51435–51436). Generally, these issues concern the definition and quantification of the public service costs of postal service to the American public, postal rates and classifications, and the impact of new and developing electronic communication systems upon the Postal Service. Persons wishing to testify should notify the Commission as soon as possible at the following address:

Commission on Postal Service, 1750 K Street NW., Suite 801, Washington, D.C. 20006.

Individuals testifying for themselves are to bring three copies of their testimony with them to the hearing. Organizations and businesses will be required to file 15 advance copies of their testimony at least 10 days before the hearing. Those copies should be mailed to the above address.

There follows a supplemental schedule of hearings:

February 9, 1977: Toms River, New Jersey.
February 10, 1977: Atchison, Kansas.

Each person notifying the Commission of his intent to testify will be informed by the Commission of the time and place of the hearing at which the person intends to testify.

By the Commission.

Dated: January 11, 1977.

DAVID MINTON,
Executive Director.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

[FRL 671-1; PF58]

PESTICIDE AND FOOD ADDITIVE PETITIONS

Filing

Pursuant to the provisions of Sections 408(d)(1) and 409(b)(5) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, the Environmental Protection Agency gives notice that the following petitions have been submitted to the Agency for consideration.

PP 7F1889. BASF Wyandotte Corp., 100 Cherry Hill Road, PO Box 181, Parsippany NJ 07054, proposes that 40 CFR 180.355 be amended by the establishment of a tolerance for combined residues of the herbizothiadiazin-4(3*H*)-one-2,2-dioxide) and its 6- and 8-hydroxy metabolites in or on the raw agricultural commodity group seed and pod vegetables (dry) at 0.05 part per million (ppm). Proposed analytical method for determining residues is a gas chromatographic procedure using a flame photometric detector in the sulfur-specific mode (394 nanometers). PM25 (202/426–2632)

PP 7F1886. Chemagro Agricultural Div., Mobay Chemical Corp., PO Box 4913, Kansas City MO 64120, proposes that 40 CFR 180.330 be amended by the establishment of tolerances for combined residues of the insecticide S-[2-(ethyisulfinyl) ethyl] O, O-dimethyl phosphorothioate and its cholinesterase-inhibiting metabolites in or the raw agricultural commodities wheat grain at 0.2 ppm and wheat straw at 5 ppm. Proposed analytical method for determining residues is a thermionic emission gas chromatographic procedure using a phosphorus-sensitive detector. PM16 (202/426–9425)

PAP 7H5155. Chemagro Agricultural Div., Mobay Chemical Corp., proposes that 21 CFR 561.234 be amended by the establishment of a regulation permitting the use of the above insecticide on growing wheat with a tolerance of 0.6 ppm in wheat bran. PM16 (202/426–9425)

PP 7F1890. The Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo MI 49001, proposes that 40 CFR 180.336 be amended by the establishment of a tolerance for residues of the fungicide cycloheximide (3-[2-(3,5-dimethyl-2-oxocyclohexyl)-2-hydroxyethyl]glutarimide in or on the raw agricultural commodity cherries at 0.05 ppm. Proposed analytical method for determining residues is a cylinder plate bioassay utilizing Saccharomyces cerevisiae (UC 1606 strain) on a yeast-dextrose agar medium. PM21 (202/426–2454)

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments on any petitions referred to in this notice to the Federal Register Section, Technical Services Division (WH–569), Office of Pesticide Programs, Rm. 401, East Tower, 401 M St. SW, Washington DC 20460. Three copies of the comments should be submitted to facilitate the work of the Agency and of others interested in inspecting them. Inquiries concerning specific petitions referred to in this notice may be directed to the designated Product Manager (PM), Registration Division (WH–567), Office of Pesticide Programs, at the above address, or by telephone at the numbers

CITY OF JACKSONVILLE, JACKSON COUNTY, OREGON

Availability of Draft Environmental Impact Statement

Pursuant to section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the Environmental Protection Agency has prepared a draft environmental impact statement (DEIS) for the City of Jacksonville, Jackson County, Oregon.

The subject action is to provide an institutionally acceptable wastewater disposal system for the citizens of Jacksonville, Oregon, located 5 miles west of the City of Medford in Jackson County, Oregon.

The DEIS was transmitted to the Council on Environmental Quality on January 6, 1977. In accordance with CEQ's notice of availability, comments are due on February 28, 1977. Copies of the DEIS are available for review and comment from: Mr. Richard Thiel, Chief, Environmental Impact Section, M/S 443, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region 10, 1200 Sixth Avenue, Seattle, Washington 98101 (telephone: 206-442-4011 or fts 399-4011).

Copies of the DEIS are available for public inspection at the following locations:

Environmental Protection Agency, Region X Library, 1200 Sixth Avenue, Seattle, Washington 98101.

Information copies of the DEIS are available at cost (10 cents per page) from the Environmental Law Institute, 1346 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20036. Please reference ELR No. 70019.

Copies of the DEIS have been sent to various Federal, State, and local agencies, and interested individuals as outlined in the CEQ Guidelines.

Dated: January 11, 1977.

PROPOSED STANDARDS OF PERFORMANCE FOR LIGNITE-FIRED STEAM GENERATORS

Availability of Draft Environmental Impact Statements

Pursuant to the EPA procedures for the Voluntary Preparation of Environmental Impact Statements (39 FR 37419), the Environmental Protection Agency has prepared a draft environmental impact statement (DEIS) for the Proposed Standards of Performance for Lignite-Fired Steam Generators.

Standards of performance under section 111 of the Clean Air Act are proposed following a detailed investigation of air pollution control methods available to the affected industry and the impact of their costs on the industry. The subject document summarizes the information obtained from such a study of lignite-fired steam generators. Large fossil fuel-fire steam generators were originally selected for standards of performance because this category is the largest stationary source of sulfur dioxide, particulate matter, and nitrogen oxides.

This DEIS was transmitted to the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) on January 6, 1977. In accordance with CEQ's notice of availability, comments are due on February 24, 1977. Copies of the DEIS are available from: Environmental Protection Agency, Public Information Center, PM-215, Washington, D.C. 20460 (telephone: 202-755-0707).

Copies of the DEIS are available for public inspection at the following location:

Environmental Protection Agency, Public Information Reference Unit, Room 2922, Waterside Mall, 401 M Street, SW, Washington, D.C. 20460.

Information copies of the DEIS are available at cost (10 cents/page) from the Environmental Law Institute, 1346 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20036. Please reference ELR No. 70020.

Copies of the DEIS have been sent to various Federal, State, and local agencies, and interested individuals as outlined in the CEQ Guidelines.

CALUMET TUNNEL SYSTEM

Availability of Final Environmental Impact Statement

Pursuant to section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the Environmental Protection Agency has prepared a final environmental impact statement (FEIS) for the Tunnel Component of the Tunnel and Reservoir Plan (TARP) proposed by the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, Calumet Tunnel System, Chicago, Illinois.

The subject action of the FEIS is the cumulative effects of constructing and operating three conveyance tunnel systems which are part of the total Tunnel and Reservoir Plan. These three tunnel systems are: (1) Mainstream, 59th to Addison Streets, (2) Calumet, and (3) Lower Des Plaines.

This FEIS was transmitted to the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) on January 3, 1977, and in accordance with the CEQ Guidelines (40 CFR 1500.11), no administrative action will be taken by this Agency until thirty days after receipt of the FEIS by the Council. Copies of the FEIS are available for review from: Mr. Gene Wojcik, Environmental Protection Agency, Region V, EIS Preparation Section, 12th Floor, 230 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois 60604 (telephone 312-353-2157).

Copies of the DEIS are available for public inspection at the following locations:

CALIFORNIA STATE MOTOR VEHICLE POLLUTION CONTROL STANDARDS

Waiver of Federal Preemption

I. INTRODUCTION

On July 23, 1976, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), by notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 30383), announced a public hearing pursuant to section 209(b) of the Clean Air Act, as amended (hereinafter the "Act") (42 U.S.C. 1857f-6a(b)). That hearing was called to consider a request by the State of California that the Administrator waive application of section 209(a) of the Act with respect to a number of actions taken to revise California's motor vehicle emissions control program. Section 209(b) of the Act requires the Administrator to grant such waiver, after opportunity for a public hearing, unless he finds that the State of California does not require standards more stringent than applicable Federal standards to meet compelling and extraordinary conditions, or that such State standards and accompanying enforcement procedures are not consistent with section 202(a) of the Act. State standards and enforcement procedures are deemed not to be consistent with section 202(a) if there is inadequate lead time to permit the development and application of the requisite technology, giving appropriate consideration to the cost of compliance within that time frame, or if the Federal and California test procedures are inconsistent.

The public hearing was held in Los Angeles, California, on August 25 and 26, 1976, and the following three issues were addressed:

(i) Exhaust emission standards and test procedures for 1978 model year medium duty vehicles;

(ii) Application of the fuel evaporative emission standards and test procedure (SHED test) to 1978 and subsequent model year medium duty vehicles and heavy duty vehicles; and

(iii) Fill pipe and opening specifications for 1977 and subsequent model year gasoline-powered motor vehicles.

The record was kept open until September 10, 1976, for the submission of written material, data or arguments by interested persons.

Today's decision deals with the second item above, the application of California's evaporative emission standard and test procedure (SHED test) [1] to 1978 and subsequent model year gasoline-powered medium duty and heavy duty vehicles, and also with the application of these regulations to 1978 and subsequent model year gasoline-powered passenger cars and light duty trucks. Decisions on the other two items have been published recently in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

I have determined that I cannot make the findings required for denial of the waiver under section 209(b), and therefore I am compelled to grant the requested waiver of Federal preemption as applicable to 1978 and subsequent model year gasoline-powered medium duty and heavy duty vehicles. The record of the hearing and the other information available to me clearly indicate that compelling and extraordinary conditions exist in the State of California, that the requisite technology is currently available, and that there appears to be adequate lead time to permit the application of this technology to 1978 model year medium duty and heavy duty vehicles.

As regards the California SHED (evaporative emission) regulations applicable to 1978 and subsequent model year gasoline-powered passenger cars and light duty trucks, I have determined that the original waiver granted to California for these regulations on July 11, 1975 (see 40 FR 30311, July 18, 1975), was improperly deemed to lapse upon the promulgation of Federal SHED regulations for this same class of vehicles (see 41 FR 35626, August 23, 1976). Consequently the waiver of July 11 is reinstated, and thereby continues in effect for 1978 and subsequent model year passenger cars and light duty trucks.

With respect to 1978 model year medium duty vehicles, and with respect to 1978 and subsequent model year heavy duty vehicles, California's evaporative emission standard and test procedures are more stringent than applicable Federal standards, since no Federal standards are currently in effect. With regard to those California vehicles for which there are Federal standards currently in effect, specifically 1978 and subsequent model year passenger cars and light duty trucks, and most 1979 and subsequent model year medium duty vehicles, I cannot find that the California standard and test procedures (including the accompanying enforcement procedures) are not more stringent than applicable Federal standards and Federal test and enforcement procedures.

On October 5, 1976, the California Air Resources Board (CARB) adopted certain amendments to its SHED regulations. Although some aspects of the October 5 amendments were not discussed at the public hearing of August 25 and 26, it appears that these amendments eliminate the potential lead time problems to be discussed later. As a result, this waiver decision includes the October 5 amendments, and the waiver with respect to medium duty and heavy duty vehicles is granted specifically in light of these amendments. However, due to the fact that the manufacturers have not had an opportunity to comment upon all of the October 5 amendments, the waiver actions announced in this decision will be subject to reconsideration as part of the forthcoming EPA public hearing (California waiver hearing) on January 27 and 28, 1977, announced recently in the FEDERAL REGISTER. These waiver actions will be reconsidered if the EPA is provided with sufficient information to indicate that the findings required in order to deny a California waiver request can be made.

II. BACKGROUND

The CARB first adopted a SHED test procedure for measuring evaporative emissions on April 16, 1975, for 1977 and subsequent model year passenger cars and light duty trucks. The test procedures were subsequently amended on May 14, 1975. On July 11, 1975, the EPA denied a waiver request for this standard and test procedure for the 1977 model year, and granted a waiver for 1978 and subsequent model years. See 40 FR 30311 (July 18, 1975). This waiver was deemed to be no longer in effect when EPA promulgated a Federal SHED test procedure for measuring evaporative emissions for 1978 and subsequent model year light duty vehicles and light duty trucks. See 41 FR 35626 (August 23, 1976).

On March 31, 1976, the CARB amended its evaporative emission regulations to extend the applicability of the standard of 6 grams of hydrocarbons (HC) per test, as measured under the SHED test procedure, to all 1978 and subsequent model year gasoline-powered motor vehicles except motorcycles. On that same day the CARB amended the SHED test procedures to include a requirement of 50,000 mile SHED durability testing for passenger cars, light duty trucks and medium duty vehicles.

Under the CARB regulations, in order to demonstrate compliance with the 6 gram standard, medium duty vehicles are required to be tested under the SHED procedure. As for heavy duty vehicles, however, the March 31 regulations provided that these vehicles would not "normally" be required to undergo SHED testing in order to demonstrate compliance with the standard, but rather would be approved on the basis of an engineering evaluation of the evaporative emission control system and data submitted by the manufacturer.[2]

Subsequent to the public hearing of August 25 and 26, and as a result of the concerns that were raised at that hearing, on October 5, 1976, the CARB adopted certain amendments to the California SHED regulations. One of these changes was to eliminate the word "normally" from the regulations so as to more appropriately reflect the intention of the CARB not to require SHED testing for heavy duty vehicles. The other significant amendment was a change to the durability testing requirement for passenger cars, light duty trucks and medium duty vehicles. An optional procedure was established for the 1978 model year whereby instead of running SHED tests at specified intervals on a durability vehicle, a manufacturer can demonstrate the durability of an evaporative emission control system through a combination of bench tests and vehicle tests in order to establish an appropriate deterioration factor, with the manufacturer's method subject to the approval of the Executive Officer of the CARB.

The CARB informed the EPA of the October 5 amendments by letter dated November 1, 1976, and requested a waiver for these amendments. In that same letter the CARB contended that the EPA erroneously deemed the original California SHED waiver (for 1978 and subsequent model year passenger cars and light duty trucks) to be no longer in effect when EPA promulgated Federal SHED regulations applicable to this same class of vehicles (see 41 FR 35626, August 23, 1976). The CARB argued that the original California SHED waiver should be reinstated, and that such reinstatement should include the October 5 amendments as applicable to passenger cars and light duty trucks.

[1] The most important aspect of the California evaporative emission regulations is that the standard is measured under the SHED test. The SHED test is a method used to determine evaporative emission levels by placing a vehicle in a sealed enclosure. However, in addition to requiring a SHED test, the California test procedure regulations include provisions for demonstrating compliance with the evaporative emission standard, such as requiring SHED tests to be run at periodic intervals on 50,000 mile durability vehicles. This aspect of the California regulations will be referred to as "50,000 mile SHED durability testing" throughout this decision.

[2] When the term "heavy duty vehicles" is used throughout this decision it will mean all heavy duty vehicles except medium duty vehicles. As defined by California, the medium duty vehicle class is a subset of the heavy duty vehicle category.

In order to properly decide that a waiver granted to California for certain regulations should not remain in effect, I must make specific findings regarding whether California continues to comply with the conditions for a waiver. Since such findings were not made in the SHED situation, I have determined that the original California SHED waiver was incorrectly deemed to lapse upon the promulgation of Federal SHED regulations. The waiver granted to California on July 11, 1975 (see 40 FR 30311, July 18, 1975), is therefore reinstated and is in effect for 1978 and subsequent model year passenger cars and light duty trucks. Furthermore, I intend to extend the reinstatement of this waiver to encompass the October 5 amendments unless further information is provided to EPA prior to or at the public hearing of January 27 and 28, 1977, enabling me to make the findings required in order to deny a California waiver request.

As stated above, there are Federal SHED regulations currently applicable to 1978 and subsequent model year light duty vehicles and light duty trucks (see 41 FR 35626, August 23, 1976). The Federal numerical standard is 6 grams HC per test as measured under the SHED test procedure, which is the same as the California standard. The EPA recently promulgated Federal light duty truck regulations which expand the light duty truck class for 1979 and subsequent model years to include most vehicles with a gross vehicle weight rating of up to 8,500 pounds. This correspondingly increases the class of vehicles subject to Federal SHED regulations for 1979 and subsequent model years, and encompasses most of the vehicles within the California medium duty vehicle category.

As part of the waiver actions announced in this decision, California is being given the authority to require 50,000 mile SHED durability testing for 1979 and subsequent model year medium duty vehicles. This is in spite of the fact that EPA specifically rejected this method for testing the durability of evaporative emission control systems when promulgating Federal SHED regulations for light duty vehicles and light duty trucks. As stated in the preamble to the Federal SHED regulations:

> For exhaust emission control system evaluation, the testing protocols include the operation of a limited number of test vehicles over a defined 50,000 mile run. The 50,000 miles are usually accumulated during a 3 month period. However, there are technical reasons for believing that the durability of evaporative emission control systems may be more significantly affected by time than by mileage; extensive use of plastic-like materials is expected to be made to seal possible sources of evaporative emissions, and such materials tend to deteriorate as a function of time, rather than miles. Thus there is considerable question about the validity of utilizing the 50,000 mile test as a basis for evaluating the durability of evaporative emission control systems.

41 FR 35626, 35627 (August 23, 1976). This conclusion reached at the Federal level, however, has no bearing on a California waiver situation. As stated in previous waiver decisions, questions concerning the wisdom of California's actions are beyond the scope of my review under section 209(b) of the Act. See, e.g., 41 FR 44209 (October 7, 1976); 40 FR 23102, 23104 (May 28, 1975).

III. Discussion

Stringency. Under one of the criteria of section 209(b) of the Act, I am required to grant a waiver to California unless I find that California "does not require standards more stringent than applicable Federal standards to meet compelling and extraordinary conditions." In discussing the relative stringency of the Federal and California evaporative emission standards, the vehicles within the coverage of the California regulations should be separated into two categories. With respect to 1978 model year (and some 1979 and subsequent) medium duty vehicles, and 1978 and subsequent model year heavy duty vehicles, no Federal SHED regulations are currently in effect. For these vehicles the California SHED regulations are therefore more stringent than applicable Federal standards.

Federal SHED regulations are currently in effect for 1978 and subsequent model year passenger cars and light duty trucks, and most 1979 and subsequent model year medium duty vehicles. The numerical SHED standard is 6 grams HC per test, which is the same as the California standard. The differences between the Federal and California SHED regulations are in the methods required for demonstrating compliance with the standard, in the sense of demonstrating the durability of an evaporative emission control system. These methods for demonstrating compliance with a standard, generally known as accompanying enforcement procedures, can have a direct bearing on the stringency of the standard itself. In the case of the SHED regulations, the California enforcement procedures provide that demonstration of the durability of the evaporative emission control system shall be at least by a combination of bench and vehicle testing, subject to approval by the Executive Officer of the CARB. The Federal procedures, however, require only that a manufacturer inform EPA of the manner in which he chooses to assess durability and that he report any data obtained. No Federal approval is required. These differences may make the California standard more stringent than the Federal standard, and so I cannot find that the California standard is not more stringent than the applicable Federal standard. This conclusion, however, will be subject to reconsideration as part of the forthcoming public hearing of January 27 and 28, 1977, if further information is provided to EPA in this regard.

Consistency. Under section 209(b), one of the findings required in order to deny a California waiver request is a finding that the California "standards and accompanying enforcement procedures are not consistent with section 202(a)" of the Act. Where the same vehicle or engine is subject to both Federal and California standards, the California regulations are deemed not to be consistent with section 202(a) if any testing required to demonstrate compliance of a vehicle with the California standard would not satisfy a comparable testing requirement for demonstrating compliance with the applicable Federal standard. In the SHED situation, though, this is not the case. As of the present time, for any vehicle subject to Federal SHED regulations, the procedures used to successfully demonstrate compliance with the California standard will satisfy the requirements for demonstrating compliance with the Federal standard.

Technology and Lead Time. The three manufacturers who made statements at the public hearing with regard to California's SHED regulations were the Ford Motor Company, the General Motors Corporation and the Chrysler Corporation. The statements of these manufacturers indicate that the technology required to meet a standard of 6 grams HC per test, as measured under the SHED test procedure, is currently available. See Transcript of Public Hearing to Consider California's Request for Waiver of Federal Preemption With Respect to Medium Duty Vehicles, Application of SHED Test Procedure, and Fill Pipe and Opening Specifications, August 25 and 26, 1976, at 211–12, 278–80, 285 (hereinafter "Tr."). Since 1975 manufacturers have been developing evaporative emission control systems to be tested under the SHED procedure for use on passenger cars and light duty trucks, and it is expected that this same technology will be applied to medium duty and heavy duty vehicles. See Tr. at 257, 258–59, 283, 285, 289–90. The only potentially significant question is whether there is sufficient lead time to permit the manufacturers to meet California's requirements for demonstrating compliance with the evaporative emission standard, as specified in the California SHED regulations.

With respect to medium duty vehicles, the concerns of the manufacturers centered around the requirement of 50,000 mile SHED durability testing. Although the manufacturers stated that they expect to complete development and testing of medium duty vehicle evaporative emission control systems to meet a 6 gram per test standard in time for 1978 model year production, both Ford and General Motors stated that there is insufficient time to permit these systems to undergo 50,000 mile durability testing for the 1978 model year. See Tr. at 211–14, 280. General Motors stated that development work on the durability of the evaporative emission control system components is currently in progress, but the components will not be available in time to be tested on any 50,000 mile durability vehicle for the 1978 model year. See Tr. at 280. No information was provided at the hearing to refute this claim. The only detailed lead time information was provided by Ford concerning the time required for their development and certification program. Ford is currently conducting an evaporative emission control system pre-certification development program concurrently with component design verification testing. See Tr. at 217–20. This development and testing is seen by Ford as a necessary optimization and learning process for the purpose of establishing the final component designs. See Tr. at 220–21, 229–32. Ford estimated that this testing and development process will be completed in January, 1977. See Tr. at 238. By that time, however, Ford is expected to be well into the process of running its 1978 model year medium duty exhaust durability fleet, and so the final evaporative emission control systems could not be placed on these vehicles for the accumulation of 50,000 miles. See Tr. at 213–14. Therefore, a separate evaporative durability fleet would have to be run. Chrysler stated that they were not in possession of sufficient test data to provide any information as to whether they could meet the 50,000 mile SHED durability testing requirement for 1978 model year medium duty vehicles. See Tr. at 287–89.

As for the California SHED requirements for heavy duty vehicles, the only issue concerns whether the CARB can require heavy duty vehicles to undergo the actual SHED test procedure in order to demonstrate compliance with the standard of 6 grams per test. Under the California regulations of March 31, 1976, it was stated that heavy duty vehicles would not "normally" be required to undergo SHED testing, but rather would be approved on the basis of an engineering evaluation of the evaporative emission control system and data submitted by the manufacturer. Upon being asked to explain the potential impact of this provision on a heavy duty manufacturer, especially with regard to the term "normally," the CARB stated that although no situation had yet arisen where testing was compelled (the CARB has been using an engineering evaluation to approve evaporative emission control systems on heavy duty vehicles under the carbon canister test procedure since the 1973 model year), they would like to have the flexibility to require SHED testing at some time if there were some disagreement between a manufacturer and the CARB. See Tr. at 179–80.

This potential requirement of SHED testing of heavy duty vehicles caused considerable concern to the manufacturers. The manufacturers agreed that they could comply with the California heavy duty SHED requirements if approval were based solely on an engineering evaluation. See Tr. at 215–16, 262–63, 282–83, 285. Ford stated that they would not be able to comply if any SHED testing will be required for heavy duty vehicles. See Tr. at 216. In amplifying this statement, Ford stated that they do not have adequate facilities to perform heavy duty SHED testing, nor do they have any current plans to purchase any SHEDs which are large enough to accommodate heavy duty vehicles. See Tr. at 216, 263–64. Based on previous inquiries of manufacturers, the EPA has learned that its own Motor Vehicle Emission Laboratory (MVEL) in Ann Arbor has the only SHED capable of testing heavy duty vehicles. Similar facilities would have to be bought, installed and tested before any manufacturer could be required to perform heavy duty SHED testing.

In response to the concerns that were raised by manufacturers at the hearing both with regard to the word "normally" as applicable to the heavy duty SHED requirements, and the 50,000 mile SHED durability testing requirement for medium duty vehicles, the staff representatives of the CARB stated their intention to recommend amendments to the relevant test procedures. See Tr. at 273–74. On October 5, 1976, the CARB adopted certain amendments to the regulations. As a result of these amendments the word "normally" was removed from the regulations so as to more appropriately reflect the intention of the CARB not to require SHED testing for heavy duty vehicles. Under these October 5 amendments, CARB approval of the evaporative emission control system for heavy duty vehicles will be based solely on an engineering evaluation and data submitted by the manufacturer. As a result, the only problem associated with the California heavy duty SHED regulations has been eliminated, and so it appears that manufacturers will be able to comply with the California heavy duty SHED regulations by the 1978 model year.

With respect to the October 5 amendment to the durability testing requirement for passenger cars, light duty trucks, and medium duty vehicles, an optional procedure was established for the 1978 model year whereby instead of running SHED tests at specified intervals on a durability vehicle, a manufacturer can demonstrate the durability of an evaporative emission control system through a combination of bench tests and vehicle tests in order to establish an appropriate deterioration factor, with the manufacturer's method subject to the approval of the Executive Officer of the CARB. Although this optional procedure was not discussed at the public hearing of August 25 and 26, it appears that this procedure eliminates the lead time problems associated with the 50,000 mile SHED durability test requirement. Therefore, in light of the October 5 amendments, it appears that manufacturers will be able to comply with the California SHED requirements for passenger cars, light duty trucks, and medium duty vehicles by the 1978 model year. However, since the manufacturers have not had an opportunity to comment upon the optional durability testing provision adopted as part of the October 5 amendments, the conclusions regarding the effect of the October 5 amendments on lead time will be subject to reconsideration at the public hearing of January 27 and 28, 1977, if further information in this regard is provided to the EPA.

Concerning the reinstatement of the original California SHED waiver (for 1978 and subsequent model year passenger cars and light duty trucks), this reinstatement will not pose any lead time problems for the manufacturers. As noted earlier, manufacturers have been developing evaporative emission control systems to be tested under the SHED procedure on these vehicles since calendar year 1975. Although the original SHED waiver granted to California was deemed to lapse upon the promulgation of Federal SHED regulations, these Federal regulations required the manufacturers to continue their development of evaporative emission control systems to meet a SHED standard in the 1978 model year. As a result, when the California waiver was deemed to lapse, this did not cause any interruption in the manufacturers' efforts to develop the required control systems. The only potential lead time problem for the 1978 model year with respect to passenger cars and light duty trucks is associated with the requirement for 50,000 mile SHED durability testing, similar to the problem discussed in relation to medium duty vehicles. However, as stated above, the CARB's October 5 amendments appear to eliminate this problem for passenger cars and light duty trucks, as well as for medium duty vehicles. I, therefore, intend to extend the reinstated SHED waiver to include the October 5 amendments unless further information in this regard is provided to EPA prior to or at the public hearing of January 27 and 28, 1977.

With regard to the cost of compliance with the California SHED requirements for medium duty and heavy duty vehicles, very little specific information was provided by the manufacturers at the hearing. Ford estimated that the evaporative emission control system hardware would result in a retail price increase of from five to twenty dollars per vehicle, depending on which of several potential systems is chosen for the production vehicles. See Tr. at 231. Although there may be some additional costs due to the running of SHED tests of medium duty vehicles, and the need to purchase additional SHEDs, no information was provided in this regard.

Findings. Having given due consideration to the record of the public hearing, all material submitted for that record, and other relevant information, I hereby make the following findings.

1. The State of California had, prior to March 30, 1966, adopted standards (other than crankcase emission standards) for the control of emissions from new motor vehicles.

2. The California evaporative emission standard and test procedures (SHED test) for 1978 model year gasoline-powered medium duty vehicles, and 1978 and subsequent model year gasoline-powered heavy duty vehicles, are more stringent than applicable Federal standards, since no Federal standards are currently in effect.

3. I cannot find that the California evaporative emission standard and test procedures (SHED test) for 1978 and subsequent model year passenger cars and light duty trucks, and 1979 and subsequent model year medium duty vehicles, are not more stringent than applicable Federal standards.

4. Compelling and extraordinary conditions continue to exist in the State of California. The State oxidant pollution problem remains the worst in the nation. The testimony of the representatives of the CARB revealed that unless a virtual shutdown of Los Angeles is assumed, no current projections indicate that compliance with the ambient air quality standards can be achieved for California's South Coast Air Basin, a region which contains five percent of the nation's population.

5. With respect to all 1978 and subsequent model year gasoline-powered passenger cars, light duty trucks, medium duty vehicles and heavy duty vehicles, I cannot find that the California evaporative emission standard and test procedures (SHED test), and accompanying enforcement procedures, are not consistent with section 202(a) of the Clean Air Act. Taking into account the cost of compliance, I find that the requisite technology is currently available and that there appears to be adequate lead time to permit the application of this technology so as to achieve compliance with the California requirements by the 1978 model year.

IV. Decision

Based upon the above discussion and findings, I hereby waive application of section 209(a) of the Act to the State of California with respect to the following section of Title 13 of the California Administrative Code:

Section 1976, as amended March 31, 1976, and October 5, 1976, and "California Evaporative Emission Standard and Test Procedures for 1978 and Subsequent Model Gasoline-Powered Motor Vehicles Except Motorcycles," as amended March 31, 1976, and October 5, 1976, as applicable to medium duty and heavy duty vehicles.

With respect to 1978 and subsequent model year passenger cars and light duty trucks, I hereby reinstate the waiver granted to California on July 11, 1975. See 40 FR 30311 (July 18, 1975). I intend to extend this waiver to encompass the October 5 SHED amendments adopted by the CARB unless further information regarding this matter is provided to EPA prior to or at the public hearing of January 27 and 28, 1977.

A copy of the above standards and procedures, as well as the record of the hearing and those documents used in arriving at this decision, is available for public inspection during normal working hours (8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.) at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Public Information Reference Unit, Room 2922 (EPA Library), 401 M Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20460. Copies of the standards and test procedures are also available upon request from the California Air Resources Board, 1102 Q Street, Sacramento, California 95814.

Dated: January 11, 1977.

ADMINISTRATOR'S PESTICIDE POLICY ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Open Meeting

In accordance with Section 10(a)(2) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (Pub. L. 92-463), announcement is made of the following committee meeting:

Name: Administrator's Pesticide Policy Advisory Committee.

Date: February 7-8, 1977.

Place: Environmental Protection Agency, 401 "M" Street, SW., Washington, D.C., Room 3906, Mall. Seating capacity of the conference room is limited.

Time: 1:00 p.m.-4:30 p.m. (approximately), 9:00 a.m.-Noon (approximately).

PROPOSED AGENDA

FEBRUARY 7 MONDAY

1:00 p.m.-1:15 p.m.—Call to order, W. Johnson; announcements; nomination of chairman.
1:15-1:30—Administrator's remarks; administrator.
1:30-2:15—Subcommittee reports: Agenda, W. Johnson; Strategy, W. Ahlem; Risk/Benefit, C. Headley; Minor Use & Exposure, S. Bledsoe.
2:15-3:15—Program Discussion, E. Johnson; Kennedy Committee Report; Future Congressional Action.
3:15-3:30—Cancer Testing Protocol, M. Meselson.
3:30-Adjournment—Subcommittee Meetings: Strategy Subcommittee, Rm. 3906, Mall; Minor Use, Rm. 544, East Tower; Risk/Benefit, Rm. 1032, West Tower.

FEBRUARY 8 TUESDAY

9:00-11:00 a.m. — Registration/Beregistration; Program, EPA.
11:00-Noon—Open Discussion, Members.
Noon—Adjourn.

NOTE.—All times are approximate.

For further information please contact David K. Sabock, Executive Secretary, Administrator's Pesticide Policy Advisory Committee, Office of Water and Hazardous Materials (WH-556), Environmental Protection Agency, 401 "M" Street, SW., Washington, D.C. 20460. Anyone wishing to have their name placed on the mailing list for any committee reports, meeting announcements and minutes of all meetings should contact the executive secretary, either in writing or by telephone—(202) 755-0405. The general public is invited to speak to the committee on any of the topics listed in the agenda; to do so you must register with the Executive Secretary at least one week before the meeting.

ANDREW W. BREIDENBACH,
Assistant Administrator for Water and Hazardous Materials (WH-556).

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

COMMON CARRIER SERVICES INFORMATION

[Report No. 840]

Applications Accepted for Filing

JANUARY 10, 1977.

The applications listed herein have been found, upon initial review, to be acceptable for filing. The Commission reserves the right to return any of these applications, if upon further examination, it is determined they are defective and not in conformance with the Commission's Rules and Regulations or its policies.

Final action will not be taken on any of these applications earlier than 31 days following the date of this notice, except for radio applications not requiring a 30-day notice period (See section 309(c) of the Communications Act), applications filed under Part 68, applications filed under Part 63 relative to small projects, or as otherwise noted. Unless specified to the contrary, comments or petitions may be filed concerning radio and section 214 applications within 30 days of the date of this notice and within 20 days for Part 68 applications.

In order for an application filed under Part 21 of the Commission's Rules (Domestic Public Radio Services) to be considered mutually exclusive with any other such application appearing herein, it must be substantially complete and tendered for filing by whichever date is earlier: (a) the close of business one business day preceding the day on which the Commission takes action on the previously filed application; or (b) within 60 days after the date of the public notice listing the first prior filed application (with which the subsequent application is in conflict) as having been accepted for filing. In common carrier radio services other than those listed under Part 21, the cut-off date for filing a mutually exclusive application is the close of business one business day preceding the day on which the previously filed application is designated for hearing. With limited exceptions, an application which is subsequently amended by a major change will be considered as a newly filed application for purposes of the cut-off rule. [See § 1.227(b)(3) and 21.30(b) of the Commission's Rules.]

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
VINCENT J. MULLINS,
Secretary.

1. Before the Commission are Petitions for Reconsideration (and pleadings related thereto) [1] of our Report and Order in the captioned proceeding (FCC 76-641, released July 16, 1976, 60 F.C.C. 2d 261; 41 FR 30657, July 26, 1976). In the Report and Order, as modified by further orders (FCC 76-746, 60 F.C.C. 2d 588; FCC 76-848, 61 F.C.C. 2d 70; Mimeo No. 75462), we required that common carriers subject to our jurisdiction file revised tariffs no later than January 17, 1977, which eliminate restrictions on the unlimited resale and sharing of their interstate private line communications services and facilities. As detailed below, various parties urge that we clarify or reconsider aspects of the Report and Order and that upon reconsideration modifications be made.

PROCEDURAL CONSIDERATIONS

2. In the Notice of Inquiry and Proposed Rulemaking (the Notice) in this docket (47 F.C.C. 2d 644; 39 FR 25351, July 10, 1974), we stated our intention to conduct this proceeding by written presentations, with the parties afforded an opportunity to file comments, reply comments and response comments. We set forth in the Notice grounds upon which such procedures were justified for resolution of the issues. We also considered the question of appropriate procedures at great length in Appendix D of the Report and Order. However, several parties argue in their petitions for Reconsideration that our procedures herein fail to satisfy statutory requirements and judicial precedent, and that, at the minimum, the Commission must provide for oral, trial type hearings to resolve the issues under consideration. Our discussion in the Report and Order generally anticipated and answered the arguments made in support of these positions. Nevertheless, we will again look at applicable law, policy and precedent.

3. This proceeding has been a rulemaking conducted pursuant to Section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553).[2] It is not adjudicatory, as that term is used in the A.P.A.[3] Section 4 provides for "notice and comment" procedures as used herein, except that the formal hearing requirements of Sections 7 and 8 are applicable when rules "are required by statute to be made on the record after opportunity for an agency hearing * * *" The issue, then, is whether the language of Section 205(a)—"full opportunity for hearing"—is a statutory requirement which brings into play the procedures set forth in Sections 7 and 8.[4] After lengthy consideration of this matter in the Report and Order, we concluded that the language of Section 205(a) did not require a trial type hearing in all instances. We considered the legislative history of Section 205(a) of the Communications Act and its predecessor provision in the Interstate Commerce Act (I.C.A.) and found that Congress did not have in mind that trial type hearings were required in all circumstances under Section 205(a). Moreover, we considered the nature of this particular proceeding and determined that the Commission herein is not acting in a quasi-judicial capacity which might require trial type hearings. Even if we were found to be acting in a quasi-judicial capacity, we concluded that the parties had not been denied due process of law by our procedures. AT&T argues to the contrary, and maintains that a prescription of rates or practices pursuant to Section 205(a) may be accomplished only after trial type hearings.

4. AT&T cites I.C.C. v. Louisville & Nashville R.R. Co., 227 U.S. 88 (1913), as holding that Section 15(1) of the I.C.A. (the predecessor of Section 205(a) of the Communications Act) mandates trial type hearings. In the Report and Order, we discussed this case, which has been described as a "pre-Administrative Procedure Act case which is fully out of harmony with that statute." Phillips Petroleum Co. v. F.P.C., 475 F. 2d 842, 849, n. 7 (10th Cir. 1972). We stated that in Louisville, the I.C.C. was acting in a quasi-judicial capacity and that the case spoke in constitutional terms, not in terms of administrative law generally. See United States v. Florida East Coast Ry Co., 410 U.S. 224 (1973). AT&T also cites National Ass'n of Motor Bus Owners v. F.C.C., 460 F. 2d 561 (2d Cir. 1972), in support of the view that Section 205(a) itself has been interpreted to require trial type hearings. Again, we discussed N.A.M.B.O. in the Report and Order and concluded that the court's language was not controlling as to the type of hearing required herein. The court did not state that trial type hearings were required by the statute; it merely cited our language in Telpak, 31 F.C.C. 2d 674 (1971), that prescription of unlimited Telpak sharing would have required a fuller evidentiary record. Whether the evidentiary record could be developed only by trial type

[1] Petitions for Reconsideration were filed by Western Union Telegraph Company (Western Union), United System Service, Inc. (United), GTE Service Corp. (GTE), Southern Pacific Communications Company (SPCC), Aeronautical Radio, Inc. and the Air Transport Association of America, (ARINC), International Business Machines Corp. (IBM), Computer and Business Equipment Manufacturers Association (CBEMA), Remote Processing Services Section of the Association of Data Processing Service Organization (RPSS), Western Union International, Inc. (WUI), TRT Telecommunications Corp. (TRT), United Press International, Inc. (UPI), Telenet Communications Corp. (Telenet), and American Telephone and Telegraph Co. (AT&T). RCA Globcom Systems, Inc. and Dow Jones & Company, Inc. filed petitions for clarification. RCA Alaska Communications, Inc., CBEMA, Securities Industry Automation Corporation (SIAC), MCI Telecommunications Corp. and Microwave Communications, Inc. (MCI), and American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., CBS, Inc. and National Broadcasting Company, Inc. (the Network Parties) commented on various Petitions for Reconsideration. AT&T and RPSS filed replies to these comments.

[2] 5 U.S.C. 551(4) defines "rule" as:

* * * the whole or a part of an agency statement of general or particular applicability and future effect designed to implement, interpret, or prescribe law or policy or describing the organization, procedure, or practice requirements of an agency and includes the approval or prescription for the future of rates, wages, corporate or financial structures or reorganizations thereof, prices, facilities, appliances, services or allowances therefor or of valuations, costs, or accounting, or practices bearing on any of the foregoing.

[3] The fact that no specific Commission rules were ultimately adopted does not affect the classification as a rulemaking proceeding.

[4] As we noted in Appendix D, however, even proceedings conducted under Sections 7 and 8 may not require trial type procedures in certain circumstances.

hearings was not at issue.[5] Finally, AT&T cites Independent Bankers Ass'n of Ga. v. Board of Governors, 516 F. 2d 1206 (D.C. Cir. 1975), as support for its position that trial type hearings are required when an administrative agency weighs the public benefits and detriments associated with a course of action. That case is readily distinguishable from the situation at hand. In Independent Bankers Ass'n, the Board of Governors approved a bank's application without trial type hearings, acting under a statutory provision which, prior to amendment, concededly required trial type hearings. The Board argued that amendments to the statutory provision allowed it to act on individual applications by "notice and comment" procedures. The court, however, viewed the amendments as merely making it possible for the Board to make:

* * * determinations of general applicability by regulation. In short, the statute now recognizes the time-honored distinction between rulemaking and adjudication. As a general matter, agencies employ rulemaking procedures to resolve broad policy questions affecting many parties and turning on issues of "legislative fact." Adjudicatory hearing procedures are used in individual cases where the outcome is dependent on the resolution of particular "adjudicative facts." (Footnotes omitted) (516 F. 2d at 1212).

Thus, in that proceeding the Board was faced with judging the merits of a particular contested application—a function previously deemed by the applicable statute to require trial type hearings because it was "almost entirely adjudicative in character." (516 F. 2d at 1217). In contrast, the proceedings herein have been to determine general policy applicable to all carriers on a prospective basis—a function which is entirely consistent with rulemaking and "notice and comment" procedures. Therefore, the arguments of AT&T, which are generally supported by certain other parties, are found to be without merit.

5. Having determined that this proceeding is governed by Section 4 of the A.P.A., we dismiss the contention of GTE that those who desire a change in the carriers' tariffs have the burden of proof. The citation in its Petition at p. 7 is to Section 7 of the A.P.A., which, as we have stated, is not applicable to this proceeding. We maintain the position set forth in the Report and Order that it is incumbent upon the carriers to justify tariff provisions which grant service to certain sharing and resale entities while denying service to others similarly situated. If there are any criteria supporting the selection of the "single customer exceptions" and other restrictions discussed in the Report and Order, they have not been satisfactorily explained in the record. Instead, AT&T in its Comments described the entities presently allowed to share. It is not clear how it determined, for example, that the electric utilities, but not trucking companies, should be allowed to share private line services. We stress, however, that our prescription of unlimited resale and sharing of private line services and facilities as just and reasonable is not based solely upon the failure of the carriers to justify the restrictions which have discriminated unlawfully among customers. Rather, we have also looked to the evidence in the record herein to determine that unlimited resale and sharing would bring about the public benefits described at paragraphs 75–88 of the Report and Order, and that there will be no adverse impact resulting therefrom. We will consider these matters below.

6. There are several further procedural matters which warrant comment. First, AT&T argues that the Report and Order is really a prescription of rates because the outcome of the decision will be a switching of services by customers, citing A.T.&T. v. F.C.C., 449 F. 2d 439 (2d Cir. 1971). We disagree with this proposition that we must actually determine the specific rates that will flow as our policy decision herein is implemented. We discussed this matter in the Report and Order (para. 49) and stated that we did not envision a "large scale rate reduction" as inherent in our decision. Moreover, in Docket No. 18128 we found unlawful AT&T's Telpak service, and required that it be eliminated, although AT&T may file a new bulk offering. FCC 76–886, released October 1, 1976, para. 208. Thus, there is now no evidence that elimination of the restrictions on resale and sharing of Telpak will cause any substantial migration from other services into the bulk rate service. In any event, we disagree with the general proposition that prescription of communications policy must be accompanied by prescription of the exact rates just and reasonable thereunder. Such a requirement would constrain our ability to regulate except on a case-by-case basis—a concept clearly out of harmony with effective administrative action. In Specialized Common Carrier Inquiry, 29 F.C.C. 2d 870 (1971), aff'd sub nom., Washington Utilities and Transportation Comm. v. F.C.C., 513 F. 2d 1142 (9th Cir. 1975), cert. denied, 423 U.S. 836 (1975), we found as a policy decision that the public interest would be served by the open entry of specialized common carriers in the domestic private line market. We noted therein that the impact of the decision might require AT&T to deaverage its private line rates. There was no implication that we were required to actually set the rates on a deaveraged basis, however.[6] The instant situation is similar to that proceeding. Every policy statement can be said to have an ultimate impact on rates to be charged thereunder. We conclude that neither the legislative intent nor the language of Section 205 requires that we set rates in this proceeding.[7]

7. GTE, and to some extent AT&T, argue that the reasonableness of tariff provisions prohibiting the resale of services and facilities is not a proper issue. GTE states that the order is unconstitutional to the extent that it requires carriers to serve "a new wholesale market which is not within the scope of their public undertaking." GTE Petition at 3. This position is not supported by any precedent under the Communications Act and is totally at odds with our statutory mandate and judicial interpretation thereof. The obligations of carriers and our jurisdiction with respect to those obligations are well settled. See, e.g., Bell Telephone Co. of Pa. v. F.C.C., supra; 47 U.S.C. 201 (a). Also, we are not in the first instance requiring carriers to serve a "wholesale" market. As we pointed out repeatedly in the Report and Order, the evidence is that the carriers, primarily AT&T, have historically provided "wholesale" services to other carriers for resale. With the creation of exceptions allowing the Composite Data Service Vendors (CDSVs) to obtain service for resale, carriers did not have to own their transmission facilities. What we now do is to require that the provision of services and facilities for resale be extended to all carriers certified by this Commission to provide interstate private line service. In short, GTE's view of the obligations of a common carrier operating under the Communications Act is unduly narrow and is hereby rejected.

8. Finally, AT&T states or implies in several parts of its Petition that trial type hearings would have established the soundness of its position and the impropriety of that adopted by the Commission. We have carefully considered the points which it raises in this regard, but we find that it has not been prej-

[5] While our language in Telpak did imply that we would have to conduct additional trial type hearings to prescribe unlimited Telpak sharing, that view was made in the context of a specific type of restriction in the tariff offering of a particular carrier, unlike our formulation here of general policy applicable to the industry. As the Court of Appeals recently commented in Bell Telephone Co. of Pa. v. F.C.C., 503 F. 2d 1250 (3d Cir. 1974), cert. denied, 422 U.S. 1026 (1975): The Commission's former policy of evaluating interconnection on a case-by-case basis was not predicated upon a belief that § 201(a) required such a policy. Rather, it was developed as a matter of procedural policy, reflecting the Commisison's view of the most efficacious and just method of administering interconnection petitions. In the absence of a statutory mandate, we see no reason to bind the Commission to this procedural policy. As technology develops and the field of communications changes, procedural, as well as substantive, policy must be flexible. The mere fact that an agency has once regarded evidentiary hearings as appropriate does not bar it from adopting another policy when changing or new circumstances require a different approach. (503 F. 2d at 1264–5).

[6] AT&T's position is also contrary to the decision in Nader v. F.C.C., 520 F. 2d 182 (D.C. Cir. 1975), where the court found that the Commission could—and did—prescribe a rate of return under Section 205(a) without actually prescribing rates.

[7] GTE requests (Petition at 19) that we make clear that the Report and Order does not entitle resellers or sharers to rates different from those charged other customers. Whether different rates are proper is not at issue in this proceeding.

udiced by its inability to have the various positions herein tested by cross-examination. AT&T's most specific argument on this point deals with our rejection of its economic impact study. As we detail in para. 15, infra, our decision herein not to eliminate restrictions on WATS and our elimination of Telpak in Docket No. 18128 make those aspects of the study not relevant to the issues now before us. Even if we accepted the methodology after such a hearing, we have found that the impact shown therein is not so substantial that it warrants retention of the restrictions. Thus, we have no reasonable expectation that different procedures would have led us to a different result in these areas or to a different policy statement generally, nor do we find upon review of the record that any party is prejudiced by our decision not to hold further proceedings.[8]

9. In summary, we have again reviewed the procedures which led to our finding that restrictions on resale and sharing of interstate private line services and facilities are unjust, unreasonable and unlawful. Upon such review, we are convinced that the procedures herein are lawful and appropriate to the occasion. Neither the statutory language nor the legislative history of Section 205(a) requires trial type hearings in all proceedings. We are here dealing with the formulation of policy to be applied prospectively throughout an entire industry. Participating in this proceeding are numerous parties with diverse interests which nevertheless touch upon the basic question set forth in paragraph 1 of the Notice. As the Court of Appeals recently commented in Bell Telephone Co. of Pa., supra:[9]

> Non-evidentiary rulemaking permits broad participation in the decision-making process and enables an administrative agency to develop integrated plans in important policy areas.
> When an administrative agency develops a general policy applicable on a prospective basis, courts have found it unnecessary to require evidentiary hearings. [citations omitted] This reluctance to prescribe evidentiary hearings on matters of general policy is grounded largely in practical considerations. Evidentiary hearings become 'totally unmanageable' when parties attemp to cross-examine the large numbers of persons normally interested in the development of policy. (503 F. 2d at 1265, 1266)

[8] Several parties protested the finality of the Report and Order, citing our statement in para. 40 of the Notice that we would issue a First Report and Order in this proceeding. They read that as mandating further hearings on the issues herein. However, our statement was qualified by the requirement that such procedures must "appear necessary or appropriate." For the reasons set forth in the Report and Order and in this document, we believe that further proceedings as to the lawfulness of restrictions on domestic services and facilities would adduce no additional significant evidence.

[9] In that case, the court refused to read into Section 201 of the Act (which calls for an "opportunity for hearing") the requirement that all hearings thereunder be trial type.

ISSUES WARRANTING RECONSIDERATION

10. We turn now to the specific areas as to which reconsideration is sought. First, we will briefly discuss two matters which we dealt with in the Report and Order, but which we now deem more appropriate for consideration elsewhere. WUI and TRT argue that the policy of unlimited resale and sharing of private line services and facilities should not be applicable to international services.[10] They do not take a position as to the lawfulness of such restrictions on domestic private line services, but instead point to alleged differences between domestic and international services and special concerns peculiar to the latter. We will not discuss these contentions herein, as we have determined on reconsideration that our policy requiring unlimited resale and sharing of private line services and facilities should not at this time be applied to international services. In view of this determination, we need not address herein WUI's contention that the Notice was inadequate to inform it that the lawfulness of its tariffs was at issue in this proceeding. We will institute a separate proceeding in which the lawfulness of tariff provisions which restrict sharing and resale of international services and facilities will be examined. We emphasize that our action herein is not a finding that existing restrictions on international services and facilities are just, reasonable or not unlawfully discriminatory.

11. We stated in the Report and Order (para. 118):

> However, due to the significant potential which exists for the cross-subsidization of these competitive (resale) service offerings from the basic monopoly services • • • we believe that the principle of "maximum separation" enunciated in the Computer Inquiry should apply here as well. Accordingly, underlying carriers which provide basic monopoly services as part of their normal business will be required to establish separate, arms-length subsidiaries in order to engage in resale or related activities. (footnote omitted)

Western Union objects to this requirement and requests that it be deleted. It states that it apparently is the only carrier to which the requirement will apply, that it leases from telephone companies a substantial amount of facilities to provide private line services, that complete separation (no sharing of facilities) of its monopoly and resale services would be disastrous, and that even if sharing of facilities were allowed between the corporations, there would still be available the potential for cross-subsidization. However, its administrative costs would be increased. We believe on reconsideration that it is appropriate not to require establishment of separate corporations by a carrier providing both monopoly and resale private line services and facilities. We will carefully scrutinize any resale by a monopoly carrier and take appropriate action to assure that cross-subsidization does not exist.[11]

ADEQUACY OF THE RECORD

12. We have carefully considered the arguments presented in support of a change in the Report and Order, and, except for the matters dealt with in the preceding two paragraphs, find them not to be convincing. One argument made throughout AT&T's petitions, and also mentioned by GTE, is that there allegedly is not rational basis in the record which supports the policy enunciated in the Report and Order. We recognize that there must be adequate support in the record for our action, notwithstanding any questions as to the lawfulness of the procedures used to develop the record. We believe that the record herein does contain ample support for our action, and that the path which led us to find unlawful the restrictions on resale and sharing of domestic private line services and facilities is clearly discernible. A brief review of the record is appropriate.

13. One factor which led to institution of this proceeding was the existence of specific tariff provisions which allow certain intermediaries to obtain service on behalf of third parties, while other users are denied such service through an intermediary. In Issue 9 we called for justification of such provisions, which were created by the carriers and never approved by this Commission. These provisions are prima facie discriminatory in their different treatment of customers who are similarly situated, and we concluded that the provisions are unlawfully discriminatory under Section 202 (a) of the Communications Act. This conclusion is supported by two factors. First, the carriers failed to provide any justification[12] for the selection of certain intermediaries entitled to service, and also failed to explain why an intermediary such as that proposed by The American Trucking Associations, Inc. (ATAI Comments at 2–6) should not receive service. However, our conclusion that sharing through intermediaries is just and reasonable is not based only on this failure of the carriers to justify their restrictions. We also received extensive comments from sharing intermediaries already recognized by the carriers. The sharing arrangements as described in the record in this proceeding are, in our view, convincing evidence that such communications operations serve an important public function and should be encouraged if we are to carry out our mandate under the Communications Act. See, e.g., ARINC Comments at 4–50; SIAC Comments at 3–35. The record fully supports our conclusion that unlimited sharing of communications services and facilities, both in joint use arrangements and through intermediaries, is just and reasonable.

14. In the Notice, we also called for comments on the justification in carriers' tariffs which restrict or prohibit resale by a customer. The record again supports our conclusion that unlimited resale of private line services is just and reasonable; inherent in this conclusion is our finding that entities reselling such services or facilities are common carriers and must be regulated under Title II of the Communications Act. As we noted in the Report and Order, AT&T already makes available its "facilities" for resale by "Other Common Carriers" as it defines that term in its Tariff F.C.C. No. 266, Section 2.6. However, we noted that another reason leading to this inquiry was the emergence of the "value added carriers" which own no communications facilities but which are certificated to provide a communications service. While these carriers are apparently not entitled to AT&T "facilities" because they are not OCCs, they are entitled to resell WATS. Three carriers of this nature, Telenet, Graphnet and PCI, filed comments and we have heretofore described the services which they provide or plan to provide. See Note 14 of the Report and Order; Graphnet comments at 1-2. The operation of resale carriers, which have received certification by this Commission and have established their technical and financial qualifications, is convincing evidence that the resale of communications services and facilities has provided significant communications benefits. These carriers have been able to provide their unique services without the expense associated with construction of facilities. In the Report and Order, we foresaw the certification of carriers which may not "augment" the services or facilities which they receive; we referred to them as resale brokers. See Report and Order, para. 19. While the services which they provide may not appear to "add value" to that which they receive, and while they may provide nothing which the underlying carriers do not already provide, we believe that there is record support for authorizing their operation. We concluded in the Report and Order (paragraph 85) that "brokerage" leads to efficient use of private line services and facilities, and thus decreases the need for investment in facilities which may be underutilized. See OTP Reply Comments at 27–8.[13] Also, as OTP noted (OTP Reply Comments at 21–24), the introduction of brokers can aid in insuring that the tariffs of the carriers from whom they obtain services or facilities are internally consistent. We have repeatedly stated that the primary justification for a tariff rate must be the cost of providing the service; brokerage is a tool which will assist in the effectation of this policy. If the tariff offerings are truly cost related, there will be little if any economic incentive for such brokerage. Parties to this proceeding, such as Western Union, have objected to tariffs and policies which encourage non-cost related bulk rates. In summary, we conclude that the record supports the view that the public interest is served by certification of carriers which operate between the carrier owning the transmission facilities and the ultimate customer, even if the "middleman" is purely a "broker."

15. In the Notice, we recognized that the record in this proceeding should include evidence of the impact on the carriers and on the public of removal of the restrictions on resale and sharing. AT&T submitted a study, which we discussed at length at paragraphs 56–62 of the Report and Order, and states (AT&T Petition at 26) that no party herein has submitted economic data or analysis which supports our findings or refutes its analysis of the economic impact of unlimited resale and sharing. We have viewed this matter again and conclude that unlimited resale and sharing of private line service would not have an adverse economic impact on the carriers or the public. We first note, as we pointed out in paragraph 65 of the Report and Order, that the amount of non-Telpak private line revenues which would be affected by our policy is relatively small. Moreover, we found that the study contained certain methodological deficiencies which tended to overstate the expected revenue loss to AT&T from unlimited resale and sharing. Thirdly, we have not required the removal of the restrictions on resale and sharing of WATS, and thus any revenue loss based upon a movement into a resold or shared WATS will not materialize. This point is important, as a premise of AT&T's study was the assumption that a change in the restrictions on WATS would lead to a decrease in MTS revenues, shifting costs from interstate operations to intrastate (See AT&T Comments at 31). Finally, we point out that AT&T alleged a revenue shift of $24 million from MTS–WATS to Telpak. As noted above, in Docket No. 18128 we found Telpak to be unlawful and have required that AT&T withdraw the present offering. In the Report and Order, we stated at note 66 that because we did not have before us a true "bulk rate" available only to large users who otherwise would shift to private microwave, we need not decide whether restrictions on resale and sharing thereof would be just and reasonable. It is sufficient to say now that our findings in Docket No. 18128 as to Telpak cast doubt upon even the shift from other services to a bulk rate offering. Moreover, it can be concluded from our decision in Docket No. 18128 that the new rate schedules will make the relationship of MTS–WATS rates to private line rates relatively more favorable than that which existed at the time of AT&T's study. Thus, even if we accept AT&T's methodology, the study, considered in light of our recent rulings as to WATS and Telpak, fails to show that our action will have significant economic impact on AT&T or on intrastate revenue requirements. With respect to this latter point, we note that we have recently instituted a proceeding to consider necessary changes in separations procedures resulting from our requirement that customers be allowed to connect their own terminal equipment to the telephone system. See Impact of Customer Provision of Terminal Equiment on Jurisdictional Separations, Docket No. 20981 (FCC 76–1008, released Nov. 8, 1976). If experience proves that there is any sizeable shift of revenue requirements to intrastate as a result of our action herein, the place to resolve that is in a similar proceeding. One final point as to AT&T is pertinent here. We believe that the record herein and the operations of the resale carriers now certificated by the Commission lead to the logical conclusion that a wider availability of communications offerings by carriers not owning facilities will stimulate the market demand for the facilities and services of AT&T and the other carriers owning facilities. AT&T did not attempt to study what demand would be created as new carriers provide service using its facilities; indeed, given the rapidly changing nature of the industry, measurement of such stimulation by the carriers or the Commission may not be possible. In any event, the record establishes that the demand for new services exists and is now being partially exploited by the "resale carriers." Our action here opens the market to other carriers who wish to subscribe to AT&T and other carriers' facilities and services to offer the public what they perceive to be a desired service.

16. For the foregoing reasons, we believe that there is record support for the conclusion that unlimited resale and sharing would not adversely affect the carriers owning facilities or produce a shift of revenue requirements to intrastate operations of any substantial degree. We also believe that there will be no substantial economic impact on the specialized common carriers operating in competition with AT&T for private line services, although we do recognize the possibility of a shift of customers from SCCs to resellers of AT&T's services and facilities. The record data showing such

[10] RCA Globcom, Inc. and International Telephone and Telegraph Co. made similar arguments in their Motions for Stay, but they have not filed Petitions for Reconsideration. Their Petitions for Review of the Report and Order are pending in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit (No. 76–4190; 76–4201). In acting on reconsideration herein, we have taken into account the arguments made by these carriers in support of their Motions for Stay.

[11] By this action, we do not, of course, change in any way the requirements of § 64.702 of the rules requiring a separate corporation for a carrier's provision of data processing services.

[12] As noted above, AT&T's "justification" was really only a description of those now entitled to service. No criteria for approval of intermediaries in the future was given. Clearly, such case-by-case approval of sharing arrangements has limitations as it places procedural burdens on this Commission's regulation of AT&T's private line tariffs.

[13] AT&T "suggests" (Petition at 4) that OTP's filing should have no status in this proceeding because it was submitted after the filing date for comments. However, we have treated OTP's submission as timely filed "Reply Comments." The filing of reply comments was not limited to parties which filed comments, so long as such reply comments were properly served on all parties. AT&T and others thus had an opportunity in their response comments to challenge OTP's position, and many parties, including AT&T, did comment critically on OTP's filing. Thus, it is incorrect for AT&T to allege (Petition at 4) that "• • • no opportunity was furnished for the refutation of OTP's spurious and unsupported contentions."

a shift was premised upon the movement of customers from an SCC private line offering into a resold or shared Telpak. (See AT&T study at 11; Datran Comments at 32). We pointed out in the Report and Order (note 64) that specialized carriers would be able to mitigate the effect of such shifts by themselves subscribing to Telpak for resale to their customers. Our recent finding that Telpak has not been justified by competitive necessity and must be eliminated makes even more questionable the amount of adverse economic impact on the specialized carriers as a result of our action herein. In its Petition, SPCC argues that "• • • the Commission's established policy of full and fair competition requires that Telpak rates not be made the basis of an entire new type of competition unless and until these Telpak rates have been determined to be lawful." (SPCC Petition at 4). We are unwilling to delay implementation of our policy until the lawfulness of a revised bulk rate tariff, filed in response to our decision in Docket No. 18128, is established.[14] The effective date of tariffs filed as a result of our decision herein will preclude any significant resale or sharing of Telpak as it now exists. See paragraph 28, infra.

17. To summarize, we believe that the record fully supports our position that unlimited resale and sharing of domestic private line services and facilities are just and reasonable; that the "single customer" provisions are unlawfully discriminatory; [15] and that the provision of service by an intermediary between the carrier owning the facilities and the customer will bring about important public benefits (described at paragraphs 75–88 of the Report and Order) while not causing adverse economic impact on the carriers or the public.

OTHER ASPECTS OF THE REPORT AND ORDER

18. Many parties have raised specific objections to portions of the Report and Order, which, in their judgments, must be clarified or modified upon reconsideration. We now turn to those arguments. AT&T states that in the Report and Order, we have ignored the significance of the difference between the terms "service" and "facility," and that such blurring of the distinction raises "serious questions" about its ability to implement tariffs filed in response to the settlement agreement in Docket No. 20099. See AT&T, 52 F.C.C. 2d 727 (1975). AT&T states that under the agreement, the Bell System provides facilities to other carriers which in turn provide service to their customers. It questions whether it is required to continue the separate offering of facilities, and whether resellers and sharers are entitled to facilities as well as services. We commented in the Report and Order (paragraph 30) that our action in this proceeding was not expected to abrogate the settlement agreement in Docket No. 20099. We adhere to that position and point out that we expect the engineering and operating agreements in Docket No. 20099 to be effectuated under our policy herein. The definitions of "surface" and "facility" may not be as distinct as AT&T purports to make them, and the degree of significance in the use of those terms for regulatory purposes is unclear. We need not comment in detail on that point, however. AT&T has not been required herein to change its obligations to its customers, except for removal of the restrictions on resale and sharing. We do not hold that sharers or non-OCC carriers are entitled to communications under the "facilities tariff" as it now exists. If such entity shows a need to obtain "facilities" we will consider the reasonableness of the tariff restrictions at that time. What we have done is to require that when a common carrier makes an offering to a customer (whether another common carrier or not) which allows that customer to communicate, the carrier may not restrict the customer's ability to resell or share what it has received.[16] Whether, under our policy and present AT&T practices, a separate "facilities tariff" is now required is beyond the scope of this inquiry.

19. One subject which has apparently caused confusion and misunderstanding is our discussion of the "maximum separation" rule, § 64.702 of the Commission's Rules. In the Report and Order, we stated at paragraph 118:

> Although we do not herein adopt any changes in § 64.702 of the Rules, we believe that a resale carrier providing the services which we reasonably anticipate (see paragraphs 75–88, supra) may not be able to do so consistent with the requirement of separate corporations. We note in this regard that the purpose of the rule is to insure that no cross subsidization exists between a carrier's monopoly services and its data processing services. Because we anticipate that resale services will be provided by entities which do not provide monopoly services, it appears that the public interest would be served by a waiver of § 64.702 for such entities upon their request, on a case by case basis. Thus, we will consider requests for waiver of the rule in light of the considerations set forth in this Report and Order.

This statement, and our references to the nature of the industry which may result from our action in this proceeding (Report and Order, para. 84) have led to two related reconsideration requests. Several parties (CBEMA, RPSS and Telenet, e.g.) state that we have, in effect, waived the provisions of § 64.702 for an entire class of carriers and that such action is not proper in this proceeding, if at all. Also, CBEMA and IBM express their concern that we have herein extended our jurisdiction to data processing and other operations which use private line communications, because such concerns "resell" the communications which they obtain. Neither fear is justified by our action. With respect to § 64.702, we point out that we have specifically stated that we are not changing that rule herein, and that requests for waiver would be considered on a case by case basis. We did not intend to imply that the rule would automatically be waived upon request of a resale carrier, although we recognize that our statement in the above quotation ("the public interest would be served by a waiver") gives rise to such an interpretation. We will clarify that quotation by changing "would be served" to "might be served."

If a request for waiver is made, we will consider it as we would otherwise, although consideration of the policy set forth in the Report and Order will necessarily be a factor in our decision. Moreover, we are not extending our jurisdiction herein over any activity other than the communications and hybrid communications enunciated in the Computer Inquiry [17] and § 64.702 of our Rules. CBEMA quotes from our discussion of our jurisdiction over resellers and states (Petition at 12):

> • • • the Commission could be read to conclude that all "resellers" of any product or service that includes use of communications in the provision of their product are common carriers • • •

In so articulating its test for communications common carriage, the Commission has stated one crucial element but failed to relate it specifically to the general resale market discussed at other points. That is, to be a communications common carrier, an entity must be holding out to the public a communications service, the means of transmitting messages from one point to another, in fulfillment of a communications purpose, rather than any other purpose such as data processing. (Footnote omitted; emphasis in original)

Our language in the juirsdiction section as to resellers must be read in light of our definition of that term. In paragraph 17 of the Report and Order, we defined resale as "an activity wherein one entity subscribes to the communications services and facilities of another entity and then reoffers communications services and facilities to the public (with or without "adding value") for profit. Inclusion of the phrase "communications services and facilities" after "reoffers" was done deliberately to emphasize that the "resale" with which we are concerned is only that of "communications." [18] Thus, if what is ultimately offered to the public is data processing or anything other than "communications", this proceeding is not applicable to such activity. The question as to what is "data processing" or "communications" is at issue in Docket No. 20828. This proceeding is not concerned with the definitions of those terms, and we assume herein that our jurisdiction attaches only to the activities which are found to be "communications."

20. Telenet raises the question whether the tariff restrictions on resale and sharing of a reseller's services are permissible under our policy. It points to language in paragraph 27 of the Report and Order which discusses in general the tariff restrictions of underlying carriers (i.e., those which own transmission facilities). That language, however, is simply in introduction to a discussion of AT&T's tariffs; in our conclusions throughout the Report and Order we have repeatedly referred to the unlawfulness of tariff restrictions for all private line services and facilities. "Resale carriers", whether they be brokers or "value added" carriers such as Telenet, are equally subject to the requirements of Title II of the Communications Act. We have concluded that such restrictions are unlawful under Sections 201(b) and 202(a), and this finding applies whether or not the carrier owns its transmission facilities. Resellers have a duty to serve just as do the carriers owning their facilities and that duty cannot be avoided by the creation of restrictions on the customer's ability to resell or share its services.

21. A number of parties have commented on our decision not to exercise common carrier regulation over sharing arrangements, or at least not to adopt specific regulations as to what sharing arrangements are allowable on an unregulated basis. To briefly summarize, in the Report and Order we defined sharing as a non-profit arrangement where several users collectively use, and allocate among themselves the cost of, communications services or facilities. We pointed out that sharing may be accomplished through a non-profit intermediary,[19] by a simple sharing of line charges, or through an arrangement where one entity takes the lead role (perhaps, but not necessarily, as an intermediary) and allocates to the users a portion of all the costs of the sharing arrangement. We found that it was inconsistent with the concept of non-profit sharing for one participant in the sharing arrangement to allocate to the others a fee for management of the network, unless that participant is a non-profit corporation. (By participant, we refer to either a user or an intermediary.) We turn now to specific objections to our position on sharing. First, it has been argued that "profit" is not a proper criterion for determination whether an activity is sharing or common carriage resale subject to Title II jurisdiction. See, e.g., United Petition at 2. In the Report and Order, we stated (para. 120) that our jurisdictional position is not based solely upon profit.[20] We recognize that a basic jurisdictional criterion is whether there is an indiscriminate offering to the public, as that concept has been developed by the courts. See Nat. Ass'n. of Reg. Util Commr's v. F.C.C., 525 F. 2d 630 (D.C. Cir. 1976). The record herein establishes that sharing arrangements have the potential of large scale operations, both in geographical area and number of sharing participants. We do not otherwise place restrictions on the operation of sharing arrangements, but we feel that to allow the profit motive to be included in the operation would encourage, if not ensure, that sharing arrangements might offer indiscriminately their communications to the public. As we noted in para. 125 of the Report and Order, the sharing which we envision without regulation is that of users joining together in long term arrangements, each seeking to reduce communications costs which would otherwise be incurred. We disagree with the view that the activities of sharers and resellers are the same, absent profit (United Petition at 3), and our decision herein is thus consistent with that set forth in Land Mobile Radio Services, 46 F.C.C. 2d 752 (1974), affirmed sub nom, N.A.R.U.C., supra.

22. Telenet advocates the position that the abuses of unregulated sharing are made possible if anyone connected with the sharing arrangement operates as a profit making entity. It specifically finds inappropriate our decision which allows a for-profit network manager to provide its services to the sharing arrangement, so long as no sharing participant receives a payment connected therewith. We believe, however, that it would unduly restrict the creation of sharing arrangements to adopt Telenet's position. Moreover, it is questionable whether the mere provision of advice and management, especially by an entity with no obligation to the carrier, is sufficient to confer Commission regulation over the sharing arrangement. Telenet states that it is simplistic to assume that operation as a non-profit sharing entity precludes the realization of "profit in the economic sense." As noted above, the Commission has heretofore used that standard as a criterion upon which we can find that common carrier regulation is not appropriate. Extension of that concept to the policy set forth herein appears to be appropriate.

23. A matter related to the "profit" issue is whether the management fee may be charged to a sharing arrangement by a network manager related to one of the sharing participants. Thus, Telenet argues (Petition at 18) that it could avoid common carrier status by obtaining communications lines in its name for use by others, and transfer to an affiliated corporation the network management (upon which a profit would be realized). We have held that a for-profit sharing participant may not charge a fee for network management, and this must be read as prohibiting such a charge by an entity affiliated with a sharing participant. Our policy may not be circumvented by the use of a separate but related corporation.

24. UPI states that the prohibition against charging a management fee is unfair to it. It points out that Associated Press, as a nonprofit, entity, may charge its members a management fee while UPI, which is a corporation organized for profit, may not. UPI believes that both should be able to charge a management fee and that it makes no practical sense to differentiate between them. We believe it best to prohibit the charge of a management fee by the for-profit intermediary, however, and state again that it is inconsistent with the concept of sharing as set forth in the Report and Order for one participant to charge the others for "managing" the network. We do not view the distinction between non-profit and for-profit corporation as "legalistic" or "simplistic", as does UPI. Rather, we see this as a definite standard which will minimize the opportunity for abuse of non-regulated sharing. In our view, this standard is preferable to the imposition of detailed Commission regulations, or the exercise of our judgment in each case with no guidelines at all. The record establishes the need for sharing arrangements which use an intermediary. The creation of non-profit entities to act as intermediaries will serve a valuable public function while minimizing the abuses which have heretofore been made possible. When the intermediary is a non-profit corporation, we will not interfere with the manner in which it manages its network. If UPI's subscribers find that it is not feasible to obtain network management from an outside entity, they may form their own non-profit corporation for the sharing arrangement.

25. AT&T, supported by the Network parties, states that the Commission should make clear that Series 7000 service should not be allowed for non-video use if it is resold or shared. AT&T states that the record is not complete as to the consequences of such non-video use, and that there are unique considerations,

[14] Western Union and MCI, which also argued against non-cost justified bulk tariff rates, did not on reconsideration request delay in resale and sharing of Telpak.

[15] ARING states that we should not have found the "single customer" provisions to be unlawfully discriminatory and that, in any event, the issue was moot. We believe it not to be moot and again affirm our analysis, set forth in Appendix B, which led us to conclude that the provisions are unlawfully discriminatory. The point which we find to be moot is whether federal statutes support preferential treatment of the federal and state governmental agencies.

[16] It is not unreasonable, however, for a carrier to provide that its offerings are available for resale only if the reseller has been certified as a common carrier by this Commission.

[17] 28 F.C.C. 2d 267 (1971), aff'd in part and revs'd in part sub nom. GTE Service Corp. v. F.C.C. 474 F. 2d 724 (2d Cir. 1973).

[18] When we use "communications" herein, we also include those activities which currently are considered to be "hybrid communications" in § 64.702.

[19] Although we did not define "intermediary" in the Report and Order, it was and is used to denote the entity directly responsible to the carrier for payment of the entire tariff charge associated with the service or facility. Generally, but not always, the intermediary will also be a user. We doubt that there will be many instances of bona fide sharing in which an intermediary (other than a non-profit corporation whose members are also the users) assumes responsibility to pay the carrier the entire tariff charge when it has no need itself for the communications service or facility.

[20] We have heretofore used profit as a criterion upon which our jurisdiction is determined. See Industrial Radiolocation Service, 5 F.C.C. 2d 197 (1966); SIAC Response and cases cited therein.

including the alleged "limited availability" of Series 7000 channels, which mandate that non-video usage not be allowed, at least without further proceedings. We are not willing to make such a requirement herein, although we are willing to consider the propriety of such a restriction if it appears from experience that sharing and resale of Series 7000 for non-video purposes is becoming extensive and is causing adverse effects as alleged. If there are special considerations which warrant different treatment of Series 7000, AT&T did not clearly state them in its Comments even though we requested such data in the Notice.

26. AT&T also states that the unintended result of this proceeding, without clarification, may be the creation of public message services similar to MTS and WATS. We noted in paragraph 64:

> Unlimited resale and sharing of a private line service does not, of course, encompass the conversion of that private line into MTS or the equivalent thereof. Thus, any resale or sharing of FX service must maintain the basic private line character of that service.

AT&T points out that our definition of private line after that quotation is less comprehensive than that we recently set forth in the Execunet decision. See MCI Telecommunications Corp., 60 F.C.C. 2d 25 (1976), petition for review pending sub nom. MCI Telecommunications Corp. v. F.C.C., No. 75–1635 (D.C. Cir.). The difference in terminology was unintended. The question of what is private line service was not at issue herein. Where analog voice communication services are concerned, as was the case in Execunet, the distinctions between private line services and MTS or WATS which were cited in Execunet and related decisions clearly govern.[21] Thus, with regard to AT&T's contention that the Report and Order provides the opportunity for creation of networks similar to MTS and WATS, we reaffirm our position that such arrangements will not be allowed.

Conclusions

27. For the reasons set forth above, we will not alter the policy which we prescribed in the Report and Order, except that we will not at this time apply that policy to international services. Also, a monopoly carrier providing a resale communications service need not do so through a separate corporation. We have found that there are important public benefits to be derived from elimination of the restrictions on resale and sharing of private line services and facilities, as set forth in paragraphs 75–88 of the Report and Order. Thus, we conclude that public interest is served by our adoption of a policy requiring unlimited resale and sharing of private line services and facilities, and the regulation of resellers (but not sharers) under Title II of the Act.

28. There are several procedural considerations to be dealt with. By Motion to the Chief, Common Carrier Bureau dated September 27, 1976, MCI requested additional time within which to file its response to the Petitions for Reconsideration. Although AT&T opposed the request as untimely filed, we will accept MCI's pleading. It appears that good reasons existed which made impossible the filing of its pleading on the date specified. Also AT&T requests in its Petition that the Commission convene a meeting of interested parties to discuss and clarify the Report and Order. We do not see that this is required, and therefore deny the request. American Trucking Associations, Inc. filed a Motion to Strike the Reply of AT&T to its Opposition to Motion for Stay. This motion was filed the day before we acted on the Motions for Stay and did not come to our attention in time for our decision then. ATAI properly cites Section 1.45(d) of the Rules which states that a reply to an Opposition to Motion for Stay is not allowed. AT&T's reply will not be a part of the record herein. Finally, we recognize that additional time may be required for carriers to file revised tariffs consistent with the Report and Order and our decision herein. We therefore require that revised tariffs be filed not later than March 18, 1977. Such tariffs are to be effective 90 days from that filing date.

29. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the Petitions for Reconsideration of our Report and Order in this proceeding are granted to the extent discussed in paragraphs 10 and 11, supra, and are denied in all other respects.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,[22]
VINCENT J. MULLINS,
Secretary.

MIDWEST ST. LOUIS, INC., AND NEW LIFE EVANGELISTIC CENTER INC.

Memorandum Opinion and Order Enlarging Issues

Adopted: January 5, 1977.

Released: January 12, 1977.

In re application of Midwest St. Louis, Inc., St. Louis, Missouri; Docket No. 20820, File No. BPCT–4674 and New Life Evangelistic Center, Inc., St. Louis, Missouri; Docket No. 20821, File No. BPCT–4826, for a construction permit for a new television broadcast station.

1. The above-captioned mutually exclusive applications for construction permits for a new television broadcast station in St. Louis, Missouri, were designated for hearing by Commission Memorandum Opinion and Order, 59 FCC 2d 805, 40 FR 24015, published June 14, 1976. Presently before the Review Board for consideration is a petition to enlarge issues, filed June 29, 1976, by Midwest St. Louis, Inc. (Midwest) which seeks the addition of financial, misrepresentation, site availability, ascertainment and programing issues against New Life Evangelistic Center, Inc. (New Life).[1]

Financial Issues[2]

2. Cost estimates. In support of its requested cost estimates issue, Midwest alleges that New Life's financial proposal is unreasonable on its face due to the budgeting of minimal amounts for certain costs of construction and operation. Specifically, petitioner contends that the applicant's "room and board" plan, whereby the proposed station staff would work on a voluntary basis in exchange for living accommodations and board lacks credibility. In this regard, Midwest points out that a staff of 16 employees[3] has been proposed by New Life without any funds being budgeted for salaries or for room and board, nor any indication that sponsors will be available, as proposed, to meet the staff's additional living expenses. Petitioner also questions the likelihood of New Life completely staffing its station under such a plan. Furthermore, Midwest contends that the applicant's $100 estimate for engineering costs is grossly deficient absent evidence that the services will be donated.[4] Finally, Midwest asserts that New Life has underestimated its costs for transmitter equipment, noting a $29,298 discrepancy between New Life's application and a letter of deferred credit from its supplier.[5][6] The Broadcast Bureau supports the addition of an issue with respect to New Life's failure to budget for its proposed staff (absent documentation as to the availability of volunteers and sponsors), its $100 estimate for engineering costs, and underestimation of equipment costs (absent further explanation).

3. The Board will deny Midwest's request. As a general matter, the Board will not add a financial issue inquiring into an applicant's cost estimates unless those estimates are challenged by specific facts supported by affidavits from persons having personal knowledge of those facts (see Rule 1.229(d)), or where the applicant's estimates are unreasonable on their face. See, e.g., KOWL, Inc., 49 FCC 2d 962, 971–972, 31 RR 2d 1589, 1600 (Rev. Bd. 1974), and cases cited therein. In our view, Midwest has not met this test. Thus, we agree with New Life that Midwest's allegations concerning the applicant's voluntary staffing proposal are based on speculation and surmise. In any event, New Life's response to these allegations sufficiently rebuts them. Specifically, New Life has submitted an affidavit from twelve of its proposed full-time station staff members,[7] attesting to the voluntary nature of their employment and listing the specific positions each will hold. Furthermore, an affidavit from the applicant's president, Lawrence Rice, attests to New Life's ability to furnish room and board for its volunteer staff. Affiant states that New Life has supplied room and board to its staff for the past four years. Thus, although the applicant's failure to budget any funds for staff salaries would appear to be unreasonable on its face, New Life has met its burden of assuring that its proposed volunteer help will actually be available. Compare United Broadcasting Company (KBAY), 58 FCC 2d 1346, 1358, 36 RR 2d 1556, 1573 (Rev. Bd. 1976). Turning to the applicant's estimate for engineering costs ($100), New Life adequately reubts petitioner's contentions by submitting an affidavit from John P. Suchan, New Life's proposed technical director, who states that no remuneration was given to him for the preparation of the applicant's engineering data, nor will he charge New Life for any of his engineering work during the construction stage or first year of operation of the station. And finally, although New Life concedes that it apparently understated its total equipment costs in a predesignaion amendment, we believe the addition of a cost estimates issue for this reason alone would serve no purpose. The correct figure appeared in a letter of deferred credit attached to that same amendment and New Life specifically corrected this error in its June 26, 1976 amendment (see note 4, supra), filed less than one month after designation by the Commission.[8]

4. Second Year Finances. Midwest next questions whether New Life will have sufficient funds available in its second year of operation to assure the continuing operation of its proposed facility. Petitioner contends that New Life, as a non-profit corporation, has no "risk capital", thereby forcing it to rely substantially on the deferral of bank loan repayments and deferred credit, creating a total debt in excess of $700,000. Specifically, Midwest argues that during its second year, the applicant would be required to meets its normal operating expenses of $120,000, and would also have to produce enough additional revenue to repay $229,929 in deferred principal and interest on loans and second year equipment installments. Since New Life has failed to offer any support for its ability to generate such substantial revenue, Midwest concludes that a second year financing issue is warranted.[9] The Broadcast Bureau supports addition of the issue.

5. In opposition, New Life maintains that it is not a thinly capitalized corporation, and lists, in support, its cash on hand, its real estate holdings, and the personal guarantees of three of its Board members for bank loans included in its financial proposal. Additionally, New Life asserts that there are no substantial deferrals of fixed charges, pointing out that the principal of only one of its loans is being deferred until the second year of operation. Moreover, New Life contends that none of the repayment factors relied upon by petitioner are present in its proposed financing arrangements.

6. In Ultravision Broadcasting Co., 1 FCC 2d 544, 5 RR 2d 343 (1965), the Commission held that an applicant may be required in some circumstances to establish its ability to operate on a continuing basis. See Greenfield Broadcasting Corp., supra. Thus, is the past, both the Board and the Commission have specified second year financing issues where the principals of an applicant have set up a thinly capitalized corporate structure characterized by a high debt to asset ratio, and where substantial portions of fixed costs are deferred past the first year of operation. See, e.g., Maranatha, Inc., 56 FCC 2d 194, 35 RR 2d 423 (Rev. Bd. 1975); A–C Broadcasters, supra. While New Life has shown that it is not a thinly capitalized corporation, the Board nevertheless concludes that a second year financing issue is appropriate in light of the fact that the applicant has failed to rebut Midwest's allegations that during the second year New Life will incur $229,929 in deferred principal and interest on loans and second year equipment installments as well as projected operating expenses of $120,000. Moreover, New Life has not shown its ability to obtain funds sufficient to meet these costs. Therefore, the Board will add the requested issue.

Ascertainment/Programming Issues

7. General public survey. Midwest initially challenges New Life's general public survey. Specifically asserts that 86% of the applicant's general public survey contacts were with individuals in neighboring or outlying communities and that only 14% of the contacts were with St. Louis city residents, contrary to the intent of Q. & A. 6 and 7 of the Primer.[10] Therefore, movant suggests that the survey is "inadequate and deficient." In opposition, New Life asserts that its general public survey reflects significantly more contacts with St. Louis city residents than with residents of any other community and, in any event, it asserts that the city contacts are of sufficient number to satisfy the Primer. Additionally, New Life notes that it conducted its survey by calling the fifth name on every fifth page of "the St. Louis phone directory" which, opponent maintains, contains both "St. Louis City and most of St. Louis County." Therefore, opponent concludes its methodology achieved the required "generally random sample." The Bureau opposes addition of the issue.

8. The Board will specify an appropriate issue. In so doing, we note that while the methodology employed by New Life in conducting its general public survey, i.e., random selection of names from the elephone directory, is an ac-

[21] Telenet states that the Report and Order can be read to require resale and sharing of "private line offerings as distinguished from switched services." (Telenet Petition at 5, emphasis in original.) This is not our intent, and Telenet's reference to language in paragraph 55 is only to the use of "switched" as a characteristic of MTS and WATS. We have not defined private line services herein as only non-switched services, as Telenet implies, nor did we do so in Execunet.

[22] Commissioner Lee absent; Commissioners Hooks and Quello concurring in the result.

[1] Related pleadings before the Board are: (a) partial opposition, filed August 4, 1976, by the Broadcast Bureau; (b) opposition, filed August 5, 1976, by New Life; (c) reply to New Life's opposition, filed August 20, 1976, by Midwest; and (d) statement for the record, filed October 12, 1976, by New Life.

[2] Petitioner's proposed financial issue is overly broad; its allegations actually relate to limited questions of cost estimates and second year financing and have been treated in this context.

[3] Since the filing of this petition, New Life has amended its staffing proposal to include one additional employee. See Order, FCC 76M–1106, released August 27, 1976.

[4] Although it questions the reasonableness of New Life's $2,500 estimate for legal fees, Midwest's allegations have been answered in light of an accepted amendment (Order, FCC 76M–1000, released August 4, 1976) indicating inter alia, a $15,000 estimate for such costs. Petitioner has not shown that this updated figure is outside the realm of reasonableness.

[5] Petitioner also alleges that New Life has underestimated its first year installment payments for its equipment proposal. However, in a Memorandum Opinion and Order, FCC 76R–260, released November 2, 1976, the Board specifically found New Life's estimate correct.

[6] Petitioner also questions the reasonableness of the applicant's proposal to lease a transmitter site for one dollar per year and requests site availability and misrepresentation issues based on this arrangement. However, by Order, FCC 76M–1426, released November 3, 1976, the Presiding Judge accepted an amendment to New Life's application reflecting the purchase from its original proposed lessor of nine acres of land to be used, in part, for its tower and transmitter facilities, thus effectively mooting Midwest's allegations in this regard.

[7] All of the proposed staff are presently full-time volunteer employees of New Life, according to that affidavit.

[8] Although petitioner also requests a misrepresentation issue apparently based on the understatement of New Life's equipment and other cost projections, it has failed to raise a substantial question that New Life's estimates were deliberately misleading.

[9] In support, petitioner cites Greenfield Broadcasting Corp., 32 FCC 2d 135 (1971); Clay Broadcasters, Inc., FCC 71–264, 21 RR 2d 442 (1971); A–C Broadcasters, 10 FCC 2d 256, 11 RR 2d 359 (1967); Robert Cowan Wagner, 38 FCC 2d 1187, 26 RR 2d 429 (Rev. Bd. 1973); and 5 KW, Inc., 33 FCC 2d 895, 23 RR 2d 1015 (Rev. Bd. 1972).

[10] Primer on the Ascertainment of Community Problems by Broadcast Applicants, 27 FCC 2d 650, 21 RR 1507 (1971) (Primer). In pertinent part, Q. & A. 6 directs that an applicant's "principal obligation" is to ascertain the problems of the community of license. Q. & A. 7 states, inter alia, that the ascertainment effort for outlying communities need not be as extensive as the effort directed to the community of license.

[11] According to New Life's demographic data, 1970 U.S. Census Tracts reveal a St. Louis SMSA population of 2,363,017 and a St. Louis city population of 622,236. The 1975 projections are 2,678,100 and 588,200, respectively.

ceptable method, Ken Stephens, 53 FCC 2d 389, 33 RR 2d 1494 (Rev. Bd. 1975), we are concerned with the number of people contacted who reside in St. Louis, the proposed city of license. By our calculation, only 72 out of 492 contacts were with St. Louis city residents which is an extremely small number for a city of this size." It, in our view, is too small to insure a generally random sampling within the proposed city of license. See Primer, Q. & A. 14; Jerry Lawrence, 48 FCC 2d 373, 31 RR 2d 59 (Rev. Bd. 1974); Media, Inc., 41 FCC 2d 30, 27 RR 2d 1077 (Rev. Bd. 1973). Therefore, further inquiry is warranted.

9. Community leader survey. Midwest next challenges New Life's community leader survey on the grounds that 60% of the leaders interviewed are not St. Louis city residents. Furthermore, petitioner alleges that leaders of significant groups and segments of the population, have not been interviewed by New Life even though the applicant's demographic survey identified some of these groups as being significant. Specifically, Midwest notes that: (1) even though New Life claimed that St. Louis is an educational center, no student or youth leaders were contacted; (2) no leaders of the shipping and trucking industries, which are shown by New Life's demographic study to be significant, were interviewed; and (3) while New Life proposes primarily religious programming, no rabbis were interviewed by the applicant even though New Life's demographic study shows that there is a significant Jewish population in the proposed service area.[12] Both New Life and the Bureau oppose addition of an issue, and the Board agrees that an issue relating to New Life's community leader survey is not warranted. First, petitioner has failed to show that New Life contacted an insufficiently low number or percentage of St. Louis city leaders as to be unrepresentative of the significant groups and interests which comprise that community.[13] Second, with respect to the groups specifically alleged by Midwest to have been omitted from New Life's leader survey, we note that New Life's August 2, 1976 amendment, note 3, supra, in part, lists 11 additional interviews with youth/student, transportation, shipping, and Jewish leaders. In our view, this amendment cures the alleged defect raised in petitioner's request and obviates the need for an issue.

10. Programming issues. Midwest argues that even if New Life's ascertainment efforts are in compliance with the Primer, its programming proposals are deficient. Thus, petitioner alleges that three of New Life's seven proposed programs are not locally produced presentations and at least one of the programs is produced for national distribution. Of the remaining four programs, Midwest states, one is a daily newscast,[14] and two are audience participation/phone-in talk shows which New Life proposes to use to meet numerous community problems. Station editorials are also to be employed for this purpose, according to petitioner. Midwest characterizes the proposed programming as a "shotgun approach" to the treatment of ascertained needs which the Board in the past has found unacceptable.[15] Midwest also asserts that each of New Life's locally produced programs will utilize the "talking head" approach [16] and, thereby, New Life will not fully utilize the visual impact of television. Finally, based on this allegation and allegations that: (1) New Life will not be able to effectuate its proposed 22 hours of local programming per week in light of its failure to budget staff salaries; and that (2) New Life has ordered only a "meager amount of program origination equipment," Midwest requests an inquiry into the quality of New Life's proposed programming.[17] New Life contends in opposition, first, that it proposes a weekly total of four hours and twenty minutes of locally produced programs to meet ascertained needs and interests, and, second, that it does not intend to simply utilize the "talking head" approach referred to by petitioner.[18] In its comments, the Bureau opposes addition of a programming issue on the basis of the standard enunciated by the Commission in Southeast Arkansas Radio, Inc., 57 FCC 2d 351, 35 RR 2d 1441 (1976). The Bureau also opposes the request for a quality of programming issue, arguing that the Commission is not authorized to determine the quality of programming. It cites Television Wisconsin, Inc., 58 FCC 2d 1232, 35 RR 2d 995 (1975); and Network Programming Inquiry, 20 RR 1901 (1960), in support.

11. The Board agrees with the Bureau that New Life's programming proposal must be judged under the standard established in Southeast Arkansas Radio, Inc., supra. There, the Commission stated that a programming proposal will not be questioned unless it appears to be "patently insufficient" to meet the ascertained needs and interests of the community 57 FCC 2d at 353, 35 RR 2d at 1443–44, quoting Q. & A. 31 of the Primer. We are unable to make such a finding here. Specifically, it appears from New Life's application, as amended, that New Life proposes several programs with differing formats designed to treat many of the ascertained community needs, and the fact that some programs may not be locally produced and that others may employ "talking heads" is not a sufficient basis to challenge the adequacy of New Life's programming proposal. The requested issue will, therefore, be denied. Turning to Midwest's requested quality of programming issue, we disagree with Midwest that the Commission's allowance of evidence regarding the programming proposals of both applicants under the standard comparative issue permits an inquiry into the quality of New Life's proposed programming. It is clear that what the Commission had in mind was the reception of evidence regarding the comparative need for New Life's predominantly religious programming and Midwest's subscription television proposal. Midwest St. Louis, Inc., 59 FCC 2d 805, 809 (1976). See also Television Wisconsin, Inc., supra. Moreover, in its Policy Statement on Comparative Broadcast Hearings, 1 FCC 2d 393, 5 RR 2d 1901 (1965), the Commission indicated that staffing plans and other elements of planning would not be compared, unless there was an indication of inability to effectuate proposals. Accordingly, the issue will not be specified.

12. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the petition to enlarge issues, filed June 29, 1976, by Midwest St. Louis, Inc., is granted to the extent indicated herein, and is denied in all other respects; and

13. It is further ordered, That the issues in this proceeding are enlarged to include the following issues:

(a) To determine whether New Life Evangelistic Center, Inc. will have sufficient funds to sustain its proposed station during the second year of operation and, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant thereto, whether the applicant is financially qualified.

(b) To determine whether New Life Evangelistic Center, Inc.'s general public survey complies with the standards set forth in the Primer on the Ascertainment of Community Problems by Broadcast Applicants.

14. It is further ordered, That the burdens of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and of proof under the issues added herein SHALL BE on New Life Evangelistic Center, Inc.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,[19]
VINCENT J. MULLINS,
Secretary.

[FR Doc.77-1404 Filed 1-14-77;8:45 am]

[12] In support of the requested issue, Midwest cities Maranatha, Inc., supra; and Philadelphia Broadcasting Co., 51 FCC 2d 361, 32 RR 2d 1300 (Rev. Bd. 1975).

[13] We note that New Life's August 2, 1976 amendment, note 3, supra, corrects the previous erroneous community identification of nine of the interviewed leaders. The net result is that five leaders previously listed as residents of outlying communities are now listed for St. Louis city.

[14] Midwest asserts that newscasts are not generally designed to meet community problems since they are usually considered factual in nature. Primer, Q. & A. 33.

[15] In support, Midwest cites Perdido Broadcasting Co., 58 FCC 2d 792, 35 RR 2d 847 (Rev. Bd. 1975), and Town and Country Radio, Inc., 53 FCC 2d 401, 33 RR 2d 1589 (Rev. Bd. 1975).

[16] Midwest describes the "talking head" approach to programming as placing individuals before a camera and mircophone and simply allowing them to talk.

[17] Midwest notes that the designation Order specifically permits an inquiry into both applicants' programming proposals under the standard comparative issue and that, therefore, it does not believe that a separate issue is required. However, Midwest suggests that the Board may find that a quality of programming issue is appropriate.

[18] In this regard, New Life relies on the affidavit of its president, Lawrence Rice, who states, inter alia, that New Life "expects to acquire mobile equipment and portable cameras" as time goes on and money is available. Further, New Life asserts that tape recorded interviews and slides will be utilized in its programming.

[19] Board member Kessler dissenting in connection with the inclusion of the second year financial issue.

[Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 1627]

DIRECT VAN SERVICE

Order of Revocation

By letter dated December 10, 1976, Mr. Donald F. Smith, President, Director Van Service, P.O. Box 15169, New Orleans, LA 70175, was advised by the Federal Maritime Commission that Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 1627 would be automatically revoked or suspended unless a valid surety bond was filed with the Commission on or before January 8, 1977.

Section 44(c), Shipping Act, 1916, provides that no independent ocean freight forwarder license shall remain in force unless a valid bond is in effect and on file with the Commission. Rule 510.9 of Federal Maritime Commission General Order 4, further provides that a license will be automatically revoked or suspended for failure of a licensee to maintain a valid bond on file.

Direct Van Service has failed to furnish a valid surety bond.

By virtue of authority vested in me by the Federal Maritime Commission as set forth in Manual of Orders, Commission Order No. 201.1 (Revised) § 5.01(e) dated June 30, 1975;

It is ordered, That Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 1627 issued to Direct Van Service be returned to the Commission for cancellation.

It is further ordered, That Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 1627 be and is hereby revoked effective January 8, 1977.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this Order be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and served upon Direct Van Service.

JANUARY 4, 1977.

Take notice that on December 28, 1976, the Connecticut Light and Power Company (CL&P) tendered for filing a proposed Purchase Agreement with Respect to Various Gas Turbine Units, dated November 30, 1976 between (1) CL&P and the Hartford Electric Light Company (HELCO), and (2) Templeton Municipal Lighting Plant (TMLP).

CL&P states that the Purchase Agreement provides for a sale to TMLP of a specified percentage of capacity and energy from five gas turbine generating units (Norwalk Harbor, Devon, South Meadow 10, Middletown and Torrington Terminal) during the period from December 1, 1976 to December 31, 1976 together with related transmission service.

CL&P states that questions as to TMLP's Capability Responsibility Obligation, under the terms of the New England Power Pool (NEPOOL) Agreement, during the Term of this Purchase Agreement affected the amounts of gas turbine capacity that could be purchased by TMLP and thus delayed execution of the agreement until a date which prevented the filing of such rate schedule more than thirty days prior to the proposed effective date.

CL&P therefore requests that, in order to permit TMLP to receive urgently needed capacity, and in order to allow CL&P and HELCO to receive payment for such capacity, the Commission, pursuant to § 35.11 of its regulations, waive the thirty-day notice period and permit the rate schedule filed to become effective on December 1, 1976.

CL&P states that the capacity charge for the proposed service was a negotiated rate, the monthly transmission charge is equal to one-twelfth of the annual average unit cost of transmission service on the Northeast Utilities (NU) system determined in accordance with Section 13.9 of the New England Power Pool (NEPOOL) Agreement and the uniform rules adopted by the NEPOOL Executive Committee, multiplied by the number of kilowatts of winter capability which TMLP is entitled to receive, reduced to give due recognition of the payments made by TMLP for transmission services on intervening systems, and the variable maintenance charge was arrived at through negotiations.

CL&P requests an effective date of December 1, 1976 for the TMLP agreement.

HELCO has filed a certificate of concurrence in this docket.

CL&P states that copies of this rate schedule have been mailed or delivered to CL&P, Hartford, Connecticut, HELCO, Hartford, Connecticut and TMLP, Baldwinville, Massachusetts.

CL&P further states that the filing is in accordance with Part 35 of the Commission's Regulations.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said agreement should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before January 21, 1977. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceedings. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this agreement are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

LAWRENCEBURG GAS TRANSMISSION CORP.

Filing of Revised Gas Tariff Sheets

JANUARY 5, 1977.

Take notice that on December 20, 1976 Lawrenceburg Gas Transmission Corporation (Lawrenceburg) tendered for filing two (2) revised gas tariff sheets to its FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1, both of which are dated as issued on December 17, 1976, proposed to become effective February 1, 1977 and identified as follows:

Eighth Revised Sheet No. 4, and Seventh Revised Sheet No. 18.

The proposed changes contained therein would increase revenues from jurisdictional sales by $276,926 as compared to revenues at Lawrenceburg's rates proposed to become effective January 1, 1977, based on the 12 months ending November 30, 1976.

Lawrenceburg states that these revised gas tariff sheets are being filed pursuant to the Purchased Gas Cost Adjustment provision in its FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1, in order to track a change in its cost of gas purchased from Texas Gas Transmission Corporation, which is also proposed to become effective February 1, 1977.

Lawrenceburg requests an effective date of February 1, 1977 on its proposed tariff sheets and requests that the Commission waive its notice requirements, as required, in order that its proposed tariff sheets can become effective on that date.

Lawrenceburg states that copies of this filing have been mailed to its two wholesale customers and to the interested state commissions.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filings should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before January 21, 1977. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

[Docket No. CP77-97]

MID LOUISIANA GAS CO.

Application

JANUARY 4, 1977.

Take notice that on December 17, 1976, Mid Louisiana Gas Company (Applicant), 300 Poydras Street, New Orleans, Louisiana 70130, filed in Docket No. CP77-97 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act and § 157.7(b) of the Regulations thereunder (18 CFR 157.7(b)) for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction, during the twelve-month period, February 1, 1977, through January 31, 1978, and operation of facilities to enable Applicant to take into its certificated main pipeline system natural gas which would be purchased from producers and other similar sellers thereof, all as more fully set forth in the application on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The stated purpose of this budget-type application is to augment Applicant's ability to act with reasonable dispatch in connecting to its pipeline system supplies of natural gas which may become available from various producing areas generally co-extensive with its pipeline system or the systems of other pipeline companies which may be authorized to transport gas for the account of or exchange gas with Applicant.

Applicant states that the total cost of the proposed facilities would not exceed $500,000 and that the cost of any single project would not exceed $125,000.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before January 21, 1977, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by Sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will by unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP.

Proposed Changes in FPC Gas Tariff

JANUARY 5, 1977.

Take notice that Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation on December 17, 1976 tendered for filing proposed changes in its FPC Gas Tariff, Fourth Revised Volume No. 1, the following sheets:

Twenty-eighth Revised Sheet No. 14
Twenty-eighth Revised Sheet No. 14A
Twenty-eighth Revised Sheet No. 14B
Twenty-eighth Revised Sheet No. 14C
Twenty-eighth Revised Sheet No. 14D

These sheets are issued pursuant to the purchased gas cost adjustment provision contained in Section 23 of the General Terms and Conditions of Texas Eastern's FPC Gas Tariff, Fourth Revised Volume No. 1. The change in Texas Eastern rates proposed by this filing reflects changes in the cost of gas purchased from one of Texas Eastern's pipeline suppliers, Texas Gas Transmission Corporation. The proposed effective date of the above tariff sheets is February 1, 1977.

Copies of the filing were served upon the company's jurisdictional customers and interested state commissions.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before January 21, 1977. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

[Docket No. CP77-109]

TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP.

Abbreviated Application

JANUARY 4, 1977.

Take notice that on December 27, 1976, Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation (Applicant), P.O. Box 2521, Houston, Texas, 77001, filed an application pursuant to Section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of 28.5 miles of 10-inch pipeline, a 1100 H.P. compressor station and appurtenant facilities for the receipt, compression and transportation of natural gas volumes produced from Block 110, High Island Area, Offshore Texas. Such volumes will be purchased from Continental Oil Company (Conoco) and transported to the west bank of the Sabine River by Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corporation (Transco).[1] Whereupon, Applicant will then transport the approximate 40,000 Mcf per day to its Vidor Compressor Station. The facilities are all to be located in Jefferson County, Texas and installed at a cost of $10,370,000.

Applicant states that the installation and operation of the proposed facilities would allow Applicant's customers to benefit from the advance payment agreement entered into with Conoco and in addition, it would avoid the construction of duplicating facilities eminating from Block 110. Applicant, also requested a temporary certificate pending consideration of its application in order to allow for the timely commencement and completion in conjunction with Transco's North High Island project.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application, on or before January 27, 1977, should file with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426. A petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding, or to participate as a party in any hearing therein, must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by Sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

TRANSCONTINENTAL GAS PIPE LINE CORP.

Application

JANUARY 4, 1977.

Take notice that on December 13, 1976, Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation (Applicant), P.O. Box 1396, Houston, Texas 77001, filed in Docket No. CP77-85 an application pursuant to Section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the transportation of natural gas for Union, Gas Company (Union), an existing resale customer of Applicant, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant states that pursuant to a transportation agreement (Agreement) dated October 15, 1976, it would receive initially approximately 185 Mcf per day of natural gas at a mutually agreeable point on its system near the Eunice No. 1 Interchange on its main line in Evangeline Parish, Louisiana. From that point, it is indicated, Applicant would transport the subject gas to Union at existing points of delivery in Pennsylvania. Applicant further states that Union is purchasing the subject gas from John H. Ware, 3rd, Union's president, who developed the supply through participation in an exploration and drilling venture.

It is stated that the proposed service would be on an interruptible basis and that initially the quantity to be transported under the Agreement would be 185 Mcf at 15.025 psia but in no event would the quantity to be transported, minus quantities retained for compressor fuel and line loss make-up, exceed the quantity of gas deliveries to Union Curtailed under Applicant's Rate Schedule CD-3. It is stated that the charge for the transportation service would be 22.0 cents per Mcf at 14.73 psia and that 4.4 percent of the quantities would be retained by Applicant to compensate for compressor fuel and line loss make-up. It is further stated that the proposed transportation service would assist Union in alleviating the effects of Applicant's curtailments of deliveries.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before January 21, 1977, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by Sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket No. CP72-53]

TRUNKLINE GAS CO. AND TEXAS GAS TRANSMISSION CO.

Petition To Amend

JANUARY 5, 1977.

Take notice that on December 7, 1976, Trunkline Gas Company (Trunkline), P.O. Box 1642, Houston, Texas 77001, and Texas Gas Transmission Corporation (Texas Gas), P.O. Box 1160, Owensboro, Kentucky 42301 (sometimes jointly referred to below as Petitioners) filed in Docket No. CP72-53 a joint petition to amend the Commission's order of January 24, 1972, issued in the instant docket pursuant to Section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act, by deleting authorization to exchange natural gas in Cameron Parish, Louisiana, and by authorizing the exchange of natural gas in Egan, Louisiana, all as more fully set forth in the petition to amend which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Petitioners state that exchanges of natural gas were authorized by the Commission's order of January 24, 1972, in said docket, whereunder Trunkline would deliver up to an average daily quantity of 5,000 Mcf to Texas Gas at Samedan Oil Corporation's Miami Corporation B-1 Well in Sec. 34, T. 13 S., R. 5 W., Cameron Parish, Louisiana, and Texas Gas would redeliver the same quantity of gas to Trunkline at facilities operated by Shell Oil Company in the Chalkley Field Area located in Sec. 27, T. 12 S., R. 6 W., Cameron Parish, Louisiana.

Petitioners propose to discontinue exchanges at the Chalkley Field and to operate, in its place, an exchange point at the tailgate of the Continental Oil Company Egan Plant in Egan, Louisiana. Petitioners state that no new facilities are required to carry out the proposed change. It is further stated that the proposed change would increase operating flexibility on Petitioners' pipeline systems and would reduce the imbalance of volumes, owed to Trunkline by Texas Gas, attributable to Trunkline's interest in the Lake Misere, Louisiana, Field.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said petition to amend should on or before January 28, 1977, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

[Intervention Notice No. 20]

COMMONWEALTH EDISON CO.

Proposed Intervention In Electric Rate Increase Proceeding

The General Services Administration seeks to intervene in a proceeding before the Illinois Commerce Commission concerning the application of the Commonwealth Edison Company for an increase in annual revenues. The GSA represents the interests of the executive agencies of the United States Government, as users of electric utility services.

The Commonwealth Edison Company has filed new tariffs and a Petition for an Interim Rate Increase, increasing their electric revenues by $263 million annually. The proposed increase would have an impact of over $2 million annually on the Federal Government.

Persons desiring to make inquiries concerning this case to GSA should submit them, in writing, to Mr. Spence W. Perry, Assistant General Counsel, Regulatory Law Division, General Services Administration, 18th & F Streets, NW., Washington, D.C. 20405, telephone (202) 566-0750, on or before February 16, 1977, and refer to this notice number.

Persons making inquiries are put on notice that the making of an inquiry shall not serve to make any persons parties of record in the proceeding.

(Sec. 201(a)(4), Federal Property and Administrative Services Act, (40 U.S.C. 481 (a)(4)).)

Dated: January 5, 1977.

JACK ECKERD,
Administrator of General Services.

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

Delegation of Authority

1. Purpose. This regulation delegates authority to the Secretary of Defense to represent, in conjunction with the Administrator of General Services, the consumer interests of the executive agencies of the Federal Government in an electrical rate increase proceeding and a concurrent request for a revision of existing depreciation rates.

2. Effective date. This regulation is effective immediately.

3. Delegation. a. Pursuant to the authority vested in me by the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, 63 Stat. 377, as amended, particularly sections 201(a)(4) and 205(d) (40 U.S.C. 481(a)(4) and 486(d)), authority is delegated to the Secretary of Defense to represent the consumer interests of the Federal executive agencies before the New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners (Docket Nos. 7610-1021 and 7610-1022) involving two petitions filed by the New Jersey Central Power and Light Company, requesting an increase in electric rates and a revision of existing depreciation rates, respectively. The authority delegated to the Secretary of Defense shall be exercised concurrently with the Administrator of General Services.

b. The Secretary of Defense may redelegate this authority to any officer, official, or employee of the Department of Defense.

c. This authority shall be exercised in accordance with the policies, procedures, and controls prescribed by the General Services Administration, and shall be exercised in cooperation with the responsible officers, officials, and employees thereof.

OREGON

Order Providing for Opening of Public Land

JANUARY 7, 1977.

1. In an exchange of lands made under the provisions of section 8 of the Act of June 28, 1934, 48 Stat. 1269, 1272, as amended and supplemented, 43 U.S.C. 315g (1970), the following land has been reconveyed to the United States:

WILLAMETTE MERIDIAN

T. 3 S., R. 7 E.,
Sec. 6, lot 4.

The area described contains 41.94 acres in Clackamas County.

2. The subject land is located approximately 15 miles east of the Town of Sandy. Elevation varies from 1,600 to 2,200 feet above sea level, and the topography ranges from moderately steep to very steep and mountainous. Vegetation consists primarily of second-growth Douglas fir timber. In the past, the land has been used for timber production, and it will be managed, together with adjoining national resource lands, for multiple use.

3. Subject to valid existing rights, the provisions of existing withdrawals, and the requirements of applicable law, the land described in paragraph 1 hereof is hereby open to operation of the public land laws, including the mining laws (Ch. 2, Title 30 U.S.C.) and the mineral leasing laws. All valid applications received at or prior to 10:00 a.m. February 14, 1977, shall be considered as simultaneously filed at that time. Those received thereafter shall be considered in the order of filing.

4. Inquiries concerning the land should be addressed to the Chief, Branch of Lands and Minerals Operations, Bureau of Land Management, P.O. Box 2965, Portland, Oregon 97208.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE COMMISSION

IMPORTED MUSHROOMS

Report to the President

JANUARY 10, 1977.

In accordance with section 201(d)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974 (88 Stat. 1978), the United States International Trade Commission herein reports the results of an investigation made under section 201(b)(1) of that act, relating to mushrooms.

The investigation was undertaken to determine whether—mushrooms, prepared or preserved, except fresh or dried, provided for in item 144.20 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States (TSUS) are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury, or the threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing articles like or directly competitive with the imported articles.

Pursuant to the direction of the President, the Special Representative for Trade Negotiations, in a letter dated September 20, 1976, requested the Commission to institute an expedited investigation on mushrooms pursuant to section 201(b)(1) of the Trade Act. Having determined, pursuant to section 201(e) of the Trade Act, good cause to exist for a reinvestigation within 1 year since the Commission made its report to the President on its previous investigation on mushrooms, the Commission instituted the requested investigation on October 5, 1976.

Notice of the investigation and hearing was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 12, 1976 (41 FR 44756). A public hearing in connection with the investigation was conducted on November 11 and 12, 1976, in the Commission's hearing room in Washington, D.C. All interested parties were afforded an opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard. A transcript of the hearing and copies of briefs submitted by interested parties in connection with the investigation are attached.

The information for this report was obtained from fieldwork, from responses to questionnaires sent to importers and domestic canners, and from the Commission's files, other Government agencies, evidence presented at the hearings, briefs filed by interested parties, and other sources.

DETERMINATIONS, FINDINGS, AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COMMISSION

On the basis of its investigation, the Commission determines[1] that mushrooms, prepared or preserved, except fresh or dried, provided for in item 144.20 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States, are being imported in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury or the threat thereof [2] to the domestic industry producing articles like or directly competitive with the imported articles.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Commissioners Minchew,[1] Parker, and Moore—

find that to prevent the injury described in section 201(b) of the Trade Act it is necessary to impose a tariff-rate-quota system for the ensuing 5-year period applying to the mushrooms covered by the Commission's notice of investigation, which are the subject of the Commission's affirmative determination, with the existing rates of duty applying to imports of mushrooms within the tariff quotas and rates of duty hereinafter specified applying to such imports above the tariff quotas, and with the tariff quotas established and allocated to countries subject to rates of duty provided for in rate-of-duty column numbered 1 of the TSUS as hereinafter specified.

The proposed rates of duty for imports above the tariff quotas should be as follows:

1st 3 yrs	4th yr	5th yr
3.2¢ per pound on drained weight plus 35 pct ad val.	3.2¢ per pound on drained weight plus 25 pct ad val.	3.2¢ per pound on drained weight plus 15 pct ad val.

The within quota imports entered in any year should be established and allocated to countries as follows:

Country:	Aggregate annual quota (millions of pounds, drained weight)
Republic of China (Taiwan)	31.7
Republic of Korea	11.8
Japan	1.4
Dominican Republic	.7
France	.6
Costa Rica	.5
Equador	.5

Total	48.0

Commissioners Leonard and Ablondi—determine, pursuant to section 201(d)(1) of the Trade Act, that adjustment assistance as provided in title II, chapters 2, 3, and 4, of that act can effectively remedy the serious injury to the domestic industry, and recommend the provision of such assistance.

VIEWS OF VICE CHAIRMAN JOSEPH O. PARKER

On March 17, 1976, the Commission determined with respect to investigation No. TA-201-10 that mushrooms, prepared and preserved, except fresh or dried, provided for in item 144.20 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States (TSUS), were being imported in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury, or the threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article. On May 17, 1976, the President on the basis of the injury determination of the Commission determined that expedited adjustment assistance was the appropriate remedy for the serious injury or threat thereof which was found by the Commission to exist.

On September 20, 1976, the Commission received a letter from the Special Representative for Trade Negotiations citing significant changes in the volume of imports and requesting a new investigation on an expedited basis under section 201(b) of the Trade Act of 1974 to determine whether the mushrooms provided for in item 144.20 of the TSUS are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury, or the threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article. The Commission instituted the requested investigation on October 5, 1976, having determined, pursuant to section 201(e) of the Trade Act, good cause to exist for an investigation to be made within 1 year of its previous report to the President on the same subject matter.

DETERMINATION

After considering the evidence obtained by the Commission in this investigation, I determine that increased imports of mushrooms as described above are a substantial cause of serious injury and the threat thereof to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive articles.

DOMESTIC INDUSTRY

As I did in the previous investigation, No. TA-201-10, in making my determination in this investigation I have considered the domestic industry to consist of the domestic facilities devoted to the production of canned mushrooms. The record of this investigation does not demonstrate that mushroom growers, which have not alleged injury or sought relief from the Commission, should be included within the scope of the domestic industry for purposes of this determination.

INCREASED IMPORTS A SUBSTANTIAL CAUSE OF SERIOUS INJURY AND THREAT OF SERIOUS INJURY

In the marketing years 1970/71 to 1974/75, imports of canned mushrooms measured on a fresh-weight basis increased from 43 million pounds to 77 million pounds, or by almost 80 percent. Imports of canned mushrooms continued to increase during the marketing year 1975/76, rising to 88 million pounds on a fresh-weight basis. Thus, imports of canned mushrooms increased by 14 percent during the last marketing year. When a comparison is made between imports of canned mushrooms during the first 10 months of 1975 and imports of these articles during the corresponding period in 1976, the increase is even greater. During the former period such imports totaled 47.5 million pounds, while in the latter period they increased to 62 million pounds, or by 30 percent. In my previous determination it was my judgment, as stated in my opinion, that imports of canned mushrooms would increase at an even more rapid rate than that which was being experienced at that time. This judgment has now been verified by current statistics, as imports of canned mushrooms have reached the highest level in history. Thus, the statutory criterion of increased imports is clearly satisfied.

While imports have been increasing steadily in recent years, the domestic industry has suffered severe reverses. Nine mushroom canners have ceased mushroom-canning operations since the 1960's; two of these nine canners have ceased mushroom-canning operations since the completion of the previous Commission investigation. Domestic production of canned mushrooms has decreased as the number of producers has declined: in the 1975/76 marketing year domestic mushroom canners produced 8 million pounds less on a fresh-weight basis than they did in the 1974/75 marketing year, and 33 million pounds less than they did in the 1971/72 marketing year.

In addition, the domestic mushroom canners have continued to be unable to achieve a reasonable level of profitability. Financial returns for partial year 1976 were received by the Commission from 21 canners accounting for approximately 65 percent of sales of domestically canned mushrooms. The returns have established that these canners had an aggregate ratio of net profit before income tax to net sales of only 1 percent during this period; this was the highest rate of return they had achieved since 1972.

Employment in the domestic mushroom-canning industry has also continued to decline. Between the 1974/75 and 1975/76 marketing years the number of production and related workers declined from 1,350 to 1,207, or by 11 percent. The number of man-hours worked by them declined even more, decreasing from 1.5 million hours in the 1974/75 marketing year to 1.2 million hours in the 1975/76 marketing year, or by 20 percent.

As demonstrated by the factors set forth above, the domestic mushroom-canning industry has experienced a significant idling of productive facilities, an inability to operate at a reasonable level of profit, and a significant decline in employment. Thus, it is clearly established that the threat of serious injury which I found in the earlier investigation on mushrooms has now materialized.

Although in my prior determination I recognized that the injury being suffered in the years 1973–75 was directly related to the effects of recalls caused by the appearance of botulism and attendant adverse publicity, it is now clear that the injury being suffered by the domestic industry is substantially caused by increased imports. As mentioned above, imports of canned mushrooms increased by 14 percent between the 1974/75 and 1975/76 marketing years. This fact, together with the decline in domestic production, during the same period, caused the ratio of imports of canned mushrooms to domestic production to increase from 68 percent to 85 percent. Likewise, while domestic consumption of canned mushrooms has been steadily increasing, imports have supplied an ever larger share. In the 1974/75 marketing year the ratio of imports to consumption was 40 percent, and in the 1975/76 marketing year this ratio increased to 44 percent.

To a large extent the increase in imports of canned mushrooms and the attendant injury to the domestic industry are the result of the lower prices at which the imported articles are sold. Complete quarterly price information is available through September 1976. This information has established that in the first 9 months of 1976 the average price of a case of imported mushrooms in retail-size cans (both stems and pieces and slices and buttons) was consistently below the average price of an equivalent case of domestically produced canned mushrooms. The average price of a case of imported mushrooms in institutional-size cans of stems and pieces was also consistently below the average price of an equivalent case of domestically produced mushrooms during the same 9-month period. With respect to a case of institutional-size cans of mushrooms slices and buttons, the average price of the imported product was consistently below the average price of the domestically produced product during the first two quarters of 1976, but in the third quarter of 1976, the average price of such mushrooms from the Republic of Korea climbed above the average domestic price. The average price of these mushrooms imported from the Republic of China, however, remained below the average domestic price. On the basis of these factors, I have determined that increased imports are a substantial cause of the serious injury which the domestic mushroom-canning industry is presently suffering.

As a result of the recalls caused by botulism during the period 1973–75 and the continuing increase in imports, the domestic mushroom-canning industry is in a weakened financial condition. As noted above, total imports of canned mushrooms again increased sharply in 1976, and there is nothing to indicate that there will be a substantial lessening of import competition in the absence of import relief. Evidence obtained in the Commission's current investigation indicates that the Republic of China, which is the largest supplier of imported canned mushrooms, has established a target for exports to the United States in 1977 greater than the amount of its exports in 1976. There is evidence to the effect that other countries also plan to increase exports of mushrooms to the United States.

In view of the present weakened condition of the domestic mushroom-canning industry, which has already been shown to be vulnerable as a result of injury from imports, I have determined that increased imports are a substantial cause of serious injury and that there is a threat of continued serious injury to the domestic industry unless effective import relief is provided.

REMEDY

In my previous determination I recommended as a remedy a tariff-quota that was designed to eliminate to the maximum extent feasible the threat of serious injury facing the domestic industry from the then-existing level of imports. The recommended increment in the ad valorem rate was intended to provide price protection in the form of a higher duty against the excessive imports that threatened the domestic industry. The relief was designed to give the domestic industry a period of time in which to improve its competitive position and strengthen its financial foundation and thereby enable it to adjust to international competition.

The Commission's current investigation has established that the increase in imports above the average level of imports in the 1972/75 through 1974/75 marketing years has been a substantial cause of serious injury to the domestic industry. The remedy that I have recommended will provide price protection in the form of a higher duty against excessive imports. The tariff-quota levels that I have recommended will also permit continued importation of substantial quantities of canned mushrooms and allow competitive forces to maintain market discipline.

Pursuant to section 201(d)(1) of the Trade Act, I have considered whether adjustment assistance can effectively remedy the serious injury and threat thereof that I have determined to exist. It is recognized that adjustment assistance might enable some firms to obtain needed capital to improve operating efficiencies. Such adjustment assistance is now available on an expedited basis as a result of the previous Commission determination and recommendation. However, even assuming that such assistance will be utilized by the domestic mushroom-canning industry, it will not, in my opinion, eliminate the present serious injury and threat of serious injury to the domestic industry from increased imports. As I noted in my previous recommendation of remedy, the tariff quota that I have recommended will enhance the possibilities for success of any adjustment assistance which might be sought and provided.

VIEWS OF COMMISSIONER WILL E. LEONARD

On September 20, 1976, the United States International Trade Commission received a letter from the Special Representative for Trade Negotiations requesting an expedited investigation, pursuant to section 201(b)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974, to determine whether mushrooms, prepared or preserved, except fresh or dried, provided for in item 144.20 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States (TSUS), are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury, or the threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article. The Commission, having determined pursuant to section 201(e) of the Trade Act that good cause existed for a reinvestigation within 1 year since the Commission made its report to the President on its previous investigation on mushrooms, instituted the requested investigation on October 5, 1976.

DETERMINATION AND RECOMMENDATION

Having reviewed the evidence gathered by the Commission in the course of the current investigation on mushrooms (investigation No. TA-201-17), as well as the evidence gathered in the previous investigation (No. TA-201-10), I determine that the criteria as set forth in section 201(b)(1) of the Trade Act for an industry to be eligible for relief from imports have been met with respect to the imports that are the subject of this investigation. Specifically, I determine that mushrooms that are the subject of this investigation are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury to the domestic industry producing mushrooms like or directly competitive with such imported mushrooms.

Further, I determine, pursuant to section 201(d)(1) of the Trade Act, that adjustment assistance can effectively remedy the serious injury that I find to exist, and therefore I recommend the provision of such assistance.

DOMESTIC INDUSTRY, INCREASED IMPORTS, SERIOUS INJURY, AND SUBSTANTIAL CAUSE

For my views on the definition of the domestic industry, and regarding the criteria of increased imports, serious injury, and substantial cause, the reader is referred to the analysis and conclusions contained in my opinion set forth in the Commission's previous report to the President on mushrooms.[1]

Since that report was sent to the President on March 17, 1976, additional facts have come to light. Canned-mushroom imports for the first 10 months of 1976 (the latest data available to the Commission) increased by almost 30 percent over the volume imported during the corresponding period a year earlier. The ratio of imports of canned mushrooms to total domestic production of mushrooms increased from 26 percent in the [2] Commissioners Parker, Leonard, Moore, and Ablondi determine that the domestic industry is seriously injured. Commissioner Parker also determines that the domestic industry is threatened with serious injury.

[1] Commissioner Minchew, noting that the Commission has made an affirmative determination, has made a recommendation of remedy.

1974/75 marketing year (July 1 to June 30) to 28 percent in 1975/76.

The number of production and related workers employed by domestic mushroom canneries decreased from 1,360 in 1974/75 to 1,207 in 1975/76. Cannery manhours worked declined even more—from 1.5 million in 1974/75 to 1.2 million in 1975/76.

Partial-year financial data for 1976 obtained by the Commission reveal that the profitability of both canners and growers has improved somewhat since the previous mushroom investigation. However, the profitability of canners in particular is still unacceptably low. The 21 canners surveyed by the Commission (representing about 65 percent of total canners' sales for partial year 1976) reported a ratio of net operating profit to net sales of only 2.4 percent. Fully one-third of these canners were operating at a loss. The ratio of net operating profit to net sales for the 16 mushroom growers surveyed (accounting for about 35 percent of all fresh mushrooms sold in partial year 1976) was somewhat higher—about 10 percent.

Penetration of the U.S. market by canned-mushroom imports has continued to increase. The share of total domestic mushroom consumption taken by these imports rose from 21 percent in 1974/75 to 22 percent in 1975/76.

Having studied the new facts which became available since the completion of the Commission's previous investigation on mushrooms, I conclude that these facts do not alter the result I reached in that earlier investigation, viz, that increased imports of mushrooms provided for in TSUS item 144.20 (almost all of which are canned) are a substantial cause of serious injury to the domestic industry which grows and cans mushrooms.

Recommendation of Adjustment Assistance

At the conclusion of the Commission's prior escape-clause investigation on mushrooms in March 1976, I determined that adjustment assistance under chapters 2, 3, and 4 of title II of the Trade Act could effectively remedy the serious injury being suffered by the domestic industry, and I recommended the provision of such assistance. As no information has been brought to my attention in the course of the current investigation that would lead me to change my position on the issue of remedy, I again recommend the provision of adjustment assistance to the domestic industry.

Less than 8 months have elapsed since the President, acting pursuant to section 202 of the Trade Act, directed expedited trade adjustment assistance for the domestic mushroom industry. In my view it is unrealistic to expect adjustment assistance to operate effectively within such a period of time. More time is needed. This conclusion is buttressed by the fact that, as of November 15, 1976, not one of the six firms certified by the U.S. Department of Commerce as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance had yet progressed to the point of gaining approval for its plan of economic recovery.

As I pointed out in my opinion in connection with the prior mushroom investigation, the domestic industry has made efforts to compete with increased imports. I continue to be of the view that adjustment assistance, given sufficient time to become effective, is likely to permit the domestic industry to make further efforts to adjust successfully to the import competition it has experienced. Indeed, the recent improvement of conditions in the domestic mushroom industry should make it even more likely now than 9 months ago that adjustment assistance will enable the domestic industry to compete effectively with imports.

Conclusion

Having examined the evidence gathered by the Commission in the course of this investigation, I determine that mushrooms that are the subject of this investigation are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury to the domestic mushroom growing and canning industry. I further determine that adjustment assistance can effectively remedy such injury.

Further Comments

In determining whether to provide import relief and what method and amount of import relief to provide, the President is directed by section 202(c) of the Trade Act to take into account certain relevant considerations. The Commission's investigation on mushrooms produced information relating to the cost to consumers of import restrictions, which has a bearing on some of the considerations enumerated in section 202(c) and which may be of interest to the President.

In an attempt to estimate the cost to consumers of possible alternative remedies, the Commission made a number of statistical analyses using data gathered during this and the previous investigation. The results were generally inconclusive. Calculations designed to link consumer demand for imported mushrooms with their prices were not statistically significant. Calculations using data on domestic mushrooms only led to the following tentative conclusions: First, when the consumer enters a retail store to buy mushrooms, the absolute level of mushroom prices has little to do with his decision; second, he will tend to select fresh rather than canned mushrooms if the price of fresh mushrooms is lower than that of canned mushrooms, and vice versa. In view of the unsatisfactory statistical results obtained from these calculations, it is not possible to provide a quantitative estimate of the cost to consumers of import restrictions such as an absolute quota or a higher tariff. It is probable that such restrictions would cause a large price increase initially, until domestic growers had time to increase U.S. production sufficiently to overcome the loss of imports. The cost to consumers in the form of higher prices during this initial period could be substantial and may be higher than the cost to U.S. taxpayers of adjustment assistance to firms and workers.

View of Commissioner George M. Moore

I concur with those of my colleagues who have made an affirmative determination in this proceeding. Since the Commission's last escape-clause investigation on canned mushroom imports (TA-201-10) nearly a year ago, conditions affecting the domestic industry by reason of increased imports have changed drastically. These changed conditions constitute the basis for my affirmative determination in the present case.

The 1974 Trade Act clearly enunciates the requirement that an affirmative determination shall be made if certain articles are being imported in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury to the requisite domestic industry. The excessive increase in imports of canned mushrooms during 1976 outweighs any other cause of present serious injury to the domestic industry. During the first 10 months of 1976, U.S. imports of canned mushrooms totaled 62 million pounds, compared with 48 million pounds during the corresponding period in 1975. The impact of the sudden 29-percent increase in less than a year is more important than any other cause of the present serious injury to the domestic industry.

In the course of this Commission investigation and the earlier one, it was apparent that there were other causes of injury to the domestic industry. I discussed a number of these economic factors in my opinion earlier this year.

Botulism food poisoning, which was first discovered in connection with the canned mushrooms in February 1973, has largely disappeared as a major cause of the present serious injury to the domestic industry.

The downward trend in domestic consumption which occurred a few years ago has been abruptly reversed. In recent months there has been a marked increase in domestic consumption of canned mushrooms. However, domestic and imported canned mushrooms did not share equally in the increased sales in the domestic market. In fact, of the 23 million more pounds of canned mushrooms consumed in the marketing year 1975/76 than in 1973/74, 18 million pounds, or almost 79 percent, were imported. The increase in domestic consumption of fresh mushrooms and the consequent advantages to the domestic industry are overshadowed by the loss in sales suffered by the U.S. industry in failing to benefit from the recent increase in canned mushroom consumption. It is significant that the mushroom growers have likewise suffered, because sales of fresh mushrooms to domestic processors were only 3 million pounds more in the marketing year 1975/76 than in 1971/72.

In recent years the prices of domestically produced and of imported cases of six No. 10 institutional-size cans of mushrooms (stems and pieces or buttons or slices) have generally been competitive. However, the present investigation reveals that this condition has suddenly changed. Beginning with the last quarter of 1975 and continuing through 1976, the domestically produced cans of mushroom stems and pieces and buttons and slices were, for the most part, consistently undersold by the imported articles. The price comparisons developed during the Commission's investigation establish a pattern of price suppression by the imported product during the last quarter of 1975 and the year 1976. These facts are particularly significant in the present investigation in view of the fact that almost 60 percent of the imported canned mushrooms are in institutional-size containers. With respect to the remainder of the imports of canned mushrooms which are in retail-size containers, since 1974 the prices of such imports have been consistently below the prices of the domestically produced canned mushrooms in like containers.

As a consequence of the changed conditions outlined above, which are based on facts developed during the present investigation, I have determined that mushrooms, prepared or preserved, except fresh or dried, provided for in item 144.20 of the TSUS are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive articles.

Additional Views of Commissioner Moore

In the earlier escape clause investigation of canned mushroom imports (TA-201-10) I voted negative, because I believed that the increased importation of canned mushrooms was not a substantial cause of the serious injury being suffered at that time by the domestic industry. However, a majority of the voting Commissioners reached an affirmative decision, and in March 1976 three of the Commissioners who participated recommended "adjustment assistance" as the remedy for the serious injury to the domestic industry. The adjustment assistance recommendation of my three colleagues was accepted and the President ordered such relief to be expedited.

Within less than a year this matter has been returned to the Commission with the request that we institute a new investigation and reach a decision as quickly as possible.

Had effective relief been provided for the domestic industry it is difficult to conceive how this case could so quickly be returned to the Commission.

This is a new investigation, and I have determined that there is new evidence. These new facts have convinced me to vote in the affirmative in the present case. However, in evaluating the kind of relief or remedy necessary for the domestic industry under the provisions of the Trade Act of 1974, I cannot overlook the fact that adjustment assistance has been proven ineffective.

Therefore, the remaining alternative under the Trade Act is for me to recommend an important restriction which is necessary to remedy the serious injury I have found. This recommendation appears on page 3.

Views of Commissioner Italo H. Ablondi

At the President's direction, the Special Representative for Trade Negotiations on September 20, 1976, requested the United States International Trade Commission to conduct an expedited investigation on mushrooms, pursuant to section 201(b)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974. On October 5, 1976, the Commission instituted an investigation to determine whether mushrooms, prepared or preserved, except fresh or dried, provided for in item 144.20 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States, are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury, or the threat thereof, to the domestic injury producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article.

Earlier in the year the Commission conducted an investigation concerning the same subject matter as this investigation. In that investigation, I found increased imports to be a substantial cause of the threat of serious injury to the domestic industry.[2] That finding was consistent with the views which I expressed in an investigation which the Commission conducted in 1973 under section 332 of the Tariff Act of 1930.[3] While I still find that the criteria for import relief are satisfied, I believe that in the period since investigation No. TA-201-10, the situation has changed to the extent that the threat of injury has been realized. Accordingly, I determine that mushrooms provided for in item 144.20 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury to the domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article.

The evidence received by the Commission during this investigation provides no basis upon which to alter a previous determination that the criteria requisite to an affirmative determination are satisfied. In the interest of brevity, I incorporate by reference my earlier determination, which outlines the basic reasons for an affirmative determination.

Additional facts reveal that during the first 10 months of 1976, imports of canned mushrooms increased by more than 30 percent over those in the corresponding period in 1975, from 48 million to 62 million pounds. This represents a substantial increase both in absolute terms and relative to domestic production. Moreover, during the marketing year 1975/76, the ratio of imports of canned mushrooms to domestic consumption increased by 4 percent over the ratio in 1974/75, reaching an alltime high of 44 percent. Significantly, these increases occurred while the domestic industry was experiencing an overall decline in sales of the canned product.

Of particular concern is the precipitous increase in imports of canned mushrooms, which occurred following the President's announcement on May 17, 1976, that he had accepted the Commission's recommendation regarding adjustment assistance. Total imports in June jumped to 10.4 million pounds, or nearly double the amount entered during the preceding month. During July and August, 11.9 million pounds and 10.4 million pounds, respectively, were imported, twice the amount entered during the corresponding month in 1975. Thus far in marketing year 1976/77 (July-October) imports have amounted to 30 million pounds, 10.5 million pounds above the amount imported during the marketing year. Under these circumstances, importers should not find it surprising either that a new investigation was instituted or that the Commission has again made an affirmative determination. The President's decision not to impose import restrictions should not be an occasion for importers to increase imports with impunity. The temporary increase in July and August has been followed by assurances by officials of the Governments of the Republic of China (Taiwan) and the Republic of Korea that exports to the United States in the 1976/77 marketing year will be roughly equivalent to those for the 1976/77 marketing year.

Remedy

After reviewing all the information developed during the course of this investigation, I again make the recommendation which I made in the last investigation: I find that adjustment assistance under chapters 2, 3, and 4 of title II of the Trade Act can effectively remedy the injury which I have found to exist, and therefore I recommend the provision of such assistance.

Views of Chairman Daniel Minchew

On September 20, 1976, the United States International Trade Commission (hereinafter referred to as the Commission) received a letter from the Special Representative for Trade Negotiations requesting an expedited investigation, pursuant to section 201(b)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974, to determine whether mushrooms, prepared or preserved, except fresh or dried, provided for in item 144.20 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States (TSUS), are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury, or the threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article. Having determined pursuant to section 201(e) of the Trade Act, good cause to exist for a reinvestigation within 1 year since the Commission made its report to the President on its previous investigation on mushrooms, the Commission instituted the requested investigation on October 5, 1976.

Before making an affirmative determination under section 201(b)(1), the Commission must find that all three of the following criteria are met:

(1) That an article is being imported into the United States in increased quantities (the increased imports may be actual or relative to domestic production);

(2) That a domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported is being seriously injured or threatened with serious injury; and

(3) That such increased imports of an article are a substantial cause of the serious injury, or the threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article.

DETERMINATION

In the previous investigation on mushrooms completed on March 17, 1976 (No. TA-201-10), I determined that the criteria by which an industry must be judged eligible for relief from imports, as set forth in section 201(b)(1) of the Trade Act, were not met. Specifically, I found that the third criterion under section 201(b)(1), i.e., that of "substantial cause," was not met.[4]

In the present investigation, as a result of evidence obtained by the Commission, I have found that competitive conditions in the mushroom industry have not changed sufficiently since investigation No. TA-201-10 to justify a change in the finding I reached in the earlier case. Thus, I have determined in this investigation that the third criterion under section 201(b)(1) has not been met. The following discussion, therefore, is limited principally to the third criterion.

DOMESTIC INDUSTRY

The domestic industry consists of the industry or industries producing an article which is "like or directly competitive with" the imported article—in this case, mushrooms, except fresh or dried, listed under item 144.20 of the TSUS. I have again concluded that all mushrooms, whether preserved or fresh, are "likely or directly competitve" with the items under investigation, and that the domestic producers of such articles must be considered the industry or industries to which the statutory criteria are to be applied.

In the present case, as in the previous investigation, it would be possible to define the industry either as one industry consisting of all fresh-mushroom-production and mushroom-processing facilities, or as two industries—the fresh-mushroom-production facilities on the one hand and the mushroom-processing facilities on the other. As I have determined that the "substantial cause" criterion has not been met, and since the various products are so closely related and interchangeable, I have concluded that no specific definition of the domestic industry is necessary. Considering either of the domestic industries would lead me to the same conclusion: increased imports are not a "substantial cause" of any "serious injury" which the domestic industry may have suffered.

SUBSTANTIAL CAUSE

Section 201(b)(4) of the Trade Act defines "substantial cause" as a "cause which is important and not less than any other cause." In addressing the question of substantial cause, the House Ways and Means Committee stated:

> The Committee intends that a dual test be met—imports must constitute an important cause and be no less important than any other single cause. For example, if imports were just one of many factors of equal weight, imports would meet the test of being "not less than any other cause" but it would be unlikely that any of the causes would be deemed an "important" cause. If there were any other cause more important than imports, then the second test of being "not less than any other cause" would not be met. On the other hand, if imports were one of two factors of equal weight and there were no other factors, both tests would be met.[5]

The Senate Finance Committee stated further:

> The Committee recognizes that "weighing" causes in a dynamic economy is not always possible. It is not intended that a mathematical test be applied by the Commission. The Commissioners will have to assure themselves that imports represent a substantial cause or threat of injury, and not just one of a multitude of equal causes or threats of injury.[6]

In determining "substantial cause" it is necessary, therefore, to consider two tests. First, a cause must be important, and second, a cause must be not less than any other cause.

I have concluded as a result of evidence obtained by the Commission in the present investigation that there were several factors which may have led to any decline that the domestic industry may have suffered. I consider three of these factors, moreover, to be important: (a) increased imports; (b) the increasing diversion of fresh-mushroom production to the fresh market and to processors other than canners; and (c) the discovery of Clostridium botulinum and/or botulinal toxin (botulism) in canned mushrooms in 1973. Thus, the first test of substantial cause is satisfied.

However, despite the fact that I consider increased imports to be an important cause of injury to the domestic industry, I am unable to say that these increased imports are not less important than the other important causes—diversion of the raw product or botulism.

A major problem faced by domestic canners is the diversion of fresh mushrooms to the fresh market and to processors other than canners. Evidence presented in this investigation indicates that such diversion is a more important factor than increased imports.

During the last 5 marketing years, an increasing amount and share of U.S. fresh-mushroom production has been sold on the fresh market. In 1971/72, 66 million pounds of fresh mushrooms were sold on the fresh market—29 percent of all U.S. fresh-mushroom production: in 1975/76, the fresh market accounted for 142 million pounds of U.S. fresh-mushroom production—46 percent of the total U.S. fresh-mushroom output.

A rising fresh-mushroom price structure has accounted for much of the diversion of the fresh product away from canners and toward the fresh market and processors other than canners. This has been especially true in the last year or so. The average price for fresh mushrooms increased from 35 cents per pound in 1974/75 to 69 cents per pound by October 1976. The mushroom canner has been caught between the rapidly escalating cost of raw material and the uncertain market price for the finished product—canned mushrooms.

Canners traditionally suffered reduced profit margins in periods of high fresh-mushroom prices, which are usually highly profitable years for mushroom growers. This is especially the case for canners completely separated from growing operations. Such canners cannot use the profits obtained from fresh-mushroom production to carry over the canning operation in times of high raw-material cost.

In addition to fresh mushrooms being diverted to the fresh market, large quantities have been sold in recent years to processors other than canners, such as soup manufacturers. These quantities, which totaled about 28 million pounds in 1971/72, reached 64 million pounds in 1975/76.

I have concluded again in this investigation that botulism food poisoning (which was discovered in early 1973 in the canned mushrooms of two domestic processors and resulted in recalls by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration which lasted until December 1974, eventually affecting 10 firms, 8 domestic and 2 foreign) is a more important factor than increased imports in any "serious injury" that the domestic industry may have suffered.

Despite the increase in consumption of canned mushrooms since 1973/74, the marketing year most closely associated with the "botulism scare," the decline in consumption in that year, along with the expenses associated with the recalls in the period, so weakened the financial condition of at least the canning segment of the domestic industry that U.S. canners could not effectively supply the increasing demand for the canned product in the years subsequent to 1973/74. Moreover, the industry's greater financial burden which grew out of the "botulism scare" resulted in the discontinuance of mushroom-canning operations by five firms which were associated with recalls—one since the completion of the last investigation (No. TA-201-10). So, the effects of the increase in imports that has occurred since 1973/74 have been magnified because of the weakened condition of the domestic industry, a result of previous losses to its capital structure.

After considering all the information obtained by the Commission in the present investigation, I feel that I must conclude that increased imports are a less important cause of any "serious injury" which the domestic industry may have suffered than is the diversion of the raw product or botulism. I conclude, therefore, that the "substantial cause" criterion has not been met.

ADDITIONAL VIEWS OF CHAIRMAN DANIEL MINCHEW WITH REGARD TO RECOMMENDATIONS OF REMEDY

I believe that the statute anticipates in all cases of affirmative findings two separate, distinct votes, and, further, that each Commissioner has a duty to participate in the recommendation process regardless of the Commissioner's individual vote on the question of serious injury.

I think it is important to examine the statute and supporting materials on this important question. Section 201(d)(1) refers to the recommendation by the "Commission" without any reference to a majority or to those Commissioners voting in the affirmative. I believe the Congress intended separate votes by the Commission: First, the Commission was to determine whether the provisions of 201(b) are met so that import relief could be awarded, and, second, the "Commission" is to decide on a recommendation to be transmitted to the President, as provided in section 201(d).

Section 332(g) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended by section 173 of the Trade Act of 1974, provides:

> Reports to President and Congress.—The Commission shall put at the disposal of the President of the United States, the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Finance of the Senate, whenever requested, all information at its command, and shall make such investigations and reports as may be requested by the President or by either of said committees or by either branch of the Congress, and shall report to Congress on the first Monday of December of each year hereafter a statement of the methods adopted and all expenses incurred, a summary of all reports made during the year, and a list of all votes taken by the commissioners voting in the affirmative and the negative on each vote and those commissioners not voting on each vote and the reasons for not voting. (Emphasis supplied.)

The purpose of the final phrase, added by the Trade Act of 1974, as outlined in the Senate Finance Committee Report at page 117 is as follows:

> • • • any vote which results in public notice of an action, or any vote on an investigation of the Commission or which results in a report being issued, would be included in the report. It is hoped that this amendment will encourage participation by all Commissioners in the important business of the Commission. (Emphasis supplied.)

I think there can be little doubt that a recommendation to the President would be considered "important business of the Commission."

Equal in importance to the authority cited above, which, to me, represents an affirmative duty by Commissioners to participate in the recommendation, is the fact that nowhere in the act do we see any prohibition of an action by a Commissioner to participate in important Commission business.

A separate policy issue presents itself as to whether a Commissioner should participate in the development of a Commission recommendation if the Commission has voted negatively in the determination. I am of the opinion that a Commissioner should participate actively in the development of the recommendation.

If a Commissioner has voted negatively (which he may have done for several reasons under the statute) but the Commission has made an affirmative finding, the Commissioner must then separate the views on an affirmative or negative finding and set to the task of making a recommendation which would best redress the injury, as determined by the Commission to the domestic industry. I am not persuaded by the argument that a Commissioner cannot possibly separate the two. That is one of the responsibilities of a Commissioner. Indeed, it is possible that a Commissioner who voted negatively on the determination has sympathy with the domestic industry. It is possible that a Commissioner could find that there are no increased imports, an evaluation which necessitates a negative finding, even though the Commissioner feels the domestic industry has been injured.

The Senate Finance Committee Report at page 123 focuses on votes by Commissioners with regard to remedy (recommendation) when it states:

> • • • the Committee feels strongly that the Commission ought to reach a clear, definitive majority view on the nature of the remedy that is most suitable to the injury found.

It is hoped that this stated intent of the Congress will go a good way toward eliminating any attempt by those who might have voted in the minority to thwart the will of the majority who may have determined affirmatively.

The Commission must draw upon the diverse backgrounds of all members of the Commission in order to assure that all views are properly presented. It is in this way that the Commission was intended to function by those who established it as a Commission instead of a judicial body.

Since I feel that, in instances of affirmative determinations I must participate in the formulation of a recommendation, regardless of how I voted in the determination, I have concluded that, although I have made a negative determination in this case, I may give my view on a recommendation, because, by Presidential action, this evenly divided determination could become an affirmative finding.

CONCLUSION

I have determined that the import relief described in the Commission's determination and finding is the appropriate remedy for the United States industry impacted by the imports of canned mushrooms.

By order of the Commission:

KENNETH R. MASON,
Secretary.

NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

SUBPANEL FOR THE COMPREHENSIVE ASSISTANCE TO UNDERGRADUATE SCIENCE EDUCATION PROGRAM (CAUSE) ADVISORY PANEL ON SCIENCE EDUCATION PROJECTS

Meeting

In accordance with the Federal Advisory Committee Act, Pub. L. 92-463, the National Science Foundation announces the following meeting:

Name: Sub Panel for the Comprehensive Assistance to Undergraduate Science Education Program (CAUSE).

Date and Time: Advisory Panel on Science Education Projects: February 3, 1977—7:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m.; February 4, 1977—7:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.; February 5, 1977—7:30 a.m.-5:00 pm.

Place: Mayflower Hotel, 1127 Connecticut Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C.

Type of Meeting: Closed.

Contact Person: Dr. John A. Maccini, Program Director, CAUSE Room W-408, National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C. 20550, Tel: 202-282-7736.

Purpose of Panel: To provide advice and recommendations concerning support for the CAUSE Program.

Agenda: To review and evaluate specific science education proposals as part of the selection process for awards.

Reason for Closing: The proposals and projects being reviewed include information of a proprietary or confidential nature, including technical information; financial data, such as salaries; and personal information concerning individuals associated with the proposals and projects. These matters are within exemptions (4) and (6) of 5 U.S.C. 552(b). Freedom of Information Act. The rendering of advice by the panel is considered to be a part of the Foundation's deliberative process and is thus subject to exemption (5) of the Act.

Authority to Close Meeting: This determination was made by the Committee Management Officer pursuant to provisions of section 10(d) of Pub. L. 92-463. The Committee Management Officer was delegated the authority to make determinations by the Director, NSF, on February 11, 1976.

M. REBECCA WINKLER,
Acting Committee Management Officer.

SUB PANEL FOR NATIONAL NEEDS GRADUATE TRAINEESHIP PROGRAM ADVISORY PANEL ON SCIENCE EDUCATION PROJECTS

Meeting

In accordance with Federal Advisory Committee Act, Pub. L. 92-463, the National Science Foundation announces the following meeting:

Name: Sub Panel for National Needs Graduate Traineeship Program.

Date and Time: February 3-5, 1977; February 3, 7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.; February 4, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.; February 5, 8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Place: Quality Inn-Downtown, Massachusetts Avenue and Thomas Circle, NW., Washington, D.C.

Type of Meeting: Closed.

Contact Person: Dr. Douglas S. Chapin, Head, Graduate and Postdoctoral Programs, Room 478, National Science Foundation, 5225 Wisconsin Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20550, telephone (202) 282-7154.

Purpose of Panel: To provide advice and recommendations concerning support for science education.

Agenda: To review and evaluate science education proposals and projects as part of the selection process for awards.

Reason For Closing: The proposals and projects being reviewed include information of a proprietary or confidential nature, including technical information; financial data, such as salaries; and personal information concerning individuals associated with the proposals and projects. NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON REACTOR SAFEGUARDS, SUBCOMMITTEES ON THE CHEROKEE NUCLEAR STATION, UNITS 1, 2, AND 3, AND THE PERKINS NUCLEAR STATION, UNITS 1, 2, AND 3

Meeting Postponed

The January 19, 1977 meeting of subject Subcommittees has been postponed to March 1, 1977. It will still be held at the Roadway Inn Airport, 4040 I-85 and Little Rock Road, Charlotte NC (704/394-4111) and the agenda will remain the same as announced in FEDERAL REGISTER Vol. 41, No. 252, Thursday, Dec. 30, 1976.

If written comments are mailed for consideration at this meeting, they should be postmarked no later than Feb. 22, 1977, addressed to Mr. Gary R. Quittschreiber, ACRS, NRC, Wash., D.C. 20555.

Copies of the transcript and minutes of the meeting will be made available for inspection on or after March 10 and June 1, 1977, respectively, at the Public Document Rooms listed in cited FR notice.

Dated: January 12, 1977.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON REACTOR SAFEGUARDS, SITING EVALUATION SUBCOMMITTEE

Meeting

In accordance with the purposes of Sections 29 and 182 b. of the Atomic Energy Act (42 U.S.C. 2039, 2232 b.), the ACRS Siting Evaluation Subcommittee will hold a meeting on February 2, 1977 in Room 1146, 1717 H Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20555. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss nuclear facility siting.

The agenda for subject meeting shall be as follows:

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1977

8:30 A.M.—9:00 A.M. (OPEN)

The Subcommittee will meet in Executive Session with any of its consultants who may be present to explore their preliminary opinions regarding matters which should be considered in order to formulate a Subcommittee report and recommendations to the full Committee.

9:00 A.M. UNTIL CONCLUSION OF BUSINESS (OPEN)

The Subcommittee will hear presentations by and hold discussions with representatives of the NRC Staff regarding matters pertinent to this review.

The Subcommittee may caucus to determine whether matters have been adequately covered and whether they are ready for review by the full Committee. During the session, Subcommittee members and consultants will discuss their opinions and recommendations on these matters.

Practical considerations may dictate alterations in the agenda or schedule. The Chairman of the Subcommittee is empowered to conduct the meeting in a manner that, in his judgment, will facilitate the orderly conduct of business, including provisions to carry over an incompleted session from one day to the next.

The Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards is an independent group established by Congress to review and report on each application for a construction permit and on each application for an operating license for a reactor facility and on certain other nuclear safety matters. The Committee's reports become a part of the public record. Although ACRS meetings are ordinarily open to the public and provide for oral or written statements to be considered as a part of the Committee's information-gathering procedure concerning the health and safety of the public, they are not adjudicatory type hearings such as are conducted by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Atomic Safety & Licensing Board as part of the Commission's licensing process. ACRS meetings do not normally treat matters pertaining to environmental impacts outside the safety area.

With respect to public participation in the meeting, the following shall apply:

(a) Persons wishing to submit written statements regarding the agenda may do so by providing a readily reproducible copy to the Subcommittee at the beginning of the meeting. Comments should be limited to safety related areas within the Committee's purview.

Persons desiring to mail written comments may do so by sending a readily reproducible copy thereof in time for consideration at this meeting. Comments postmarked no later than January 26, 1977 to Mr. Thomas G. McCreless, ACRS, NRC, Washington, D.C. 20555, will normally be received in time to be considered at this meeting.

(b) Those persons wishing to make an oral statement at the meeting should make a written request to do so, identifying the topics and desired presentation time so that appropriate arrangements can be made. The Committee will receive oral statements on topics relevant to the Committee's purview at an appropriate time chosen by the Chairman of the Subcommittee.

(c) Further information regarding topics to be discussed, whether the meeting has been cancelled or rescheduled, the Chairman's ruling on requests for the opportunity to present oral statements and the time allotted therefor can be obtained by a prepaid telephone call on February 1, 1977 to the Office of the Executive Director of the Committee (telephone 202/634-1374, ATTN: Mr. Thomas G. McCreless) between 8:15 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., EST.

(d) Questions may be propounded only by members of the Subcommittee and its consultants.

(e) The use of still, motion picture, and television cameras, the physical installation and presence of which will not interfere with the conduct of the meeting, will be permitted both before and after the meeting and during any recess. The use of such equipment will not, however, be allowed while the meeting is in session.

(f) A copy of the transcript of the open portion(s) of the meeting where factual information is presented and a copy of the minutes of the meeting will be available for inspection on or after February 9 and May 2, 1977, respectively, at the NRC Public Document Room, 1717 H St. NW., Washington, D.C. 20555.

Copies may be obtained upon payment of appropriate charges.

Dated: January 12, 1977.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON REACTOR SAFEGUARDS, WORKING GROUP ON ASSESSMENT OF SELECTED LIGHT-WATER REACTOR SAFETY MATTERS

Meeting

In accordance with the purposes of sections 29 and 182 b. of the Atomic Energy Act (42 U.S.C. 2039, 2232b.), the ACRS Working Group on Assessment of Selected Light-Water Reactor Safety Matters will meet on February 1, 1977 in Room 1046, 1717 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20555. The purpose of this meeting is to review selected matters related to LWR safety referred to it by the NRC.

The agenda shall be as follows:

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1977

8:30 A.M.—9:00 A.M. (OPEN)

The Working Group will meet in Executive Session, with any of its consultants who may be present, to explore and exchange their preliminary opinions, based upon their independent review of reports regarding matters which should be considered in order to formulate a Working Group report and recommendations to the full Committee.

9:00 A.M. UNTIL CONCLUSION OF BUSINESS

The Working Group will hear presentations by and hold discussions with respentatives of the NRC Staff and the nuclear industry, and their consultants, pertinent to selected matters relating to LWR safety.

The Working Group may caucus to determine whether the matters identified in the initial session have been adequately covered and whether the project is ready for review by the full Committee. During this session, Working Group members and consultants will discuss their opinions and recommendations on these matters.

It may be necessary for the Working Group to hold one or more closed sessions for the purpose of reviewing internal Commission documents or to explore with the NRC Staff and participants matters involving proprietary information. It may also be necessary to hold a closed session to receive reports from individual NRC Staff members who may wish to discuss with the ACRS their advice, opinions, and personnel policy suggestions and who may only be willing to discuss some matters in a closed session. It is the preference of the Working Group to have this portion of the meeting in open session. Accordingly, if these individuals are willing to discuss their opinions in open session, this portion of the meeting will be open.

I have determined, in accordance with subsection 10(d) of Public Law 92-463, that it is necessary to close portions of the meeting as noted above to protect intra agency memoranda (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(5)), to protect proprietary information (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4)), and to protect the confidentiality of internal NRC Staff opinions and recommendations, which, if written, would fall within the provisions of exemption 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(5), to promote the full and frank exchange of these matters between individual NRC Staff members and the ACRS (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(5)), and which relate to the internal personnel rules and practices of the Commission (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(2)), and to prevent the disclosure of information of a personal nature which would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(6)). Separation of factual information from the exempt material which may be discussed in these closed sessions is not considered practical.

Practical considerations may dictate alterations in the above agenda or schedule. The Chairman of the Working Group is empowered to conduct the meeting in a manner that, in his judgment, will facilitate the orderly conduct of business, including provisions to carry over an incompleted open session from one day to the next.

The Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards is an independent group established by Congress to review and report on each application for a construction permit and on each application for an operating license for a reactor facility and on certain other nuclear safety matters. The Committee's reports become a part of the public record. Although ACRS meetings are ordinarily open to the public and provide for oral or written statements to be considered as a part of the Committee's information gathering procedure concerning the health and safety of the public, they are not adjudicatory type hearings such as are conducted by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Atomic Safety & Licensing Board as part of the Commission's licensing process. ACRS meetings do not normally treat matters pertaining to environmental impacts outside the safety area.

With respect to public participation in the open portion of the meeting, the following requirements shall apply:

(a) Persons wishing to submit written statements regarding the agenda items may do so by providing a readily reproducible copy to the Working Group at the beginning of the meeting. Comments should be limited to safety related areas within the Working Group's purview.

Persons desiring to mail written comments may do so by sending a readily reproducible copy thereof in time for consideration at this meeting. Comments postmarked no later than January 25, 1977 to Mr. R. L. Wright, Jr., ACRS, NRC, Washington, D.C. 20555 will normally be received in time to be considered at this meeting.

(b) Those persons wishing to make an oral statement at the meeting should make a written request to do so, identifying the topics and desired presentation time so that appropriate arrangements can be made. The Working Group will receive oral statements on topics relevant to its purview at an appropriate time chosen by the Chairman of the Working Group.

(c) Further information regarding topics to be discussed, whether the meeting has been cancelled or rescheduled, the Chairman's ruling on requests for the opportunity to present oral statements and the time allotted therefor can be obtained by a prepaid telephone call on January 31, 1977 to the Office of the Executive Director of the Committee (telephone 202/634-1919, Attn: Mr. R. L. Wright, Jr.) between 8:15 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., EST.

(d) Questions may be propounded only by members of the Working Group and its consultants.

(e) The use of still, motion picture, and television cameras, the physical installation and presence of which will not interfere with the conduct of the meeting, will be permitted both before and after the meeting and during any recess. The use of such equipment will not, however, be allowed while the meeting is in session.

(f) Persons with agreements or orders permitting access to proprietary information may attend portions of ACRS meetings where this material is being discussed upon confirmation that such agreements are effective and relate to the material being discussed.

The Executive Director of the ACRS should be informed of such an agreement at least three working days prior to the meeting so that the agreement can be confirmed and a determination can be made regarding the applicability of the agreement to the material that will be discussed during the meeting. Minimum information provided should include information regarding the date of the agreement, the scope of material included in the agreement, the project or projects involved, and the names and titles of the persons signing the agreement. Additional information may be requested to identify the specific agreement involved. A copy of the executed agreement should be provided to Mr. R. L. Wright, Jr., of the ACRS Office, prior to the beginning of the meeting.

(g) A copy of the transcript of the open portion(s) of the meeting where factual information is presented and a copy of the minutes of the meeting will be available for inspection on or after February 8, and May 2, 1977, respectively, at the NRC Public Document Room, 1717 H St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20555.

Copies may be obtained upon payment of appropriate charges.

Dated: January 12, 1977.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON REACTOR SAFEGUARDS, SUBCOMMITTEE ON RESOLUTION OF GENERIC ITEMS

Meeting

In accordance with the purposes of sections 29 and 182 b. of the Atomic Energy Act (42 U.S.C. 2039, 2232 b.), the ACRS Subcommittee on the Resolution of Generic Items will hold a meeting on February 2, 1977 in Room 1062, 1717 H St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20555. The purpose of this meeting is to review the status of generic items identified by the ACRS and to determine if any new items should be added to the list.

The agenda for subject meeting shall be as follows:

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1977

8:30 A.M.—9:00 A.M. (OPEN)

The Subcommittee will meet in Executive Session, with any of its consultants who may be present, to explore their preliminary opinions, based upon their independent review of safety reports, regarding matters which should be considered during the open session in order to formulate a Subcommittee report and recommendations to the full Committee.

9:00 A.M. UNTIL CONCLUSION OF BUSINESS (OPEN)

The Subcommittee will hear presentations by and hold discussions with representatives of the NRC Staff regarding matters pertinent to this review.

The Subcommittee may caucus in a brief, closed session to determine whether the matters identified in the initial session have been adequately covered and whether they are ready for review by the full Committee. During the session Subcommittee members and consultants will discuss their opinions and recommendations on these matters.

I have determined, in accordance with Subsection 10(d) of Public Law 92–463, that it is necessary to conduct the above closed session to protect the free interchange of internal views in the final stages of the Subcommittee's deliberative process (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(5)). Separation of factual material from individuals' advice, opinions, and recommendations while closed Executive Sessions are in progress is considered impractical.

Practical considerations may dictate alterations in the above agenda or schedule. The Chairman of the Subcommittee is empowered to conduct the meeting in a manner that, in his judgment, will facilitate the orderly conduct of business, including provisions to carry over an incompleted open session from one day to the next.

The Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards is an independent group established by Congress to review and report on each application for a construction permit and on each application for an operating license for a reactor facility and on certain other nuclear safety matters. (b) Those persons wishing to make an oral statement at the meeting should make a written request to do so, identifying the topics and desired presentation time so that appropriate arrangements can be made. The Committee will receive oral statements on topics relevant to the Committee's purview at an appropriate time chosen by the Chairman of the Subcommittee.

(c) Further information regarding topics to be discussed, whether the meeting has been cancelled or rescheduled, the Chairman's ruling on requests for the opportunity to present oral statements and the time allotted therefor can be obtained by a prepaid telephone call on February 1, 1977 to the Office of the Executive Director of the Committee (telephone 202/634–1371, Attn: Mr. John C. [Docket No. 50-305]

WISCONSIN PUBLIC SERVICE CORP.

Proposed Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering issuance of an amendment to Facility Operating License No. DPR–43, issued to Wisconsin Public Service Corporation, Wisconsin Power and Light Company and Madison Gas and Electric Company (the licensee), for operation of the Kewaunee Nuclear Power Plant located in Kewaunee, Wisconsin.

The amendment would increase the total peaking factor, Fq, from 2.11 to 2.25 as a result of a reanalysis of the ECCS assuming a reactor vessel upper head fluid temperature equal to the hot leg temperature in accordance with the "Order for Modification of License" issued on August 27, 1976.

By February 16, 1977 the licensee may file a request for a hearing and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a request for a hearing in the form of a petition for leave to intervene with respect to the issuance of the amendment to the subject facility operating license. Petitions for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of § 2.714 of 10 CFR Part 2 of the Commission's regulations. A petition for leave to intervene must set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and the petitioner's contentions with respect to the proposed licensing action. Such petitions must be filed in accordance with the provisions of this FEDERAL REGISTER notice and § 2.714, and must be filed with the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Section, by the above date. A copy of the petition and/or request for a hearing should be sent to the Executive Legal Director, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, and to Steven E. Keane, Esquire, Foley, Sammond and Lardner, 735 North Water Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53202, attorney for the licensee.

A petition for leave to intervene must be accompanied by a supporting affidavit which identifies the specific aspect or aspects of the proceeding as to which intervention is desired and specifies with particularity the facts on which the petitioner relies as to both his interest and his contentions with regard to each aspect on which intervention is requested. Petitions stating contentions relating only to matters outside the Commission's jurisdiction will be denied.

All petitions will be acted upon by the Commission or licensing board, designated by the Commission or by the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel. Timely petitions will be considered to determine whether a hearing should be noticed or another appropriate order issued regarding the disposition of the petitions.

In the event that a hearing is held and a person is permitted to intervene, he becomes a party to the proceeding and has a right to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing. For example, he may present evidence and examine and cross-examine witnesses.

For further details with respect to this action, see the application for amendment dated December 10, 1976, which is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, NW., Washington, D.C. and at the Kewaunee Public Library, 314 Milwaukee Street, Kewaunee, Wisconsin 20555.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland, this 10th day of January 1977.

CONSOLIDATED EDISON COMPANY OF NEW YORK, INC. AND POWER AUTHORITY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK

Issuance of Amendments to Facility Operating Licenses

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has issued to Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc. (Con Ed), Amendment No. 26 to Facility Operating License No. DPR–26 for the Indian Point Nuclear Generating Unit No. 2, and has issued to Con Ed and the Power Authority of the State of New York, Amendment No. 5 to Facility Operating License No. DPR–64 for Indian Point Nuclear Generating Unit No. 3. These amendments revised Technical Specifications for operation of Indian Point Units Nos. 2 and 3 located in Buchanan, Westchester County, New York. The amendments are effective as of the date of issuance.

These amendments revise the Technical Specifications to change requirements for administrative controls at each unit. The changes principally pertain to assignments of key personnel within the plant organization.

The applications for the amendments comply with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the license amendments. Prior public notice of these amendments was not required since the amendments do not involve a significant hazards consideration.

The Commission has determined that the issuance of these amendments will not result in any significant environmental impact and that pursuant to 10 CFR 51.5(d)(4) an environmental impact statement, or negative declaration and environmental impact appraisal need not be prepared in connection with the issuance of these amendments.

For further details with respect to this action, see (1) the applications for amendments transmitted by letters dated August 27, 1976 and November 9, 1976, (2) Amendment No. 26 to License No. DPR–26, (3) Amendment No. 5 to License No. DPR–64, and (4) the Commission's related Safety Evaluation. All of these items are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. and at the Hendrick Hudson Free Library, 31 Albany Post Road, Montrose, New York.

A copy of items (2), (3), and (4) may be obtained upon request addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Operating Reactors.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland, this 4th day of January 1977.

[Docket Nos. 50-329, 50-330]

CONSUMERS POWER CO. (MIDLAND PLANT, UNITS 1 AND 2)

Order

(1) The parties have been unable to agree on the scheduling of witnesses for the evidentiary session beginning January 18, 1977. Because we are reluctant to interfere with the presentation of its case by a party carrying, at least, the burden of going forward with the evidence, our order will follow Licensee's proposal.

(2) The place of hearing for the session beginning January 18, 1977, has been changed to what, we are advised, is larger space. We will be in Room 1220 on January 18, 1977, and Room 204A for the balance of the week, both in the Everett McKinley Dirkson Building, 219 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois.

(3) The Board is unable to sit during the week of January 24, 1977, and the hearing will be in recess from January 21, 1977, until January 31, 1977, when it will reconvene at a time and a room to be designated.

(4) Dow has requested that the December 14, 1976 transcript be amended to include:

Mr. Wessel: I apologize for interrupting, but I must correct Mr. Rosso's statement, 'Dow has said they believe they have a valid contractual commitment.' Not to respond to an inaccurate comment when one is present, might well constitute an admission by silence in some future proceeding in which the nature of the Dow-Consumers contractual obligation is an issue.

Dow has never taken the position that it has a valid contractual commitment with Consumers. What I said earlier, which has been Dow's position throughout, is that Dow will continue to honor our contractual obligations as we see them. There is, of course, a substantial difference between these two positions.

Mr. Rosso: I apologize for inadvertently misquoting Mr. Wessel's position.

The Staff agrees with Dow except that it urges the following statement to be added to Mr. Rosso's comment:

Mr. Wessel's correction does not change the import of what I said.

The Staff alleges the omission occurred after page 939 of the transcript and before page 940.

No party has objected to the Dow request nor that of the Staff. Both omissions therefore should be added to the transcript.

It is therefore ordered: (I) That the order of witnesses to be heard during the session commencing January 18, 1977, shall be Mr. Keeley (Parts 1 and 2 of filed testimony), Mr. Howell, Mr. Temple, Mr. Weeds, Mr. Hein and Mr. Keeley (Parts 3 and 4);

(II) That the time and place of hearing sessions will be as set out in parts 2 and 3 hereof;

(III) That the transcript is ordered amended as asked and as set out in part (4) hereof; the reporter is directed to provide a new page 939A of the transcript containing the material there set out; the reporter shall distribute such new page to each party or other person to whom copies of the transcript have been furnished for inclusion in the transcript.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland, this 7th day of January 1977.

Chairman.

NUCLEAR ENGINEERING COMPANY, INC.

Amendment of Byproduct, Source and Special Nuclear Material License

Please take notice that the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has issued Amendment No. 11 to License No. 13-10042-01.

The license amendment provides for the following changes for the licensee's radioactive waste burial site located near Sheffield, Illinois.

1. Grants authority for burial of radioactive waste in new trenches identified as Trenches 14 and 14A.

2. Grants authority to bury liquid radioactive waste contained in scintillation liquid.

3. Deletes authority for burial of transuranic radioactive waste in concentrations greater than 10 nanocuries per gram.

4. Updates the radiological health and safety program and procedures for the Sheffield site.

The Commission has determined that prior public notice of proposed issuance of this amendment is not required since the amendment does not involve hazard considerations different from those previously evaluated. By February 1, 1977, the applicant may file a request for a hearing, and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a petition for leave to intervene with the Commission in the manner prescribed in the Commission's "Rule of Practice", 10 CFR Part 2.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland January 7, 1977.

SACRAMENTO MUNICIPAL UTILITY DISTRICT

Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has issued Amendment No. 9 to Facility Operating License No. DPR-54 issued to Sacramento Municipal Utility District, which revised Technical Specifications for operation of the Rancho Seco Nuclear Generating Station, located in Sacramento County, California. The amendment is effective as of its date of issuance.

The amendment incorporates provisions into the Technical Specifications related to limiting conditions for operation and surveillance of shock suppressors (snubbers).

The application for the amendment complies with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations. The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the license amendment. Prior public notice of this amendment was not required since the amendment does not involve a significant hazards consideration.

The Commission has determined that the issuance of this amendment will not result in any significant environmental impact and that pursuant to 10 CFR 51.5(d)(4) an environmental impact statement, or negative declaration and environmental impact appraisal need not be prepared in connection with issuance of this amendment.

For further details with respect to this action, see (1) the application for amendment dated October 6, 1976, (2) Amendment No. 9 to License No. DPR-54, and (3) the Commission's related Safety Evaluation. All of these items are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20555 and at the Business & Municipal Department, Sacramento City-County Library, 828 I Street, Sacramento, California.

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORP.

Application for and Consideration of Issuance of Facility Export License

Please take notice that Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, has submitted to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission an application for a license to authorize the export of a pressurized water reactor with a thermal power level of 3,000 megawatts to Spain and that the issuance of such license is under consideration by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

No license authorizing the proposed reactor export will be issued until the Nuclear Regulatory Commission determines that such export is within the scope of and consistent with the terms of an applicable agreement for cooperation arranged pursuant to section 123 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (Act), nor until the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has found that:

(a) The application complies with the requirements of the Act, and the Commission's regulations set forth in 10 CFR, Chapter 1, and

(b) The reactor proposed to be exported is a utilization facility as defined in said Act and regulations.

In its review of applications solely to authorize the export of production or utilization facilities, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission does not evaluate the health and safety characteristics of the facility to be exported. Consequently, there are no safety analysis or Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards reports.

Unless by February 16, 1977, a request for a hearing is filed with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission by the applicant, or a petition for leave to intervene is filed by any person whose interest may be affected by the proceeding, the Director of the Office of International Programs may, upon the determinations and findings noted above, cause to be issued to Westinghouse Electric Corporation a facility export license and may cause to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a notice of issuance of the license. If a request for a hearing or a petition for leave to intervene is filed within the time prescribed in the notice, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission will issue a notice of hearing or an appropriate order.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland this 6th day of January, 1977.

[Docket No. 50-206]

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EDISON CO. AND SAN DIEGO GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

Notice of Consideration of Variance Involving Provisional Operating License No. DPR-13

The Southern California Edison Company of Rosemead, California and San Diego Gas and Electric Company of San Diego, California (licensees) are authorized by Provisional Operating License No. DPR-13 to operate a nuclear power reactor identified as San Onofre Unit No. 1 (the facility), located in San Diego County, California, at steady state power levels up to 1347 MWt.

By letter dated November 3, 1976, Southern California Edison Company (SCEC) indicated that based on its efforts to date and the remaining work to be done to achieve compliance with the Commission's Interim Acceptance Criteria (IAC; 36 FR 12247, June 29, 1971), operation of San Onofre, Unit No. 1 was scheduled to be resumed on February 11, 1977. The work which involves the installation of the on-site emergency power system, has continued during the present facility outage with the reactor shut down since September 30, 1976, prior to the expiration of the October 1, 1976 IAC conformance date granted in the Commission's August 5, 1974 variance.

In its letter dated December 16, 1976 (which updates its previous letter dated November 19, 1976) SCEC proposed to have the new on-site emergency power system available for operation upon startup of the facility as scheduled for February 11, 1977, with transfer pumps for supplying diesel oil to the two new diesel generators that do not meet the required ASME Section III pump qualifications. The facility would be operated in this manner until replacement of the transfer pumps with physically and functionally similar pumps that will be certified to meet the ASME, Section III requirements. SCEC's request for approval of this proposed course of action may involve a request for variance from the IAC for the purpose of obtaining an extension of time for replacement of the fuel oil transfer pumps with pumps certified to meet Section III requirements.

Notice is hereby given that the Director, Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation is considering a variance which would extend the October 1, 1976 deadline for achieving compliance for the facility until April 30, 1977. The variance may be granted upon a finding that there is good cause and that there is reasonable assurance that the granting of the extension will not adversely affect the health and safety of the public. The Director, Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation will consider and issue a determination, together with supporting reasons, with respect to the variance. In that connection, the Director, Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation invites the submission of views and comments by any interested persons. Such views and comments should be submitted in writing, addressed to the Director, Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, not later than January 25, 1977.

A copy of SCEC's letters of November 3, 19, December 16, 1976, and related correspondence and documents including the Commission's Order of August 5, 1974, have been placed in the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, NW., Washington, D.C., and the Mission Viejo Branch Library, 24851 Chrisanta Drive, Mission Viejo, California.

ARKANSAS POWER & LIGHT CO.

Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License and Negative Declaration

Correction

NOTE.—The following document was inaccurately printed on page 1319 in the issue for Thursday, January 6, 1977. It is being reprinted here in its correct form.

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) has issued Amendment No. 17 to Facility Operating License No. DPR-51, issued to Arkansas Power & Light Company (the licensee), which revised the license and its appended Technical Specifications for operation of Arkansas Nuclear One—Unit No. 1 (the facility) located in Pope County, Arkansas. The amendment is effective as of its date of issuance.

This amendment authorized changes in the design of the ANO-1 spent fuel storage pool from that reviewed and approved in the operating license review and as described in the ANO-1 Final Safety Analysis Report. The changes will increase spent fuel storage capacity from 253 to 590 assemblies.

The application for the amendment complies with the standards and requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations. The Commission has made appropriate findings as required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations in 10 CFR Chapter I, which are set forth in the license amendment. Notice of Consideration of Proposed Modification to Facility Spent Fuel Storage Pool in connection with this action was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 28, 1976 (41 FR 47294). No request for a hearing or petition for leave to intervene was filed following notice of the proposed action.

The Commission has prepared an environmental impact appraisal for the revised Technical Specifications and has concluded that an environmental impact statement for this particular action is not warranted because there will be no significant environmental impact attributable to the action.

For further details with respect to this action, see (1) the application for amendment dated October 7, as supplemented by letters dated October 18, October 25, November 11, November 16, and November 19, 1976, (2) Amendment No. 17 to Facility Operating License No. DPR-51 and (3) the Commission's related Safety Evaluation and Environmental Impact Appraisal. All of these items are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. and at the Arkansas Polytechnic College, Russellville, Arkansas 72801. A single copy of items (2) and (3) may be obtained upon request addressed to the U. S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Operating Reactors.

OFFICE OF THE SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE FOR TRADE NEGOTIATIONS

TRADE POLICY STAFF COMMITTEE

Solicitation of Public Views

Pursuant to section 201 of the Trade Act of 1974, the United States International Trade Commission (USITC) has reported to the President on the case of mushrooms (Investigation No. TA–201–17). The USITC submitted a report on January 10, 1977 containing an affirmative determination that mushrooms, prepared or preserved, except fresh or dried, provided for in TSUS item 144.20 are being imported in such increased quantities as be a substantial cause of serious injury, or threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing articles like or directly competitive with the imported articles.

The Commission[1] finds and recommends the imposition of a tariff rate quota on the articles for a period of five years, with the tariff quotas established and allocated to countries subject to rates of duty provided for in rate of duty column numbered 1 of the TSUS, is necessary to remedy the injury as follows:

3.2¢ per pound on drained weight plus 35 pct. ad val.	3.2¢ per pound on drained weight plus 25 pct. ad val.	3.2¢ per pound on drained weight plus 15 pct. ad val.

The within quota imports entered in any year should be established and allocated to countries as follows:

Country:	Aggregate annual quota (millions of pounds, drained weight)
Republic of China (Taiwan)	31.7
Republic of Korea	11.8
Japan	1.4
Dominican Republic	.7
France	.6
Costa Rica	.5
Ecuador	.5
All others	.8
Total	48.0

[1] Commissioners Minchew, Parker and Moore.

Within 60 days of receiving a report from the USITC containing an affirmative determination, the President must determine what method and amount of import relief he will provide or determine that the provision of relief is not in the national economic interest, and whether he will direct expenditious consideration of adjustment assistance petitions.

In determining whether to provide import relief and what method and amount of import relief he will provide, the President must take into account, in addition to other considerations, the following factors:

(1) The probable effectiveness of the import relief as a means to promote adjustment, the efforts being made or to be implemented by the industry concerned to adjust to import competition, and other considerations relevant to the position of the industry in the nation's economy;

(2) The effect of import relief on consumers and on competition in the domestic markets for such articles;

(3) The effect of import relief on the international economic interest of the United States;

(4) The impact on United States industries and firms as a consequence of any possible modification of duties or other import restrictions which may result from international obligations with respect to compensation;

(5) The geographic concentration of imported products marketed in the United States;

(6) The extent to which the United States market is a focal point for exports of such article by reason of restraints on exports of such article to, or on imports of such article into, third country markets;

(7) The economic and social costs which would be incured by taxpayers, communities and workers if import relief were or were not provided.

The Office of the Special Representative for Trade Negotiations chairs the interagency Trade Policy Committee structure that makes recomendations to the President as to what action, if any, he should take on reports submitted by the USITC under section 201(d). In order to assist the Trade Policy Staff Committee in developing information on possible action which may be taken under section 202 and 203 of the Trade Act of 1974, the Committee welcomes briefs from interested parties on the above listed subjects. (Further information on this case is available in the Report of the USITC on mushrooms—Investigation No. TA–201–17).

Briefs should be submitted in twenty (20) copies to Chairman, Trade Policy Staff Committee, Room 728, Office of the Special Representative for Trade Negotiations, 1800 G Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506.

To be considered by the Trade Policy Staff Committee, submissions should be recieved in the Office of the Special Representative for Trade Negotiations no later than 15 days following publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Chairman, Trade Policy Staff Committee.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

ARKANSAS-MISSOURI POWER CO. AND ASSOCIATED NATURAL GAS CO.

Proposals by Subsidiary Utility Companies To Issue and Sell First Mortgage Bonds; Request for Exception From Competitive Bidding

Notice is hereby given that Arkansas-Missouri Power Company ("Ark-Mo"), a subsidiary holding company of Middle South Utilities, Inc. ("Middle South"), a registered holding company, and Ark-Mo's subsidiary gas utility company, Associated Natural Gas Company ("Associated"), 405 West Park Street, Blytheville, Arkansas 72315, have filed a joint application-declaration and an amendment thereto pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating sections 6 and 7 of the Act and Rule 50(a)(5) promulgated thereunder as applicable to the following proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the amended joint application-declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete description of the proposed transactions.

Ark-Mo is principally an electric utility company operating in northeastern Arkansas and portions of Missouri. Ark-Mo serves gas to communities in the same territory. Its subsidiary, Associated, distributes gas in scattered areas of Missouri, for the most part outside of Ark-Mo's territory, although its largest group of properties are connected with Ark-Mo's gas system. At June 30, 1976, Ark-Mo's net electric plant was $46,952,124, and its net gas plant was $11,623,973. Approximately $4 million of Ark-Mo's gas plant represents the depreciated book cost of a liquefied natural gas (LNG) facility located near Blytheville, Arkansas, on the Missouri-Arkansas border, which is used by both Ark-Mo and Associated to meet their peak-day requirements. Associated's transmission and distribution facilities had a depreciated book cost of $9,975,994 as of June 30, 1976. Ark-Mo and Associated together provide gas service to 90 communities in northeast Arkansas and southeast Missouri. Their combined gas system consists of approximately 564 miles of transmission lines and 1,273 miles of distribution lines. For the twelve months ended June 30, 1976, reported gas revenues were $7,371,069 for Ark-Mo and $9,465,420 for Associated.

The capitalization of the two companies at June 30, 1976 was:

	Ark-Mo	Percent	Associated	Percent	Consolidated	Percent
Long-term debt	$21,204,800	35.4	$1,058,000	11.4	$22,362,880	33.0
Short-term debt	12,250,000	20.4	2,750,000	29.6	15,000,000	23.5
Common stock	19,213,315	.....	971,275	.....	19,213,315	.....
Retained earnings	7,281,918	44.2	4,510,334	59.0	7,281,918	41.5
Total	60,050,123	100.0	9,289,609	100.0	63,858,123	100.0

Ark-Mo's investment of $5,772,570 in the stock of Associated represents 9.6% of its corporate capitalization.

By order dated May 5, 1971 (HCAR No. 17116), the Commission approved Middle South's acquisition of the outstanding common and preferred stock of Ark-Mo, subject to certain conditions. One of those conditions required that Middle South dispose of any direct or indirect interest in the gas utility properties of Ark-Mo and Associated. In compliance with that order, Ark-Mo and Associated commenced in 1973 an effort to sell the gas properties. Ark-Mo was granted an exception from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 with respect to the outstanding common stock of Associated to permit it to consider offers for either the assets or the stock of that company. (HCAR No. 17944, April 26, 1973.)

The solicitation of offers during 1974 was not productive. Two offers for all of the gas properties were considered wholly inadequate. Ten offers for various portions of the properties were also unacceptable. Ark-Mo concluded that acceptance of such partial offers would have seriously impaired its ability to continue adequate gas service to the communities not covered by the offers and would have depreciated the value of those properties. Further negotiations with the principal offerors during 1975 and the first part of 1976 in an effort to avoid such adverse effects were also unsuccessful.

Ark-Mo and Associated consider that further attempts to sell the gas properties at this time would be fruitless and that underlying uncertainties as to gas supply inhibit reasonable offers. The continued divided ownership of the gas properties between Ark-Mo and Associated distorts the capital structure of both companies and has inhibited proper financing. Short-term debt, aggregating $15 million at June 30, 1976, requires refunding.

Accordingly, Ark-Mo and Associated intend to proceed with a plan whereby all of the gas properties owned and operated by Ark-Mo will be transferred to Associated at the net depreciated cost on the date of closing, so that, upon completion of their transfer, Associated will own and operate all of the gas properties presently owned and operated by both companies. The proposed transfer of the gas properties by Ark-Mo to Associated will consolidate into one corporate entity gas properties which, except for some isolated operations of Associated, have been operated as an integrated system. It is stated that the consolidation will simplify proceedings before regulatory agencies and enable Associated, as an expanded gas utility, to establish an operating record which can lead to a plan for the eventual divestiture of Associated or its assets.

To finance a portion of the acquisition cost of the gas properties and other transactions, Associated proposes to issue and sell, in a private negotiated sale, $4.5 million of its first mortgage bonds. Associated presently contemplates raising the additional funds needed by issuing and selling to Ark-Mo for cash 1,500,000 additional shares of its common stock for $1,500,000 and a $4 million subordinated note, and by arranging for a sale and leaseback of the LNG facility acquired from Ark-Mo. Associated will apply the proceeds of those transactions, together with funds from internal sources, totaling about $14 million, to purchase the gas properties at their net depreciated book cost (about $11.6 million at June 30, 1976) and to retire its short-term debt which, at June 30, 1976, was $2,750,000.

Ark-Mo proposes to issue and sell, also by private placement, $8 million of its first mortgage bonds. It will apply the proceeds from the bond sale and from the sale of the gas properties (totaling approximately $19.6 million), together with funds generated internally, to purchase Associated's common stock and subordinated note, to retire its own short-term debt (totaling $12,250,000 at June 30, 1976) and to meet its long-term debt obligations for 1977.

The terms and conditions of the first mortgage bonds to be sold by Associated and Ark-Mo will be the subject of an amendment to this application. The issuance of Associated's common stock and subordinated note, the transfer of the gas properties by Ark-Mo to Associated and the sale and leaseback of the Blytheville LNG facility will all be the subject of a supplemental application in this proceeding.

Ark-Mo and Associated request exceptions from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 under clause (a)(5) thereof in order to place their first mortgage bonds in a negotiated private sale. They note that each is a relatively small public utility company, that neither has used competitive bidding procedures in selling their securities since 1944, and that all of their outstanding long-term debt securities are privately held. They concluded that the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 would not be conductive to a successful sale of their debt securities.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than January 31, 1977, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application-declaration, as amended, which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the applicants-declarants at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney-at-law by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application-declaration, as amended, or as it may be further amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advise as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices or orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

COLUMBIA GAS SYSTEM, INC.

Proposed Amendment of Charter and Solicitation of Proxies

Notice is hereby given that The Columbia Gas System, Inc. ("Columbia"), 20 Montchanin Road, Wilmington, Delaware 19807, a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating sections 6(a) and 7 of the Act and Rules 62 and 65 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the following proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

The declaration states that since March 1971 Citibank N.A., New York, N.Y., has been administering, as agent, a Dividend Reinvestment Plan ("Plan") available to all Columbia common stockholders. Dividends and optional cash payments of participating stockholders have been reinvested through the purchase of common stock of Columbia by Citibank in the open market. The approximately 13,000 shareholders currently participating in the Plan acquired 91,284 shares of Columbia common stock in the calendar year 1975 through dividend reinvestment of $2,032,216 and optional cash payments of $289,395.

In the present filing Columbia seeks authorization to amend its Certificate of Incorporation, as amended, ("Charter") to except from the preemptive rights provisions of the Charter the issuance of Columbia common stock to stockholders pursuant to stockholder dividend reinvestment plans. At the annual meeting of Columbia shareholders scheduled for April 15, 1977, stockholders will be asked to approve the proposed amendment, and Columbia proposes to solicit proxies in connection therewith. The affirmative vote of the holders of at least a majority of the outstanding shares of common stock is required for the adoption of said amendment of the Charter.

It is stated that, subject to further Commission authorization, Columbia intends to sell from time to time to Citibank for the Plan sufficient authorized but unissued shares of common stock for the reinvestment of dividends and investment of optional cash payments made under the Plan. Stockholders participating in the Plan would benefit to the extent that brokerage commissions on shares being bought by Citibank on the open market would be eliminated, and it is the intention of Columbia to absorb the agent's service charges. Columbia will benefit since it expects that large expenditures for gas supply planned for the future will necessitate the raising of large amounts of capital and the issuance of stock pursuant to the Plan will assist in maintaining the position of equity capital to debt capital required by Columbia's indentures by providing Columbia with another source of common equity capital.

It is stated that no State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions. The fees, commissions, and expenses related to the proposed transaction are estimated at $4,725.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than January 31, 1977, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

EASTERN UTILITIES ASSOCIATES ET AL.

Proposed Extension of Bank Borrowing by Subsidiary Company and Proposed Change in Interest Rate on the Borrowing

In the matter of Eastern Utilities Associates, P.O. Box 2333, Boston, Massachusetts 02107, Blackstone Valley Electric Company, P.O. Box 1111, Lincoln, Rhode Island 02865, Brockton Edison Company, 36 Main Street, Brockton, Massachusetts 02403, Fall River Electric Light Company, 85 North Main Street, Fall River, Massachusetts 02722, Montaup Electric Company, P.O. Box 391, Fall River, Massachusetts 02722 (70-5388).

Notice is hereby given that Eastern Utilities Associates ("EUA"), a registered holding company, and its electric utility subsidiary companies, Blackstone Valley Electric Company ("Blackstone"), Brockton Edison Company ("Brockton"), Fall River Electric Light Company ("Fall River") and Montaup Electric Company ("Montaup"), have filed a post-effective amendment to their application-declaration, as previously filed and amended in this proceeding with this Commission designating sections 6(a), 7, 9(a), 10, 12(b), 12(c) and 12(f) of the Act and Rules 43(a) and 45(a) promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the application-declaration, as further amended by said post-effective amendment, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

By prior orders issued in this proceeding, EUA has been authorized to enter into a series of transactions designed to effect the transfer of Blackstone's proportionate ownership in the securities of Montaup, the EUA system generating company, to Brockton, with the result that Brockton now owns 87.87 per cent of Montaup, Fall River, EUA's other electric utility subsidiary, now owns 12.13 per cent of Montaup's securities under the new arrangement.

As a part of this reorganization program, Blackstone has been authorized in this proceeding (order dated February 19, 1975, HCAR No. 18817) to borrow $25,000,000 from The Chase Manhattan Bank (N.A.) ("Chase"). Blackstone originally issued Chase its note in that amount, maturing on February 16, 1976, and bearing interest at 115 percent of the prime rate in effect at Chase from time to time. By order dated February 12, 1976 (HCAR No. 19386) Blackstone was authorized to extend the maturity of the note for a one year period. The note is secured by a second mortgage on certain properties of Blackstone, said second mortgage being subject, among other encumbrances, to the prior lien of Blackstone's Indenture of Mortgage and Deed of Trust dated as of November 1, 1943. No compensating balance is required in connection with this borrowing.

Proceeds of the loan have been used by Blackstone to reduce open account advances to Blackstone from EUA. EUA applied the funds so received to reduce its short-term bank borrowings.

By post-effective amendment filed in this proceeding, it is now proposed that (i) the term of the Chase note be further extended for a one year period to approximately February 6, 1978, and (ii) that the interest rate on the note be changed to a rate per annum equal to 115 percent of the sum of (a) the prime rate in effect at Chase from time to time and (b) one-half of one percent. No compensating balance will be required in connection with the extension of the Chase loan. Assuming a prime rate at Chase of 6 percent, the effective interest cost of the note, as revised and extended, would be 7.475 percent. It is stated that Blackstone had originally intended to convert that Chase note into a longer term secured obligation, but that restrictions on consolidated capitalization ratios contained in EUA's bond indenture make it impossible at the present time to extend the Chase note for more than one year.

It is stated that the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Rhode Island has jurisdiction over the proposed extension of the Chase loan to Blackstone and that no other state commission and no federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction. Any fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transaction will be supplied by amendment.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than January 31, 1977, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application-declaration, as further amended by said post-effective amendment, which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the applicants-declarants at the above-stated addresses, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application-declaration, as further amended by said post-effective amendment, or as it may be further amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

FRANKLIN LIFE INSURANCE CO., ET AL.

Application for an Order of Exemption From Provisions

In the matter of The Franklin Life Insurance Company, Franklin Life Variable Annuity Fund A and Franklin Financial Services Corporation, Franklin Square, Springfield, Illinois 62713, (812-3903).

Notice is hereby given that The Franklin Life Insurance Company ("The Franklin"), an Illinois stock life insurance company, Franklin Life Variable Annuity Fund A ("Fund A"), a separate account of The Franklin registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act") as a diversified open-end management investment company, and Franklin Financial Services Corporation ("Franklin Financial"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of The Franklin and the principal underwriter for Fund A, (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Applicants"), filed an application an January 29, 1976 and an amendment thereto on December 27, 1976, pursuant to section 6(c) of the Act for an order exempting Applicants from the provisions of sections 22(e), 27(c)(1) and 27(d) of the Act to the extent necessary to permit compliance by Applicants with certain provisions of the Education Code of the State of Texas. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations therein which are summarized below.

The Franklin established Fund A on November 5, 1969 pursuant to the Illinois Insurance Code. The Franklin allocates to Fund A stipulated payments, net of certain deductions, received under individual variable annuity contracts (the "Contracts") which are designed and offered (i) for use in connection with plans established by persons entitled to the benefits of the Self-Employed Individuals' Tax Retirement Act of 1962, as amended; (ii) for other qualified employee pension and profit sharing trusts described in section 401(a) and tax-exempt under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code and qualified annuity plans described in section 403(a) of the Code; (iii) for annuity purchase plans adopted by public school systems and certain tax-exempt organizations pursuant to section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code; and (iv) for use as an individual retirement annuity described in section 408(b) of the Internal Revenue Code.

In 1967, the State of Texas directed the governing boards of all Texas institutions of higher education to make available to certain employees an Optional Retirement Program ("Program"), codified as Subchapter G of Chapter 51 of the Texas Education Code. The statute provides as the funding media for the Program fixed or variable annuity contracts purchased from any insurance or annuity company qualified to do business in Texas. In 1973 the Texas legislature made two amendments in the Program legislation, which amendments became effective on June 14, 1973. The statutory definition of the Program was amended to provide that the benefits of such annuities are to be available only upon termination of employment in the Texas public institutions of higher education, retirement, death or total disability of the participant. The other amendment added a new § 51.358 to Subchapter G which also provides that the benefits of such annuities will be available only if the participant dies, terminates his employment due to total disability, accepts retirement, or terminates employment in the Texas public institutions of higher education.

Because of uncertainty regarding the effect of these amendments, the University of Texas System ("System") requested the opinion of the Attorney General of Texas with respect to several questions concerning such amendments. The Attorney General rendered an opinion dated February 18, 1975, in response to the System's letter. The Attorney General interpreted § 51.358 to prohibit provisions in a variable annuity contract issued in connection with the Program on or after June 14, 1973, which provide for making available the redemption value of such contract prior to the occurrence of one of the conditions specified in the statute, i.e., termination of employment, retirement, death or total disability. Moreover, the opinion further stated that the prohibitions of § 51.358 were impliedly in effect upon the establishment of the Program (in 1967) and that notwithstanding any language which may be contained in existing contracts, a participant in the Program has never had the right to redeem his annuity contract otherwise than in accordance with the limitations described above. The opinion did not affect the right of a participant to transfer the redemption value of his annuity contract from one carrier to another; accordingly, the granting of the relief requested in the application would not affect such right.

SECTIONS 27(c)(1), 22(e) AND 27(d).

Section 27(c)(1) of the Act makes it unlawful for any registered investment company issuing periodic payment plan certificates, or for any depositor of or underwriter for such company, to sell any such certificate unless such certificate is a redeemable security. Section 2(a)(32) of the Act defines "redeemable security" to mean any security under the terms of which the holder upon its presentation to the issuer or to a person designated by the issuer is entitled to receive approximately his proportionate share of the issuer's current net assets, or the cash equivalent thereof.

Section 22(e) of the Act provides that no registered investment company shall suspend the right of redemption or postpone the date of payment or satisfaction upon redemption of any redeemable security in accordance with its terms for more than seven days after the tender of such security to the company or its agent designated for that purpose for redemption except in certain prescribed circumstances.

Section 27(d) of the Act makes it unlawful for any registered investment company issuing periodic payment plan certificates, or for any depositor of or underwriter for such company, to sell any such certificates unless the certificates provides that the holder thereof may surrender the certificate at any time within the first eighteen months after the issuance of the certificate and receive in payment thereof, in cash, the sum of (1) the value of his account, and (2) an amount, from such underwriter or depositor, equal to that part of the excess paid for sales loading which is over 15 per centum of the gross payments made by the certificate holder.

Applicants request exemptions from the provisions of sections 22(e), 27(c)(1) and 27(d) of the Act to the extent necessary to permit compliance with § 51.358 as it pertains to (i) redemption values under Contracts issued to participants in the Program subsequent to the date of such exemptive order and (ii) redemption values under Contracts issued prior thereto but attributable to payments made subsequent to the date of such order.

Applicants assert that if such exemptions are not granted, persons participating in the Program effectively will be denied an opportunity to select as a funding medium for their retirement benefits one of two funding media (the other being fixed annuity contracts) specifically provided in the Texas statute for such purpose. Additionally, participants will be unable to obtain the State's matching contributions for the purchase of an equity-based retirement vehicle. In this respect, the Attorney General's opinion indicated that these matching contributions will encourage participation in the retirement plan but that unrestricted withdrawals prior to retirement might be detrimental to an effective retirement vehicle. In view of the foregoing, Applicants assert that the Commission should grant the requested exemptions because: (1) The limited restriction on redemption would be voluntarily assumed by participants, i.e., eligible employees are not required to participate in the Program; (2) the restrictions were not formulated nor suggested by Applicants; and (3) participants' relinquishment of the full right of redemption is a reasonable requirement in exchange for the benefits bestowed by the matching contributions of the State of Texas.

Applicants will ensure that appropriate disclosure is made to persons who consider participation in the Program, informing them of the restriction on the availability of redemption values under Contracts to be issued to them. This disclosure will take the form of an appropriate reference in each Prospectus to the restrictions on redemption of these Contracts, as well as requiring each participant, as a part of the determination that the sale of these Contracts is suitable for that participant, to sign a statement indicating that he–she is aware that these restrictions will be placed on his–her Contract when it is issued. In addition, Franklin Financial will review all sales literature that is to be used in conjunction with the sales of these contracts for the existence of material representations that are inconsistent with the restrictions to be placed on these contracts and will instruct the salespeople involved in soliciting in this market to specifically bring this restriction to the attention of the potential participants.

Section 6(c) authorizes the Commission to exempt any person, security or transaction or any class or classes of persons, securities or transactions, from the provisions of the Act and Rules promulgated thereunder if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than January 31, 1977, at 5:30 p.m. submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit, or in the case of an attorney at law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0–5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application will be issued as of course following January 31, 1977, unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

JOHN HANCOCK TAX-EXEMPT INCOME TRUST AND JOHN HANCOCK DISTRIBUTORS, INC.

Filing of Application for an Order Granting Exemption From Provisions

Notice is hereby given that John Hancock Tax-Exempt Income Trust (the "Fund"), John Hancock Place, P.O. Box 111, Boston, Massachusetts 02117, a diversified, open-end investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), and John Hancock Distributors, Inc., John Hancock Place, P.O. Box 21, Boston, Massachusetts 02117, proposed underwriter for shares of the Fund (hereinafter collectively called "Applicants"), filed an application on December 20, 1976, pursuant to section 6(c) of the Act for an order of the Commission exempting Applicants, to the extent specified therein, from the provisions of section 22(d) of the Act. The Fund has been organized by John Hancock Advisers, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company ("John Hancock"). John Hancock Distributors, Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary of John Hancock Advisers, Inc. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein, which are summarized below.

On December 1, 1976, the Fund filed with the Commission a registration statement on Form N–8B–1 pursuant to section 8(b) of the Act and a registration statement on Form S–5 under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. The registration statement on Form S–5 has not yet been declared effective. Thus, the Fund has not yet commenced distribution of its shares.

Section 22(d) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that no registered investment company or principal underwriter shall sell any redeemable security to any person except at a current public offering price described in the prospectus. This section has been construed to prohibit variations in the sales load except as permitted by rule or order.

Exemption from section 22(d) of the Act is requested to permit funds derived from death claims and matured endowments of fixed dollar insurance policies issued by John Hancock to be applied to the purchase of shares of the Fund within the first 60 days after the date of the check in payment of such insurance at a sales charge equal to one-half the rate otherwise applicable. The regular sales charge ranges, as a percentage of the amount invested, from 8.70 percent to 1.01 percent depending on the amount invested (or 8 percent to 1 percent, as a percentage of the offering price). Shares of the Fund will be sold only through registered representatives licensed to sell John Hancock insurance policies. However, there will be no requirement that the shares of the Fund be purchased only by policy holders of John Hancock or that any life insurance be acquired in connection with the purchase of shares of the Fund.

Applicants assert that persons who purchase Fund shares with insurance proceeds of the above fixed dollar policies will have already incurred a charge for sales expenses in connection with such fixed dollar policies that is larger than the sales charge applicable to purchase payments for shares of the Fund. Applicants also state that somewhat less selling effort and expense is involved in applying the proceeds of such fixed dollar policies to the purchase of shares of the Fund than in making an initial sale of such shares. Applicants assert that one-half of the normal sales charge more appropriately reflects the selling effort and expense involved in these circumstances.

Section 6(c) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that the Commission, by order upon application, may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any class or classes of persons, securities, or transactions, from any provision of the Act or the Rules and Regulations promulgated thereunder, if and to the extent such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than January 25, 1977, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the application accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon Applicants at the addresses stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit, or in the case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0–5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein will be issued as of course following said date, unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

JEFFERSON STANDARD LIFE INSURANCE CO. ET AL.

Application for an Order of Exemption From Provisions

Notice is hereby given that Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company ("Jefferson Standard"), a North Carolina stock life insurance company, Jefferson Standard Separate Account A ("Account A"), a separate account of Jefferson Standard registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act") as a unit investment trust, and Jefferson-Pilot Equity Sales, Inc. ("Equity Sales"), 101 North Elm Street, Greensboro, North Carolina 27401, the principal underwriter for Account A (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Applicants"), filed an application on May 13, 1976 and amendments thereto on November 12, 1976 and January 3, 1977, pursuant to section 6(c) of the Act for an order exempting Applicants from the provisions of sections 22(e), 27(c)(1) and 27(d) of the Act to the extent necessary to permit compliance by Applicants with certain provisions of the Education Code of the State of Texas. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations therein which are summarized below.

Account A was established by Jefferson Standard on April 15, 1971 as the facility for issuing certain variable annuity contracts. Under North Carolina insurance law that portion of the assets maintained in Account A equal to the reserves and other contract liabilities with respect to the Account may not, to the extent so provided under the applicable contracts, be charged with any liability arising out of any other business conducted by Jefferson Standard and the income, gains or lossess of Account A may be credited to or charged against the assets of Account A without regard to the other income, gains or losses of Jefferson Standard. All amounts credited to Account A pursuant to variable annuity contracts will be invested in shares of JP Growth Fund, Inc., a diversified open-end investment company registered under the Act. Jefferson Standard is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Jefferson-Pilot Corporation organized in January 1968. Equity Sales, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Jefferson-Pilot Corporation, is a registered broker-dealer under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.

In 1967, the State of Texas directed the governing boards of all Texas institutions of higher education to make available to certain employees an Optional Retirement Program ("Program"), codified as Subchapter G of Chapter 51 of the Texas Education Code. The statute provides as the funding media for the Program fixed or variable annuity contracts purchased from any insurance or annuity company qualified to do business in Texas. In 1973, the Texas legislature made two amendments in the Program legislation, which amendments became effective on June 14, 1973. The statutory definition of the Program was amended to provide that the benefits of such annuities are to be available only upon termination of employment in the Texas public institutions of higher education retirement, death or total disability of the participant. The other amendment added a new § 51.358 to Subchapter G which also provides that the benefits of such annuities will be available only if the participant dies, terminates his employment due to total disability, accepts retirement or terminates employment in the Texas public institutions of higher education.

Because of uncertainty regarding the effect of these amendments, the University of Texas System ("System") requested the opinon of the Attorney General of Texas with respect to several questions concerning such amendments. The Attorney General rendered an opinion dated February 18, 1975, in response to the System's letter. The Attorney General interpreted § 51.358 to prohibit provisions in a variable annuity contract issued in connection with the Program on or after June 14, 1973, which provide for making available the redemption value of such contract prior to the occurrence of one of the conditions specified in the statute, i.e., termination of employment, retirement, death or total disability. Moreover, the opinion further stated that the prohibitions of § 51.358 were impliedly in effect upon the establishment of the Program (in 1967) and that notwithstanding any language which may be contained in existing contracts, a participant in the Program has never had the right to redeem his annuity contract otherwise than in accordance with the limitations described above. The opinion did not affect the right of a participant to transfer the redemption value of his annuity contract from one carrier to another; accordingly, the granting of the relief requested in the application would not affect such right.

SECTIONS 27(c)(1), 22(e) AND 27(d)

Section 27(c)(1) of the Act makes it unlawful for any registered investment company issuing periodic payment plan certificates, or for any depositor of or underwriter for such company, to sell any such certificate unless such certificate is a redeemable security. Section 2(a)(32) of the Act defines "redeemable security" to mean any security under the terms of which the holder upon its presentation to the issuer or to a person designated by the issuer is entitled to receive approximately his proportionate share of the issuer's current net assets, or the cash equivalent thereof.

Section 22(e) of the Act provides that no registered investment company shall suspend the right of redemption or postpone the date of payment or satisfaction upon redemption of any redeemable security in accordance with its terms for more than seven days after the tender of such security to the company or its agent designated for that purpose for redemption except in certain prescribed circumstances.

Section 27(d) of the Act makes it unlawful for any registered investment company issuing periodic payment plan certificates, or for any depositor of or underwriter for such company, to sell any such certificate unless the certificate provides that the holder thereof may surrender the certificate at any time within the first eighteen months after the issuance of the certificate and receive in payment thereof, in cash, the sum of (1) the value of his account, and (2) an amount, from such underwriter or depositor, equal to that part of the excess paid for sales loading which is over 15 per centum of the gross payments made by the certificate holder.

Applicants request exemptions from the provisions of Sections 22(e), 27(c)(1) and 27(d) of the Act to the extent necessary to permit compliance with § 51.358 as it pertains to (i) redemption values under Contracts issued to participants in the Program subsequent to the date of such exemptive order and (ii) redemption values under Contracts issued prior thereto but attributable to payments made subsequent to the date of such order.

Applicants assert that if such exemptions are not granted, persons participating in the Program effectively will be denied an opportunity to select as a funding medium for their retirement benefits one of two funding media (the other being fixed annuity contracts) specifically provided in the Texas statute for such purpose. Additionally, participants will be unable to obtain the State's matching contributions for the purchase of an equity-based retirement vehicle. In this respect, the Attorney General's opinion indicated that these matching contributions will encourage participation in the retirement plan but that unrestricted withdrawals prior to retirement might be detrimental to an effective retirement vehicle. In view of the foregoing, Applicants assert that the Commission should grant the requested exemptions because: (1) The limited restriction on redemption would be voluntarily assumed by participants, i.e., eligible employees are not required to participate in the Program; (2) the restrictions were not formulated nor suggested by Applicants; and (3) participants' relinquishment of the full right of redemption is a reasonable requirement in exchange for the benefits bestowed by the matching contributions of the State of Texas.

Applicants will ensure that appropriate disclosure is made to persons who consider participation in the Program, informing them of the restriction on the availability of redemption values under Contracts to be issued to them. This disclosure will take the form of an appropriate reference in each Prospectus to the restrictions on redemption of these Contracts, as well as requiring each participant, as a part of the determination that the sale of these Contracts is suitable for that participant, to sign a statement indicating that he/she is aware that these restrictions will be placed on his/her Contract when it is issued. In addition, Equity Sales will review all sales literature that is to be used in conjunction with the sales of these contracts for the existence of material representations that are inconsistent with the restrictions to be placed on these contracts and will instruct the salespeople involved in soliciting in this market specifically to bring this restriction to the attention of the potential participants.

Section 6(c) authorizes the Commission to exempt any person, security or transaction or any class or classes of persons, securities or transactions, from the provisions of the Act and Rules promulgated thereunder if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 1, 1977, at 5:30 p.m. submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit, or in the case of an attorney at law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0–5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application will be issued as of course following February 1, 1977, unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

PACIFIC STOCK EXCHANGE INC.

Filing of Proposed Rule Change and Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78(s)(b)(1) (the "Act"), as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29, section 16 (June 4, 1975) notice is hereby given that on December 9, 1976, the Pacific Stock Exchange Incorporated ("PSE"), 618 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, California 90014, filed with the Commission copies of a proposed rule change. The proposed rule change amends PSE Rule VI, sections 12 and 13, to provide new standards for the approval and withdrawal of approval of securities underlying exchange listed options. The substance of the proposed rule change is as follows:

The initial listing standards of PSE section 12 require in substance that issuers of securities underlying exchange options have earned at least $1,000,000 in three of the last four fiscal years, including the immediately preceding fiscal year, that they have complied for the most recent three fiscal years with reporting requirements (including timeliness) of sections 13 and 14 of the Act; and that neither the company nor any of its significant subsidiaries have had a default during such three years. Further, they require for the underlying security an 8,000,000 share float, 10,000 shareholders, trading volume of 2,000,000 shares in each of the two preceding calendar years, and a minimum price per share of $10.00 each day within the six months preceding approval of such security for options transactions.

PSE section 13 requires for continued approval of an underlying security for option transactions that the underlying security have a 7.2 million share float, 9,000 shareholders, and 1.8 million shares traded in the preceding fiscal year. The delisting process will also commence when the price per share of the underlying security is below $10.00 per share on the majority of business days in any six month period with no new series introduced so long as the underlying security is below $7.50 per share. Further, there will be a minimum strike price of $10.00 per share. In the event the delisting procedure is triggered, the underlying security would have to return to standards for original listing before its option could be reinstated. For purposes of maintenance listing, such issuers must have earned a minimum of $250,000 in three of the last four fiscal years, be no more than 30 days delinquent (after exhausting all extensions) in meeting the reporting requirements of sections 13 and 14 of the Act and have cured any default within six months of the date on which it occurred.

Publication of notice of the proposed rule change is expected to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER during the week of December 13, 1976. Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views and arguments concerning the proposed rule change. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary of Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549. Reference should be made to File No. SR-PSE-76-37.

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to national securities exchanges, and in particular, the requirements of section 6 and the rules and regulations thereunder.

The PSE proposal is along the lines of similar proposals of the Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc. ("CBOE") and the American Stock Exchange, Inc. ("Amex"), variations of which proposals were published on five separate occasions with no comments having been received from anyone other than the exchanges involved.[1]

The Commission has recently approved proposals by the CBOE, Amex and Midwest Stock Exchange, Incorporated which are substantively identical to the present PSE proposal.[2] Since in the Commission's view, the rules of these exchanges represent appropriate minimum standards for the approval and withdrawal of approval of securities underlying options and in order to promote uniformity among the exchanges with respect to such standards, in light of the identical nature of the PSE proposals to those of the other exchanges which have been previously published, the Commission finds good cause for approving the proposed rule change prior to the thirtieth day after the date of publication of notice of filing thereof.

The Commission having considered this proposed rule change on December 9, 1976: It is therefore ordered, Pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the proposed rule change referenced above be, and it hereby is approved, effective December 9, 1976.

For the Commission by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

PACIFIC STOCK EXCHANGE, INC.

Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

On November 11, 1976, the Pacific Stock Exchange, Inc., 618 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, California 90014, filed with the Commission, pursuant to section 19(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act"), as amended by the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975, and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, copies of a proposed rule change to define two terms, "local security" and "dually traded security", used in its Rules II and III which were previously defined in PSE Rule XIII but were deleted from that Rule when it was amended by PSE rule filing SR-PSE-76-10.

Notice of the proposed rule change together with the terms of substance of the proposed rule change was given by publication of a Commission Release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 13010, (November 26, 1976)) and by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 53149 (December 3, 1976)).

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to registered national securities exchanges, and in particular, the requirements of Section 6 and the rules and regulations thereunder.

It is therefore ordered, Pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the proposed rule change filed with the Commission on November 11, 1976, be, and it hereby is, approved.

For the Commission by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

PHILADELPHIA STOCK EXCHANGE, INC.

Filing of Proposed Rule Change and Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78(s)(b)(1) (the "Act"), as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29, section 16 (June 4, 1975) notice is hereby given that on December 13, 1976, the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, Incorporated ("PHLX"), 17th Street and Stock Exchange Place, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19103, filed with the Commission copies of a proposed rule change. The proposed rule change amends PHLX Rules 1008 and 1009 to provide new standards for the approval and withdrawal of approval of securities underlying exchange listed options. The substance of the proposed rule change is as follows:

The initial listing standards of PHLX Rule 1008 require in substance that issuers of securities underlying exchange options have earned at least $1,000,000 in three of the last four fiscal years, including the immediately preceding fiscal year, that they have complied for the most recent three fiscal years with reporting requirements (including timeliness) of sections 13 and 14 of the Act; and that neither the company nor any of its significant subsidiaries have had a default during such three years. Further, they require for the underlying security a 8,000,000 share float, 10,000 shareholders, trading volume of 2,000,000 shares in each of the two preceding calendar years, and a minimum price per share of $10.00 each day within the six months preceding approval of such security for options transactions.

PHLX Rule 1009 requires for continued approval of an underlying security for option transactions that the underlying security have a 7.2 million share float, 9,000 shareholders, and 1.8 million shares traded in the preceding fiscal year. The delisting process will also commence when the price per share of the underlying security is below $10.00 per share on the majority of business days in any six month period with no new series introduced so long as the underlying security is below $7.50 per share. Further, there will be a minimum strike price of $10.00 per share. In the event the delisting procedure is triggered, the underlying security would have to return to standards for original listing before its option could be reinstated. For purposes of maintenance listing, such issuers must have earned a minimum of $250,000 in three of the last four fiscal years, be no more than 30 days delinquent (after exhausting all extensions) in meeting the reporting requirements of sections 13 and 14 of the Act and have cured any default within six months of the date on which it occurred.

Publication of notice of the proposed rule change is expected to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER during the week of December 20, 1976. Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views and arguments concerning the proposed rule change. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary of Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549. Reference should be made to File No. SR-PHLX-76-22.

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to national securities exchanges, and in particular, the requirements of section 6 and the rules and regulations thereunder.

The PHLX proposal is along the lines of similar proposals of the Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc. ("CBOE") and the American Stock Exchange, Inc. ("Amex"), variations of which proposals were published on five separate occasions with no comments having been received from anyone other than the exchanges involved.[1]

The Commission has recently approved proposals by the Pacific Stock Exchange Incorporated, CBOE, Amex and Midwest Stock Exchange, Incorporated which are substantively identical to the present PHLX proposal.[2] Since in the Commission's view, the rules of these exchanges represent appropriate minimum standards for the approval and withdrawal of approval of securities underlying options and in order to promote uniformity among the exchanges with respect to such standards, in light of the identical nature of the PHLX proposals to those of the other exchanges which have been previously published, the Commission finds good cause for approving the proposed rule change prior to the thirtieth day after the date of publication of notice of filing thereof.

It is therefore ordered, Pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the proposed rule change referenced above be, and it hereby is approved.

COLUMBIA GAS SYSTEM SERVICE CORP.

Proposal by System Service Company To Undertake Licensing Program With Nonaffiliates for Commercial Development of Patented Devices and Other Technical "Know-Now"

Notice is hereby given that The Columbia Gas System Service Corporation ("Service Corporation"), 20 Montchanin Road, Wilmington, Delaware 19807, the subsidiary service company for The Columbia Gas System, Inc. ("Columbia"), a registered holding company, has filed an application with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating Sections 9(a)(1) and 10 of the Act as applicable to the following proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the application, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

Under the terms of the service agreement between the Service Corporation and Columbia's other subsidiaries, Service Corporation engages in research related to the operations of the system companies. Specifically, Service Corporation's engineering and research and development departments engage in ongoing research programs, both individually and jointly with other companies, to develop or to acquire the technology needed to promote new means of transportation and uses for natural gas for the benefit of Columbia's system companies. Such research has resulted in the development of a natural gas liquid and solid waste incinerator for reduction of pollution, an automatic pipe welder, an underground pipe locator, and various other devices, "know-how" and patents.

Service Corporation believes that several of the devices and patents it has helped develop can be manufactured and marketed on a commercially profitable basis for general use by the gas transportation and distribution industry, but that it is not itself in a position to undertake the costs of such further development as would be required to make these devices generally available. Accordingly, Service Corporation proposes to initiate a general program for licensing and sub-licensing the patents and "know-how" it has developed or otherwise acquired to unaffiliated parties, in return for a royalty, when and if commercialization of newly-developed devices, patents and "know-how" becomes feasible. It is not contemplated that Service Corporation's licensing activities will represent a major part of its business as a service company, but will be incidental to its research and development activities performed pursuant to its agreement with the Columbia system operating companies.

As an initial step in a general licensing program for the commercial exploitation of patents, "know-how" and devices already developed by its research department, Service Corporation has entered into thirteen licensing or sub-licensing agreements with nonaffiliated concerns. The devices which will be manufactured and marketed by the licensees and sub-licensees include an underground buried pipe locator; a remote meter index device; a high heat flux ceramic burner tile; gas fired smooth top ranges; a gas deep fat fryer; fume, liquid, and solid waste incineration equipment; and an automatic pipeline welder. It is stated that these agreements were entered into on an experimental basis in order to ascertain whether these and similar devices and patents could be further developed for commercial purposes on a profitable basis. Service Corporation now believes that commercial development of devices for use in the gas distribution and transportation industry is feasible and, accordingly, requests authorization to enter into other license and sub-license arrangements incidental to its business.

The agreements Service Corporation has heretofore entered into are typical of those the company contemplates entering into on a regular basis in the future. Under these agreements, Service Corporation expects to contribute to the costs of research and developmental work to the extent that such work is still required, but will not bear any of the costs or the risk associated with manufacture or marketing of the products. Service Corporation has not and will not contribute funds toward manufacture, production or sale of the devices. Under the agreements Service Corporation has previously entered into, the licensees or sublicensees are typically obligated to pay Service Corporation a flat fee on execution of such agreements or upon successful testing of the devices covered thereunder, and a minimum stated annual percentage royalty payment thereafter. To date, Service Corporation has been paid a total of $209,690 in payments under all of the agreements so far concluded.

It is stated that no State or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions. The fees, commissions and expenses paid or incurred in connection with the proposed transactions total $2,800.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 3, 1977, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the applicant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application, as filed or as it may be amended, may be granted as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

PACIFIC STOCK EXCHANGE, INC.

Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

On June 17, 1976, the Pacific Stock Exchange, Incorporated, 618 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, California, filed with the Commission, pursuant to Section 19(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Act"), as amended by the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975, and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, copies of a proposed rule change. The rule change involves an amendment to Section 18(c)(2) of Exchange Rule X (Conduct of Accounts) regarding suitability standards for put option writing.

Notice of the proposed rule change together with the terms of substance of the proposed rule change was given by publication of a Commission Release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12992 (November 17, 1976)) and by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 53380 (December 6, 1976)).

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to registered national securities exchanges, and in particular, the requirements of Section 6 and the rules and regulations thereunder.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the abovementioned proposed rule change be, and it hereby is, approved.

For the Commission by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

SOUTHERN, CO., ET AL.

Proposal to Allocate Consolidated Federal Income Tax Liability by Method Other Than Specified in Rule 45(b)(6)

In the matter of the Southern Company, 64 Perimeter Center East, P.O. Box 720071, Atlanta, Georgia 30346; Alabama Power Company, Alabama Property Company, Georgia Power Company, Gulf Power Company, Mississippi Power Company, Southern Electric Generating Company, Southern Services, Inc., (70-5952).

Notice is hereby given that The Southern Company ("Southern"), a registered holding company, and its subsidiary companies have filed a joint-declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating Section 12(b) of the Act and Rule 45 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the following proposal. All interested persons are referred to the joint-declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposal.

Southern and its subsidiaries join as a group in the filing of consolidated Federal income tax returns. In accordance with Rule 45(b)(6), consolidated Federal income tax liability is allocated among system members by the method provided under Section 1552(a)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended. Under Section 1552(a)(1), consolidated income tax liability is apportioned among members of the consolidated group in accordance with the ratio which that portion of the consolidated taxable income attributable to each member having taxable income bears to the consolidated taxable income. By orders dated April 26, 1963 and March 15, 1976 (HCAR Nos. 14860 and 19429), the Commission authorized exceptions from the provisions of Rule 45(b)(6) to permit Southern and its subsidiaries to allocate investment tax credits allowable to the group to those members of the group whose investments generate the credits, and to separately account for each member's ordinary income and net long-term capital gain in apportioning consolidated tax liability.

For 1976, Southern and its subsidiaries estimate that their combined taxable incomes will be approximately $86 million and that the consolidated tax, before investment credits, will be approximately $38.7 million. Each of Southern's operating electric utility subsidiaries, except Alabama Power Company ("Alabama"), will have separate taxable income for 1976. Alabama estimates that it will report a $36.8 million taxable loss.

Because Alabama has a taxable loss, Southern and its subsidiaries state that allocation of the group's consolidated income tax liability for 1976 pursuant to the literal requirements of Rule 45(b)(6), as previously modified by Commission orders, would result in certain distortions and inequities in that the companies in the system other than Alabama will benefit from the savings in consolidated tax liability attributable to Alabama's net operating loss for the year. Under Rule 45(b)(6), Alabama would benefit from the tax savings generated by its net operating loss only to the extent of an estimated $3.2 million.

Southern and its subsidiaries propose, as an exception to Rule 45(b)(6), to allocate the consolidated tax liability for 1976 in such a manner that the reduction in the group's tax liability attributable to Alabama's 1976 net operating loss will be allocated in its entirety to Alabama, resulting in an aggregate benefit to Alabama of an estimated $17.65 million. Under the proposed method of allocation, each of Southern's other operating utility companies will be allowed to offset its liability to Alabama by its full investment credits earned. In years when Alabama has taxable income and therefore may be entitled to tax credits under the operating loss carryback and carryover provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, any tax credits remitted to Alabama as a result of the exception from Rule 45(b)(6) requested herein will be applied to reduce any credits in future years to which Alabama may otherwise be entitled under the separate return limitations of Rule 45(b)(6). The aggregate tax liability allocated any member of the group under the proposed method of allocation will not exceed the amount of tax of such company based upon a separate return computed as if such company had always filed its tax returns on a separate return basis.

Southern and its subsidiaries also propose, as an additional modification to the application of Rule 45(b)(6), to allocate the group's minimum tax liability on so-called tax "preference items," which include capital gains, percentage depletion, accelerated depreciation on real property and amortization of pollution control facilities, to those members of the group in accordance with the ratio which that portion of the total preference items attributable to each member having preference items bears to the total preference items of all members. Under Rule 45(b)(6), a company such as Alabama, which did not have ordinary taxable income for 1976 but did have preference items, would not be allocated any part of the minimum tax on those preference items. The proposed method for allocating minimum tax will permit Southern to apportion the burden of the tax among those companies of the group, including Alabama, which report tax preference items. For 1976, Southern estimates that the group will report approximately $14.8 million of preference items, of which an estimated $4.4 million will be attributable to Alabama.

The fees, expenses and commissions incurred in connection with this proposal will not exceed $3,500, which includes attorneys fees of $2,500. It is stated that no State or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposal.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than February 3, 1977, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said joint-declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the declarants at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the joint-declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules under the Act as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

[License No. 09/14-0079]

DEVELOPERS EQUITY CAPITAL CORP.

Filing of Application for Approval of Conflict of Interest Transaction Between Associates

Notice is hereby given that Developers Equity Capital Corporation (DE), 9201 Wilshire Boulevard, Suite 204, Beverly Hills, California 90210, a Federal licensee under the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, as amended (Act), has filed with the Small Business Administration (SBA) an application pursuant to § 107.1004 of the regulations governing small business investment companies (13 CFR 107.1004(1976)), for approval of a conflict of interest transaction.

The licensee will sell equities in two parcels (about 12.7 acres) of land both facing Royal Avenue (assessors parcel Nos. 15 and 41) in Simi, California, To Mr. Larry Sade, 9201 Wilshire Boulevard, Suite 204, Beverly Hills, California 90201, for a two-year $139,000 note bearing an interest rate of ten percent per annum. This transaction falls within the purview of § 107.1004 of the regulations because Mr. Larry Sade is the controlling stockholder and President of DE and, therefore, an associate of DE.

Notice is hereby given that any interested person may, not later than February 1, 1977, submit to SBA, in writing, any relevant comments on the proposed transaction. Any such comments should be addressed to: Deputy Associate Administrator for Investment, 1441 L Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20416.

A copy of this notice shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in Los Angeles, California.

SITUATION VENTURES CORPORATION

Application for a License as a Small Business Investment Company

An application for a license to operate as a Small Business Investment Company under the provisions of the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, as amended (15 U.S.C. 661 et seq.) has been filed by Situation Ventures Corporation (applicant) with the Small Business Administration pursuant to 13 C.F.R. 107.-102 (1976).

The officers and directors are as follows:

Sam Hollander, President, 1615 51st Street, Brooklyn, New York 11204.

Max Berg, Secretary/Treasurer, 1569-50th Street, Brooklyn, New York 11219.

Moses Hollander, Director, 1663 49th Street, Brooklyn, New York 11204.

The application will maintain its principal place of business at 126-13th Street, Brooklyn, New York 11215. It will begin operations with $200,000 of private capital derived from the sale of 2,000 shares of common stock, of which 500 shares have been issued to each of the officers and the director shown above.

The applicant will concentrate its operations in the Borough Park and Williamsburg areas of Brooklyn, New York and make both loans and equity investments. Applicant intends to finance franchisees of Meal Mart, Inc. While not presently a stockholder of applicant, Meal Mart, Inc. will become an associate of the applicant if and when it deems it advisable to invest in the capital stock of the applicant at some future date after issuance of the licenses.

As a small business investment company under Section 301(d) of the Act, the applicant has been organized and chartered solely for the purpose of performing the functions and conducting the activities contemplated under the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, as amended from time to time, and will provide assistance solely to small business concerns which will contribute to a well-balanced national economy by facilitating ownership in such concerns by persons whose participation in the free enterprise system is hampered because of social or economic disadvantages.

Matters involved in SBA's consideration of the applicant include the general business reputation and character of the proposed owners and management and the probability of successful operation of the applicant under their management, including adequate profitability and financial soundness, in accordance with the Small Business Investment Act and the SBA rules and regulations.

Notice is hereby given that any person may, not later than February 1, 1977, submit to SBA written comments on the proposed applicant. Any such communication should be addressed to the Deputy Associate Administrator for Investment, Small Business Administration, 1441 L Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20416.

A copy of this notice shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in Brooklyn, New York.

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration

[Docket No. FE 77-1; Notice 1]

AVERAGE FUEL ECONOMY

Treatment of Confidential Information

AGENCY:
National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

ACTION:
Request for comment.

SUMMARY:
This notice requests comments from interested persons on how the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) should treat confidential business information submitted to the agency in connection with rulemaking to establish or amend automobile fuel economy standards. Comment is particularly desired on whether and to what extent the Administrator of the NHTSA should use his discretionary authority to disclose such information in an administrative or judicial proceeding under the automobile fuel economy program if the information is relevant to that proceeding.

COMMENT CLOSING DATE:
February 16, 1977. All comments received before the close of business on the comment closing date will be considered, and will be available for examination in the docket at the address below both before and after that date. To the extent possible, comments filed after the closing date will also be considered. However, the agency anticipates reaching a decision on the issue of disclosure of information soon after that date.

ADDRESS:
Comments should refer to the docket number and be submitted to: Docket Section, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, Room 5108, 400 Seventh Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590. It is requested but not required that 10 copies be submitted.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

STATUTORY BACKGROUND

Title V of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act, as amended. (the Act) vests in the Secretary of Transportation broad authority to require automobile manufacturers to improve the fuel economy of their automobiles. The Secretary has delegated his authority under Title V to the Administrator of the NHTSA (41 FR 25015, June 22, 1976). Section 502(a) establishes average fuel economy standards for passenger automobiles in model years 1978-1980 and in model year 1985 and thereafter and requires the Administrator to promulgate standards for model years 1981-1984. Section 502(b) requires that standards be promulgated for automobiles that are not passenger automobiles (i.e., pickup trucks, vans, general utility vehicles) in model year 1979 and thereafter. Section 502(c) authorizes the Administrator to exempt manufacturers of less than 10,000 passenger automobiles from standards established under section 502(a) if alternative standards for these low volume manufacturers are established. Section 502(d) allows the Administrator to reduce passenger automobile standards for 1978, 1979, and 1980 if fuel economy for those years is reduced as a result of changes in other Federal standards.

Public access to information submitted in the rulemaking proceedings is governed by section 505(d) of the Act and the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) (5 U.S.C. 552). Section 505(d) provides that the FOIA is applicable to information received by the agency in administering the Act. Confidential business information may be withheld by the Administrator from public disclosure under 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4), the trade secrets exemption to the FOIA, if he determines under section 505(d) that the disclosure of the information would result in significant competitive damage.

Notwithstanding that the Administrator has determined that the disclosure of certain information would result in significant competitive damage, he may release that information under certain circumstances. Section 505(d) gives him the discretion to make that information public in any administrative or judicial proceeding under the Act if the information is relevant to the proceeding.

DISCUSSION OF THE ISSUES

The agency anticipates that the assessments of technology, both present and future, market structure, and costs related to fuel economy improvement, which must be made in the course of developing or modifying average fuel economy standards, will require the agency to consider information which vehicle manufacturers or other persons may regard to be trade secrets or confidential business information. For example, submissions which the agency has received in the course of developing average fuel economy standards for passenger automobiles for model years 1981-1984 and nonpassenger automobiles for model year 1979 have contained information for which confidential treatment has been claimed. Some of these claims have been granted.

In view of the role that such information will play in the fuel economy rulemaking, persons participating in the rulemaking may have an interest in having access to that information. Access to some of the information may enhance substantially the opportunity of the public to participate in the rulemaking.

The agency is confronted with the issues of whether and how to use its discretionary release authority for such confidential information in rulemaking under section 502. The agency's statutory authority to release confidential business information relevant to an administrative proceeding under Title V can be exercised if such release is in the public interest. The major factor influencing whether the release of such information is in the public interest is whether release will help the agency in its rulemaking by enabling significantly more probative and comprehensive public comment. However, this factor must be considered along with any public harm, such as increased unemployment or decreased private automotive research and development, that may result from the release of trade secrets or confidential business information.

COMMENTS REQUESTED

The agency requests that interested persons submit information and views whether it would be in the public interest to disclose information which the agency has determined, or will determine, to be confidential business information within the meaning of 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4) and section 505(d) of the Act. Information falling into the following four categories has been determined by the agency to be information which, in some instances, would result in significant competitive damage if disclosed to the public:

(1) (a) Particular future product plans of automobile or automobile equipment manufacturers, including discussions of specific technological measures relating to fuel economy,

(b) The fuel economy improvement potential of such measures,

(c) The schedule for introduction of such measures, and

(d) The type of vehicle in which such measures may be implemented.

(2) Projections of automobile manufacturers' future production mix.

(3) Projections, made on a vehicle, model, engine family, or inertia weight basis, of fuel economy, and of various vehicle attributes related to fuel economy, such as vehicle weight, total drive ratio (N/V), average engine displacement (CID), and ratio of CID to vehicle weight.

(4) Manufacturers cost information.

It should be understood that these categories of information only describe types of information that have already been withheld or are considered to be good candidates for confidential treatment under 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4). Information falling in these categories will not necessarily be automatically considered confidential. Whether a particular item of information falls within 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4) will be determined on a case-by-case basis.

The agency recognizes that it might be easier for interested persons to respond to this notice if they knew not only that general categories of information in question, but also the particular items of information that have been and will be received. Nevertheless, the NHTSA believes that there is sufficient information available to enable interested persons to comment on the four subjects listed below. In addition to considering the categories of information described in this notice, commenters may wish to examine the following documents in the docket room: (1) in docket FE 76-1, Notice 1, relating to the advance notice of proposed rulemaking for passenger automobiles for model years 1981-1984, comments by the manufacturers with confidential information deleted; and (2) in docket FE 76-3, Notice 1, relating to the notice of proposed rulemaking for nonpassenger automobiles for model year 1979, a voluntary questionnaire sent to several of the manufacturers and the responses of the manufacturers with confidential information deleted. Copies of these documents may be examined in the docket room, or may be obtained from the Docket Clerk upon payment of the fees prescribed by 49 CFR 10.71–10.77.

With respect to each of the four types of information listed above, comments are requested on the following subjects:

(1) Whether disclosure of the information which may be withheld will significantly assist the agency in its rulemaking, by allowing interested persons a fuller opportunity to comment upon the proposed rules. Interested persons should indicate the uses to which such information may be put, and the analyses which may be made of such information. In addition, interested persons should indicate whether nondisclosure of any of the information would deprive any person of a meaningful opportunity to comment upon a proposed rule, and if so, the reason for, and type and extent of that deprivation.

(2) Whether there will be any public harm in disclosing the information which has been or may be deleted from the public record, and if so, the reason for, and the type and extent of that harm.

(3) Whether there are any alternatives to full public disclosure that will both provide interested persons with adequate knowledge to participate fully in the agency proceeding and protect the interests of the manufacturer.

(4) Any other factors which bear upon whether the disclosure of information described in 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4) in the course of a rulemaking proceeding is in the public interest.

Commenters are also requested to rank the listed types of information in the order of decreasing harm to the manufacturer if the information is released and then rank them in the order of decreasing benefit to members of the public wishing to comment on rulemaking regarding the standards. Commenters are requested to explain their rankings.

CLEAR SHEET GLASS FROM ROMANIA

Antidumping; Withholding of Appraisement Notice

Information was received in proper form on March 9, 1976, from counsel acting on behalf of A.S.G. Industries, Inc., Libby-Owens-Ford Company, and P.P.G. Industries, Inc., alleging that clear sheet glass from Romania was being sold at less than fair value within the meaning of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160 et seq.) (referred to in this notice as "the Act"). On the basis of this information and subsequent preliminary investigation by the Customs Service, an "Antidumping Proceeding Notice" was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 8, 1976 (41 FR 14909). The "Antidumping Proceeding Notice" indicated that there was evidence on record concerning injury or likelihood of injury or prevention of establishment of an industry in the United States.

The Secretary determined that it was inadvisable to take tentative action within the normal 6-month investigatory period. Accordingly, the investigatory period in this case was extended to no more than 9 months from the date of publication of the "Antidumping Proceeding Notice", and a "Notice of Extension of Investigatory Period" to that effect was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 30, 1976 (41 FR 36520).

Pursuant to section 201(b) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 160(b)), notice is hereby given that there are reasonable grounds to believe or suspect that the purchase price (section 203 of the Act; 19 U.S.C. 162) of Romanian clear sheet glass is less, or is likely to be less, than the price at which similar merchandise of a non-state-controlled-economy country, Austria, was sold in the home market of that country (section 205(c)(1) of the Act; 19 U.S.C. 164(c)(1)).

Customs officers are being directed to withhold appraisement of clear sheet glass from Romania in accordance with § 153.48, Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.48).

No request for a 6-month withholding of appraisement has been made in this case. Therefore, a "Notice of Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value" by the Secretary of the Treasury is being published concurrently with this notice.

The Secretary has provided an opportunity to known interested persons to present written and oral views pursuant to § 153.40, Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.40).

This notice, which is published pursuant to section 153.35(a), Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.35(a)), shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It shall cease to be effective on April 14, 1977 unless previously revoked.

JERRY THOMAS,
Under Secretary of the Treasury.

Designation of Securities for Exemption Under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934

Paragraph 12 of section 3(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, provides in part that when used in Title I thereof, unless the context otherwise requires, the term "exempted security" or "exempted securities" shall include "such securities issued or guaranteed by corporations in which the United States has a direct or indirect interest as shall be designated for exemption by the Secretary of the Treasury as necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors."

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the above-described authority and to the authority delegated to me by the Secretary of the Treasury, I have this day designated for exemption the "Federal Farm Credit Banks—Consolidated Systemwide Bonds" of the twelve Federal Land Banks, the twelve Federal Intermediate Credit Banks, and the thirteen Banks for Cooperatives, issued pursuant to § 4.2(d) of the Farm Credit Act of 1971 (12 U.S.C. 2153).

This designation for exemption may be revoked, modified or amended at any time with respect to securities not issued prior to such time.

CLEAR SHEET GLASS FROM ROMANIA

Antidumping; Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value

Information was received in proper form on March 9, 1976, from counsel acting on behalf of ASG Industries, Inc., Libby-Owens-Ford Company, and PPG Industries, Inc., alleging that clear sheet glass from Romania was being sold at less than fair value within the meaning of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160 et seq.) (referred to in this notice as "the Act"). On the basis of this information and subsequent preliminary investigation by the Customs Service, an "Antidumping Proceeding Notice" was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 8, 1976 (41 FR 14909).

The Secretary determined that it was inadvisable to take tentative action within the normal 6-month investigatory period. The investigatory period in this case was therefore extended to 9 months and a "Notice of Extension of Investigatory Period" was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 30, 1976 (41 FR 36520).

A "Withholding of Appraisement Notice" issued by the Secretary of the Treasury is being published concurrently with this notice.

DETERMINATION OF SALES AT LESS THAN FAIR VALUE

I hereby determine that, for the reasons stated below, clear sheet glass from Romania is being, or is likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 160(a)).

STATEMENT OF REASONS ON WHICH THIS FINAL DETERMINATION IS BASED

The reasons and bases for the above final determination are as follows:

a. Scope of the Investigation. All imports of the subject merchandise from Romania were exported by ROMSIT. Therefore, the investigation was limited to this exporter.

b. Basis of Comparison. For the purposes of considering whether the merchandise in question is being, or is likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of the Act, the proper basis of comparison is between purchase price and the constructed value of similar merchandise. Purchase price, as defined in section 203 of the Act (19 U.S.C. 162), was used since all export sales were made to non-related customers in the United States. Inasmuch as the merchandise under consideration was produced in a state-controlled-economy country, constructed value was based on the price at which similar merchandise was sold for home consumption in a non-state-controlled-economy country. The country chosen for this purpose was Austria, since similar merchandise was sold in Austria in sufficient quantities to provide a basis of comparison for fair value purposes, as provided in § 153.7, Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.7).

c. Purchase Price. For the purposes of this final determination of sales at less than fair value, adjustments have been made on the following bases. In accordance with § 153.31(b), Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.31(b)), pricing information was obtained concerning imports of clear sheet glass from Romania during the period November 1, 1975, through April 30, 1976.

In the import transactions, all of the merchandise was purchased, or agreed to be purchased, prior to the time of exportation by the persons by whom or for whose account it was imported, within the meaning of the Act. The purchase price has been calculated on the basis of the f.o.b. Constanza, Romania, price to unrelated U.S. purchasers. Deductions have been made for transportation, loading and shipping costs.

d. Constructed Value. For the purposes of this final determination of sales at less than fair value, adjustments have been made on the following bases. The Austrian home market price was calculated on the basis of the f.o.b. customer's warehouse, packed, price. Adjustments were made for shipping costs and discounts, and for differences in packing costs, credit terms, and merchandise. Adjustment for discounts relates to place of delivery discounts, cash discounts, and discounts in connection with high volume purchases. Each of the foregoing costs was directly related to the sales under consideration.

Adjustment for further volume discounts was requested by counsel for respondents. This adjustment has been denied, on the ground that no further volume discount was actually granted in the Austrian home market sales under consideration.

Adjustment for differences in the quality of the merchandise was requested by counsel for respondents. This adjustment has been granted, on the ground that there is sufficient evidence to indicate the existence of differences in quality between the Austrian and Romanian merchandise, respectively, which result in a difference in the market value of that merchandise. Quantifying these differences has been difficult to document when compared to the standard of evidence of difference in market value generally required in antidumping cases. Evidentiary difficulties existing in state-controlled-economy cases, where to a large extent the necessary documentation can only be obtained through the voluntary cooperation of disinterested third parties, merit the granting of the aforesaid adjustment based upon evidence consisting of objective analyses that quality differences exist and estimates of the extent of market value differences between Austrian and Romanian merchandise. It has been concluded that the granting of the aforesaid adjustment in these circumstances is necessary to avoid an unreasonable and inequitable result in this case.

Counsel for respondents has raised the issue whether Romanian home market sales or sales to third countries should be utilized for fair value comparison purposes. It having been established previously that the economy of Romania is state-controlled within the meaning of section 205(c) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 164(c)), and absent evidence indicating the contrary, it has been determined that in this case fair value comparisons are appropriately made based on constructed value as reflected by the prices at which similar merchandise of a non-state-controlled-economy country is sold for consumption in the home market of that country, as provided by section 205(c)(1) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 164(c)(1)).

e. Result of Fair Value Comparisons. Using the above criteria, purchase price was found to be lower than the constructed value of similar merchandise. Comparisons were made on approximately 100 percent of sales of the subject merchandise imported during the investigative period. Margins were found on 100 percent of the sales compared with a weighted average margin of 48 percent.

The Secretary has provided an opportunity to known interested persons to present written and oral views pursuant to § 153.40, Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.40).

The United States International Trade Commission is being advised of this determination.

This determination is being published pursuant to section 201(c) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 160(c)).

JERRY THOMAS,
Under Secretary of the Treasury.

COOPERATIVE STUDIES EVALUATION COMMITTEE

Meeting

The Veterans Administration gives notice pursuant to Pub. L. 92–463 that a meeting of the Cooperative Studies Evaluation Committee, authorized by 38 U.S.C. 4101, will be held at the Holiday Inn (Civic Center), 1170 N.W. 11 Street, Miami, Florida, on February 6, 7, 8, 1977. The meeting will be for the purpose of reviewing proposed cooperative studies and advising the Veterans Administration on the relevance and feasibility of the studies, the adequacy of the protocols, the scientific validity and the propriety of technical details, including involvement of human subjects. The Committee advises the Director, Medical Research Service, through the Chief of the Cooperative Studies Program on its findings.

The meeting will be open to the public up to the seating capacity of the room from 8:00 to 8:30 a.m., February 6, to discuss the general status of the program. To assure adequate accommodations, those who plan to attend should contact Dr. James A. Hagans, Coordinator of the Committee, Veterans Administration Central Office, Washington, D.C. (202–389–3702) prior to January 28.

The meeting will be closed from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. February 6 and all day on February 7 and 8 for consideration of specific proposals in accordance with provisions set forth in Section 10(d) of Pub. L. 92–463 and Sections 552(b)(2) and 552(b)(6) of Title 5, U.S. Code. During this portion of the meeting, discussion and decisions will deal with qualifications of personnel conducting the studies and the medical records of patients who are study subjects, the disclosure of which would constitute an invasion of personal privacy.

Dated: January 12, 1977.

MOTOR CARRIER BOARD TRANSFER PROCEEDINGS

The following publications include motor carrier, water carrier, broker, and freight forwarder transfer applications filed under section 212(b), 206(a), 211, 312(b), and 410(g) of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Each application (except as otherwise specifically noted) contains a statement by applicants that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of the application.

Protests against approval of the application, which may include a request for oral hearing, must be filed with the Commission on or before February 16, 1977. Failure seasonably to file a protest will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. A protest must be served upon applicants' representative(s), or applicants (if no such representative is named), and the protestant must certify that such service has been made.

Unless otherwise specified, the signed original and six copies of the protest shall be filed with the Commission. All protests must specify with particularity the factual basis, and the section of the Act, or the applicable rule governing the proposed transfer which protestant believes would preclude approval of the application. If the protest contains a request for oral hearing, the request shall be supported by an explanation as to why the evidence sought to be presented cannot reasonably be submitted through the use of affidavits.

The operating rights set forth below are in synopses form, but are deemed sufficient to place interested persons on notice of the proposed transfer.

No. MC-FC-76854, filed January 11, 1977. Transferee: Linus Jankord, doing business as Jankord Trucking, Box 82, Revillo, S. Dak. 57259. Transferor: Roger L. PART II

COMMUNITY SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

FEDERAL GRANTS

Uniform Federal Standards

Title 45—Public Welfare

CHAPTER X—COMMUNITY SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

PART 1050—UNIFORM FEDERAL STANDARDS

By a memorandum of March 27, 1969 to the Office of Management and Budget and to ten Federal agencies engaged in domestic grant-in-aid programs, the President ordered a three year effort to simplify, standardize, decentralize and otherwise modernize the Federal grant machinery. As part of implementing this order, three Task Forces were established by OMB (with membership from each of the Federal agencies so affected by the order) whose goal was to replace the multitude of varying and sometimes conflicting requirements imposed as conditions of grants. OEO/CSA has been represented on these Task Forces since their inception.

As grantees come in many shapes and forms—State and local governments, private and public institutions of higher education, public and private hospitals, and other quasi-public and private nonprofit organizations—the Task Forces decided to issue two separate sets of uniform standards, one set for State and local governments and one set for all others. One Task Force effort led to the publication in October 1971 of OMB Circular A-102 (later known as Federal Management Circular 74-7) which set standards for establishing consistency and uniformity among Federal agencies in the administration of grants to State and local governments—standards for all others were to be developed subsequent to the publication of A-102/FMC 74-7. (NOTE: FMC 74-7 is currently being modified and will be reissued at a future date as OMB Circular A-102.)

OEO/CSA did not implement the provisions of A-102 at time of publication because A-102 affected only one-seventh of its grantees and would require the agency to operate with two separate sets of policies, regulations, reporting systems, etc. It was felt that the problems created by using two systems far outweighed the benefits to be derived from such a conversion; therefore, the agency preferred to await publication of standards for private non-profit grantees. These standards were published as OMB Circular A-110 on July 30, 1976 and consequently, CSA is now implementing standards for both public and private organizations.

Subparts B through P of 45 CFR Part 1050 promulgated herein set forth both the Uniform Federal Standards pursuant to OMB Circular A-110 and FMC 74-7 and CSA's implementing policies and procedures for public and private organizations receiving funds from CSA in the form of grants and other agreements. It should be noted that CSA has extended the coverage to include private for-profit organizations funded under Title VII of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 as amended.

CSA is hereby implementing eleven of the fifteen standards. Two standards (Procurement and Property Management) are awaiting modifications currently underway in an inter-agency review; one (Revision of Financial Plans) is currently being reviewed within CSA to determine whether the budget forms required in FMC 74-7 could be adapted for use by private organizations; and the standards for Monitoring and Reporting Program Performance will be issued within the next two weeks.

The preamble to each of the subparts of 45 CFR Part 1050 details the changes made to existing CSA policies and procedures and highlights new requirements. Most of the changes are minor with two exceptions: one, a new financial reporting form (SF 269) will replace CSA Form 315 as of April 1977 and two, an additional form (SF 272) will be required at the time of submission of, but not necessarily with, the SF 269. (See Subpart H, § 1050.70.)

CSA welcomes comments on its implementing policies and procedures. Comments received prior to February 16, 1977 will be considered in any revision of the subparts. Please address all comments to: Jacqueline G. Lemire, Policy Development and Review Division, Community Services Administration, 1200 19th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506.

Effective date: April 1, 1977.

ROBERT C. CHASE,
Deputy Director.

AUTHORITY: Sec. 602, 78 Stat. 530; 42 U.S.C. 2942.

Subpart A—Implementation of Uniform Federal Standards by the Community Services Administration (CSA Instruction 6800–1)

§ 1050.1 Applicability.

45 CFR Part 1050 is applicable to all grants and other agreements made under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended, to public and private organizations/agencies, including those serving as delegate agencies, when the assistance is administered by the Community Services Administration.

§ 1050.2 Purpose.

The purpose of Part 1050 is to set forth the Uniform Federal Standards pursuant to OMB Circular A-110 and FMC 74-7 (A-102) and to provide grantees with CSA's policies and procedures implementing those standards the goal of which is to obtain consistency and uniformity among Federal agencies in the administration of grants to, and other agreements with, units of local and State Government, public and private institutions of higher education, public and private hospitals, and other quasi-public and private non-profit organizations.

§ 1050.3 Exceptions to the Uniform Federal Standards.

(a) For classes of grantees. Neither CSA nor any other Federal agency can apply more restrictive or differing requirements on a class of grantees unless (1) a statute expressly prescribes policies or specific requirements that differ from the standards or (2) the agency has received approval from the Office of Management and Budget.

(b) For certain grantees. CSA may impose additional requirements on individual grantees if the grantee has a history of poor performance, is not financially stable, or its management system does not meet the standards set forth in Part 1050. In those instances CSA must inform the grantee in writing as to (1) why the additional standards are being imposed and (2) what corrective action is needed. Copies of such notifications must be sent to OMB and other agencies funding the grantee at the same time the grantee is notified.

§ 1050.4 Definitions of terms as used in this Part.

(a) The term "grant" means money or property provided in lieu of money paid or furnished by grantees under programs that provide financial assistance or that provide support or stimulation to accomplish a public purpose. The term "other agreements" does not include contracts which are required to be entered into and administered under procurement laws and regulations. Grants and other agreements exclude (1) technical assistance programs, which provide services instead of money, (2) assistance in the form of general revenue sharing, loans, loan guarantees, or insurance, and (3) direct payments of any kind to individuals.

(b) The term "grantee" is used by CSA in lieu of "recipient" and includes the following types of nonprofit organizations that are receiving Federal funds from a Federal agency or through a State or local government:

(1) Public and private institutions of higher education: public and private hospitals; and other quasi-public and private nonprofit organizations such as (but not limited to) community action agencies, research institutes, educational associations, and health centers. In addition, for purposes of this Part, it includes private-for-profit organizations funded under Title VII of the EOA.

(2) The term does not include foreign or international organizations (such as agencies of the United Nations) and Government-owned contractor-operated facilities or research centers providing continued support for mission-oriented, large scale programs that are Government-owned, or are designed as federally funded research and development centers.

(c) The term "delegate agency" is used by CSA in lieu of "subrecipient" and means a public or private agency, institution or organization or a State or other political jurisdiction to which the development, conduct and administration of all or part of a project assisted under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended, has been delegated by a grantee or by another agency or organization which has received assistance by or through a grantee, but does not include individuals who ultimately receive benefits under any program or assistance.

§ 1050.5 Implementing Schema.

(a) Responsibilities. OMB Circular A-110 and FMC 74-7 (Cir. A-102) require all Federal agencies administering programs that involve grants and other agreements with grantees to issue appropriate implementing regulations.

(b) Publication Formats. As with all policy statements CSA is issuing its implementing regulations both in the FEDERAL REGISTER and as part of the CSA directives system. However, a separate Part (1050) has been established in the Code of Federal Regulations within which all Uniform Federal Standards and accompanying CSA policies and procedures will be published. Also, in the CSA directives system the 6800 series will be used exclusively for promulgation of the standards. Each standard will be issued as a separate CSA Instruction within that series with accompanying CSA implementing policies and procedures (if required) to be issued as an Attachment to the appropriate Instruction. As a further means of more easily identifying the standards, CSA will deviate from its normal practice of using yellow stock to identify policy statements and will publish the standards on blue stock.

(c) Cross Reference Index. Following is an index which provides a cross reference to CSA implementing regulations:

I. This subpart sets forth standards governing the use of banks and other institutions as depositories of funds under grants and other agreements pursuant to OMB Circular A-110 and Federal Management Circular 74-7. In the past CSA has required separate bank accounts for CSA grant funds. This is now changed in that CSA, or any other Federal grant-making agency, can not require segregation for cash depositories. Other provisions in this subpart are in line with past CSA policy.

Subpart B—Cash Depositories (Uniform Federal Standard) (CSA Instruction 6800–2)

§ 1050.10 Physical segregation and eligibility.

Except for situations described in § 1050.11, § 1050.12 and § 1050.13 the Community Services Administration does not:

(a) Require physical segregation of cash depositories for CSA funds which are provided to a grantee.

(b) Establish any eligibility requirements for cash depositories for CSA funds which are provided to a grantee.

§ 1050.11 Letter of credit—checks paid basis.

A separate bank account is required when applicable letter-of-credit agreements provide that drawdowns will be made when the grantee's checks are presented to the bank for payment.

§ 1050.12 FDIC Insurance Coverage.

Any monies advanced to a grantee which are subject to the control or regulation of the United States or any of its officers, agents or employees' (public monies as defined in Treasury Circular No. 176, as amended) must be deposited in a bank with Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) insurance coverage and the balance exceeding the FDIC coverage must be collaterally secured.

§ 1050.13 Minority-owned banks.

Consistent with the national goal of expanding the opportunities for minority business enterprises, grantees and delegate agencies are encouraged to use minority banks (a bank which is owned at least 50 percent by minority group members).

II. This subpart sets forth bonding and insurance requirements for grants and other agreements with grantees pursuant to Attachment B of Circular A-110 and Attachment B to FMC 74-7.

As of the effective date of this subpart public agencies receiving CSA funds for the first initial grant will no longer be required to submit assurance of bonding (except for construction or facility improvements) to CSA. However, as in the past nongovernmental grantees will continue to be required to submit such notice of bonding. Coverage, length of duration, and responsibility vis-a-vis delegate agencies also continue to reflect the policies previously published in OEO Instruction 6809-01.

Public grantees should take note of their continuing responsibilities vis-a-vis nongovernmental delegate agencies.

Subpart C—Bonding and Insurance (Uniform Federal Standard) (CSA Instruction 6800-3)

§ 1050.15 References.

(1) OMB Circular A-110, Grants and Agreements With Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and Other Nonprofit Organizations (Attachment B).

(2) FMC 74-7, Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants-in-Aid to State and Local Governments (Attachment B).

(3) CSA Instruction 6710-6, Applying for a grant under Title VII of the Community Services Act.

(4) CSA Instruction 6710-8, Preparing a Budget for a Title VII grant under the Community Services Act.

(5) CSA Instruction 6143-1a, Emergency Energy Conservation Program (45 FR 1061.30).

§ 1050.16 Standard.

(a) In administering CSA grants, grantees shall observe their regular requirements and practices with respect to bonding and insurance. CSA will not impose additional bonding and insurance requirements including fidelity bonds, except as provided in paragraph (b) through (d) of this section.

(b) Construction and facility improvement. The recipient of a CSA grant which requires contracting or facility improvement (including any CSA grant which provides for alterations or renovations of real property) shall follow its own requirements and practices relating to bid guarantees, performance bonds, and payment bonds except for contracts exceeding $100,000. For contracts exceeding $100,000, CSA may determine that the grantee's bonding provisions adequately protect the Federal Government's interest; otherwise the minimum requirements shall be as follows:

(1) A bid guarantee from each bidder equivalent to five percent of the bid price. The bid guarantee shall consist of a firm commitment such as a bid bond, certified check or other negotiable instrument accompanying a bid as assurance that the bidder will upon acceptance of his bid, execute such contractual documents as may be required within the time specified.

(2) A performance bond on the part of the contractor for 100 percent of the contract price. A performance bond is one executed in connection with a contract to secure fulfillment of all the contractor's obligations under the contract.

(3) A payment bond on the part of the contractor for 100 percent of the contract price. A payment bond is one executed in connection with a contract to assure payment as required by law of all persons supplying labor and material in the execution of the work provided for in the contract.

(c) Loan guarantees. Where in connection with a CSA grant, CSA also guarantees the payment of money borrowed by the grantee, CSA may, at its discretion, require adequate bonding and insurance if the bonding and insurance requirements of the grantee are not deemed adequate to protect the interests of the Federal Government.

(d) Fidelity bonds. If the grantee is a nongovernmental organization, CSA requires adequate fidelity bond coverage.

(e) Source of bonds. Any bonds obtained pursuant to paragraphs (b) (1) through (3), (c) or (d) of this section shall be obtained from companies holding certificates of authority as acceptable sureties (31 CFR Part 223).

§ 1050.17 CSA Implementing Policies and Procedures.

(a) Policy. OMB Circular A-110 permits Federal agencies to require fidelity bond coverage of its nongovernmental grantees if the bonding and insurance requirements of the grantee are not deemed adequate to protect the interest of the Federal Government. Therefore, CSA will require evidence of appropriate bonding or assurance that arrangements have been made to obtain such coverage in line with the following policies and procedures.

(1) Bond Coverage of officials—(i) Assurance of fidelity bond coverage. (A) Prior to the release of funds to any nongovernmental grantee for the first initial grant CSA must receive written assurance that the grantee has or has not made arrangements for appropriate bonding of grantee officials. This assurance will take the form of a letter from a bonding company or agent stating the type of bond, amount and period of coverage, positions covered, and the annual cost of the bond that has been obtained.

(ii) Coverage. In all other situations, nongovernmental grantees must either have secured or must take steps to secure fidelity bond coverage in line with the following guides:

(A) Coverage should be secured in the aggregate amount of $25,000 for persons authorized to sign or countersign checks or to disburse sizeable amounts of cash (such as for payrolls). Persons who handle only petty cash need not be bonded. Nor is it necessary to bond officials who are authorized to sign Payment Vouchers, but who are not authorized to sign or countersign checks or to disburse cash.

(B) Grantees normally should obtain a 3 year bond, payable annually, with an option to cancel in the event the program terminates before three years. Such terms are available from most surety companies.

(iii) Responsibility vis-a-vis delegate agencies. Grantees—both public and private—are responsible for assuring that appropriate officials of nongovernmental delegate agencies are bonded. Coverage for officials of delegate agencies which are private organizations shall be equal to the average of funds to be expended each month (up to an aggregate amount of $25,000). If a delegate agency will expend less than $1,000 per month in program funds, on the average, bond coverage is not required.

(b) Procedures. Copies of bonds secured by the grantee and by delegate agencies should be filed by the grantee and need not be submitted to CSA.

(c) Affect of this Subpart on other CSA Policies and Procedures. (1) OEO Instruction 7570-1, pp. 17 & 18, item 11.(3) Bonding: The three paragraphs are superseded and the sentence "See Instruction 6800-3 regarding applicability of bonding requirements and procedures." should be inserted.

(2) OEO Instruction 7570-2, p. 7, item 8.b: The period at the end of the sentence is deleted and the sentence "(See CSA Instruction 6800-3 regarding applicability of bonding requirements and procedures.)" should be inserted.

III. The purpose of this subpart is to set forth the Uniform Federal Standard for the retention and custody of records in accordance with the provisions of references (1) and (2) of this subpart.

This policy requires the revision of two existing CSA policies. OEO Instruction 6801-1 which currently requires a retention period of five years and CSA Instruction 7050-1 (General Conditions) which requires retention for 3 years after expiration of the grant. This subpart also details the starting date for the retention period and who shall have access to records in order to make audits, examinations, excerpts and transcripts. This new policy statement does not affect IRS' requirement that all employment tax records be kept for a period of at least four years. (OEO Instruction 6810-1, page 7.) Nor does it affect the one year retention requirement of reports filed with the local office of the State employment service as part of the program to assist Vietnam era veterans. (OEO Instruction 6901-2.) 45 CFR Chapter X is amended by adding the following:

Subpart D—Retention and Custodial Requirements for Records (Uniform Federal Standard) (CSA Instruction 6800-4)

§ 1050.20 References.

(1) OMB Circular A-110, Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and Other Nonprofit Organizations (Attachment C).

(2) FMC 74-7, Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants-in-Aid to State and Local Governments (Attachment C).

(3) CSA Instruction 6800-5, Program Income (Uniform Federal Standard) (45 CFR 1050.40).

(4) CSA Instruction 6800-15, Property Management Standards (Uniform Federal Standard) (45 CFR 1050.130).

(5) OEO Instruction 6801-1, Grantee Fiscal Responsibility and Auditing.

(6) OEO Instruction 6810-1, Grantee Compliance with IRS Requirements for Withheld Federal Income and Social Security Taxes.

(7) CSA Instruction 7050-1, General Conditions Governing CSA Grants Funded Under Titles II, III-B and VII of the EOA of 1964 as amended (45 CFR 1067.5).

§ 1050.21 Documents affected.

Financial records, supporting documents, statistical records, and all other records pertinent to a grant are covered by the requirements in this subpart.

§ 1050.22 Length of retention period.

Except as provided in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section and reference (6) (employer's tax records), records shall be retained for three years.

(a) If any litigation, claim or audit by or on behalf of the Federal Government involving the records has not been fully resolved before the expiration of the three-year period, the records shall be retained until resolution or until the end of the regular three-year period, whichever is later. In no case, however, will CSA require retention of records relating to any grant with respect to which actions by the United States to recover for diversion of money paid under the grant are barred by the statute of limitations in 28 U.S.C. 2415(b). That statute bars legal actions unless filed within six years after the right of action accrues. The six years excludes any periods in which the circumstances listed in 28 U.S.C. 2416 apply, e.g., material facts cannot be known, or a state of war exists.

(b) In order to avoid duplicate recordkeeping, CSA may make special arrangements with grantees to retain any records which are continuously needed for joint use. CSA will request transfer of records to its custody from grantees when it determines that the records possess long-term retention value. When the records are transferred to or maintained by CSA, the three-year retention requirement is not applicable to the grantee.

§ 1050.23 Starting date of retention period.

(a) General. Except for records covered by paragraphs (a) (1) and (2) of this section, where CSA grant support is continued or renewed on an annual basis, the retention period for each year's records starts from the date of submission to CSA of the grantee's annual or last financial report for that year; in all other cases the retention period starts from the date of submission to CSA of the grantee's final financial report.

(1) Records for non-expendable property. The retention period for records for non-expendable property required by reference (4) starts from the date of disposition of the property. However, for property that has been replaced pursuant to reference (4), the retention period starts from the disposition of the replacement property.

(2) Records pertaining to certain classes of income. For records that relate to classes of program income subject to reference (3), the three-year retention period starts from the date the income is earned.

§ 1050.24 Substitution of microfilm.

Microfilm copies may be substituted for the original records.

§ 1050.25 Access to records.

(a) CSA and the Comptroller General of the United States, or any of their authorized representatives, shall have the right of access to any books, documents, papers or other records of the grantee which are pertinent to a specific CSA grant, in order to make audits, examinations, excerpts and transcripts.

(b) In case of a delegation under a CSA grant, CSA, the Comptroller General of the United States, the grantee, any intermediate delegate agency or any of their authorized representatives shall have the right of access, at any time prior to expiration of the retention period, to any books, documents, papers or other records of the ultimate delegate agency which any of them determines are pertinent to the CSA grant, in order to make audits, examinations, excerpts and transcripts.

(c) In the case of a contract (or subcontract) under a CSA grant, CSA, the Comptroller General of the United States, the grantee, any intermediate delegate agency, contractor, or sub-contractor, or any of their authorized representatives shall have the right of access, at any time prior to expiration of the retention period, to any books, documents, papers or other records of the contractor or sub-contractor which any of them determines are pertinent to the CSA grant, in order to make audits, examinations, excerpts and transcripts.

§ 1050.26 Restrictions on Public Access.

(a) Private grantees. Unless otherwise required by law, CSA will not place restrictions on grantees which will limit public access to records covered by this subpart except when CSA has determined that the records must be kept confidential and would have been excepted from disclosure pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act if the records had belonged to CSA.

(b) Public Grantees. Unless otherwise required by law, CSA will not place restrictions on State and local governments which will limit public access to the State and local governments' records except when records must remain confidential. Following are some of the reasons for withholding records:

(1) Prevent a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

(2) Specifically required by statute or Executive Order to be kept secret.

(3) Commercial or financial information obtained from a person or a firm on a privileged or confidential basis.

§ 1050.27 CSA implementing policies and procedures.

(a) Changes to Existing CSA Policy Statements.

(1) Following are changes to be made to OEO Instruction 6801-1, page 10, item 6, second sentence: Everything appearing after the word "retained" is deleted and the following is inserted:

• • • for the time period and in the manner prescribed by CSA's policy on retention and custodial requirements for records. (See CSA Instruction 6800-4.)

(2) Following are changes to be made to CSA Instruction 7050-1, page 4, item 12, line 9: Everything appearing after the word "retained" is deleted and the following added:

• • • for the time period and in the manner prescribed by CSA's policy on retention and custodial requirements for records. (See CSA Instruction 6800-4.)

IV. The purpose of this subpart is to set forth the Uniform Federal Standard pursuant to OMB Circular A-110 and Federal Management Circular 74-7 and CSA's implementing policies and procedures relating to program income, interest, and other monetary proceeds resulting from projects funded in whole or in part with CSA grant funds. This subpart reflects past CSA policy regarding the use of interest and program income, i.e. that interest must be returned to the Treasury (exception: States and their instrumentalities), and that program income may be retained by the grantee for specific uses. However, the Federal standards include several policies which CSA has not previously enunciated and which should be noted:

1. A public grantee, after termination or completion of a grant must return to the Federal agency any royalties of $200 or more earned by the Federal share in the absence of other specific agreements between CSA and the grantee, and

2. Interest earned will now be reported on a new Standard Form (SF 272) and program income on a new financial report form, SF-269 and on SF-272.

45 CFR Chapter X is amended by adding the following:

Subpart E—Program Income (Uniform Federal Standard) (CSA Instruction 6800-5)

§ 1050.40 References.

(1) OMB Circular A-110, Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and Other Nonprofit Organizations. (Attachment D.)

(2) FMC 74-7, Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants-in-Aid to State and Local Governments (Att. E).

(3) CSA Instruction 6158-3, Small Business Programs Funded by CDCs (45 CFR 1076.20).

(4) CSA Instruction 6800-8, Financial Reporting Requirements (45 CFR 1050.70).

(5) CSA Instruction 6800-15, Property Management Standards (45 CFR 1050.130).

(6) OEO Guidance 6801-1, Grantee Financial Control Techniques.

(7) CSA Instruction 7050-1, General Conditions Governing CSA Grants Under Titles II, III-B, and VII of the EOA of 1964 as amended (45 CFR 1067.5).

§ 1050.41 Definition of Program Income.

Program income represents gross income earned by the grantee from CSA funded activities. Such earnings exclude interest earned on advances and may include, but will not be limited to, income from service fees, sale of commodities, usage or rental fees, and royalties on patents and copyrights.

§ 1050.42 Standard.

(a) Interest. Interest earned on advances of CSA funds shall be remitted to the Community Services Administration except for interest earned on advances to States or instrumentalities of a State as provided by the Intergovernmental Cooperation Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90–577).

(b) Program income—(1) Sale of real and personal property. Proceeds from the sale of real and personal property either provided by CSA or purchased in whole or in part with CSA funds shall be handled in accordance with § 1050.130 (CSA Instruction 6800–15).

(2) Royalties earned from copyrights or patents. (i) Unless the grant provides otherwise, grantees shall have no obligation to the Community Services Administration with respect to royalties as a result of copyrights or patents produced under the grant (See references (5) and (7)).

(ii) However, in the case of public grantees, if after termination or completion of the grant, there is an excess of royalties of $200 or more earned annually by the Federal share these sums shall be returned to CSA in the absence of other specific agreement between CSA and the grantee.

(3) Other program income. All other program income earned during the project period shall be retained by the grantee and, in accordance with the grant, shall be:

(i) Added to funds committed to the project by the Community Services Administration and the grantee and be used to further eligible program objectives; or

(ii) Deducted from the total project cost in determining the net cost on which the Federal share of costs will be based.

§ 1050.43 CSA implementing policies and procedures.

(a) Policy—(1) Service fees. Under limited circumstances CSA may approve the charging of a fee to grantees of services supported with CSA funds. Such approval, however, does not allow the grantee to use Federal funds to produce income for the benefit of the grantee.

(b) Procedures—(1) Return of interest. Interest earned on the investment of CSA funds will be reported on SF–272, item 13.a (see reference (4)) and a check payable to the Treasurer of the United States for the earned interest should be attached to the report and sent to the CSA office responsible for administering the grant.

(2) Return of royalties. Public grantees who have royalty fees which must be returned to CSA (see § 1050.42(b)(2)) shall do so by forwarding a check, payable to the Treasurer of the United States, to the CSA office which had been responsible for administering the grant.

(3) Other program income. The CSA office responsible for administering the grant will also be responsible for determining the manner in which income retained by grantees is used within the constraints of the Standard outline in § 1050.42(b)(3).

(4) Reporting program income. Program income will be reported on SF 269, Financial Status Report and on SF 272, Federal Cash Transactions. (See reference (4)).

V. This subpart sets forth criteria and procedures pursuant to OMB Circular A–110 and Federal Management Circular 74–7 (OMB Circular A–102) for the allowability of cash and in-kind contributions made by grantees and delegate agencies and criteria for the valuation of donated contributions such as personal services, property, etc. The Standards set forth in this subpart and the accompanying CSA implementing policies and procedures basically reflect the policy statements previously found in OEO Instruction 6802–1a and CSA Instruction 6802–2 with one major exception, i.e. there is no longer a prohibition against counting volunteer time of grantee staff and/or board members as a non-Federal share contribution when the services contributed are not required of individuals in their capacities as board members or staff.

45 CFR Chapter X is amended by deleting § 1068.9–1 through 9–5 and § 1068.10–1 through § 1068.10–9 and adding a new subpart as follows:

Subpart F—Cost Sharing and Matching (Uniform Federal Standard) (CSA Instruction 6800–6)

§ 1050.50 References.

(1) OMB Circular A–110, Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and Other Nonprofit Organizations (Attachment E).

(2) Federal Management Circular 74–7 (or OMB Circular A–102) Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants-in-Aid to State and Local Governments (Attachment F).

(3) CSA Instruction 6802–3, Non-Federal Share Requirements for Title II, Sections 221, 222(a) and 231 Programs (45 CFR 1068.20).

(4) CSA Instruction 6802–4, Additional Communities Eligible for Waivers of Non-Federal Share Requirement (Puerto Rico, Trust Territories, the Virgin Islands, and Indian Tribes on Reservations) (45 CFR 1068.21).

(5) CSA Instruction 6802–5, Eligibility for Waiver of Increased Non-Federal Share Contribution (45 CFR 1068.22).

(6) OEO Instruction 7641, Waiver of Non-Federal Share of Program Costs for Certain Title I–D Programs.

§ 1050.51 Definitions.

(a) Project costs. Project costs are all allowable costs (as set forth in the applicable Federal cost principles) incurred by a grantee and the value of the in-kind contributions made by the grantee or third parties in accomplishing the objectives of the grant or other agreement during the project or program period.

(b) Cost sharing and matching. In general, cost sharing and matching represent that portion of project or program costs not borne by the Federal Government.

(c) Cash contributions. Cash contributions represent the grantee's cash outlay, including the outlay of money contributed to the grantee by non-Federal third parties.

(d) In-kind contributions. In-kind contributions represent the value of non-cash contributions provided by the grantee and non-Federal third parties. Only when authorized by Federal legislation, may property purchased with Federal funds be considered as the grantee's in-kind contributions. In-kind contributions may be in the form of charges for real property and non-expendable personal property, and the value of goods and services directly benefiting and specifically identifiable to the project or program.

§ 1050.52 Standards.

(a) Costs and contributions acceptable. (1) Cost sharing or matching may consist of:

(i) Charges incurred by the grantee as project costs. (Not all charges require cash outlays by the grantee during the project period: examples are depreciation and use charges for building and equipment.)

(ii) Project costs financed with cash contributed or donated to the grantee by other non-Federal public agencies and institutions, and private organizations and individuals (exception: any funds provided for payment of salaries in excess of $15,000 per annum shall not be counted as a non-Federal share contribution toward a Title II grant per Section 244(2) of the EOA as amended unless the Director has published regulations for exceptions); and

(iii) Project costs represented by services and real and personal property, or use thereof, donated by other non-Federal public agencies and institutions, and private organizations and individuals.[2]

§ 1050.53 Qualifications.

(a) All contributions, both cash and in-kind, shall be accepted as part of the grantee's cost sharing and matching when such contributions meet all of the following criteria:

(1) Are verifiable from the grantee's records;

(2) Are not included as contributions for any other federally-assisted program;

(3) Are necessary and reasonable for proper and efficient accomplishment of project objectives;

(4) Are types of charges that would be allowable under the applicable cost principles;

(5) Are not paid by the Federal Government under another assistance agreement (unless the agreement is authorized by Federal law to be used for cost sharing or matching);

(6) Are provided for in the approved budget when required by CSA; and

(7) Conform to other provisions of this subpart.

§ 1050.54 Valuation of grantee in-kind contributions.

Values for grantee in-kind contributions will be established in accordance with the applicable cost principles.

§ 1050.55 Valuation of third-party in-kind contributions.

(a) Valuation of volunteer services. Volunteer services may be furnished by professional and technical personnel, consultants, and other skilled and unskilled labor. Volunteer services may be counted as cost sharing or matching if the service is an integral and necessary part of an approved program.

(1) Rates for volunteer services. Rates for volunteers should be consistent with those paid for similar work in the grantee's organization or with those paid for similar work in the labor market in which the grantee competes for the kind of services involved.

(2) Volunteers employed by other organizations. When an employer other than the recipient furnishes the services of an employee, these services shall be valued at the employee's regular rate of pay (exclusive of fringe benefits and overhead costs) provided these services are in the same skill for which the employee is normally paid.

(b) Valuation of donated, expendable personal property. Donated, expendable personal property includes such items as expendable equipment, office supplies, laboratory supplies or workshop and classroom supplies. Value assessed to expendable personal property included in the cost or matching share should be reasonable and should not exceed the market value of the property at the time of the donation.

(c) Valuation of donated, nonexpendable personal property, buildings, and land or use thereof. (1) The method used for charging cost sharing or matching for donated nonexpendable personal property, buildings and land may differ according to the purpose of the grant or other agreement as follows:

(i) If the purpose of the grant or other agreement is to assist the grantee in the acquisition of equipment, buildings or land, the total value of the donated property may be claimed as cost sharing or matching.

(ii) If the purpose of the agreement is to support activities that require the use of equipment, buildings or land, depreciation or use charges for equipment and buildings may be made. The full value of equipment or other capital assets and fair rental charges for land may be allowed provided that the Community Services Administration has approved the charges.

(2) The value of donated property will be determined in accordance with the usual accounting policies of the grantee with the following qualifications:

(i) Land and buildings. The value of donated land and buildings may not exceed its fair market value, at the time of donation to the grantee as established by an independent appraiser (e.g., certified real property appraiser or GSA representatives) and certified by a responsible official of the grantee.

(ii) Nonexpendable personal property. The value of donated nonexpendable personal property shall not exceed the fair market value of equipment and property of the same age and condition at the time of donation.

(iii) Use of space. The value of donated space shall not exceed the fair rental value of comparable space as established by an independent appraisal of comparable space and facilities in a privately-owned building in the same locality.

(iv) Loaned equipment. The value of loaned equipment shall not exceed its fair rental value.

§ 1050.56 Supporting records for in-kind contribution from non-Federal third parties.

(a) Volunteer services must be documented and, to the extent feasible, supported by the same methods used by the grantee for its employees. (See § 1050.57.)

(b) The basis for determining the valuation for personal services, material, equipment, buildings and land must be documented. (See § 1050.57.)

§ 1050.57 CSA implementing policies and procedures.

(a) CSA legislative non-Federal share requirements. Sections 225(c), 235(b), and 714 of the Economic Opportunity Act as amended require the contribution of non-Federal share by grantees funded under Sections 221, 222(a), 235, and 712 of that Act. In addition the Director of the Community Services Administration may administratively require a non-Federal share contribution from grantees funded under other sections of the Act if the grants are administered by Community Services Administration. Policies and procedures implementing the legislative requirements of the Economic Opportunity Act will be found in references (3) through (6) of this subpart.

(b) Accounting for the Non-Federal Share. (1) The Statement of CSA Grant, Form 314, shows the minimum percentage of total program expenditures which non-Federal funds must constitute in the grant period. The grantee is expected to maintain the rate of contribution of the non-Federal share so that throughout the grant period Federal funds will not be used to pay for a substantially larger percentage of project costs than the Federal funds shown on the Statement of CSA Grant constitute.

(2) It is important to note that the Federal share may never exceed either the dollar amount shown on the Statement of CSA Grant or the maximum percentage of the total program expenditures that this constitutes. The grantee must provide only sufficient non-Federal contributions so that the Federal share remains at or below the maximum percentage; however, the grantee may choose to provide additional non-Federal share, to insure a margin of safety, in the event that annual audits disallow some contributions.

(3) The non-Federal share may be provided in one program account for the entire grant or it may be spread among several program accounts. (See reference (3) to this subpart.)

(4) Non-Federal share contributions of cash shall be recorded as they occur. It is not necessary to maintain separate ledger accounts for the expenditures of grantee cash.

(5) All in-kind contributions, including those applicable to delegate agencies must be recorded in the ledger accounts, either in separate accounts or in separate columns, as grant costs when the in-kind services or goods are performed or received. Records, including required supporting documentation, on in-kind services or goods performed or received must be established and maintained on a current basis.

(6) The non-Federal share is subject to audit, as is the Federal share.

(c) Required documentation—volunteered services. All volunteered services claimed as non-Federal share must be substantiated by time cards or records that are signed by both the volunteer and his supervisor as is required for all other employees. Such records must show the actual hours worked and the specific duties performed. They should also indicate the basis for determining the rate of volunteer's contribution and such documentation must be available for audit.

VI. This subpart sets forth the standards for grantee financial management systems pursuant to the Uniform Federal Standards contained in Attachment F of OMB Circular A–110 and Attachment G of Federal Management Circular 74–7 and outlines CSA procedures to be followed in implementing the standards.

The Uniform Federal Standards in this subject area do not conflict with any policies, procedures or other requirements previously imposed by CSA nor do they impose any additional requirements.

[1] Request for waiver of applicability to CDCs, based on Title VII legislative provisions, will be requested from OMB prior to effective date.

[2] This includes volunteer services of board members. However, to be counted these services must be other than those required of them in their capacities as board members. For example, time spent at board or committee meetings by a board member who is a doctor would not be acceptable but time spent by him/her working in a clinic would be accepted. This also allows volunteer services of staff to be counted as non-Federal share when such services are not required by the positions they hold. (Grantees are reminded that any work performed by staff members which is in line with the normal responsibilities of their positions and is in excess of the normal weekly working hours is covered by the CSA overtime regulations (see OEO Instruction 6900–01) and can not be considered as a non-Federal share contribution.)

§ 1050.61 Standards.

(a) Following are the standards for financial management systems for grantees (References (3) through (15) contain CSA's detailed implementing policies and procedures.) CSA will impose no additional standards on grantees unless they are specifically provided for in applicable statutes. Grantees' financial management systems will provide for the following: (1) Accurate, current and complete disclosure of each CSA sponsored project or program in accordance with the financial reporting requirements set forth in § 1050.70 (CSA Instruction 6800-8).

(2) Records that identify adequately the source and application of funds for CSA sponsored projects. These records shall contain information pertaining to Federal awards, authorizations, obligations, unobligated balances, assets, outlays and income.

(3) Effective control over and accountability for all funds, property and other assets. Grantees shall adequately safeguard all such assets and shall assure that they are used solely for authorized purposes.

(4) Comparison of actual outlays with budget amounts for each grant or other agreement. Financial information should be related to performance and unit cost data.

(5) Procedures to minimize the time elapsing between the transfer of funds from the U.S. Treasury and the disbursement by the grantee, whenever funds are advanced by the Federal Government. When advances are made by a letter-of-credit method, the grantee shall make drawdowns as close as possible to the time of making disbursement. [See § 1050.90 (Instruction 6800-10) for letter-of-credit procedures.]

(6) Procedures for determining the reasonableness, allowability and allocability of costs in accordance with the provisions of the applicable Federal cost principles and the terms of the grant or other agreement.

(7) Accounting records that are supported by source documentation.

(8) Examinations in the form of audits or internal audits. Such audits shall be made by qualified individuals who are sufficiently independent of those who authorize the expenditure of Federal funds, to produce unbiased opinions, conclusions or judgments. They shall meet the independence criteria along the lines of Chapter 3, Part 3 of the U.S. General Accounting Office publication, Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions. These examinations are intended to ascertain the effectiveness of the financial management systems, and internal procedures that have been established to meet the terms and conditions of the agreements.[3]

It is not intended that each agreement awarded to the grantee be examined. General examinations should be conducted on an organization wide basis to test the fiscal integrity of financial transactions, as well as compliance with the terms and conditions of CSA grants and other agreements. Such tests will include an appropriate sampling of CSA agreements. Examination will be conducted with reasonable frequency on a continuing basis or at scheduled intervals but at least annually in accordance with reference (7) and Section 243 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 as amended.

(9) Audits to be made by the grantee or at his direction to determine, at a minimum, the fiscal integrity of financial transactions and reports, and the compliance with laws, regulations, and administrative requirements. The grantee will schedule such audits annually in accordance with reference (7) and Section 243 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 as amended.[4]

(10) A systematic method to assure timely and appropriate resolution of audit findings and recommendations.

(b) Delegate agencies. Grantees shall require delegate agencies to adopt the standards in § 1050.61(a) except for the requirement in (5), regarding the use of the letter-of-credit method and that part of (1) regarding reporting forms and frequencies prescribed in § 1050.70 (CSA Instruction 6800-8).

§ 1050.62 CSA implementing policies and procedures.

(See references (3) through (15) of this subpart for CSA's implementing policies and procedures as they relate to the standards set forth in this subpart.)

VII. This subpart sets forth the standards for grantee financial reporting as prescribed by Attachment G to OMB Circular A-110 and Attachment H to FMC 74-7 (OMB Circular A-102) and CSA's procedures for completing SF 269, Financial Status Report, SF-271, Outlay Report and Request for Reimbursement of Construction Programs; and SF-272, Federal Cash Transactions Report.

OMB Circular A-110 and FMC 74-7 prescribe new financial reporting forms to be used by all Federal agencies with grants-in-aid programs. Consequently, beginning with quarters ending April 30, 1977 CSA will require that grantees submit SF-269, Financial Status Report, to fulfill the quarterly financial reporting requirement in lieu of the currently used CSA Form 315. Grantees also will be required to submit a new form SF-272, Federal Cash Transactions Report at the same time, but not necessarily with, the SF-269. There is an additional form (SF-271, Outlay Report and Request for Reimbursement for Construction Programs) which may be used and/or required under certain circumstances as described in this subpart. Frequency of submission of the financial reports will not change nor will the distribution of such reports.

An initial supply of Standard Forms 269 and 272 will be forwarded to grantees. They will accompany the standards when they are distributed in the form of CSA Instructions. Additional supplies of these and other referenced forms are available from the CSA Publications and Distribution Center.

Subpart H—Financial Reporting Requirements (Uniform Federal Standard) (CSA Instruction 6800-8)

§ 1050.70 References.

(1) OMB Circular A-110, Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and Other Nonprofit Organizations (Attachment G).

(2) FMC 74-7, (or OMB Circular A-102) Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants-in-Aid to State and Local Governments (Attachment H).

(3) OEO Instruction 6807-1a, Limitation on CAA Administrative Reports.

§ 1050.71 Definitions.

(a) Accrued expenditures. Charges incurred by the grantee during a given period requiring the provision of funds for: (1) goods and other tangible property received; (2) services performed by employees, contractors, delegate agencies, and other payees; and (3) amounts becoming owed by the grantee under programs for which no current services or performance are required by the grantee.

(b) Accrued income. The earnings during a given period which is a source of funds resulting from (1) services performed by the grantee, (2) goods and other tangible property delivered to purchasers, and (3) amounts becoming owed to the grantee for which no current services or performance are required by the grantee.

(c) Disbursements. Payments in cash or check.

[3] Applicable to private grantees only.

[4] Applicable to public grantees only.

(d) Federal funds authorized. Represent the total amount of the Federal funds (in this case CSA funds) authorized for obligations as established in the grant document. This amount shall include any authorized carryover of unobligated funds from prior fiscal or program year.

(e) In-kind contributions. Represent the value of noncash contributions provided by (1) the grantee, (2) other public agencies and institutions, and (3) private organizations and individuals. In-kind contributions may consist of charges for real property and equipment, and value of goods and services directly benefiting and specifically indentifiable to the grant program. When authorized by Federal legislation property purchased with Federal funds may be considered as grantee's in-kind contribution.

(f) Obligations. The amounts of orders placed, contracts and grants awarded, services received, and similar transactions during a given period, which will require payment during the same or a future period.

(g) Outlays. Represent charges made to the grant project or program. Outlays can be reported on a cash or accrued expenditure basis.

(h) Program income. Represents earnings by the grantee realized from the grant-supported activities. Such earnings exclude interest income and may include, but will not be limited to, income from services fees, sale of commodities, usage or rental fees, sale of assets purchased with grant funds, and royalties on patents and copyrights. Program income can be reported on a cash or accrued income basis.

(i) Unobligated balance. The portion of the funds authorized by CSA which has not been obligated by the grantee and is determined by deducting the cumulative obligations from the funds authorized.

(j) Unliquidated obligations. Represent the amount of obligations incurred by the grantee which have not been paid.

(k) Program year. A grantee's 12-month accounting period. For Community Action Agencies this is the funding period for the principal grant that provides funds for most of the grantee's administrative costs. For other agencies funded by CSA, this is their usual 12-month accounting period which may or may not correspond with funding period of their grant(s) from CSA.

(l) Funding period. A program account funding period extends from the effective date of a new or refunding action through the termination date, or expiration of the planned number of months for which funds are provided.

§ 1050.72 Standard.

(a) CSA will continue to utilize either the Letter of Credit or the predetermined monthly check issue as the two methods for making funds available to all construction and nonconstruction projects or programs. For the purpose of determining the status of those funds and to insure sound cash management on the part of grantees and delegate agencies CSA requires the submission of the following quarterly reports:

(1) Reports required. (i) Financial Status Report, SF 269 (for nonconstruction projects or programs).

(ii) Federal Cash Transactions Report, SF 272.

(iii) Outlay Report and Request for Reimbursement for Construction Programs, SF 271 (for construction programs only).

(2) Preparation of reports. Reports may be prepared on either a cash or an accrual basis with the appropriate indication on the report as to the method utilized. In the event that CSA should require all reports to be submitted on an accrual basis grantees will not be required to convert their accounting system, but shall develop such accrual information through estimates based on an analysis of documentation on hand.

(3) Submission. Reports are required within 15 working days after the end of each quarter of the grantees program year with a final report due within 90 days after the completion or termination of the grant. Extensions to reporting dates may be approved upon request of the grantee. CSA may require monthly reports from grantees with awards of $1 million or more annually.

(b) SF 272, Report of Federal cash transactions. (1) CSA will use this report to monitor cash advanced to grantees and to obtain disbursement information for each agreement from the grantees. (2) CSA requires that grantees indicate in the "remarks" section of the SF 272 report the reason(s) for having and the need for retaining a cash balance of Federal funds in excess of current operating needs. For grantees on Letter of Credit current needs will relate to the amount of time required to fully effect a draw down in order to meet daily disbursement requirements. For grantees on monthly check issue current cash needs will mean a cash balance no greater than is necessary to meet operating requirements.

(c) Additional reporting requirements. When CSA needs additional information or more frequent reports in order to comply with legislative requirements or, to monitor a grantee that has failed to meet the Standard for Financial Management as defined in CSA Instruction 6800-7, CSA will, prior to making any such request, adhere to the requirements imposed by OMB Circular No. A-40.

(d) CSA has the option of shading out any line item on any report that is unnecessary for decision-making purposes.

(e) CSA will accept the identical information from grantees in machine usable format or computer printouts in lieu of prescribed formats.

(f) CSA may provide computer outputs to grantee when it will expedite or contribute to the accuracy of reporting.

(g) CSA is authorized to reproduce these forms.

§ 1050.73 CSA implementing policies and procedures.

(a) Policy. (1) If any CSA regulation prescribes policies or requirements that differ from the provisions provided herein, the provisions of this subpart shall govern.

(2) All references to CSA Forms 315 and 315a in other documents will be deemed to mean SF-272 and the SF-269. CSA Forms 315 and 315a will be obsolete after April 30, 1977.

(3) Quarterly financial reports which are due subsequent to April 1977 will be reported on SF-269, Financial Status Report. The SF-272, Federal Transactions Report, will be submitted at the same time.

(b) General instructions. (1) These general instructions apply to the preparation of Standard Forms 269, 271, and 272. Detailed instructions for their preparation will be found on the forms themselves.

(i) How many copies to prepare. Grantees shall prepare sufficient copies of the reports for each program year to make the distribution as shown below.

(ii) Where to send reports. (A) Grantees whose grant is administered by a CSA Regional Office will send one copy to the appropriate Regional Office and one copy to the Grant Accounting Branch, Finance and Grants Management Division, CSA Headquarters, 1200 19th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506.

(B) Grantees who have CSA grants administered by both a CSA Regional Office and a Headquarters Office(s) will send one copy to the appropriate Regional Office, one copy to each funding office in the CSA Headquarters, and one copy to the Grant Accounting Branch, Finance and Grants Management Division, CSA Headquarters.

(C) Grants receiving funds solely from Headquarters program offices will submit one copy to each funding office and one copy to the Grant Accounting Branch, Finance and Grants Management Division, CSA Headquarters.

(iii) When to report. (A) Standard Forms 269, 272, (and SF 271 when required for Construction Programs) will be submitted quarterly based upon the grantee's program year. The reports are to be submitted to the appropriate CSA Office 15 working days following the end of each quarter.

(B) Grantees are required to submit a final financial report for all programs with a fixed termination date within 90 days after the termination date. In those situations where the terminated program is the grantee's only CSA-funded program, a check (payable to CSA) for the amount of the unexpended funds should accompany the report.

(iv) What to report. CSA grants are to be charged only with those costs related to Community Services Administration sponsored programs.

(v) Reporting delegate agency data. When delays do not permit reporting in time to meet the CSA grantee reporting deadlines, expenditures of the delegate agencies should be estimated by the parent organization and incorporated into the grantee quarterly Financial Status Reports. However, these amounts should be identified by an asterisk to show that they include estimates. Adjustments should be made in subsequent quarterly financial reports by netting the effects of the adjustments made into the information reported for the current report quarter; it will not be necessary to amend previously submitted financial reports except in those instances where the error reported was in a final report for a terminated program.

(vi) Amounts reported. All amounts are to be rounded to the nearest dollar. Do not report cents.

(vii) Delegate agency responsibilities. Delegate agencies are required to provide their parent organizations with all data needed to prepare quarterly financial reports which will include cash balances and expenditures of the delegate agencies.

(2) Other financial report requirements. An administrative costs report is required annually. See OEO Instruction 6807–1a for detailed procedures for completing and submitting CSA Form 315d, Administrative Costs Report.

(3) Availability of forms. Supply of referenced forms are available upon written request to: CSA Publications and Distribution Center, 5458–3rd Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20001.

Subpart I—Monitoring and Reporting Program Performance [Reserved]

VIII. This subpart establishes the required methods of making payments to grantees pursuant to the Uniform Federal Standards contained in Attachment I of OMB Circular A–110 and Attachment J of Federal Management Circular 74–7. These methods will minimize the time elapsing between the disbursement by grantees and the transfer of funds from the United States Treasury to grantees whether such disbursement occurs prior to or subsequent to the transfer of funds.

The Uniform Federal Standards allow payments to a grantee by two methods which are currently used by CSA, i.e. Letter of Credit (for total payment of $250,000 or more), and advance by Treasury check (for payments less than $250,000). Therefore, the attached subpart does not change any CSA policy or procedures. (The CSA policies and procedures issued as 1050.93 of this subpart are those previously found in Instruction 6714–1 and changes thereto which are hereby superseded.)

Subpart J—Payment Requirements (Uniform Federal Standard) (CSA Instruction 6800–10)

§ 1050.90 References.

(1) OMB Circular A–110, Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and Other Nonprofit Organizations (Attachment I).

(2) FMC 74–7, Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants-in-Aid to State and Local Governments (Attachment J).

(3) OEO Instruction 6800–05, Limitations on Program Expenditures.

(4) CSA Instruction 6800–12, Grant Closeout Procedures (Uniform Federal Standard) (45 CFR 1050.110).

(5) CSA Intruction 6800–13, Suspension and Termination Procedures (Uniform Federal Standard) (45 CFR 1050.120).

(6) CSA Instruction 6710–1, Change 10, "Preparation of CSA Form 314, Statement of CSA Grant."

(7) Treasury Department Circular No. 1075, as revised, "Regulations Governing Withdrawal of Cash From the Treasury for Advance Under Federal Grant and Other Programs."

(8) Treasury Fiscal Requirements Manual, Part VI, "Other Fiscal Matters."

§ 1050.91 Definitions.

(a) Letter-of-credit. A letter-of-credit is an instrument certified by an authorized official of a Federal funding agency that authorizes a grantee to draw funds when needed from the Treasury, through a Federal Reserve bank and the grantee's commercial bank, in accordance with the provisions of Treasury Circular No. 1075, as revised.

(b) Advance by treasury check. An advance by Treasury check is a payment made by a Treasury check to a grantee upon its request before outlays are made by the grantee or through the use of predetermined payment schedules.

(c) Reimbursement by treasury check. A reimbursement by Treasury check is a Treasury check paid to a grantee upon request for reimbursement from the grantee.

§ 1050.92 Standard.

(a) Payments can be made to grantees through a letter-of-credit and an advance by Treasury check.

(b) Except for construction grants and other construction agreements for which optional payment methods are authorized, as described in paragraph (d) of this section, the letter-of-credit method shall be used by CSA if all the following conditions exist:

(1) If there is or will be a continuing relationship between a grantee and CSA for at least a 12 month period and the total amount of advance payments expected to be received within that period from CSA is $250,000 or more, as prescribed by Treasury Circular No. 1075. For joint funded projects the Treasury has authorized a dollar criteria of $120,000.

(2) If the grantee has established or demonstrated to CSA the willingness and ability to maintain procedures that will minimize the time elapsing between the transfer of funds and their disbursement by the grantee.

(3) If the grantee's financial management system meets the standards for fund control and accountability prescribed in (CSA Instruction 6800–7. Standards for Financial Management Systems).

(c) The method of advancing funds by Treasury check shall be used, in accordance with the provisions of Treasury Circular No. 1075, when the grantee meets all of the requirements specified in paragraph (b) of this section, except those in paragraph (b) (1) of this section.

(d) A reimbursement by Treasury check shall be the preferred method if the grantee does not meet the requirements specified in paragraphs (b) (2) and (b) (3) of this section. At the option of CSA this method may also be used on any construction agreement, or if the major portion of the program is accomplished through private market financing or Federal loans, and the Federal assistance constitutes a minor portion of the program. When the reimbursement method is used, CSA shall make payment within thirty days after receipt of the billing unless the billing is improper.

(e) When the letter-of-credit procedure is used, the grantee shall be issued one consolidated letter-of-credit whenever possible to cover anticipated cash needs for all grants and other agreements awarded by the sponsoring agency.

(f) (1) Unless otherwise required by law, CSA shall not withhold payments for proper charges made by grantees at any time during the project or program period unless (i) a grantee has failed to comply with the program objectives, general or special conditions, or CSA reporting requirements; or (ii) the grantee is indebted to the United States, and collection of the indebtedness will not impair accomplishment of the objectives of a project or program sponsored by the United States. [See § 1050.110 and § 1050.115 (CSA Instructions 6800–12 and 6800–13) for procedures in cases of closeouts, suspensions and terminations.]

(2) Under such conditions, CSA may, upon reasonable notice, inform the grantee that payments will not be made for obligations incurred after a specified date until the conditions are corrected or the indebtedness to the Federal Government is liquidated.

§ 1050.93 CSA implementing policies and procedures.

(a) Policy. Federal funds awarded under CSA grants will be made available (advanced) by letter of credit or by check, depending upon the amount of the grant. Funds for grants of less than $250,000 annually will be advanced by the periodic issuance of Treasury checks. Funds for grants of over $250,000 and where there is an anticipated continuing relationship for one year will be made available through the issuance of a Treasury Department Letter of Credit.

(b) Grants under $250,000 annually. (1) Fund advances for grants totaling less than $250,000 annually will be made by a monthly check to the grantee. The amount of the monthly check will be computed based upon a grantee's anticipated rate of expenditure over the period of the grant, and subject to adjustment based upon an analysis of the required quarterly financial reports from the grantee. All Treasury checks will reflect the grantee number and the grant action to which the funds pertain. In the event subsequent funding actions result in a grantee's annual funding level to exceed $250,000, he will be notified that his funding procedures are to be changed and the necessary forms for conversion to Letter of Credit procedures will be sent.

(2) Special checks. When a grantee anticipates needing cash in excess of that provided by the issuance of a monthly check, he must submit a written justification. Requests will be submitted to:

Community Services Administration, Grants Accounting Branch, Finance and Grants Management Division, 1200 19th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506.

(i) At the same time, a copy of the request should also be sent to the responsible Regional or Headquarters Office that administers the grant.

(ii) Before approving issuance of a special check, the Finance and Grants Management Division will review current expenditure rates and cash balances reported on the financial reports. Delays in submission of these reports to CSA will result in delays in approval of special checks.

(c) Grants over $250,000 annually. When a letter of credit is issued the grantee will be required to maintain a separate bank account for funds obtained in this manner, and to the extent possible delay all draw downs on the letter of credit until after their organizations have issued checks for disbursements properly chargeable to Federal funds.

(1) Letter of credit procedure—(i) Selection of commercial bank. Grantees shall select a commercial bank which will agree to receive Payment Vouchers on Letter of Credit (TUS 5401) drawn on the Treasurer of the United States and forward these vouchers to the applicable Federal Reserve Bank or branch. In addition the grantee will assure that they comply with the Uniform Federal Standards applying to cash depositories. [See § 1050.10 (CSA Instruction 6800–2).] The grantee shall notify the Finance and Grants Management Division, CSA Headquarters, of the name of the commercial bank, title of the bank account, and location of the applicable Federal Reserve Bank or branch.

(ii) Authorized signature card. (A) The Central Control Branch in Headquarters or Financial Services Branch in the regions will send the grantee three Standard Forms 1194, Authorized Signature Card for Payment Vouchers on Letters of Credit, as part of the grant package. When properly completed by the grantee, these cards will provide the appropriate Federal Reserve Bank or branch with specimen signatures of grantee officials authorized to sign Payment Vouchers on Letter of Credit for withdrawal of funds. A sample copy of SF 1194 and instructions for completion are provided in Exhibit II.

(B) Two copies of the properly completed signature card will be returned, with all other required documents, to the Central Control Branch, Finance and Grants Management Division, CSA Headquarters, or to the Financial Services Branches in regional offices, depending on whether the grant is administered by CSA Headquarters or by a regional office.

(C) A change of persons authorized to sign payment vouchers or a change in grantee name, address, or commercial bank will require that a grantee submit a new set of signature cards to the Headquarters Grant Accounting Branch.

Blank signature cards may be obtained from that office or from the Financial Services Branches in the regional offices.

(D) The Grant Accounting Branch, Finance and Grants Management Division, or the Financial Services Branches for regional grants, will notify the grantee when the signature cards and letter of credit have been sent to the Federal Reserve Bank or Branch via the Treasury Department. The grantee will not present a payment voucher which includes the new or changed information until it has received such notification. The grantee should assure that it has sufficient funds for operating until receipt of the notification.

(E) Each letter of credit must have its own signature card. If there is a need to change a prior signature card for a specific grant, a new signature card must be submitted to the Grant Accounting Branch, Finance and Grants Management Division, CSA Headquarters.

(F) Grantees must provide signatures for at least two persons in order to enable the proper completion of the payment voucher (Form TUS 5401).

(iii) Withdrawal of funds. (A) As funds are needed, the grantee will prepare and submit the original, duplicate, and triplicate copies of the Payment Vouchers on Letter of Credit (Forms TUS 5401) to its commercial bank. The commercial bank will transmit all forms to the Federal Reserve Bank or branch. The recipient organization will retain the quadruplicate copy for its own records. Instructions for preparing the form are provided in Exhibit III.

(B) A supply of Forms TUS 5401 will be sent to each grantee with the letter of credit. Additional forms may be obtained by writing to the Grant Accounting Branch, Finance and Grants Management Division, CSA Headquarters. Payment vouchers are preprinted with CSA's name and station symbol. They cannot be used for withdrawals from letters of credit issued by other Federal agencies. Only Forms TUS 5401 received from CSA may be used for withdrawal of funds from CSA letters of credit.

(C) Guidelines for withdrawal. The U.S. Treasury Department policy provides that withdrawals by grantees shall be limited to the minimum amounts needed and shall be timed to be in accord with only the actual cash requirements needed in carrying out the purpose of the approved program or project. Where a grantee makes advances to a delegate agency, they shall conform substantially to the same standards of timing and amount as applicable to advances to the primary grantee.

Grantee draw downs shall not ordinarily be made more frequently than daily in order to maintain a minimum amount of cash on hand. However, the amount withdrawn may not exceed the dollar limitation placed on the letter of credit by CSA without prior CSA approval. Ordinarily, withdrawals should not be made for less than $10,000 nor for more than $1,000,000, and in no case in excess of $5,000,000 unless authorized by CSA, and should never exceed the amount of cash

PREPARATION OF FORM TUS 5401

(1) Voucher Number. Grantees will number payment vouchers consecutively beginning with "1". Alphabetical designations will not be used as part of the voucher number. Amendments to the Letter of Credit will not interrupt the consecutive numbering of payment vouchers by the grantee.

(2) Letter of Credit Number. Enter the assigned Letter of Credit number. This is the eight-digit number shown on the Letter of Credit received from CSA.

(3) Agency Station Symbol. This is an eight-digit code assigned to CSA by the U.S. Treasury Department and is preprinted on the vouchers sent to grantees.

(4) Data Voucher Drawn. Enter the date voucher is prepared and presented to the bank. To facilitate entering this date on a computer, the date must be written as follows:

(5) Amount. Enter the dollar amount to be withdrawn. Round off to hundreds or thousands of dollars. Example: $35,500.00.

(6) Name and Address of Drawer. Complete name and address of grantee, including zip code, as shown on the Letter of Credit.

(7) Name and Address of Drawer's Bank. Enter name and address of the bank to which the payment voucher will be presented.

(8) Federal Reserve Bank or Branch. Enter name (city) of Federal Reserve Bank or Branch as shown on Letter of Credit.

(9) Signatures. Vouchers must be signed by two of the designated signees exactly as their signatures appear on current signature cards.

DISTRIBUTION OF PAYMENT VOUCHERS

Original, Duplicate and Triplicate: Presented to grantee's bank for payment. The Bank will retain the original and forward the duplicate and triplicate to the Federal Reserve Bank for their records.

Quadruplicate: Retain for grantee files.

Subpart K—Revision of Financial Plans [Reserved]

XI. This subpart L prescribes uniform closeout procedures for all CSA grants pursuant to the Uniform Federal Standards contained in Attachment K of OMB Circular A-110 and Attachment L of Federal Management Circular 74-7.

Prior to publication of this subpart CSA had no published policy or procedures dealing with grant closeout procedures per se although many procedures existed which, by their very nature, were applicable and used in closeouts.

This subpart notifies grantees of the Uniform Federal Standards covering this subject area, identifies the existing CSA Instructions which impact that subject, and includes a new section on closeout audits.

§ 1050.111 Definitions.

(a) "Closeout"—The closeout of a grant is the process by which CSA determines that all applicable administrative actions and all required work of the grant have been completed by the grantee and CSA.

(b) "Date of completion"—The date of completion is the date on which all work under the grant is completed or the date on the grant award document, or any supplement or amendment thereto, on which Federal assistance ends.

(c) "Disallowed costs"—Disallowed costs are those charges to a grant which CSA determines to be unallowable in accordance with the applicable Federal cost principles, other conditions contained in the grant agreement and CSA Instructions.

§ 1050.112 Standards.

The following requirements shall be applicable to the closeout of all CSA grants:

(a) Upon request, CSA shall make prompt payments to the grantee for allowable reimbursable costs under the grant being closed out.

(b) The grantee shall immediately refund any balance of unobligated cash that CSA has advanced or paid, and that is not authorized to be retained by the grantee for use in other grants or for other purposes specifically authorized in writing by CSA. (See reference (7) for procedures.)

(c) Within 90 calendar days after the completion of a grant, the grantee shall submit to CSA all financial, performance, and other reports required as conditions of the grant. (See references (7), and (8), and (13) for procedures.) CSA may grant extensions when requested by the grantee.

(d) When authorized by the grant agreement, CSA shall make a settlement for any upward or downward adjustment to the Federal share of costs after these reports are received.

(e) The closeout of a grant shall not, of itself, end or otherwise affect: (1) The grantee's responsibility to account for any property acquired with Federal funds, or received from the Government, in accordance with the provisions of § 1050.130 (CSA Instruction 6800-15) Property Management Standards;

(2) The grantee's responsibility to account for program income in accordance with the provisions of § 1050.40 (CSA Instruction 6800-5);

(3) The retention period for, or Federal rights of access to, grant records pursuant to § 1050.20 (CSA Instruction 6800-4).

(f) In the event a final audit has not been performed prior to the closeout of the grant, CSA retains the right to recover an appropriate amount, after fully considering the recommendations on disallowed costs resulting from any subsequent audit which may be performed. (See reference (13) for CSA audit requirements.)

§ 1050.113 CSA implementing policies and procedures.

(a) General. Procedures for various activities to be undertaken in closeouts will be found in references (3) through (14). This subpart provides additional detail on required closeout procedures relating to audits. (See reference (13) for basic procedures.)

(b) Closeout audits—(1) Scope of audit. (i) Within 90 days after the date of completion of a CSA grant, the grantee will be required to submit a final audit of grant operations. This audit will be done in accordance with the Accounting System Survey and Audit Guide, CSA Manual 2410-1. If the grantee will no longer be receiving CSA funds from other grants, the scope of audit should be adjusted as follows:

(A) The independent auditor will not be required to render an appraisal of the grantee's accounting system and internal controls. However, he will be required to review internal accounting controls in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards to ascertain the degree of reliance he can place on them in determining the extent of his audit tests and procedures. Therefore, the audit report will normally contain no comments or recommendations relative to the grantee's accounting system or internal controls.

(B) The independent auditor should explain in his audit report that the grantee will not continue to receive CSA funding and will not be involved in CSA programs as a grantee.

(C) The independent auditor should emphasize in his report any action required to clear the account such as recovery of any unexpended funds or disposition of grant property.

(ii) Where questions arise in regard to the audit of CSA grantees being closed out, independent auditors should contact the cognizant CSA Regional Auditor for guidance.

(2) Audit disallowances. The normal CSA audit disallowance procedures as set forth in reference (13) shall be followed for audit disallowances resulting from a final audit. Final audit disallowances can only be satisfied by cash payments to CSA when the grant in question has been or is in the process of being closed out.

XII. This subpart prescribes uniform suspension and termination procedures for all CSA grants pursuant to the Uniform Federal Standards contained in Attachment L of OMB Circular A-110 and Federal Management Circular 74-7 (OMB Circular A-102).

CSA's previous policy statement and accompanying procedures re suspension and termination was found in 45 CFR 1067.1 (OEO Instruction 6730-2) which is superseded by this subpart (CSA Instruction 6800-13). However, most of the policies and procedures found in 45 CFR 1067.1 have been incorporated into this subpart. Changes in existing CSA procedures include:

General: Terminology has been corrected but very few substantive changes have been made. Procedures have not changed.

Specific: Suspensions, § 1050.115-7—(1) Length of suspension increased from 21 to 30 days; (2) Regional Directors explicitly added to definition of "responsible CSA official" but only for purpose of suspensions; (3) suspension procedures have been reorganized into two sections—suspension on notice and summary suspension.

Termination, § 1050.115-8—(1) Regional Directors as well as "responsible CSA official" may initiate termination, but Regional Directors may not conduct termination hearing, unless designated by the responsible CSA official, since they are not grant making officials; and (2) a final section entitled "Consequences of Termination" was transferred from CSA Instruction 7050-1, General Condition 14, to subsection 8(j) of this subpart.

45 CFR Chapter X is amended by deleting §§ 1067.1-1 to 1067.1-11 and adding the following:

Subpart M—Suspension and Termination Procedures (Uniform Federal Standard) (CSA Instruction 6800-13)

§ 1050.115-1 References.

(1) 45 CFR 1010 (OEO Instruction 6004-01a) Nondiscrimination in Federally-Assisted Programs of the Office of Economic Opportunity—Effectuation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964;

(2) 45 CFR 1067.2 (OEO Instruction 6730-1) Denial of Application for Refunding;

(3) 45 CFR 1050.110 (CSA Instruction 6800-12) Grant Closeout Procedures;

(4) 45 CFR 1069.3 (CSA Instruction 6910 1a) Travel Regulations for CSA Grantees and Delegate Agencies.

§ 1050.115-2 Definitions.

(a) "Termination"—The termination of a grant is the cancellation of Federal assistance, in whole or in part, under a grant at any time prior to its date of completion. The following do not constitute termination:

(1) Withdrawal of funds awarded on the basis of grantee's underestimate of the unobligated balance in a prior grant period;

(2) Failure on the part of CSA to refund a grantee or to make a continuation, extension, supplemental or other additional grant;

(3) Withdrawal of the unobligated balance as of the date of completion of a grant pursuant to the provisions of CSA Instruction 6800-12 (45 CFR 1050.110);

(4) Annulment of a grant upon determination that the grant was obtained fraudulently or was otherwise illegal or invalid from inception;

(5) Withdrawal of unobligated funds from a CAA before the date of completion of its grant as a result of opt-out or de-designation proceedings under Section 210 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 as amended, and OEO Instruction 6302-2.

(b) "Suspension"—The suspension of a grant is an action by CSA that temporarily suspends Federal assistance under the grant, pending a decision by CSA to terminate the grant.

§ 1050.115-3 Failure to comply with grant terms and conditions.

When a grantee has materially failed to comply with the terms and conditions of a grant (including all applicable CSA Instructions), CSA may suspend the grant in accordance with § 1050.115-4, terminate it for cause in accordance with § 1050.115-5, or take such other remedies as may be legally available and appropriate under the circumstances.

§ 1050.115–4 Suspension.

When a grantee has materially failed to comply with grant terms and conditions, CSA may suspend the grant, after giving the grantee reasonable notice and opportunity to show cause why the grant should not be suspended. Pursuant to Section 604(2) of the Economic Opportunity Act as amended, CSA may summarily suspend a grant without previous notice in an emergency situation. If a grant is suspended, CSA may withhold further payments and prohibit the grantee from incuring further obligations of funds, pending corrective action by the grantee or a decision by CSA to initiate termination proceedings in accordance with § 1050.115–5. CSA will allow all necessary and proper costs that the grantee could not reasonably avoid during the period of suspension, provided that they meet the provisions of the applicable Federal cost principles (for public grantees, the applicable provisions are those of Federal Management Circular 74–4).

§ 1050.115–5 Termination for cause.

Whenever it is determined that a grantee has failed to comply with the terms and conditions of its grant, CSA may terminate the grant in whole or in part at any time prior to its date of completion. CSA shall promptly notify the grantee of the determination and the reasons for the termination, together with its effective date. Pursuant to Section 604(3) of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended, such determination shall not be made unless the grantee has been afforded the opportunity for a full and a fair hearing on the termination of its grant. Payment made to grantees or recoveries by CSA or other Federal grantor agencies under grants terminated for cause shall be in accordance with the legal rights and liabilities of the parties.

§ 1050.115–6 Termination for convenience.

CSA or the grantee may terminate any grant in whole or in part if and only if both parties agree that the continuation of the project would not produce beneficial results commensurate with the further expenditure of funds. The two parties must agree on the termination conditions, including the effective date, and, in the case of partial terminations, the portion to be terminated. The grantee shall not incur new obligations for the terminated program or portion thereof after the effective date of termination and shall cancel as many outstanding obligations as possible. CSA shall allow full credit to the grantee for the Federal share of the noncancellable obligations properly incurred by the grantee prior to the effective date of termination.

§ 1050.115–7 CSA Implementing Policies and Procedures Governing Suspensions.

(a) Purpose and scope. (1) This section establishes rules for the suspension of assistance provided under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended (hereinafter the Act), if the assistance is administered by the Community Services Administration; a grantee may be suspended for failure to comply with the terms and conditions of its grant, including applicable laws, regulations, CSA Instructions, grant conditions, or approved work programs.

(2) However, this section shall not apply to any administrative action of the Community Services Administration based upon any violation or alleged violation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; in case of such violation or alleged violation the provisions of 45 CFR Part 1010 (CSA Instruction 6004–01a) shall apply.

(3) Pursuant to Section 604(2) of the Act and this subpart, the responsible CSA official may suspend a grant under the circumstances outlined in paragraph (a)(1) of this section. There are two kinds of suspension: (i) suspension on notice, as provided for in paragraph (c) of this section, and (ii) summary suspension as provided for in (d) of this section. Summary suspension may be invoked only when the responsible CSA official determines that an emergency situation exists (see paragraph (d)(1) of this section).

(b) Definitions. (1) The term "responsible CSA official" means the Director, Deputy Director, and any other official who is authorized to make the grant in question, the Regional Director of the Regional Office administering the grant in question, or the designee of any of these officials.

(2) The term "summary suspension" means suspension of a grant without prior notice to the grantee.

(c) Suspension on notice. (1) The responsible CSA official shall notify the grantee by letter or telegram that CSA intends to suspend a grant in whole or in part unless good cause is shown why the grant should not be suspended. In such letter or telegram the responsible CSA official shall specify the grounds for the proposed suspension and the proposed effective date of the suspension.

(2) The responsible CSA official shall also inform the grantee of its right to submit written material in opposition to the intended suspension and of its right to request an informal meeting at which the grantee may respond and attempt to show why such suspension should not occur. The period of time within which the grantee may submit such written material or request the informal meeting shall be established by the responsible CSA official in the notice of intent to suspend. However, in no event shall the period of time within which the grantee must submit written material or request such a meeting be less than 5 days after the notice of intent to suspend has been sent. If the grantee requests a meeting, the responsible CSA official shall fix a time and place for the meeting, which shall not be less than 5 days after the grantee's request is received by CSA.

(3) In lieu of the provisions of paragraph (c)(2) of this section dealing with the right of the grantee to request an informal meeting, the responsible CSA official may on his own initiative establish a time and place for such a meeting. However, in no event shall such a meeting be scheduled less than 7 days after the notice of intent to suspend is sent to the grantee.

(4) The responsible CSA official may in his discretion extend the period of time or date referred to in the previous paragraphs of this section and shall notify the grantee of any such extension.

(5) At the time the responsible CSA official sends the notification referred to in paragraphs (c), (1), (2), and (3) of this section to the grantee, he shall also send a copy of it to any delegate agency whose activities or failures to act are a substantial cause of the proposed suspension, and shall inform such delegate agency that it shall be entitled to submit written material or to participate in the informal meeting referred to in paragraphs (c), (2) and (3) of this section. In addition, the responsible CSA official may in his discretion give such notice to any other delegate agency.

(6) Within 3 days of receipt of the notice referred to in paragraphs (c)(1), (2), and (3) of this section, the grantee shall send a copy of these regulations to all delegate agencies which would be financially affected by the proposed suspension action. Any delegate agency that wishes to submit written material may do so within the time stated in the notice. Any delegate agency that wishes to participate in the informal meeting with the responsible CSA official contemplated herein (if not afforded a right to participate under the previous paragraphs) may request permission to do so from the responsible CSA official, who may in his discretion grant or deny such permission. In acting upon any such request from a delegate agency, the responsible CSA official shall take into account the effect of the proposed suspension on the particular delegate agency, the extent to which the meeting would become unduly complicated as a result of granting such permission, and the extent to which the interests of the delegate agency requesting such permission appear to the adequately represented by other participants.

(7) In the notice of intent to suspend assistance the responsible CSA official shall invite voluntary action to adequately correct the deficiency which led to the initiation of the suspension proceeding.

(8) The responsible CSA official shall consider any timely material presented to him in writing, any material presented to him during the course of the informal meeting provided for in paragraphs (c)(2) and (3) of this section as well as any showing that the grantee has adequately corrected the deficiency which led to the initiation of suspension proceedings. If after considering the material presented to him the responsible CSA official concludes that the grantee has failed to show cause why the grant should not be suspended, he may suspend the grant in whole or in part and under such terms and conditions as he shall specify.

(9) Notice of such suspension shall be promptly transmitted to the grantee and shall become effective upon delivery.

Suspension shall not exceed 30 days unless during such period of time termination proceedings are initiated in accordance with § 1050.115–8, or unless the responsible CSA official and the grantee agree to a continuation of the suspension for an additional period of time. If termination proceedings are initiated, the suspension shall remain in full force and effect until such proceedings have been fully concluded.

(10) During a period of suspension no new expenditures shall be made and no new obligations shall be incurred in connection with the suspended program except as specifically authorized in writing by the responsible CSA official. Expenditures to fulfill legally enforceable commitments made prior to the notice of suspension, in good faith and in accordance with the grantee's approved work program, and not in anticipation of suspension or termination, shall not be considered new expenditures. However, funds shall not be recognized as committed solely because the grantee has obligated them by contract or otherwise to a delegate agency.

NOTE.—Willful misapplication of funds may violate section 627 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended, 42 USC 2971(f) or other criminal statutes.

(11) The responsible CSA official may in his discretion modify the terms, condition and nature of the suspension or rescind the suspension action at any time on his own initiative or upon a showing satisfactory to him that the grantee has adequately corrected the deficiency which led to the suspension and that repetition is not threatened. Suspensions partly or fully rescinded may in the discretion of the responsible CSA official be reimposed with or without further proceedings: Provided, however, that the total time of suspension may not exceed 30 days unless termination proceedings are initiated in accordance with § 1050.115–8, or unless the responsible CSA official and the grantee agree to a continuation of the suspension for an additional period of time. If termination proceedings are initiated, the suspension shall remain in full force and effect until such proceedings have been fully concluded.

(d) Summary suspension. (1) As stated in paragraph (a)(3) of this section the responsible CSA official may invoke summary suspension procedures only if he determines that an emergency situation exists because there is a serious risk of: (i) substantial injury to or loss of project funds or property, or (ii) violation of a Federal, State or local criminal statute, or (3) violation of section 603(b) or 613 of the Community Services Act of 1974, as amended or of CSA Instructions implementing these sections of the Act. He must also determine that such risk is sufficiently serious to outweigh the general policy in favor of advance notice and opportunity to show cause.

(2) Notice of summary suspension shall be given to the grantee by letter or by telegram, shall become effective upon delivery to the grantee, and shall specifically advise the grantee of the effective date of the suspension and the extent, terms, and condition of any partial suspension. The notice shall also forbid the grantee to make any new expenditures or incur any new obligations in connection with the suspended portion of the program. Expenditures to fulfill legally enforceable commitments made prior to the notice of suspension, in good faith and in accordance with the grantee's approved work program, and not in anticipation of suspension or termination, shall not be considered new expenditures. However, funds shall not be recognized as committed by a grantee solely because the grantee obligated them by contract or otherwise to a delegate agency.

(3) In the notice of summary suspension the responsible CSA official shall advise the grantee that it may request CSA to provide it with an opportunity to show cause why the summary suspension should be rescinded. If the grantee requests such an opportunity, the responsible CSA official shall immediately inform the grantee in writing of the specific grounds for the suspension and shall within 7 days after receiving such request from the grantee hold an informal meeting at which the grantee may show cause why the summary suspension should be rescinded. Notwithstanding the provisions of this paragraph, the responsible CSA official may proceed to initiate termination proceedings at any time even though the grant has been suspended in whole or in part. In the event that termination proceedings are initiated, the responsible CSA official shall nevertheless afford the grantee, if it so requests, an opportunity to show cause why suspension should be rescinded pending the outcome of the termination proceedings.

(4) Notices of summary suspension shall also be furnished by the responsible CSA official and by the grantee to delegate agencies in the same manner as notices of intent to suspend as set forth in paragraphs (c)(5), (6) and (7) of this section. Delegate agencies shall have the same right to submit written material to the responsible CSA official or to participate in the informal meeting as in the case of intended suspension procedings set forth in paragraphs (c)(5) and (6) of this section.

(5) The effective period of a summary suspension may not exceed 10 days unless termination proceedings are initiated in accordance with § 1050.115–8 or unless the parties agree to a continuation of summary suspension for an additional period of time, or unless the grantee in accordance with paragraph (d)(3) of this section requests an opportunity to show cause why the summary suspension should be rescinded.

(6) If the grantee requests an opportunity to show cause why a summary suspension action should be rescinded the suspension shall continue in effect until the grantee has been afforded such opportunity and a decision has been made. Such a decision shall be made within 5 days after the conclusion of the informal meeting referred to in (d)(3) of this section. If the responsible CSA official concludes after considering all material submitted to him, that the grantee has failed to show cause why the suspension should be rescinded, the responsible CSA official may continue the suspension in effect for an additional 10 days; Provided, however, That if termination proceedings are initiated, the summary suspension shall remain in full force and effect until all termination proceedings have been fully concluded.

(e) Right to counsel; travel expenses. In all proceedings under this section whether formal or informal, the grantee and CSA shall have the right to be represented by counsel or other authorized representatives. If the grantee and any delegate agencies which have a right to participate in an informal meeting pursuant to paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section do not have an attorney acting in that capacity as a regular member of the staff of the organization or a retainer arrangement with an attorney, the Boards of Directors of such grantees and delegate agencies will be authorized to designate an attorney to represent their organizations at any termination hearing and to transfer sufficient funds from their current operating grants to pay the fees, travel, and per diem expenses of such attorney. The fees for such attorney shall be the reasonable and customary fees for an attorney. However, such fees shall not exceed $100 per day without the express written approval of CSA. Travel and per diem expenses may be paid to such attorney from grant funds only in accordance with the policies set forth in the Standard Government Travel Regulations and 45 CFR 1069.3–1 to 1069.3–6 (CSA Instruction 6910–1a). The Board of Directors of the grantee or any delegate agency which has a right to participate in an informal meeting pursuant to paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section will also be authorized to designate two persons in addition to an attorney whose travel and per diem expenses to attend the meeting or hearing may be paid from the organization's current operating grant. Such travel and per diem expenses shall conform to the policies set forth in the Standard Government Travel Regulations and in 45 CFR 1069.3–1 to 1069.3–6 (CSA Instruction 6910–1a).

§ 1050.115–8 CSA implementing policies and procedures governing termination of assistance.

(a) Purpose and scope. (1) This section establishes rules for the termination of assistance provided under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended (hereinafter the Act), if the assistance is administered by the Community Services Administration; a grantee may be terminated for failure to comply with the terms and conditions of its grant, including applicable Laws, regulations, CSA Instructions, grant conditions, or approved work programs.

(2) However, this section shall not apply to any administrative action of the Community Services Administration based upon any violation or alleged violation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; in case of such violation or alleged violation the provisions of 45 CFR Part 1010 (CSA Instruction 6004–01a) shall apply.

(3) Pursuant to section 604(3) of the Act and CSA Instruction 6800–13, the responsible CSA official may terminate a grant under the circumstances outlined in paragraph (a)(1) of this section.

(b) Definitions. (1) The term "responsible CSA official" means the Director, Deputy Director, and any other official who is authorized to make the grant in question.

(2) The term "party" means CSA, the grantee concerned, and any other agency or organization which, by right or by permission of the presiding officer, is a participant in a termination hearing.

(c) Notice and pre-hearing procedures. (1) If the responsible CSA official believes a grantee's violation of the terms and conditions of its grant is sufficiently serious to warrant termination, whether or not the grant has been suspended, he shall state that there appear to be grounds which warrant termination and shall set forth the specific reasons therefor. If the reasons result in whole or substantial part from the activities of a delegate agency, the notice shall identify that delegate agency. The notice shall also advise the grantee that the matter has been set down for hearing at a stated time and place, in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section. In the alternative the notice shall advise the grantee of its right to request a hearing and shall fix a period of time which shall not be less than 10 days in which the grantee may request such a hearing. [If the grant is Regionally administered, the Regional Director of the grantee's Region may initiate the notice of intent to terminate on behalf of CSA. Any notice initiated by the Regional Director shall inform the grantee of the name and address of the responsible CSA official and shall direct the grantee to address all communications concerning the termination hearing to that official.]

(2) Termination hearings shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (e) and (f) of this section. They shall be scheduled for the earliest practicable date, but not later than 30 days after a grantee has requested such a hearing. Consideration shall be given to a request by a grantee to advance or postpone the date of a hearing scheduled by CSA. Any such hearing shall afford the grantee a full and fair opportunity to demonstrate that it is in compliance with all applicable laws, regulations, and other requirements specified in paragraph (a) of this section. In any termination hearing, CSA shall have the burden of justifying the proposed termination. However, if the basis of the proposed termination is the failure of a grantee to take action required by law, regulation, or other requirement specified in paragraph (a) of this section, the grantee shall have the burden of proving that such action was timely taken.

(3) If a grantee requests CSA to hold a hearing in accordance with paragraph (c)(1) of this section, it shall send a copy of its request for such a hearing to all delegate agencies which would be financially affected by termination and to each delegate agency identified in the notice pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this section. This material shall be sent to these delegate agencies at the same time the grantee's request is made to CSA. The grantee shall promptly send CSA a list of the delegate agencies to which it has sent such material and the date on which it was sent.

(4) If the responsible CSA official pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this section informs a grantee that a proposed termination action has been set for hearing, the grantee shall within 5 days of its receipt of this notice send a copy of it to all delegate agencies which would be financially affected by the termination and to each delegate agency identified in the notice pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this section. The grantee shall send the responsible CSA official a list of all delegate agencies notified and the date of notification.

(5) If the responsible CSA official has initiated termination proceedings because of the activities of a delegate agency, that delegate agency may participate in the hearing as a matter of right. Any other delegate agency, person, agency or organization that wishes to participate in the hearing may, in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section, request permission to do so from the presiding officer of the hearing. Such participation shall not, without the consent of CSA and the grantee, alter the time limitations for the delivery of papers or other procedures set forth in this section.

(6) The results of the proceeding and any measure taken thereafter by CSA pursuant to this section shall be fully binding upon the grantee and all its delegate agencies whether or not they actually participated in the hearing.

(7) A grantee may waive a hearing and submit written information and argument for the record. Such material shall be submitted to the responsible CSA official within a reasonable period of time to be fixed by him upon the request of the grantee. The failure of a grantee to request a hearing, or to appear at a hearing for which a date has been set, unless excused for good cause shall be deemed a waiver of the right to a hearing and consent to the making of a decision on the basis of such information as is then in the possession of CSA.

(8) The responsible CSA official may attempt, either personally or through a representative, to resolve the issues in dispute by informal means prior to the date of any applicable hearing.

(d) Time and place of termination hearings. The termination hearing shall be held in Washington, D.C., or in the appropriate Regional Office, at a time and place fixed by the responsible CSA official, unless he determines that the convenience of CSA or of the parties or their representatives requires that another place be selected.

(e) Termination hearing procedure—(1) General. The termination hearing, the decision on termination and any review thereof shall be conducted in accordance with paragraphs (e), (f), and (g) of this section.

(2) Presiding officer. (i) The presiding officer at the hearing shall be the responsible CSA official or, at the discretion of the responsible CSA official an independent hearing examiner designated as promptly as possible in accordance with section 3105 of title 5 of the United States Code. The presiding officer shall conduct a full and fair hearing, avoid delay, maintain order, and make a sufficient record for a full and true disclosure of the facts and issues. To accomplish these ends, the presiding officer shall have all powers authorized by law, and he may make all procedural and evidentiary rulings necessary for the conduct of the hearing. The hearing shall be open to the public unless the presiding officer for good cause shown shall otherwise determine. (ii) After the notice described in paragraph (e)(6) of this section is filed with the presiding officer, he shall not consult any person or party on a fact in issue unless on notice and opportunity for all parties to participate. However, in performing his functions under this part the presiding officer may use the assistance and advice of an attorney designated by the General Counsel of CSA or the appropriate Regional Counsel: Provided, that the attorney designated to assist him has not represented CSA or any other party or otherwise participated in a proceeding, recommendation, or decision in the particular matter.

(3) Presentation of evidence. Both CSA and the grantee are entitled to present their case by oral or documentary evidence, to submit rebuttal evidence and to conduct such examination and cross-examination as may be required for a full and true disclosure of the facts bearing on the issues. The issues shall be those stated in the notice required to be filed by paragraph (e)(6) of this section, those stipulated in a prehearing conference or those agreed to by the parties.

(4) Participation. (i) In addition to CSA, the grantee, and any delegate agencies which have a right to appear, the presiding officer in his discretion may permit the participation in the proceedings of such persons or organizations as he deems necessary for a proper determination of the issues involved. Such participation may be limited to those issues or activities which the presiding officer believes will meet the needs of the proceeding, and may be limited to the filing of written material. (ii) Any person or organization that wishes to participate in a proceeding may apply for permission to do so from the presiding officer. This application, which shall be made as soon as possible after the notice of proposed termination has been received by the grantee, shall state the applicant's interest in the proceeding, the evidence or arguments the applicant intends to contribute, and the necessity for the introduction of such evidence or arguments. (iii)

The presiding officer shall permit or deny such participation and shall give notice of his decision to the applicant, the grantee, and CSA, and, in the case of denial, a brief statement of the reasons therefor: Provided however, That the presiding officer may subsequently permit such participation if, in his opinion, it is warranted by subsequent circumstances. If participation is granted, the presiding officer shall notify all parties of that fact and may, in appropriate cases, include in the notification a brief statement of the issues as to which participation is permitted. (iv) Permission to participate to any extent is not a recognition that the participant has any interest which may be adversely affected or that the participant may be aggrieved by any decision, but is allowed solely for the aid and information of the presiding officer.

(5) Filing. All papers and documents which are required to be filed shall be filed with the presiding officer. Prior to filing, copies shall be sent to the other parties.

(6) Notice. The responsible CSA official shall send the grantee and any other party a notice which states the time, place, and nature of the hearing, and the legal authority and jurisdiction under which the hearing is to be held. The notice shall also identify with reasonable specificity the facts relied on as justifying termination and the CSA requirements which it is contended the grantee has violated. The notice shall be filed and served not later than 10 days prior to the hearing and a copy thereof shall be filed with the presiding officer.

(7) Notice of intention to appear. The grantee and any other party which has a right or permission to participate in the hearing shall give written confirmation to CSA of its intention to appear at the hearing 3 days before it is scheduled to occur. Failure to do so may, at the discretion of the presiding officer, be deemed a waiver of the right to a hearing.

(8) Form and date of service. All papers and documents filed or sent to a party shall be signed in ink by the appropriate party or his authorized representative. The date on which papers are filed shall be the day on which the papers or documents are deposited, postage prepaid in the U.S. mail, or are delivered in person: Provided however, that the effective date of the notice that there appear to be grounds which warrant termination shall be the date of its delivery or attempted delivery at the grantee's last known address as reflected in the records of CSA.

(9) Prehearing conferences. Prior to the commencement of a hearing the presiding officer may, subject of the provisions of paragraph (e)(2)(ii) of this section, require the parties to meet with him or correspond with him concerning the settlement of any matter which will expedite a quick and fair conclusion of the hearing.

(10) Evidence. Technical rules of evidence shall not apply to hearings conducted pursuant to this section but the presiding officer shall apply rules or principles designed to assure production of relevant evidence and to subject testimony to such examination and cross-examination as may be required for a full and true disclosure of the facts. The presiding officer may exclude irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitious evidence. A transcript shall be made of the oral evidence and shall be made available to any participant upon payment of the prescribed costs. All documents and other evidence submitted shall be open to examination by the parties and opportunity shall be given to refute facts and arguments advanced on either side of the issues.

(11) Depositions. If the presiding officer determines that the interests of justice would be served, he may authorize the taking of depositions provided that all parties are afforded an opportunity to participate in the taking of the depositions. The party who requested the deposition shall arrange for a transcript to be made of the proceedings and shall upon request, and at his expense, furnish all other parties with copies of the transcript.

(12) Official notice. Official notice may be taken of a public document, or part thereof, such as a statute, official report, decision, opinion or published scientific data issued by any agency of the Federal Government or a State or local government and such document or data may be entered on the record without further proof of authenticity. Official notice may also be taken of such matters as may be judicially noticed in the courts of the United States, or any other matter of established fact within the general knowledge of CSA. If the decision of the presiding officer rests on official notice of a material fact not appearing in evidence, a party shall on timely request be afforded an opportunity to show the contrary.

(13) Proposed findings and conclusions. After the hearing has concluded, but before the presiding officer makes his decision, he shall afford each participant a reasonable opportunity to submit proposed findings of fact and conclusions. After considering each proposed finding or conclusion the presiding officer shall state in his decision whether he has accepted or rejected them in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (f)(1) of this section.

(f) Decisions, termination notices, and review by the Director. (1) Each decision of a presiding officer shall set forth his findings of fact, and conclusions, and shall state whether he has accepted or rejected each proposed finding of fact and conclusion submitted by the parties, pursuant to paragraph (e)(13) of this section. Findings of fact shall be based only upon evidence submitted to the presiding officer and matters of which official notice has been taken. The decision shall also specify the requirement or requirements with which it is found that the grantee has failed to comply.

(2) The decision of the presiding officer may provide for continued suspension or termination of the grant in whole or in part, and may contain such terms, conditions, and other provisions as are consistent with and will effectuate the purposes of the Act.

(3) If the hearing is held by an independent hearing examiner rather than by the responsible CSA official, he shall make an initial decision, and a copy of this initial decision shall be mailed to all parties. Any party may, within 20 days of the mailing of such initial decision, or such longer period of time as the presiding officer specifies, file with the responsible CSA official his exceptions to the initial decision and any supporting brief or statement. Upon the filing of such exceptions, the responsible CSA official shall, within 20 days of the mailing of the exceptions, review the initial decision and issue his own decision thereon, including the reasons therefor. The decision of the responsible CSA official may increase, modify, approve, vacate, remit, or mitigate any sanction imposed in the initial decision or may remand the matter to the presiding officer for further hearing or consideration.

(4) Whenever a hearing is waived, a decision shall be made by the responsible CSA official and a written copy of the final decision of the responsible CSA official shall be given to the grantee.

(5) The grantee may request the Director to review a final decision by the responsible CSA official which provides for termination. Such a request must be made in writing within 15 days after the grantee has been notified of the decision in question and must state in detail the reasons for seeking the review. In the event the grantee requests such a review, the Director or his designee shall consider the reasons stated by the grantee for seeking the review and shall approve, modify, vacate or mitigate any sanction imposed by the responsible CSA official or remand the matter to the responsible CSA official for further hearing or consideration. The decision of the responsible CSA official will be given great weight by the Director or his designee during the review. During the course of his review the Director or his designee may, but is not required to, hold a hearing or allow the filing of briefs and arguments. Pending the decision of the Director or his designee, the grant shall remain suspended under the terms and the conditions specified by the responsible CSA official, unless the responsible CSA official or the Director or his designee otherwise determines. Every reasonable effort shall be made to complete the review by the Director or his designee within 30 days of receipt by the Director of the grantee's request. The Director or his designee may however extend this period of time if he determines that additional time is necessary for an adequate review.

(g) Right to counsel: travel expenses. In all proceedings under this section whether formal or informal, the grantee and CSA shall have the right to be represented by counsel or other authorized representatives. If the grantee and any delegate agencies which have a right to participate in a termination hearing pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section do not have an attorney acting in that capacity as a regular member of the staff of the organization or a retainer arrangement with an attorney, the Boards of Directors of such grantees and delegate agencies will be authorized to designate an attorney to represent their organizations at any termination hearing and to transfer sufficient funds from their current operating grants to pay the fees, travel, and per diem expenses of such attorney. The fees for such attorney shall be the reasonable and customary fees for an attorney practicing in the locality of the attorney. However, such fees shall not exceed $100 per day without the express written approval of CSA. Travel and per diem expenses may be paid to such attorney from grant funds only in accordance with the policies set forth in the Standard Travel Regulation and in 45 CFR 1069.3–1 to 3–6 (CSA Instruction 6910–1a). The Board of Directors of the grantee or any delegate agency which has a right to participate in a termination hearing pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section will also be authorized to designate two persons in addition to an attorney whose travel and per diem expenses to attend the meeting or hearing may be paid from the organization's current operating grant. Such travel and per diem expenses shall conform to the policies set forth in the Standard Government Regulations and in 45 CFR 1069.3–1 to 1069.3–6 (CSA Instruction 6910–1a).

(h) Modification of procedures by consent. The responsible CSA official or the presiding officer of a termination hearing may alter, eliminate or modify any of the provisions of this section with the consent of the grantee and, in the case of a termination hearing, with the consent of all delegate agencies that have a right to participate in the hearing pursuant to paragraph (c)(5) of this section. Such consent must be in writing or be recorded in the hearing transcript.

(i) Other remedies. The procedures established by this section shall not preclude CSA from pursuing other remedies authorized by law.

(j) Consequences of termination. Upon termination, the disposition of unexpended Federal funds and of property purchased with program funds shall be according to the provisions of CSA Instruction 6800–12, Grant Closeout Procedures. Termination shall not affect expenditures or legally binding commitments made prior to the grantee's receipt of notice of the termination, provided such expenditures were made in good faith and are otherwise allowable. Funds shall not be considered to be legally committed solely by virtue of a grantee's contract or other commitment to a delegate agency.

XIII. The purpose of this subpart is to notify grantees of the requirements in OMB Circular A–110 and FMC 74–7 that Standard Form 424 be used by both public and private non-profit grantees and contractors to fulfill certain requirements.

CSA previously implemented the requirements of this standard when it published 45 CFR 1067.10 (CSA Instruction 6710–3a). Policies and procedures found in that subpart (and Instruction) continue to be in effect. Overprinting of the SF–424 as shown in 45 CFR 1067.10 was approved by the Office of Management and Budget. 45 CFR Chapter X is amended by adding the following:

Subpart N—Standard Form for Applying for Federal Assistance (SF 424) (Uniform Federal Standard) (CSA Instruction 6800–14)

§ 1050.120 References.

(8) OEO Instruction 7570–2, Applying for Continuation of a Research or Demonstration Grant.

§ 1050.121 Standards.

(a) Standard Form 424 will be used by public agencies and private organizations as a face sheet for applications when applying for any CSA grant.

(b) The SF–424 will be used to fulfill the requirements of OMB Circular A–95 for a notification of intent from applicant to clearinghouse(s) that assistance will be applied for from CSA in those instances where clearinghouses do not require other forms.

(c) The SF–424 will also be used by CSA funding offices to report to the clearinghouses on major actions taken on applications reviewed by clearinghouses in accordance with OMB Circular A–95, and to notify States of grants-in-aid awarded in accordance with Treasury Circular 1082.

§ 1050.122 CSA implementing policies and procedures.

(a) Detailed CSA policies regarding the uses of the SF–424, including information on completing the form, will be found in reference (3).

(b) Detailed policies and procedures for applying for grants under the Community Services Act will be found in references (4) through (8).

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

Office of Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANTS

Eligible Activities

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

Office of Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development

[24 CFR Part 570]

[Docket No. R-77-292]

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANTS

Eligible Activities

On January 19, 1976, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 2766) revised regulations containing rules for determining the eligibility of activities to be carried out under the community development block grant program under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. Subpart C of Part 570 of the regulations contains rules for determining the eligibility of activities to be carried out under the program. The purpose of this notice is to propose revised rules of a technical and substantive nature regarding the eligibility of various public works, facilities, and activities in conformity with the objectives of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 and to provide greater clarity.

The following sections of Subpart C are proposed to be amended:

1. Paragraph (a)(1) of § 570.200, acquisition, has been changed to indicate that acquisition must be carried out either by the applicant or other public agency in behalf of the applicant.

2. Paragraph (a)(2)(i), neighborhood facilities, has been reorganized to clarify the nature of facilities eligible for assistance pursuant to this paragraph. Neighborhood facilities are defined to indicate that such facilities must be designed to serve a particular neighborhood and to provide certain services primarily for residents of that area. The term "neighborhood" is defined to mean either an area within a unit of general local government that is locally identified as a neighborhood, community, or district; or the entire unit of general local government may be considered a single neighborhood, for the purposes of § 570.200 (a)(2)(i), in two instances: First, when a unit of general local government is under 10,000 population; and second, when a unit of general local government is over 10,000 population and locally identified as a single neighborhood or as has having no separately identifiable neighborhoods within the unit of general local government.

3. Paragraph (a)(2)(iii), historic properties, has been expanded to specify that privately owned and publicly owned historical properties may be either reconstructed or rehabilitated. Publicly owned historic properties which are facilities that are normally ineligible for assistance because of their use may, nonetheless, be reconstructed or rehabilitated under the requirements of this provision.

4. Paragraph (a)(2)(v), public works related to streets, has been expanded to clarify that bridges are among the street and other similar facilities eligible for assistance under this part pursuant to this paragraph.

5. Paragraph (a)(2)(x), flood and drainage facilities, contains a definition of the term "flood and drainage facilities." The definition makes a distinction between flood and drainage facilities eligible for assistance under this Part pursuant to this paragraph and storm sewers which are eligible for assistance pursuant to paragraph (a)(2)(iv) of this section. Further, a definition of the term "storm sewers" is provided.

6. Paragraph (a)(2)(xi), parking facilities, solid waste disposal facilities, and fire protection facilities and equipment, has been expanded to provide definitions of the terms "solid waste disposal facilities," "fire protection facilities," and "fire protection equipment" to clarify the types of facilities and equipment eligible for assistance under this Part pursuant to this paragraph.

7. Paragraph (a)(4), rehabilitation activities, has been revised. Paragraph (a)(4)(i) now indicates that publicly owned properties as well as publicly acquired properties may be rehabilitated for use or resale in the provision of housing. Paragraph (a)(4)(iii) indicates that in accordance with the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, interim assistance must be provided in connection with a physical development activity eligible for assistance under this part which is described in the community development program in order to be assisted pursuant to this paragraph. Paragraph (a)(4)(iv) provides revised language regarding the refinancing of existing indebtedness of properties receiving rehabilitation assistance when neeessary or appropriate to the execution of an approved community development program. The regulations further indicate that "being provided in connection with other physical development activities" means that those activities have occurred during the current program year or two prior or subsequent years; or, in the case of a discretionary grantee pursuant to § 570.402, during the designated period of the discretionary grant.

8. Paragraph (a)(5), special projects to remove architectural barriers for the elderly or handicapped, has been clarified to indicate that assistance may be provided to remove architectural and material barriers which restrict the mobility and accessibility of the elderly or handicapped not only to public owned buildings, facilities, and improvements, but to privately owned buildings, facilities, and improvements as well.

9. Paragraph (a)(12), planning activities, has been revised. The nature of a comprehensive community development plan is defined and the types of activities necessary for its preparation have been clarified. The activities may include data gathering and studies, with the exception that detailed planning and engineering of ineligible facilities pursuant to § 570.201 is not permitted; the actual preparation of the comprehensive community development plan or its components is permitted; actions necessary for the implementation of the comprehensive community development plan are permitted; and functional planning, which includes detailed planning and engineering activities of facilities and activities eligible for assistance under this Part is permitted so long as the appropriate environmental clearance pursuant to 24 CFR Part 58 have been completed. The nature of the improvement of the policy-planning-management capacity of the applicant has also been clarified to illustrate the link between the comprehensive community development plan and activities of the applicant to exercise management of its implementation.

Further, the following paragraphs of § 570.201, Ineligible Activities, are proposed to be amended:

1. Paragraph (a)(3), community wide facilities, has been reserved to eliminate the ambiguity generated by the prior language. Any public facility eligible for assistance pursuant to §§ 570.200(a)(2)(ii)–(xii) may be communitywide in service. A neighborhood facility eligible for assistance pursuant to § 570.200(a)(2)(i) shall serve only the neighborhood for which it is intended. It should be noted that the regulations provide three instances when a neighborhood is synonymous with the entire unit of local government. Any other public facility which is not eligible for assistance pursuant to this Subpart shall not be assisted regardless of its service area. For example, a central library is not eligible for assistance pursuant to this subpart, but a branch library, which serves a particular neighborhood may be assisted as a neighborhood facility.

2. Paragraph (a)(4)(i) has been changed to indicate that neighborhood facilities, senior centers and centers for the handicapped are not considered as school or educational facilities for the purposes of this paragraph.

3. Paragraph (a)(4)(ii) sets forth a second exception to the general prohibition against school type facilities. In the case of a facility, otherwise eligible pursuant to § 570.200(a)(2), that is to be located on a site that is owned or controlled by a school district, school board, or similar public body, the facility may be assisted so long as the access of the general public to the facility is not restricted during normal hours of operation of the facility.

4. Paragraph (a)(8) states that when a facility, otherwise eligible for assistance pursuant to § 570.200(a)(2), is to be provided as a part of a larger multiple-use building, which is otherwise ineligible for assistance, such a facility may not be assisted except when it will occupy a designated and discrete area within the larger building and the costs attributable to that facility can be determined as separate and distinct from the overall costs of the multiple-use building.

5. Paragraph (c) of § 570.201 has been changed to clarify that the cost of operating and routine maintenance of a public facility are ineligible for assistance.

6. Paragraph (f) of § 570.201 states that the new construction of residential structures and facilities, with the exception of housing of last resort for relocation resources pursuant to 24 CFR Part 43, are not eligible for assistance. Several examples of residential facilities which are ineligible for assistance are dormitories, group homes, and halfway houses.

7. Further, paragraph (f) of § 570.201 has been changed to indicate that the provision of sites, public improvements and similar activities for the development of low- or moderate-income housing are not considered as subsidies of new residential construction for the purposes of this paragraph.

8. Paragraph (g) of § 570.201 adds another example to those income payments ineligible for assistance which clarifies that the payment of taxes, levies, and charges assessed against parcels of real estate in behalf of the property owner is not eligible for assistance. Certain payments to property owners are eligible for assistance pursuant to this Subpart and these payments are not precluded by this paragraph.

Interested person are invited to participate in the making of the final rule by submitting written comments or views on the proposed amendments. Comments should be filed with the Rules Docket Clerk, Room 10141, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20410. All relevant materials received on or before February 18, 1977, will be considered before adoption of final rule. Copies of comments will be available for examination during business hours at the above address.

In connection with the environmental review of the proposed amendments to §§ 570.200 and 570.201, a Finding of Inapplicability has been made under HUD Handbook 1390.1, (38 FR 19182). A copy of the Finding is available for inspection at the above address.

NOTE.—It is hereby certified that the economic and inflationary impacts of these proposed regulations have been carefully evaluated in accordance with OMB Circular No. A-107.

(Title I, Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 5301 et seq.); and sec. 7(d), Department of HUD Act (42 U.S.C. 3535(d)).)

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 24 CFR Part 570 as follows:

§ 570.200 [Amended]

1. Insert in § 570.200, paragraph (a)(1), aftter the word "Acquisition", the phrase "* * * by the applicant or public agency designated pursuant to § 570.3(b) * * *".

2. Section 570.200 would be amended by revising paragraphs (a)(2)(i), (a)(2)(iii), (a)(2)(v), (a)(2)(x), (a)(2)(xi), (a)(4, (a)(4), and (a)(12) as follows:

(a) * * *

(2) * * *

(i) Neighborhood facilities of either a single purpose or multipurpose nature which provide health, social, recreational, or similar community services primarily for residents of the area served. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term "neighborhood" means either (A) a location within a unit of general local government locally identified as a neighborhood, community, or district; or (B) an entire unit of general local government which either (1) is under 10,000 population, or (2) is over 10,000 population and is locally identified as a single neighborhood, or as having no identifiable neighborhoods.

* * * * *

(iii) Historic properties, including (A) reconstruction or rehabilitation of privately owned properties for which there is public access; and (B) reconstruction and rehabilitation of publicly owned properties, whether or not such properties are otherwise eligible for assistance under this part.

* * * * *

(v) Streets, bridges, street lights, traffic signals, signs, street furniture, trees, and other normal appurtenances to streets, but excluding expressways and other limited access ways.

* * * * *

(x) Flood and drainage facilities in cases where assistance for such facilities has been determined to be unavailable under other Federal laws or programs pursuant to the provisions of § 570.607. For the purpose of this paragraph the term "flood and drainage facilities" means those undertakings, other than storm sewers, designed to influence or effect the flow in a natural water course. Further, the term "storm sewer" (which are eligible for assistance under this part pursuant to § 570.200(a)(2)(vi)) means sewers or other conduits, open or closed, or their appurtenances which collect, transport, and dispose of storm waters, surface water, street wash, other wash and ground water or drainage into an existing water course, excluding domestic waste water and industrial wastes.

(xi) Parking facilities, solid waste disposal facilities, and fire protection facilities and equipment which are located in or serve areas in which other activities included in the community development program described in § 570.303(b) are to be carried out. For the purposes of this paragraph, the terms solid waste disposal facilities, fire protection facilities, and fire protection equipment are defined as follows:

(A) Solid waste disposal facilities are defined as those physical parts of solid waste management systems commencing at and including the site or sites at which publicly or privately owned collection vehicles discharge municipal solid wastes, through the point of ultimate disposal including necessary site improvements and conveying systems, including appropriate fixed and movable equipment. For the purpose of this paragraph, all equipment and appurtenances used in the collection and/or transportation of solid wastes are not included among those solid waste disposal facilities eligible for assistance under this part.

(B) Fire protection facilities are defined as the land and necessary improvements thereto which are necessary for properly housing and storing fire protection equipment by a fire protection organization.

(C) Fire protection equipment is defined as the appropriate equipment and apparatus which an organization, public or private, requires for carrying out a program for protecting property and maintaining the safety and welfare of the public including emergency medical aid.

* * * * *

(4) Clearance, demolition, removal, and rehabilitation of buildings and improvements, including:

(i) Rehabilitation of publicly owned or acquired properties for use or resale in the provision of housing;

(ii) Demolition and modernization (but not new construction) of publicly owned low-income housing;

(iii) Interim assistance to alleviate harmful conditions in which immediate public action is needed when provided in connection with a physical development activity described in the Community Development Program which is eligible for assistance under this part; and

(iv) The financing of rehabilitation of privately owned properties through the direct use of funds in the provision of grants, loans, loan guarantees, and interest supplements when provided in connection with a physical development activity described in the Community Development Program which is eligible for assistance under this part. Loans for the rehabilitation of residential property may include an amount to refinance existing indebtedness secured by such property if such refinancing is necessary or appropriate to the execution of a HUD-approved Community Development Program.

For the purpose of this paragraph, interim assistance and rehabilitation will be considered to be provided in connection with other physical development activities if such physical development activities are being undertaken in the current program year or within two program years immediately prior to or subsequent to the current program year; or, in the case of a discretionary grantee pursuant to § 570.402, during the designated program period of such discretionary grant.

(5) Special projects directed to the removal of material and architectural barriers in publicly or privately owned buildings, facilities, and improvements which restrict the mobility and accessibility of elderly or handicapped persons.

* * * * *

(12) Activities necessary: (i) To develop a comprehensive community development plan. For the purpose of this paragraph, the term "comprehensive community development plan" means a statement or statements (in words, maps, illustrations, or other methods of communication) which identify the present conditions, needs, and major problems of the applicant's jurisdiction relating to the full range of community development and housing concerns and setting forth objectives, policies, and standards to assist the applicant in developing and implementing a community development program. The activities to develop a comprehensive community development plan may include:

(A) Data gathering and studies necessary for the development of the plan or its components, excluding the gathering of detailed data and preparing of analyses necessary for the engineering and design of facilities or activities ineligible for assistance under this part pursuant to § 570.201;

(B) Development of statements of objectives, policies, and standards regarding proposed or foreseeable changes in present conditions or problems of concern to the applicant;

(C) Development of a three-year community development plan summary pursuant to § 570.303(a) which identifies community development needs, demonstrates a comprehensive strategy for meeting those needs and specifies both short- and long-term objectives to guide the applicant's community development program;

(D) Functional planning, including, but not limited to, the preparation of plans for land use, housing, open space, recreation, utilities, historic preservation, economic development, communitywide environmental assessments, and other community development programs, facilities, and activities to the extent eligible for assistance pursuant to this subpart;

(E) The collection of detailed data, preparation of analyses, engineering and design of facilities and activities eligible for assistance pursuant to this subpart, for which the appropriate environmental clearances have been completed pursuant to 24 CFR Part 58, but only such public services as are eligible for assistance pursuant to § 570.200(a)(8); and

(F) Development of other actions necessary for the implementation of the plan including the development of codes, ordinances, and regulations, and the assessment of the environmental, social, and economic consequences resulting from the objectives, policies, standards, and activities set forth by the plan.

(ii) To develop a policy-planning-management capacity so that the applicant may (A) set long-term goals and short-term objectives related to the community development and housing needs of its jurisdiction; (B) devise programs and activities to meet these goals and objectives; (C) evaluate the progress of such programs and activities and the extent to which the goals and objectives have been accomplished and (D) carry out the management, coordination, and monitoring of the activities and programs that are a part of the applicant's community development program.

* * * * *

3. Section 570.201 would be amended by reserving paragraph (a)(3) and revising paragraphs (a)(4), (a)(8), (c), (f), and (g) as follows:

§ 570.201 Ineligible activities.

(a) * * *

(3) [Reserved]

(4) Schools and educational facilities, (including elementary, secondary, college and university facilities). For the purpose of this paragraph,

(i) A neighborhood facility, senior center, or center for the handicapped in which classes in practical and vocational activities (such as first aid, homemaking, crafts, etc.) may be taught, are not considered as school or educational facilities; and

(ii) Any facility, otherwise eligible for assistance under this part pursuant to § 570.200(a)(2), which is to be located on a site controlled by a school district, school board, or similar public body: Provided, That the access of the general public to the facility is not restricted during normal hours of operation, is not considered as a school or educational facility.

* * * * *

(8) Any facility, otherwise eligible for assistance under this Part pursuant to § 570.200(a)(2) which is to be provided as a part of a multiple-use building/facility that is otherwise ineligible for assistance under this part, except when (i) the facility proposed for assistance will occupy a designated and discrete area within the larger facility; and (ii) the costs attributable to the facility proposed for assistance can be determined as separate and distinct from the overall costs of the multiple-use building or facility. For exemple, a senior center, which is to occupy space within a building that is otherwise used for the conduct of general governmental business, is eligible for assistance when it occupies a separate designated area within the building (i.e., the senior center does not "float" to different spaces that happen to be available on a less than permament basis) and the cost associated with providing the senior center can be determined as distinct from the costs associated with remaining ineligible portions of the building.

* * * * *

(c) Operating and maintenance expenses. Expenses associated with the operation and maintenance of public facilities and works are not eligible for assistance. Examples include maintenance and repairs of water and sewer and parking facilities, and salaries of staff operating such public facilities and works.

* * * * *

(f) New housing construction. Construction of new permanent residential structures or facilities, or any program to subsidize or finance such construction, is not a permissible use of assistance provided under this part, except as provided under the last resort housing provisions set forth in 24 CFR Part 43. Examples of facilities which can not be constructed are dormitories, group homes, and halfway houses. For the purpose of this paragraph, the provision of sites, public improvements, and similar activities for the development of low or moderate income housing are not considered as programs to subsidize or finance new residential construction.

* * * * *

(g) Income payments. Except as authorized under § 570.200, funds may not be expended for income payments for housing and for any other purpose. Examples include payments for income maintenance, housing allowances, down payments, mortgage subsidies and payment of any tax, levy, or charge assessed against a parcel of real estate in behalf of the property owner.

Title 3—The President

Executive Order 11957 • January 13, 1977

Designation of Certain Officers To Act as Secretary of Agriculture

By virtue of the authority vested in me by Section 3347 of Title 5 and Section 301 of Title 3 of the United States Code, and as President of the United States of America, it is hereby ordered as follows:

SECTION 1. During any period when, by reason of absence, disability, or vacancy in office, both the Secretary of Agriculture and the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture are not available to exercise the powers or perform the duties of the Office of Secretary, the officers from the Department of Agriculture whose appointments are vested in the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall act as Secretary in such order as the Secretary of Agriculture may from time to time prescribe. If no such order of succession is in effect at that time, then such officers shall act as Secretary in the descending order of rank, as established by the listing of their offices in Sections 5314, 5315 or 5316 of Title 5 of the United States Code and, at each level of the Executive Schedule, in the order in which they shall have taken oath as such officers.

SEC. 2. Executive Order No. 11793 of July 10, 1974, is hereby revoked.

Title 5—Administrative Personnel

CHAPTER I—CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

PART 213—EXCEPTED SERVICE

Department of State

Section 213.3304 is amended to show that one position of Special Assistant to the Secretary is excepted under Schedule C.

Effective January 18, 1977, § 213.3304 (a) (25) is added as set out below:

§ 213.3304 Department of State.

(a) Office of the Secretary.

* * * * *

(25) One Special Assistant to the Secretary.

(5 U.S.C. 3301, 3302; EO 10577, 3 CFR 1954–1958 Comp., p. 218.)

PART 610—HOURS OF DUTY

Amending Hours of Duty and Holiday Regulations

The Civil Service Commission is amending Part 610 to (1) reflect the statutory changes effected by sections 6 and 7, Pub. L. 92–392, making prevailing rate employees subject to hours of duty provisions of § 6101 of title 5, United States Code, and Subpart A of this Part; (2) update regulations to conform to Executive Order No. 11582, which now governs holiday observances, and (3) revoke a subsection which is no longer necessary pertaining to the observance of holidays.

Sections 610.101, 201, and 202 are amended, as set out below.

§ 610.101 Coverage.

This subpart applies to each employee to whom Subpart A of Part 550 applies and to each employee whose pay is fixed and adjusted from time to time under section 5343 or 5349 of title 5, United States Code, or by a wage board or similar administrative authority serving the same purpose.

§ 610.201 Identification of holidays.

In this subpart, "holiday" has the same meaning given that word in section 2(a) of Executive Order No. 11582.

§ 610.202 Determining the holiday.

For purposes of pay and leave, the day to be treated as a holiday is determined as follows:

(a) When a holiday falls on a workday in an employee's basic workweek (as defined in § 610.102(c)), that workday is his or her holiday.

(b) When a holiday falls on a nonworkday outside an employee's basic workweek, the day to be treated as his or her holiday is determined in accordance with section 6103(b) of title 5, United States Code, and Executive Order No. 11582.

NOTE.—The Civil Service Commission has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A–107.

Title 7—Agriculture

CHAPTER IX—AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE (MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND ORDERS; FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

[Lemon Regulation 74, Amdt. 1]

PART 910—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

Limitation of Handling

This regulation increases the quantity of California-Arizona lemons that may be shipped to fresh market during the weekly regulation period January 9–15, 1977. The quantity that may be shipped is increased due to improved market conditions for California-Arizona lemons. The regulation and this amendment are issued pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and Marketing Order No. 910.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 910, as amended (7 CFR Part 910), regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such lemons, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) The need for an increase in the quantity of lemons available for handling during the current week results from changes that have taken place in the marketing situation since the issuance of Lemon Regulation 74 (42 FR 1476). The marketing picture now indicates that there is a greater demand for lemons than existed when the regulation was made effective. Therefore, in order to provide an opportunity for handlers to handle a sufficient volume of lemons to fill the current market demand thereby making a greater quantity of lemons available to meet such increased demand, the regulation should be amended, as hereinafter set forth.

(3) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rulemaking procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restriction on the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona.

(b) Order, as amended. Paragraph (b) (1) of § 910.374 (Lemon Regulation 74 (42 FR 1476)) is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 910.374 Lemon Regulation 74.

* * * * *

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in California and Arizona which may be handled during the period January 9, 1977 through January 15, 1977, is hereby fixed at 225,000 cartons.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674.)

Dated: January 12, 1977.

Acting Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

Title 9—Animals and Animal Products

CHAPTER I—ANIMAL AND PLANT HEALTH INSPECTION SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

SUBCHAPTER C—INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION OF ANIMALS (INCLUDING POULTRY) AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

PART 73—SCABIES IN CATTLE

Release of Area Quarantined

This amendment releases a portion of Pinal County in Arizona from the areas quarantined because of cattle scabies. Therefore, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of cattle from quarantined areas contained in 9 CFR Part 73, as amended, will not apply to the excluded area, but the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of cattle from nonquarantined areas contained in said Part 73 will apply to the excluded area. No areas remain under quarantine in Arizona.

Accordingly, Part 73, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, as amended, restricting the interstate movement of cattle because of scabies is hereby amended as follows:

§ 731.a [Amended]

In § 73.1a, paragraph (c) relating to the State of Arizona is deleted.

(Secs. 4–7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended; secs. 1 and 2, 32 Stat. 791–792, as amended; secs. 1–4, 33 Stat. 1264, 1265, as amended; secs. 3 and 11, 76 Stat. 130, 132; (21 U.S.C. 111–113, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134b, 134f); 37 FR 28464, 28477; 38 FR 19141.)

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective January 13, 1977.

The amendment relieves restrictions no longer deemed necessary to prevent the spread of cattle scabies and should be made effective promptly in order to be of maximum benefit to affected persons. It does not appear that public participation in this rulemaking proceeding would make additional relevant information available to the Department.

Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and unnecessary, and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 13th day of January 1977.

NOTE.—The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

CHAPTER III—ANIMAL AND PLANT HEALTH INSPECTION SERVICE, MEAT AND POULTRY INSPECTION, DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

SUBCHAPTER A—MANDATORY MEAT INSPECTION

PART 317—LABELING, MARKING DEVICES, AND CONTAINERS

PART 319—DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS OF IDENTITY OR COMPOSITION

"Country," "Country Style," or "Dry Cured" Hams and Pork Shoulders

• Purpose.—The purpose of this document is to establish standards of composition for "Country," "Country Style," or "Dry Cured" hams and pork shoulder products to become effective July 1, 1978. •

Statement of Considerations.—On September 5, 1975, there appeared in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 41139–41140) a notice of proposed rulemaking under the Federal Meat Inspection Act, as amended (21 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), which proposed to amend the Federal meat inspection regulations (9 CFR Parts 317 and 319) to establish standards of composition for "Country Ham," "Country Style Ham," "Country Pork Shoulder," "Country Style Pork Shoulder," "Dry Cured Ham," and "Dry Cured Pork Shoulder."

As the result of such notice, a total of 203 comments were received from processors; industrial, national, and State associations; State Departments of Agriculture; academic institutions; consumers; and the political community. One hundred and fifty-eight comments favored the proposal, and 45 comments opposed the proposal or expressed objections or reservations to the proposal.

Those favoring the proposal offered these general reasons:

1. A standard would protect the integrity and traditional characteristics of those products and encourage participation in the marketplace by all processors, including the small processors who include long-term aging as part of their process.

2. The consumer is entitled to know that those products conform to certain requirements.

3. The requirements allow processors considerable flexibility for individual differences, such as longer aging time and varying smoking practices.

Twenty-five of the comments stated that the 95° F. internal temperature limit on product during drying and aging was unclear and could be interpreted to mean that individuals who smoke their product outdoors under natural climatic conditions would be subject to the temperature limitation. During the summer months, the natural climatic temperature may exceed 95° F.; therefore, these processors would exceed the 95° F. limits at times during the smoking phase. However, in view of the conditions and practices under which such products are prepared they would meet the minimum standard requirements for curing, salt equalization, and aging time prior to exceeding 95° F. The 95° F. maximum temperature was not intended to apply to such operations, and this matter has been clarified in the regulation.

Five comments opposed the proposal on the basis that the proposed minimum processing period of 70-days for "Country" or "Country Style Ham" was an inadequate time period for developing a finished product with characteristics traditionally associated with such hams, especially in some geographic areas. Some suggested that at least 6 months' time was needed and should be required. The Department has determined, on the basis of its review of considerable information in connection with the proposal, and that received during the comment period, that such a product can be prepared in 70 days with all the significant characteristics that have been associated with the product.

Some comments stated that an expressed requirement of a minimum of 4 percent salt in products containing certain nitrates or nitrites would cause unnecessary time and expense in connection with determinations of salt content.

This does not appear to be a valid objection since the Department has determined that a minimum of 4 percent salt is necessary to assure that such products would not develop bone sour or other deep tissue spoilage which would not be readily evident.

Eight comments from individual processors, one State processors' association, one industry trade organization, and a delegation of nine Congressional Representatives objected to the need for such a regulation. They expressed the belief that the Department should be concerned only with wholesomeness, and the processor should otherwise be free to prepare the product as desired. They stated, however, that if a standard were promulgated, it should be on the basis of finished product characteristics, such as percent moisture, rather than involving processing procedures.

In this connection it should be noted that section 7(c) of the Federal Meat Inspection Act (21 U.S.C. 607(c) authorizes the Secretary to promulgate standards of identity or composition for meat and meat food products whenever, after specified consultations, he determines that such action is necessary for the protection of the public and would not be inconsistent with any standard under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. The Secretary has determined, after consultations pursuant to the Act, that the standards for hams and pork shoulders, established herein are necessary for the protection of the public in order to assure that such products labeled as "Country," "Country Style," or "Dry Cured" have those basic characteristics that consumers associate with such products so labeled and that said standards would not be inconsistent with any standard under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. Further, the Department determined that specific processing procedures are necessary to be included in the standards in order to assure that the finished products have those characteristics associated with such hams and pork shoulders.

Product prepared in accordance with the methods of preparation specified in the standards will result in product capable of being distributed without refrigeration. Therefore, the specific provisions in the proposal regarding this matter are being deleted since they are unnecessary.

The Department recognizes that label changes would be required by the establishment of these standards and that the procurement of new labels takes time. Therefore, the standards will not become effective and labels in compliance with their provisions will not be required until July 1, 1978.

In considering the technical aspects of this rulemaking as it relates to trichinae treatment required for such products, the Department recognized that, should hams or pork shoulders be produced in the minimum time specified and at temperatures considerably lower than the maximum specified, the finished product may not have been adequately treated for the destruction of possible live trichinae. In this connection wording is added to emphasize that none of the provisions of the standards could be interpreted as discharging trichinae treatment requirements. The product will be required to be treated in accordance with such methods as may be approved by the Administrator upon request in specific instances.

The proposed requirement concerning the internal salt content of at least 4 percent in § 309.106(c)(3) was intended to apply whenever any combination of the specified nitrates or nitrites were used, and this has been clarified.

The proposal specified four nutritive sweeteners for use as optional ingredients in such products. The Department has determined upon further consideration that any of the class of "nutritive sweeteners" should be permitted to be used in such products. This would allow greater flexibility of formulation without changing the basic characteristics that consumers associate with such products.

Other minor changes have been made for purposes of clarification.

Based on all of the information available to the Department it has been determined to be in the public interest to amend the Federal meat inspection regulations to provide standards for the subject products as follows.

1. Subpart D of Part 319 is amended by adding thereto a new § 319.106 to read:

§ 319.106 "Country Ham," "Country Style Ham," "Dry Cured Ham," "Country Pork Shoulder," "Country Style Pork Shoulder," and "Dry Cured Pork Shoulder."

(a) "Country Ham," "Country Style Ham," or "Dry Cured Ham," and "Country Pork Shoulder," "Country Style Pork Shoulder," or "Dry Cured Pork Shoulder" are the uncooked, cured, dried, smoked or unsmoked meat food products made respectively from a single piece of meat conforming to the definition of "ham," as specified in § 317.8(b)(13) of this subchapter, or from a single piece of meat from a pork shoulder. They are prepared in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section by the dry application of salt (NaCl), or by the dry application of salt (NaCl) and one or more of the optional ingredients as specified in paragraph (d) of this section. They may not be injected with curing solutions nor placed in curing solutions.

(b) The product must be treated for the destruction of possible live trichinae in accordance with such methods as may be approved by the Administrator upon request in specific instances and none of the provisions of this standard can be interpreted as discharging trichinae treatment requirements.

(c)(1) The entire exterior of the ham or pork shoulder shall be coated by the dry application of salt or by the dry application of salt combined with other ingredients as permitted in paragraph (d) of this section.

(2) Additional salt, or salt mixed with other permitted ingredients, may be reapplied to the product as necessary to insure complete penetration.

(3) When sodium or potassium nitrate, or sodium or potassium nitrite, or a combination thereof, is used, the application of salt shall be in sufficient quantity to insure that the finished product has an internal salt content of at least 4 percent.

(4) When no sodium nitrate, potassium nitrate, sodium nitrite, potassium nitrite or a combination thereof is used, the application of salt shall be in sufficient quantity to insure that the finished product has a brine concentration of not less than 10 percent or a water activity of not more than 0.92.

(5) For hams or pork shoulders labeled "country" or "country style," the combined period for curing and salt equalization shall not be less than 45 days for hams, and shall not be less than 25 days for pork shoulders; the total time for curing, salt equalization, and drying shall not be less than 70 days for hams, and shall not be less than 50 days for pork shoulders. During the drying and smoking period, the internal temperature of the product must not exceed 95° F., provided that such temperature requirement shall not apply to product dried or smoked under natural climatic conditions.

(6) For hams or pork shoulders labeled "dry cured," the combined period for curing and salt equalization shall not be less than 45 days for hams, and shall not be less than 25 days for pork shoulders; and the total time for curing, salt equalization, and drying shall not be less than 55 days for hams and shall not be less than 40 days for pork shoulders.

(7) The weight of the finished hams and pork shoulders covered in this section shall be at least 18 percent less than the fresh uncured weight of the article.

(d) The optional ingredients for products covered in this section are:

(1) Nutritive sweeteners, spices, seasonings and flavorings.

(2) Sodium or potassium nitrate and sodium or potassium nitrite if used as prescribed in this section and in accordance with § 318.7(c)(4) of this subchapter.

§ 317.8 [Amended]

2. In § 317.8(b), the following provision is added at the end of the first sentence in subparagraph (2): ": And Provided further, That the provisions of this subparagraph shall not apply to products prepared in accordance with § 319.106 of this subchapter."

It does not appear that further public participation in rulemaking proceedings on the proposal would make additional information available to the Department which would significantly alter the nature of this proceeding. Therefore, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that further notice and other public rulemaking procedures are unnecessary.

The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

The foregoing amendments shall become effective July 1, 1978.

Done at Washington, D.C., on January 14, 1977.

Acting Administrator, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

CHAPTER II—CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

SUBCHAPTER A—ECONOMIC REGULATIONS

[Regulation ER-981, Amdt. 55]

PART 288—EXEMPTION OF AIR CARRIERS FOR MILITARY TRANSPORTATION

Amendment of Part

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., January 11, 1977.

Effective: January 11, 1977.

Adopted: January 11, 1977.

In accordance with the methodology established in the Notice of Final Action on Revised Procedure for Part 288 [1] the Board has completed its monthly review of fuel prices reported on C.A.B. Form 41, Schedule P-12(a) for foreign and overseas MAC air transportation services for the month of November 1976, and is herein amending the surcharge provisions in Part 288 of its Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 288) applicable to the rates established or those services.[2] The basis for issuing this surcharge amendment is the reduction in average fuel price for the participating MAC carriers by 1.16 cents per gallon, from 40.51 cents per gallon reflected in the currently-effective fuel surcharge rate[3] to the currently reported average price of 39.35 cents per gallon.

[1] Docket 29579, dated December 22, 1976.

The Appendix sets forth the results of the surcharge rate computation for the reported fuel price changes for commercial and military fuels consumed in military charter service for the month of November 1976, as reported on Schedule P–12(a); and the rate impact for the changes in current average fuel prices from that reflected in the base rates. Accordingly, we will revise the fuel surcharge rates effective January 11, 1977, to decrease the long-range Category B and Category A rate from 2.79 to 1.95 percent.

[2] ER–962, effective July 27, 1976.
[3] ER–972, effective October 1, 1976.

In view of the continuing need for a fuel surcharge to the minimum rates set forth in Part 288, we find good cause exists to make the within amendments effective on less than thirty (30) days' notice.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Board hereby amends Part 288 of its Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 288) effective January 11, 1977, as follows:

1. Amend § 288.7(a) by amending the third proviso following the table to read as follows:

§ 288.7 Reasonable level of compensation.

* * * * * * *

(a) * * *: Provided, however, That effective January 11, 1977, the total minimum compensation pursuant to the rates set forth in subparagraph (1) above for (i) services performed with regular jet, wide-bodied jet, and DC–8F–61/63 aircraft, (ii) Pacific interisland services performed with B–727 aircraft, and (iii) all other services performed with B–727 aircraft shall be increased by surcharges of 1.95 percent, 3.57 percent, and 3.57 percent, respectively.[1]

2. Amend § 288.7(d) by amending the proviso to subparagraphs (1) and (2) to read as follows:

§ 288.7 Reasonable level of compensation.

* * * * * * *

(d) * * *

* * * * * * *

Provided, That effective January 11, 1977, the total minimum compensation pursuant to the rates specified in paragraphs (d) (1) and (2) of this paragraph shall be increased by a surcharge of 1.95 percent.

* * * * * * *

(Secs. 204, 403 and 416 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended; 72 Stat. 743, 758 and 771, as amended; 49 USC 1324, 1373 and 1386.)

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

PHYLLIS T. KAYLOR,
Secretary.

PART 2—NONADJUDICATIVE PROCEDURES

Subpart C—Consent Order Procedure

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENT

The Commission announces the following amendment to Chapter I of Title 16 of the Code of Federal Regulations. The purpose of the amendment is to clarify the Commission's procedure following the placement of a consent agreement on the public record. This amendment is effective on publication (January 18, 1977), and will be applicable to all consent agreements executed (signed by Commission staff and respondents) after that date.

Section 2.32 is amended to read as follows:

§ 2.32 Agreement.

Every agreement shall contain, in addition to an appropriate order, either an admission of the proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law submitted simultaneously by the Commission's staff or an admission of all jurisdictional facts and an express waiver of the requirement that the Commission's decision contain a statement of findings of fact and conclusions of law. In addition, every agreement shall contain waivers of further procedural steps and of all rights to seek judicial review or otherwise to challenge or contest the validity of the order. The agreement shall also contain provisions that the complaint may be used in construing the terms of the order, and that no agreement, understanding, representation, or interpretation not contained in the order or the aforementioned agreement may be used to vary or to contradict the terms of the order; that the order shall have the same force and effect and may be altered, modified, or set aside in the same manner provided by statute for other orders; that the order shall become final upon service; that the agreement shall not become a part of the public record unless and until it is accepted by the Commission; that the Commission will place the order contained therein on the public record for a period of sixty

(60) days for the receipt and consideration of comments or views from any interested person; and that the Commission thereafter may either withdraw its acceptance of the agreement and so notify the other party, in which event it will take such other action as it may consider appropriate, or issue and serve its complaint (in such form as the circumstances may require) and decision, in disposition of the proceeding. In addition, in appropriate circumstances the agreement may contain a statement that the signing thereof is for settlement purposes only and does not constitute an admission by any party that the law has been violated as alleged in the complaint.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721 (15 U.S.C. 46).)

By direction of the Commission dated December 14, 1976.

Title 17—Commodity and Securities Exchanges

CHAPTER II—SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34–13113; File No. S7–603]

PART 240—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS, SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

Uniform Net Capital Rule

The Securities and Exchange Commission today announced the adoption of certain amendments to Rule 15c3–1 [17 CFR 240.15c3–11] ("§ 240.15c3–1"), the uniform net capital rule, under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The amendments continue the suspension of certain provisions of the net capital rule pertaining to transactions in municipal securities until May 1, 1977.

The Commission, in Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12482 (May 26, 1976) [41 FR 14114 (June 15, 1976)] ("Release No. 12482"), adopted certain amendments to § 240.15c3–1 pertaining to transactions in municipal securities.

The Commission also requested public comment, especially by way of impact studies and other appropriate statistical compilations, concerning certain of the more intricate questions arising from application of § 240.15c3–1 to transactions in municipal securities. In this connection, the Commission specifically requested public comment concerning position size and time-in-inventory parameters appropriately evidencing undue concentrations in municipal securities, the contours of a "ready market" for municipal securities, and the need for adjustments to the alternative as applied to brokers and dealers effecting transactions solely in municipal securities.

Thereafter, several members of the public invested considerable time and effort in the production of statistical analyses and other studies bearing upon the questions propounded for comment by the Commission. The results of their work have been of great value to the Commission, which appreciates their highly constructive response to its request. Largely as a result of their work, the Commission is progressing towards definitive solutions of the regulatory issues involved in the Commission's request for comment in Release No. 12482. With the aid of further impact data directed to certain issues raised by the application of § 240.15c3–1 to transactions in municipal securities, the Commission is confident that it can propose in the near future solutions to these remaining questions which are appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors. Accordingly, the Commission has determined to extend until May 1, 1977, the presently existing temporary amendments to § 140.15c3–1, in order to permit the public to develop and the Commission to analyze further information responsive to the Commission's renewed request for public comment.

SOLICITATION OF PUBLIC COMMENT

The Commission solicits the views of all interested members of the public concerning the appropriate net capital requirements for brokers and dealers effecting transactions in municipal securities. In particular, the Commission invites public comment addressed to the following questions:

1. On the basis of impact data and other appropriate statistical compilations, is it appropriate in the public interest and for the protestion of investors to consider unduly concentrated only those positions in municipal securities of an issue[1] which are long or short in the proprietary or other accounts of a broker or dealer longer than eleven business days, and which in market value exceed the greater of $500,000 or 10 percent of tentative net capital? Are these parameters appropriate as applied to positions in municipal notes?

2. In light of impact data and other appropriate statistical compilations, do there exist or can there be evolved uniform criteria for determining when a "ready market" for a particular municipal security exists?

3. On the basis of impact studies, trial capital computations and other appropriate statistical compilations, is it necessary to adjust the treatment of certain items under the alternative net capital requirement to reflect essential differences between the clearance and settlement mechanisms for municipal securities and their counterparts in the corporate securities industry? What would be the effect of modifications suggested in response to this question upon minimum net capital requirements for brokers and dealers effecting transactions in municipal securities, computed under the alternative net capital requirement as amended herein?

[1] For the purpose of this question, the term "municipal securities of an issue" should be assumed to denote all municipal securities issued by the same issuer and having the same dated date, maturity date, interest rate and credit backing.

Interested persons are invited to submit their views in triplicate to George A. Fitzsimmons, Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549, no later than March 1, 1977. Reference should be made to File No. S7–603. All comments received will be available for public inspection.

PUBLIC PROCEDURE

In Release No. 12482, the Commission invited public comment concerning several questions relating to the appropriate net capital requirements for brokers and dealers effecting transactions in municipal securities. The amendments to § 240.15c3–1 adopted herein are framed in light of considerations disclosed in the public's response to that invitation, and do not alter the existing regulatory scheme for such brokers and dealers. The Commission finds, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 553(b)(3)(B) (1970), that further notice and public procedure respecting these amendments is impracticable and unnecessary to the public interest. The Commission finds further that these amendments relieve regulatory restrictions within the meaning of 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(1) (1970), and may therefore become effective less than thirty days from their publication.

STATUTORY BASIS, EFFECTIVE DATE AND COMPETITIVE CONSIDERATIONS

Pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and particularly Sections 15(c)(3) and 23(a) thereof, 15 U.S.C. § 780(c)(3), w(a), the Commission amends § 240.15c3–1 in Part 240 of Chapter II of Title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations in the manner set forth below, effective January 1, 1977. The Commission finds that any burden imposed upon competition by the amendments is necessary and appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act, and particularly to implement the Commission's continuing mandate under Section 15(c)(3) thereof, 15 U.S.C. § 780(c)(3), to establish minimum financial responsibility standards for all brokers and dealers.

TEXT OF AMENDMENTS TO SECTION 240.15c3–1

The text of the amendments to § 240.15c3–1 is as follows:

1. Paragraphs (c)(2)(iv)(C) and (f)(1)(i) and (ii) are revised to read as follows:

§ 240.15c3–1 Net capital requirements for brokers or dealers.

* * * * * * *

(c) * * *
(2) * * *
(iv) * * *

(C) Interest receivable, floor brokerage receivable, commissions receivable from other brokers or dealers (other than syndicate profits which shall be treated as required in subdivision (c)(2)(iv)(E) below), mutual fund concessions receivable and management fees receivable from registered investment companies, all of which receivables are outstanding longer than thirty (30) days from the date they arise; dividends receivable outstanding longer than thirty (30) days from the payable date; good faith deposits arising in connection with an underwriting, outstanding longer than eleven (11) days from the settlement of the underwriting with the issuer; and, until May 1, 1977, receivables due from participation in municipal securities underwriting syndicates and municipal securities joint underwriting accounts which are outstanding longer than ninety (90) days from settlement of the underwriting with the issuer, and good faith deposits arising in connection with an underwriting of municipal securities, outstanding longer than ninety (90) days from settlement of the underwriting with the issuer;

* * * * *

(f) Alternative Net Capital Requirement. (1)(i) A broker or dealer who is not exempt from the provisions of 17 CFR 240.15c3-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 pursuant to subparagraph (k)(1) or (k)(2)(i) may elect not to be subject to the limitations of paragraph (a) of this section respecting aggregate indebtedness as defined in subparagraph (c)(1) of this section and certain deductions provided for in subparagraph (c)(2) of this section. Provided, that in order to qualify to operate under this paragraph (f), such broker or dealer shall at all times maintain net capital equal to the greater of $100,000 (until May 1, 1977, $25,000 in the case of a broker or dealer effecting transactions solely in municipal securities) or 4 percent of aggregate debit items computed in accordance with the Formula for Determination of Reserve Requirements for Brokers and Dealers (Exhibit A to Rule 15c3-3, 17 CFR 240.15c3-3a) and shall notify the Examining Authority for such broker or dealer and the Regional Office of the Commission in which the broker or dealer has its principal place of business, in writing, of its election to operate under this provision. Once a broker or dealer has determined to operate pursuant to the provisions of this paragraph (f), he shall continue to do so unless a change in such election is approved upon application to the Commission.

(ii) In the case of a municipal securities broker, as defined in section 3(a)(31) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, who is not exempt from the provisions of 17 CFR 240.15c3-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 pursuant to subparagraph (k)(1) or (k)(2)(i), and who effects transactions only on a payment versus delivery basis with other brokers or dealers or municipal securities brokers or municipal securities dealers, and who does not hold funds or securities for, or owe money to, customers and does not otherwise carry accounts of, or for, customers, in order to qualify to operate under this paragraph (f) such municipal securities broker shall at all times, until May 1, 1977, maintain net capital equal to the greater of $25,000 or 4 percent of aggregate debit items computed in accordance with Exhibit A to Rule 15c3-3, 17 CFR 240.15c3-3a. Provided, That in order to qualify to operate under this paragraph (f), such municipal securities broker shall notify the Examining Authority for such broker or dealer and the Regional Office of the Commission in which the broker or dealer has its principal place of business, in writing, of its election to operate under this provision. Once a municipal securities broker has determined to operate pursuant to this subparagraph (f), he shall continue to do so unless a change in such election is approved upon application to the Commission.

§ 240.15c3-1 [Amended]

2. In § 240.15c3-1, the last sentence of paragraphs (c)(2)(vi)(M) and (f)(3)(iii) is amended to read as follows: "Provided further, that until May 1, 1977, this paragraph shall not apply to municipal securities."

By the Commission.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

Title 21—Food and Drugs

CHAPTER I—FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

SUBCHAPTER B—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[Docket No. 76F-0272]

PART 121—FOOD ADDITIVES

Subpart F—Food Additives Resulting From Contact With Containers or Equipment and Food Additives Otherwise Affecting Food

OLEFIN POLYMERS

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is amending the food additive regulations to permit the use of a terpolymer in a blend with either polyethylene or polypropylene to be used as articles or components of articles intended for food contact and also to provide for the use of an antioxidant in the production of the terpolymer; effective January 18, 1977; objections by February 17, 1977.

Notice was given in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 26, 1976 (41 FR 30700), that a petition (FAP 6B3216) had been filed by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Wilmington, DE 19898, proposing that § 121.2501 (21 CFR 121.2501) be amended to provide for the safe use of a terpolymer of ethylene, propylene, and 1,4-hexadiene in a blend with either polyethylene or polypropylene to be used as articles or components of articles intended for food contact. Subsequently, amended notice was given in the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 5, 1976 (41 FR 48793) that the petition also proposed amending § 121.2566 (21 CFR 121.2566) to provide for the safe use of octadecyl 3,5-di-tert-butyl-4-hydroxyhydrocinnamate in the production of the terpolymer.

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs, having evaluated data in the petition and other relevant material, concludes that the food additive regulations should be amended as set forth below. Also, it has come to the Commissioner's attention that in FR Doc. 68-10502, appearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 31, 1968 (33 FR 12309), the temperature (135° C) to be used in determining the viscosity average molecular weight of olefin copolymers described in § 121.2501(a)(3)(iii) was inadvertently omitted from the regulation and should be inserted in § 121.2501(d)(5). The amended § 121.2501(d)(5) below includes this clarification.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 409(c)(1), 72 Stat. 1786 (21 U.S.C. 348(c)(1))) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner (21 CFR 5.1) (recodification published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 15, 1976 (41 FR 24262)), Part 121 is amended as follows:

1. In § 121.2501, by adding new paragraph (a)(3)(iv), by numerically adding new item 3.5 to the table in paragraph (c), and by revising paragraph (d)(5) to read as follows:

§ 121.2501 Olefin polymers.

* * * * *

(a) * * *

(3) * * *

(iv) Ethylene and propylene that may contain as a modifier not more than 4.5 weight percent of total polymer units derived by copolymerization with 1,4-hexadiene.

* * * * *

(c) * * *

Olefin polymers	Density	Melting point (MP) or softening point (SP)	Maximum extractable fraction (expressed as percent by weight of polymer) in n-hexane at specified temperatures	Maximum soluble fraction (expressed as percent by weight of polymer) in xylene at specified temperatures
* * *	*	*	*	*
3.5 Olefin copolymers, primarily nonerystalline, described in paragraph (a)(3)(iv) of this section, provided that such olefin polymers have a minimum viscosity average molecular weight of 95,000 as determined by the method described in paragraph (d)(5) of this section, and further provided that such olefin polymers are used only in blends with olefin polymers described under items 1.1, 2.1, and 2.2 of this table at a maximum level of 25 pct by weight, and provided that such olefin copolymers contact food only of the types identified in sec. 121.2526(e), table 1, under types I, II, IV-B, VI, VII-B, and VIII at temperatures not exceeding 19C° F.	0.85-0.90
* * *	*	*	*	*

(d) * * *

(5) Viscosity average molecular weight, olefin copolymers described in paragraphs (a)(3)(iii) and (iv) of this section. The viscosity average molecular weight shall be determined from the kinematic viscosity (ASTM Method D 445)[1] of solutions of the copolymers in solvents and at temperatures as follows:

(i) Olefin polymers described in paragraph (a)(3)(iii) of this section in decahydronaphthalene at 135° C.

(ii) Olefin polymers described in paragraph (a)(3)(iv) of this section in tetrachloroethylene at 30° C.

* * * * *

2. In § 121.2566(b) by revising limitation 5 on the substance "Octadecyl 3,5-di-tert-butyl-4-hydroxyhydrocinnamate" to read as follows:

§ 121.2566 Antioxidants and/or stabilizers for polymers.

* * * * *

(b) List of substances:

	Limitations
* * *	* * *
	For use only:
Octadecyl 3,5-di-tert-butyl-4-hydroxyhydrocinnamate.	5. At levels not exceeding 0.25 percent by weight of olefin copolymers complying with § 121.2501(c), items 3.4 and 3.5: Provided, That the finished polymer contacts nonfatty foods only of the types identified in § 121.2526, table 1, under categories I, II, IV-B, VI, VII-B, and VII.
* * *	* * *

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing regulation may at any time on or before February 17, 1977, file with the Hearing Clerk, Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4-65, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the regulation, specify with particularity the provisions of the regulation deemed objectionable, and state the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections shall state the issues for the hearing, shall be supported by grounds factually and legally sufficient to justify the relief sought, and shall include a detailed description and analysis of the factual information intended to be presented in support of the objections in the event that a hearing is held. Five copies of all documents shall be filed and should be identified with the Hearing Clerk docket number found in brackets in the heading of this regulation. Received objections may be seen in the above office between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

[1] Copies are available from: American Society for Testing and Materials, 1916 Race St., Philadelphia, PA 19103.

Effective date: This regulation shall become effective January 18, 1977.

(Sec. 409(c)(1), 72 Stat. 1786 (21 U.S.C. 348(c)(1)).)

Dated: January 10, 1977.

Title 29—Labor

CHAPTER V—WAGE AND HOUR DIVISION, DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

PART 613—THE JEWELRY AND MISCELLANEOUS PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

Wage Order

Pursuant to sections 5, 6, and 8 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1062, 1064, as amended (29 U.S.C. 205, 206, 208)), including the Fair Labor Standards Amendments of 1974 (Pub. L. 93-259; 88 Stat. 55), and Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (3 CFR 1949-53 Comp., p. 1004), and by means of Administrative Order No. 646 (41 FR 36705), the Secretary of Labor appointed and convened Industry Committee No. 136-A for the Jewelry and Miscellaneous Products Manufacturing Industry in Puerto Rico, referred to the Committee the question of the minimum rate or rates of wages to be paid under section 6 of the Act to such employees, and gave notice of a hearing to be held by the Committee.

Subsequent to an investigation and a hearing conducted pursuant to the notice, the Committee has filed with the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor a report containing its findings of fact and recommendations with respect to the matters referred to it.

Accordingly, as authorized and required by section 8 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950, and 29 CFR 511.18, the recommendations of Industry Committee No. 136-A are hereby published, revising § 613.1 and amending § 613.2 of Part 613, Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations. The increases in future wage rates prescribed by section 6 of the 1974 Fair Labor Standards Amendments are set forth in this wage order. The other wage rates have heretofore reached the mainland rates and are continued.

Section 613.1 is revised and § 613.2 is amended by revising paragraphs (a)(1)(v)(A), (a)(1)(vi)(A), and (a)(2)(i) to read as follows:

§ 613.1 Definition.

(a) The jewelry and miscellaneous products manufacturing industry in Puerto Rico is defined as the manufacture of jewelry and jewelry products including the processing of natural or synthetic stone for jewelry or industrial use; the manufacture of artificial flowers except those made of molded plastic, party favors and similar products; straw, hair and related products; and all other manufacturing activities which are not included in the definitions of other manufacturing industries in Puerto Rico for which wage orders have been issued: Provided, however, That the industry shall not include any activity carried on by an establishment primarily engaged in another industry in Puerto Rico for its own use.

(b) This industry includes, but is not limited to, the manufacture of jewelry and jewelry findings; silverware, plated ware, and stainless steel ware; rosaries, beads, buttons, buckles and hair ornaments and accessories; the processing of stones for jewelry or industrial use; the manufacture of flowers, buds, berries, foliage, leaves, fruits, plants, stems, and branches which are commonly or commercially known as artificial; the manufacture of party favors and ornaments and decorations for holidays except those made of molded plastics or metal other than metallic chenille foil or tinsel; and the manufacture of products made wholly or chiefly of straw, raffia, sisal, maguey, palm leaves, rushes, grasses, hair, bristles, feathers and similar materials.

PART 720—THE RUBBER AND MISCELLANEOUS PLASTICS PRODUCTS INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

Wage Order

Pursuant to sections 5, 6 and 8 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52

Stat. 1062, 1064 as amended (29 U.S.C. 205, 206, 208)), including the Fair Labor Standards Amendments of 1974 (Pub. L. 93-259; 88 Stat. 55), and Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (3 CFR 1949-53 Comp., p. 1004), and by means of Administrative Order No. 646 (41 FR 36705), the Secretary of Labor appointed and convened Industry Committee No. 136-B for the Rubber and Miscellaneous Plastics Products Industry in Puerto Rico, referred to the Committee the question of the minimum rate or rates of wages to be paid under section 6 of the Act to such employees, and gave notice of a hearing to be held by the Committee.

Subsequent to an investigation and a hearing conducted pursuant to the notice, the Committee has filed with the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor a report containing its findings of fact and recommendations with respect to the matters referred to it.

Accordingly, as authorized and required by section 8 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950, and 29 CFR 511.18, the recommendations of Industry Committee No. 136-B are hereby published, revising § 720.1 and amending § 720.2. Those classifications which have reached mainland rates are updated.

In addition, § 720.2(c) is hereby rescinded as obsolete.

Section 720.1 is revised and § 720.2 is amended by revoking paragraph (c) and by revising paragraphs (a)(1)(i), (a)(2)(i), (a)(3)(i), (a)(4)(i), (b)(1)(i), and (b)(2)(i) to read as follows:

§ 720.1 Definition.

The rubber and miscellaneous plastics products industry in Puerto Rico is defined as the manufacture from natural, synthetic, or reclaimed rubber or latex rubber products such as, but not limited to, tires and tubes, reclaimed rubber, rubber and plastics hose and belting, industrial and mechanical rubber and plastics goods, rubberized fabrics, recapped and retreaded tires, rubber and plastics cut stock and findings for footwear, and miscellaneous rubber and fabricated plastics products: Provided, however, That the industry shall not include any activity in the rubber and plastics footwear industry; the chemical, petroleum and related products industry; the leather, leather goods and related products industry; the gloves and mittens industry; the men's and boys' clothing and related products industry; the corsets, brassieres and allied garments industry; the women's outerwear, needlework and miscellaneous fabricated textile products industry; the textile mill products industry; and the jewelry and miscellaneous products manufacturing industry.

§ 720.2 Wage rates.

Wages at rates not less than those prescribed in this section shall be paid under section 6(c) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 by every employer to each of his employees in the rubber and miscellaneous plastics products industry in Puerto Rico who in any workweek is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce or is employed in an enterprise engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce, as these terms are defined in section 3 of the Act.

CHAPTER XVII—OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

PART 1910—OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH STANDARDS

Exposure to Coke Oven Emissions; Corrections

On October 22, 1976, an occupational safety and health standard was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 46742) for exposure to coke oven emissions pursuant to the authority in sections 6(b) and 8(c) of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1593, 1599; 29 U.S.C. 655, 657), Secretary of Labor's Order No. 8-76 (41 FR 25059) and 29 CFR Part 1911. There were a number of typographical errors and inadvertent omissions from the document.

The coke oven standard, as promulgated on October 22, 1976, contain provisions which require, among other things, technology forcing (paragraph (f)(1)(i)) and written compliance programs (paragraph (f)(6)) for existing batteries. The preamble contains an explanatory statement of the reasons for these requirements. However, an examination of the standards indicated that OSHA had inadvertently failed to include these requirements for new and rehabilitated batteries and for beehive ovens. The same reasons which justify these requirements for existing batteries justify the requirements for all batteries. Accordingly, the Agency has corrected the inadvertent omissions of these requirements by including them in the requirements for new and rehabilitated batteries (correction numbers 64, 68, 69, and 70) and beehive ovens (correction numbers 65, 68, and 69).

The Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553(d)) mandates that regulations may not become effective until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Therefore, paragraphs (f)(1)(ii)(b), (f)(1)(iii)(b), and (f)(6) as it applies to new or rehabilitated coke oven batteries and beehive ovens, which are the provisions affected by the above-noted correction, shall become effective on February 17, 1977.

Accordingly, FR Doc. 76-31097 beginning at 41 FR 46742 of the issue dated October 22, 1976, is corrected as follows:

1. On page 46742, 1st paragraph, 5th line, the citation is corrected to read "(41 FR 25059)"

Title 43—Public Lands: Interior

CHAPTER I—BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR DEPARTMENT

PART 419—ADMINISTRATIVE CLAIMS

Processing Claims for Loss or Damage; Failure of Teton Dam

On September 27, 1976, final regulations were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 42200) governing the processing of claims for actual damages to or loss of property, income, personal injury or for death directly resulting from the failure on June 5, 1976, of Teton Dam of the Lower Teton Division of the Teton Basin Federal Reclamation Project. The regulations provided that in order to qualify for payment under the regulations, the claimant must certify that the damage, injury, or loss for which a claim is made occurred within the major disaster area as a direct result of the failure of Teton Dam. The major disaster area was defined in the regulations. The definition now needs to be expanded to include an area in Power County, Idaho which was affected by loss of water due to the washout of a diversion dam in the Snake River.

For the foregoing reason and pursuant to the authority contained in the Annual Public Works Appropriation Act of 1976, Pub. L. 94–180, 89 Stat. 1035; the Act of July 12, 1976, 90 Stat. 889; the Act of June 17, 1902, 32 Stat. 390, as amended; and the Teton Dam Disaster Assistance Act of 1976, Pub. L. 94–400, 90 Stat. 1211, 43 CFR 419.0–5(o) is revised as follows, effective immediately.

Dated: January 12, 1977.

CHRIS FARRAND,
Acting Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

§ 419.0–5 Definitions.

* * * * *

(o) "Major disaster area" means the Idaho counties of Bingham, Bonneville, Fremont, Jefferson, and Madison, designated by the Administrator, Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, on June 6, 1976, or such other areas as may be later designated by the Administrator under the President's declaration of June 6, 1976. In addition, that portion of the Fort Hall Indian Reservation lying in Bannock County, westward from U.S. Highway 191 to the Snake River and the American Falls Reservoir and that portion of Power County serviced by the Aberdeen-Springfield Canal Company are included in the major disaster area, for the purpose of these regulations.

Notification of Child Abuse and Neglect

Part 233, Chapter II of Title 45 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended to incorporate requirements for the reporting or referral of child abuse and neglect under title IV–A of the Social Security Act for the 50 States and the District of Columbia. The requirements for Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands are codified under 45 CFR 220.23 (b). The purpose is to codify the requirements of the income maintenance agency for the reporting or referral of neglected or abused children who are receiving AFDC to the appropriate court or law enforcement agency. The basis of this amendment is section 402(a)(16) of the Social Security Act.

As these regulations make no new requirements upon States and were codified elsewhere in this chapter, the Department finds that there is good cause to dispense with the proposed rulemaking procedure.

Accordingly, Part 233, Chapter II, Title 45 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by revising § 233.90(a) to read as follows:

§ 233.90 Factors specific to AFDC.

(a) State plan requirements. A State plan under title IV–A of the Social Security Act shall provide that:

(1) The determination whether a child has been deprived of parental support or care by reason of the death, continued absence from the home, or physical or mental incapacity of a parent, or (if the State plan includes such cases) the unemployment of his father, will be made only in relation to the child's natural or adoptive parent, or in relation to the child's stepparent who is ceremonially married to the child's natural or adoptive parent and is legally obligated to support the child under State law of general applicability which requires stepparents to support stepchildren to the same extent that natural or adoptive parents are required to support their children. Under this requirement, the inclusion in the family, or the presence in the home, of a "substitute parent" or "man-in-the-house" or any individual other than one described in this paragraph is not an acceptable basis for a finding of ineligibility or for assuming the availability of income by the State. In establishing financial eligibility and the amount of the assistance payment, only such net income as is actually available for current use on a regular basis will be considered, and the income only of the parent described in the first sentence of this paragraph will be considered available for children in the household in the absence of proof of actual contributions; and

(2) Where it has reason to believe that the home in which a relative and child receiving aid reside is unsuitable because of the neglect, abuse, or exploitation of such child, the State or local agency will:

(i) Bring such condition to the attention of a court, law-enforcement agency, or other appropriate agency in the State, providing whatever data it has with respect to the situation;

(ii) In reporting such conditions, use the same criteria as are used in the State for all other parents and children; and

(iii) Cooperate with the court or other agency in planning and implementing action in the best interest of the child.

CHAPTER I—FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

PART 1—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

PART 73—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

Updating and Clarification of Rules Governing the Emergency Broadcast System (EBS); Correction

Released: January 12, 1977.

In the matter of revision of Parts 1 and 73 of the Commission's rules to update and clarify the rules governing the Emergency Broadcast System (EBS).

The amendments to § 73.582, adopted November 16, 1976 (FCC 76-1053, Mimeo 43062), concerning the logging of EBS system tests and which would become effective on February 1, 1977, do not agree in paragraph sequence numbering with amendments subsequently adopted on December 14, 1976 (FCC 76-1144, Mimeo 43096) revising § 73.582 which will become effective January 27, 1977. Therefore, Instruction 8 of Appendix of the Order adopted November 16, 1976 (FCC 76-1053) should read as follows:

8. In § 73.582, new subparagraph (5) is added to paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 73.582 Program log.

* * * * *

(b) * * *

(5) For Emergency Broadcast System Operations. An entry for tests of the EBS procedures pursuant to the requirements of Subpart G of this Part and the appropriate station checklist, unless such entries are consistently made in the station operating log.

PART 15—RADIO FREQUENCY DEVICES

Deletion of Certain Obsolete Sections and Reporting Requirements; Order

Adopted: January 4, 1977.

Released: January 11, 1977.

By the Commission: Commissioner Lee absent.

In the matter of amendment of Part 15 to delete certain obsolete sections and reporting requirements.

1. These amendments to Part 15 of the Commission's rules and regulations are editorial in nature and are made pursuant to the Commission's policy of updating and simplifying the rules.

2. Parts of § 15.68 ((a), (c) and (d) (2)) are being deleted; they contain reporting requirements and dates for compliance with technical requirements which by their own terms have become obsolete and may be deleted as no longer required.

3. This action is purely editorial and, therefore, may be taken without compliance with the requirements of 5 USC 553.

§ 15.68 [Amended]

4. Accordingly, it is ordered, effective January 19, 1977, pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4(i) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, That paragraphs (a) and (c) and subparagraph (d)(2) of § 15.68 of Part 15 of the FCC Rules are hereby deleted, and the word [Reserved] inserted in lieu thereof.

(Secs. 4, 303, 48 Stat., as amended, 1066, 1082; 47 U.S.C. 154, 303.)

PART 76—CABLE TELEVISION SERVICES

Altering of Cable Television Reporting Requirements; Correction

Released: January 12, 1977.

In the matter of amendment of Part 76 of the Commission's rules and regulations to alter cable television reporting requirements.

The Order in the above-captioned matter released December 7, 1976, (FCC 76-1110) is corrected by changing Appendix A, third line from the top of the third column on page 53996—

From: "Data, which shall be returned within 60"

PART 87—AVIATION SERVICES

Flight Test Stations

Adopted: January 4, 1977.

Released: January 12, 1977.

In the matter of amendment of Part 87 to provide technical standards for telemetry transmitters in the frequency band 1435-1535 mHz employed in flight test stations.

1. A Notice of Proposed Rule Making in the above-captioned matter was released on July 29, 1976, and was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 2, 1976 (41 FR 32242). The dates for filing comments and reply comments have passed.

2. The Notice of Proposed Rule Making was issued in response to a petition (RM-2075) filed by the Aerospace and Flight Test Radio Coordinating Council (AFTRCC). The petitioner requested that the technical standards applicable to FM transmitters used for telemetry purposes in the 1435-1535 mHz band be amended to increase the frequency utilization of this portion of the frequency spectrum.

3. The 1435-1535 mHz telemetry band is shared between Government and non-Government users. In its petition, AFTRCC pointed out that the Commission and the Office of Telecommunications Policy (OTP), which grants the authorizations for the government users, have applied different technical standards to govern the operation of equipment used in flight test stations. AFTRCC stated that the existence of such dual technical standards makes efficient use of the spectrum difficult and engenders administrative coordination problems between the Government and non-Government users of this spectrum. Accordingly, it was requested that the Commission adopt technical standards similar to those developed by OTP to govern equipment used in the 1435-1535 mHz telemetry band.

4. The only comments received were filed by AFTRCC in which they fully supported the Commission's proposal in this proceeding. In their comments, AFTRCC also pointed out two relatively minor typographical errors in the proposed new rules as set forth in the Notice. The appropriate rule sections have been editorially amended, as indicated in the attached Appendix. No reply comments were filed.

5. The Commission recognizes the need for uniform technical standards to enable more efficient use of this portion of the spectrum, and to prevent possible interference between the Government and non-Government flight test stations. Accordingly, it is ordered, That under the authority contained in sections 4(i), 303 (b), (c), and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, Part 87 of the Commission's rules is amended, as set forth below, effective February 17, 1977.

6. It is further ordered, That this proceeding is terminated.

(Secs. 4, 303, 48 Stat., as amended, 1066, 1082; 47 U.S.C. 154, 303.)

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
VINCENT J. MULLINS,
Secretary,

Part 87 of Chapter I of Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

1. Section 87.67(b) is amended by adding a new "class of emission" to the table and a new footnote 8 to read as follows:

§ 87.67 Types of emission.

* * * * *

(b) * * *

Class of emission	Emission designator	Authorized bandwidth: Below 50 MHz	Authorized bandwidth: Above 50 MHz	Frequency deviation
*	*	*	*	*
F9 [8]		(1)	(1)
*	*	*	*	*

[8] The authorized bandwidth is equal to the necessary bandwidth for frequency modulated transmitters used in flight test stations operating in the 1435-1535 MHz band. The necessary bandwidth shall be computed in accordance with pt. 2 of this chapter.

* * * * *

2. In § 87.71, paragraphs (a) (1) and (3) are amended, and (a) (4) and (5) are added to read as follows:

§ 87.71 Emission limitations.

(a) * * *

(1) When using transmissions other than single sideband (3A3A, 3A3H, 3A3J), or authorized frequency modulation (F9) in the frequency band 1435-1535 MHz:

* * * * *

(3) On any frequency removed from the assigned frequency by more than 250 percent of the authorized bandwidth except for FM telemetry transmitters in the 1435-1535 MHz band:

(4) [1] When using frequency modulated transmissions (F9) for telemetry at flight test stations in the 1435-1535 MHz frequency band with an authorized bandwidth equal to or less than 1 MHz:

(i) On any frequencies removed from the assigned frequency by more than 100 percent of the authorized bandwidth up to and including 100 percent of the authorized bandwidth plus 0.5 MHz: at least 60 decibels or 25 decibels below a milliwatt, whichever is greater, when measured in a 3 kHz bandwidth.

(ii) On any frequencies removed from the assigned frequency by more than 100 percent of the authorized bandwidth plus 0.5 MHz: at least 55 plus 10 $\log_{10}$ (mean power output in watts) decibels when measured in a 3 kHz bandwidth.

(5) [1] When using frequency modulated transmission (F9) for telemetry at flight test stations in the 1435-1535 MHz frequency band with an authorized bandwidth greater than 1 MHz:

(i) On any frequencies removed from the assigned frequency by more than 50 percent of the authorized bandwidth plus 0.5 MHz up to and including 50 percent of the authorized bandwidth plus 1.0 MHz: at least 60 decibels or 25 decibels below a milliwatt, whichever is greater, when measured in a 3 kHz bandwidth.

(ii) On any frequencies removed from the assigned frequency by 50 percent of the authorized bandwidth plus 1.0 MHz: at least 55 plus 10 $\log_{10}$ (mean output power in watts) measured in a 3 kHz bandwidth.

* * * * *

[1] The requirements of paragraphs (a)(4) and (a)(5) of this section shall apply to transmitters type accepted after January 1, 1977, and to all transmitters first installed after January 1, 1983.

proposed rules

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains notices to the public of the proposed issuance of rules and regulations. The purpose of these notices is to give interested persons an opportunity to participate in the rule making prior to the adoption of the final rules.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Soil Conservation Service

PUBLIC INFORMATION AND RIGHT TO PRIVACY

Availability of Information

Notice is hereby given, that the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) proposes to revise 7 CFR VI, Part 661 (38 FR 3293).

Part 661 is being redesignated as "Public Information and Right to Privacy" with two Subparts: A—Availability of Materials and Records and B—Right to Privacy.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the proposed regulations change by submitting written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Comments should identify the regulatory docket or notice number and may be submitted to the Deputy Administrator for Administration, Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. All communications received by April 18, 1977 will be considered by the Deputy Administrator for Administration before taking any action on the proposed rule. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed due to comments received. All comments submitted will be made available, both before and after the closing date for comments, for examination by interested persons.

Dated: January 12, 1977.

R. M. DAVIS,
Administrator,
Soil Conservation Service.

Part 661 of Title 7 is proposed to be revised as follows:

Subpart A—Availability of Records and Materials

Sec.
661.1 General.
661.2 Public access and copying.
661.3 Request for records.
661.4 Appeals.
661.5 Exempt records.

Subpart B—Right to Privacy

661.6 General.

Appendix: Availability of information.

AUTHORITY: 5 U.S.C. 552, 552a; 7 CFR 1.1–1.16, 1.110–1.123.

Subpart A—Availability of Records and Materials

§ 661.1 General.

This part is issued in accordance with the regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture at 7 CFR 1.1–1.16 implementing the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 522). The Secretary's regulations, as implemented by the regulations in this part, govern the availability to the public of records of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) and the records for which the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) has custodial responsibility.

§ 661.2 Public access and copying.

SCS will make available for public inspection and copying those materials covered by 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2) as set out in the Secretary's regulations. Indexes of such materials will be published on a quarterly basis as required.

§ 661.3 Requests for records.

Requests for records under 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2) will be made in accordance with 7 CFR 1.3(a). The titles and mailing addresses of the officials in SCS authorized to receive requests for records are shown in Appendix A of this subpart. Authority is hereby delegated to these officials to make determinations regarding such requests in accordance with 7 CFR 1.4(c).

§ 661.4 Appeals.

Any person whose request for records above is denied shall have the right to appeal that denial in accordance with 7 CFR 1.3(e). All appeals shall be addressed to: Administrator, Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

§ 661.5 Exempt records.

To the maximum extent permitted by 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4) the Soil Conservation Service will withhold the following records: (1) conservation plans including those which support cost share contracts, (2) inventories and evaluations, (3) any recorded information which shows scope of a farm operation or other enterprises including boundaries and economic data collected during the planning process and (4) economic data collected from individuals which is used for evaluation of watershed, RC&D and other projects.

Subpart B—Right to Privacy

§ 661.6 General.

SCS implementation of the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. 552a are the regulations of the Secretary set forth in 7 CFR 1.110–1.123.

APPENDIX A—AVAILABILITY OF INFORMATION

The following regulations pertaining to the availability of information are published in accordance with the requirements and pursuant to the authority of Sections 552, 559 of Title 5, United States Code.

REQUEST FOR EXAMINATION OR COPY OF RECORDS

General. Request for examination and copying of a record or for copies of records shall be made to the Deputy Administrator for Administration, Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Deparment of Agriculture, Washington, D.C., or to the State Conservationist in any of the listed State Offices.

DISCLOSURE OF BROKERAGE PLACEMENT PRACTICES BY INVESTMENT MANAGERS

Extension of Comment Period

The Securities and Exchange Commission today, in response to requests from interested parties, extended the comment period on its proposed rules which would require registered investment companies, some other issuers, and certain registered investment advisers to make disclosures to investors about brokerage placement practices and policies, including the use of brokerage commissions to purchase research services (Release No. 33-5772, November 30, 1976 (41 FR 53356 (1976))). The Commission believes that an extension from January 13, 1977 to February 14, 1977 is appropriate in view of the significance of the proposals.

Accordingly, all interested persons are invited to submit their views and comments on the above proposals in triplicate to George A. Fitzsimmons, Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, on or before February 14, 1977. Such comments should refer to File No. S7-660, and will be available for public inspection.

By the Commission.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

BROKERS AND DEALERS

Records Regarding Beneficial Ownership of Accounts; Further Notice as to Proposed Rulemaking

In Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12055 (Jan. 27, 1976),[1] the Commission proposed for public comment an amendment to Securities Exchange Act Rule 17a-3(a)(9).[2] That Rule currently requires brokers and dealers to maintain, with respect to each of their accounts, records containing, among other things, the name and address of the beneficial owner of the account. In the case of a joint account or a corporate account, however, the Rule requires only that those records be kept in respect of the person or persons authorized to transact business for the account. The amendment to Rule 17a-3(a)(9) would require that, in the case of a joint account or an account of a person other than a natural person, brokers and dealers need maintain only a record as to the person or persons authorized to transact business for such account (rather than the name and address of the beneficial owner or owners) if such authorized persons undertake to furnish, at the Commission's request, the name and address of each beneficial owner of the account.

After careful consideration of the comments received, which are discussed below, the Commission has determined to publish a synopsis of its proposed administrative approach to the amendment to Rule 17a-3(a)(9). The Commission is adopting that course before taking action on the amendment because, among other things, the objections of certain commentators indicate that they do not understand fully the rationale underlying the proposed amendment and the method by which the Commission anticipates limiting its use of the amended Rule in order to protect legitimate interests in the confidentiality of financial information, as discussed below.[3]

[3] The Administrative Conference of the United States has recommended that individual federal agencies consider, in the context of particular rulemaking proceedings, whether or not to provide procedural protections beyond those embodied in the notice-and-comment process of the Administrative Procedure Act's rulemaking provision, 5 U.S.C. 553. "Procedures for The Adoption of Rules of General Applicability," "Recommendation No. 72-5 of The Administrative Conference of The United States," 1 CFR 305.72-5. The Commission believes that an expansion of the customary rulemaking process in this case is particularly appropriate in light of that recommendation.

BACKGROUND

The Department of the Treasury, in its recently published "Report on Foreign Portfolio Investment in the United States,"[4] provided comprehensive data on foreign portfolio investment in the United States and important background information for the problems addressed by the proposed amendment to Rule 17a-3(a)(9). The "Treasury Report" indicates that foreign portfolio investment in stocks of United States corporations had a calculated value of $43.9 billion as of March 31, 1976, reflecting estimated net purchases of almost $6 billion since December 31, 1974,[5] and a pattern of sizeable net foreign portfolio investment since 1968.[6] Foreign ownership as a percentage of outstanding voting stock of the 200 largest companies averaged 4.1 percent; for 327 of the companies surveyed, however, foreign ownership exceeded 10 percent of the outstanding voting stock. More than half of reported foreign portfolio investment in stocks appears to be held by banks, brokers and nominees.[7]

The reasons given for foreign portfolio investment in the United States include expectations of capital gains, the relative economic and political stability of the United States, the range of investment choice and the size, liquidity, organization, regulation[8] and efficiency of United States capital markets. While most foreign investors view positively the efficiency of United States capital markets—that is, the extent to which material financial information is available to the United States markets and is promptly reflected in stock prices so that systematic profits based on inside information are not available to insiders, some investors believe that the efficiency of United States markets is a disincentive to investing. Those latter investors indicated a predilection for opportunities to manipulate, stating that they "can make good profits only on markets where manipulation is common."[9]

[4] United States Treasury Department, Report to the Congress on Foreign Portfolio Investment in the United States" (1976), submitted pursuant to the Foreign Investment Study Act of 1974, Pub. L. No. 93-479 (the "Treasury Report").

[5] For this purpose, the "Treasury Report" indicates, "foreign portfolio investment" includes portfolio investments of U.S. nationals residing abroad (who are identified as holding $2.2 billion in stocks) and excludes portfolio investments of foreign nationals residing in the United States.

[6] "The most notable characteristic of foreign portfolio investment in the U.S. is its relatively recent rapid growth." Treasury Report, Appendix F, at 5.

[7] See note 22 infra. Twelve countries accounted for 90 percent of foreign private holdings of voting stock, and five countries—Switzerland, Canada, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands and France—accounted for more than 75 percent of the total foreign private holdings. Treasury Report, at 10.

[8] The Treasury Report illustrated by a reference to the financial collapse of the IOS complex the importance attached to regulation. While that collapse did not technically involve a registered investment company (regulated under the Investment Company Act of 1940, 15 U.S.C. 80a-1 et seq.), the Treasury Report notes that U.S. mutual fund business overseas was brought to a standstill.

[9] Treasury Report, at 22.

The great majority of investors in the United States markets, both U.S. residents and non-U.S. residents, base their decision to invest through those markets on a perception that they operate in a fair and orderly manner.[10] To the extent that any significant part of the activities in those markets is thought to be immune from scrutiny and therefore a potential haven for manipulation or other abuses, investor confidence can be undermined and the attractiveness of United States markets to investors diminished. Since the Securities Exchange Act of 1934[11] requires that Commission regulation and control of transactions in securities be reasonably complete and effective, the Commission's regulatory program must be adapted and reformulated as necessary or appropriate to reflect shifting trends and patterns in the securities markets and the growth of foreign portfolio investment and foreign securities transactions.

Currently, the Commission relies almost exclusively upon its subpoena powers[12] to obtain information in circumstances where there are indications of possible violations of the federal securities laws. That reliance limits the completeness and effectiveness of the Commission's regulation of transactions in securities as commonly conducted upon securities exchanges and the over-the-counter market since the Commission may only require the attendance of witnesses or their production of records "from any place in the United States," and the Commission has not required in all instances that relevant records be kept in the United States.

The limitations on the subpoena power reflect long-standing principles of international law and comity. International law distinguishes between jurisdiction to prescribe a rule of law and jurisdiction to enforce the rule.[13] For example, it is within the jurisdiction of the United States to prescribe that it is illegal to use the jurisdictional means (interstate commerce, the mails, or any facility of a national securities exchange) to engage in a course of conduct which operates as a fraud in connection with the purchase and sale of securities.[14] It may, however, be difficult for the United States to enforce that prescription in particular circumstances; even in the case of a citizen who resides outside the United States, the cooperation of the authorities of the jurisdiction of residence may be necessary to enforce compliance. And a foreign state is not required by international law to give effect to United States law so long as its refusal is not arbitrary under accepted conflict-of-law principles.[15] Those principles apply a fortiori to action, e.g., the issuance of a subpoena, to determine whether a violation has in fact occurred, and, thus, the courts of another country may in some cases choose not to enforce subpoenas issued by United States authorities. In other cases, foreign courts may make distinctions, based on their own legal traditions,[16] between subpoenas issued by courts and those issued by administrative agencies such as the Commission.

In light of the growth in foreign portfolio investment in the United States, and recent amendments to the securities laws which require increased monitoring of activities to determine compliance,[17] the limitations inherent in using subpoenas as an exclusive method to determine whether to take action to enforce the securities laws prompted the Commission to propose new recordkeeping requirements in order to ensure that its regulation is reasonably complete and effective.

COMMENTS

The Commission received fourteen letters commenting on the proposal to amend Rule 17a-3(a)(9).[18] The comment letters recognized that, in general, the Commission has a legitimate interest in determining the beneficial owners of accounts where trading or other circumstances appear to suggest possible violations of the United States securities laws. It was also recognized that Rule 17a-3(a)(9) as amended could help to overcome practical difficulties currently encountered in obtaining information from those persons which are neither citizens nor residents of the United States. Nevertheless, several commentators suggested in substance that financial information is considered to be legitimately confidential in several foreign countries, even in the face of inquiries from appropriate United States regulatory bodies. They further suggested that any regulatory initiative which would reduce the protection now provided to various persons by the laws and practices of such countries when they deal in the United States securities markets could be inimical to such markets and those who use them.

[15] Restatement (2d), "Foreign Relations Law of the United States," section 9 (1965).

[16] Requests by other governments for judicial assistance are normally considered under the provisions of an applicable treaty. Under the Treaty between the United States and Switzerland on Mutual Assistance in Criminal Matters (May 25, 1973, 12 "Int'l Legal Materials" 916), which takes effect in 1977, a provision has been made for assistance in connection with specifically enumerated offenses; violations of the securities laws are covered only to the extent that they constitute criminal business fraud or another crime recognized under Swiss law. Where there is not an applicable treaty, one of the controlling considerations in any decision by a foreign government to give judicial assistance in a particular case would in many cases be whether the matter being investigated would involve a crime under its laws. If it is not, a request for judicial assistance would normally be denied. Since countries generally prohibit, as a matter of law or practice, foreign government officials from performing official acts in their territories without prior authorization, the denial of authorization blocks further investigative efforts of violations of the federal securities laws, such as trading on insider information, which are not treated as crimes under the laws of many foreign countries.

[17] For example, subject to a series of exceptions, new section 11(a) of the Act prohibits an exchange member from effecting transactions for its own account or the account of any associated person or any account over which the member or an associated person exercises investment discretion. If the records of an exchange member merely reflect that transactions were effected for an account for which a financial intermediary is authorized to act but which in all likelihood the intermediary does not own beneficially, it is not possible to determine whether those transactions were effected in compliance with section 11(a). The problem of monitoring compliance is independent of any affiliation between the exchange member and the financial intermediary. See note 19 infra.

[18] Comments were received from: Asiel & Co.; The Association of the Bar of the City of New York; the Boston Stock Exchange; Gadsby and Hannah on behalf of ABD Securities Corporation, Overseas Securities Corporation and Transatlantic Securities Corporation; Goldman Sachs & Co. and Salomon Brothers; Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated; the New York Stock Exchange, Inc. (the "NYSE"); the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, Inc.; SoGen-Swiss International Corporation; the United States Treasury Department; Ultrafin International Corporation; and Wauterlek & Brown, Inc.

kets. In support of that position, it was argued that the possibility of disclosure would constitute a disincentive to investment on the part of those accustomed to other standards regarding confidentiality of individual financial information.

Commentators suggested that the amendment to Rule 17a–3(a)(9) might raise questions of international law or put foreign financial intermediaries to difficult choices between complying with the amendment and complying with the laws of their countries of domicile when they choose to trade on behalf of their customers in United States securities markets. In addition, it was argued either that the broker-dealers required to comply with the amendment to Rule 17a–3(a)(9) would be subjected to an unsustainable burden of obtaining compliance by their customers or that, because foreign financial institutions would not in fact comply with a Commission request made pursuant to the amended Rule 17a–3(a)(9), no benefit would in face be achieved by adopting the amendment. Furthermore, some commentators feared that the Rule might be administered in an unfair or discriminatory fashion against United States broker-dealer affiliates of foreign financial institutions. In light of those arguments, various suggestions were made concerning ways in which the Commission might obtain directly, through third parties such as accountants or other professionals, answers to specific Commission inquiries without necessarily uncovering the identity of the beneficial owners of accounts.[19].

[19] Section 19(g)(2) of the Act requires exchanges to "enforce compliance" with the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder by their members; however, as the Commission has pointed out (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12994 (Nov. 18, 1976), 41 FR 51804 (Nov. 24, 1976)), "enforcing compliance" encompasses a number of different techniques, ranging from inspection programs to disciplinary proceedings, and direct inspection programs may not always be an appropriate enforcement technique. For example, third party examination techniques are commonly used; exchanges rely heavily on reports prepared by independent accountants to determine that their members are in compliance with the Commission's financial responsibility rules. Regional exchanges have voiced support for the use of third party examination techniques in other areas, e.g., section 11(a) of the Act and its predecessor, Rule 19b–2. In fact, the legislative history of section 6(c)(3)(C) makes it clear that exchange officials may appropriately rely on third party verifications under that section. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12157 (Mar. 2, 1976) at 9, 41 FR 10662 (Mar. 12, 1976) at 10664. Of course, whatever techniques are adopted by self-regulatory organizations must be applied in an even-handed manner. Thus, if an exchange deems it important to inspect the underlying beneficial ownership interests of accounts carried by its members, it should normally expect to do so for all members, since any account in the name of a financial intermediary may be an omnibus account which in substance is really the account of the member or one of its associated persons, irrespective of whether the financial intermediary is itself an associated person of the member.

Even though proposed Rule 17a–3(a)(9) is designed to make more appropriately equal the obligations placed on all participants in United States securities markets, both residents of the United States and non-residents, the Commission nevertheless recognizes that providing even-handed "national" treatment for foreign participants in the United States securities markets would require action on their part to comply with the Rule as well as to stay in compliance with laws of other countries. The Commission believes that an adequate provision for delayed effectiveness of the amendment should provide adequate time to accomplish the necessary accommodations. In that regard, the Commission is sensitive to the policies of other nations regarding confidentiality of financial information and believes that its amendment would accommodate those policies to the greatest extent possible within the context of the Commission's mandate under the federal securities laws.[20]

Operation of Amendment

The Commission's decision to propose the amendment to Rule 17a–3(a)(9) necessarily involved a delicate balancing of competing policy objectives and an awareness also of the changing trends and patterns that affect the securities markets subject to its jurisdiction. Modern communications systems have made it possible, and increasingly attractive, to do business on a transnational basis, often without being physically present in the country where particular transactions take place. It has, accordingly, become increasingly possible for foreign persons, without being present in the United States, to violate the federal securities laws in securities transactions occurring within the jurisdiction of the United States.[21] For example, aliens may employ brokers in the United States to execute transactions in United States markets, and accomplish other ministerial acts, in furtherance of an undisclosed manipulation or other illegal scheme. As a result, and in light of substantial increases over the last several years in United States securities transactions originating from abroad,[22] the Commission's ability, as a practical matter, to enforce the federal securities laws in connection with transactions in the United States involving foreign persons has been perceived as being incomplete.

That incompleteness both weakens the protection United States investors obtain under the federal securities laws and undermines the honesty and fairness of United States securities markets. The resulting gap in investor protection pertains not only to trading accomplished for the accounts of foreign nationals, but also permits United States persons to evade United States requirements through the use of foreign financial intermediaries (or foreign branches of United States financial intermediaries).[23] The execution of transactions by a foreign institution may be accomplished either through a United States affiliate of the foreign intermediary or, frequently, through broker-dealers in the United States that may have no affiliation whatever with the institution. Absent the consent of their principals, the foreign intermediaries may be bound by local law to protect from disclosure their principals' identity notwithstanding a Commission investigation.

The degree of confidentiality to be accorded individual securities transactions is largely a matter of internal policy within each country, reflecting in large part particular national judgments as to the relative standing to be given to considerations of confidentiality.[24] At the [22] In addition to the data on foreign portfolio holdings contained in the "Treasury Report", statistics developed by the NYSE show a dramatic increase in foreign transactions in securities (transactions in United States stocks purchased from Americans by foreigners, or sold by foreigners to Americans). NYSE statistics indicate that in 1975 foreigners purchased $15 billion and sold $10.6 billion of United States securities. Just ten years earlier, in 1965, the totals were only $3.7 billion and $4.1 billion, respectively. NYSE, "1976 Fact Book," at 22.

[23] See, e.g., "United States v. First National City Bank," 396 F.2d 897 (2d Cir. 1968).

[24] Several nations have laws regarding the strict confidentiality of information entrusted to others in their official or professional capacities and prohibit disclosure without the consent of the entrusting person; for example, the Bahamas, the Cayman Islands, Lebanon and Switzerland have passed laws designed specifically to protect the confidentiality of depositors' banking affairs. Those laws are construed broadly and applied strictly. Persons revealing "confidential" information may be civilly liable to the wronged entrustor as well as criminally liable.

The effect of foreign secrecy laws on enforcement of the federal securities laws has been perceived in a number of ways by different commentators, perhaps reflecting differences in their perspectives. In a 1974 release dealing generally with foreign access to United States securities markets, the Commission raised several questions specifically concerning regulatory problems arising from such laws. Securities Exchange Act Release No. 10634 (Feb. 8, 1974), 39 FR 6567 (Feb. 20, 1974). In March, 1976, the Commission published a staff summary of the comments it had received in response to the earlier release. Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12157 (Mar. 2, 1976), Appendix A, 41 FR 10662 (Mar. 12, 1976). In general, regional exchanges and United States affiliates of foreign entities (as well as the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.) indicated that foreign secrecy laws do not pose any special regulatory problems not capable of resolution through agreements. The NYSE, the American Stock Exchange, Inc., and the Securities Industry Association suggested, on the other hand, that foreign secrecy laws interfere substantially with exchange regulation and enforcement, but they did not suggest that foreign portfolio investment in the United States should be limited except by requiring that foreign access to U.S. securities markets be obtained indirectly through the facilities of existing exchange member firms. Subsequently, the Commission determined that, generally, the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975 resolve questions concerning foreign access in favor of permitting all registered brokers or dealers to have access to United States securities markets without any conditions based solely on nationality. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 12737 (Aug. 25, 1976), 41 FR 38847 (Sept. 13, 1976).

[25] See section 17(a)(1), 15 U.S.C. 78q(a)(1). Rule 17a–3. 17 CFR 240.17a–3, prescribes records to be kept by every member of a national securities exchange who transacts business in securities directly with other than members of a national securities exchange, every broker or dealer who transacts a business in securities through the medium of any such member, and every broker or dealer registered pursuant to section 15 of the Act. While most foreign financial intermediaries are brokers within the meaning of section 3(a)(4) of the Act (persons engaged in the business of effecting transactions in securities for the account of others), they may generally be classified as transacting their business in securities without the United States even though their business is, to the extent it relates to transactions on United States exchange markets, conducted through the medium of members of such exchanges. Accordingly, absent express rulemaking by the Commission under section 30(b) of the Act, the broker-dealer registration requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to registered entities do not apply to such intermediaries merely by reason of their status as brokers. With respect to the general anti-fraud provisions, however, see note 14 supra.

same time, the Commission believes that United States policy in regard to transactions involving the use of United States securities markets or other jurisdictional means is reflected in the federal securities laws. Accordingly, while every effort should be made in an appropriate fashion to respect the judgments reached abroad as to the relative importance of individual privacy, the paramount consideration remains the development and enforcement of a reasonably complete and effective pattern of regulation under the Act.

In situations beyond the effective scope of the Commission's subpoena powers, requests for information may currently be wholly unavailing. Accordingly, there could be an unwarranted limitation on the Commission's ability to enforce fairly and even-handedly the securities laws if it were to rely solely on its subpoena authority. The proposed amendment would, accordingly, require as a basic condition to participation in United States securities markets that those who act on behalf of undisclosed principals establish in advance by written agreement their willingness to disclose to the Commission, upon request, the identity of their principals.

Brokers and dealers are obligated to keep such records as the Commission prescribes as necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.[25] Under the proposed amendment, they would not be required to obtain the names of the beneficial owners of a joint account or an account of a person other than a natural person maintained by them; the only new requirement to which they would become subject would be the obligation to obtain the agreement of the person authorized to effect transactions for the account that such person will furnish the name and address of beneficial owners at the request of the Commission.

While a broker-dealer may determine to conduct its business only on the basis of full disclosure, the proopsed amendment would not require that it do so. Nor would broker-dealers be responsible for seeing that such authorized persons in fact perform their agreement though, of course, a broker-dealer would not be in compliance with the proposed amendment if it accepted the required agreement from, and maintained an account for, a person which it knew or had reason to believe did not intend (or would not be able) to live up to its agreement.

Confidentiality of Information

The Commission recognizes that the need for fair and uniform administration of the federal securities laws must be carefully balanced against the need to assure the protection of individual rights to privacy in personal financial dealings. The individual's right to privacy has long been recognized and respected under American law and the need for government to avoid unwarranted invasions of privacy is deeply ingrained in that law. The Congress has not only legislated a right to privacy in the recent Privacy Act of 1974 [26] but also, in enacting a comprehensive institutional disclosure provision in the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975,[27] the Congress specifically underscored the need to protect personal privacy by providing that disclosure of personal account information would not be required. The Commission is thus keenly sensitive to the desire of persons, whether citizens or residents of the United States or non-resident aliens, to maintain the confidentiality of their financial transactions. In the great majority of cases, that desire is quite legitimate, and protection should be afforded to the maximum extent consistent with existing law. The amendment to Rule 17a–3(a)(9) has been drafted to achieve that end.

Rule 17a–3(a)(9) would not require that reports be filed with the Commission or that the names and addresses of beneficial owners of accounts be disclosed generally. If, however, the Commission determines to conduct an examination or inquiry of a particular situation, for example in order to discover whether specific securities transactions were effected in violation of a provision of the Act or any rule thereunder, the Commission would request the appropriate authorized person to disclose, as required by the agreement obtained in compliance with the proposed amendment, the name and address of the beneficial owners. The information thereby obtained would be confidential [28] except, of course, to the extent the Commission determined to bring specific enforcement proceedings.

There remains, of course, the possibility that persons entering into the agreement which would be required by the proposed amendment might subsequently decline to comply with a Commission request for information concerning the beneficial owners of an account, perhaps accompanying the refusal with a statement that compliance would be in violation of foreign laws, such as the secrecy laws in effect in certain countries. Delayed effectiveness of the amendment would provide an opportunity for obtaining the necessary consents in order to give appropriate deference to foreign secrecy laws or policies without permanently extending their effect to transactions in United States securities markets.

Foreign persons wishing to effect transactions in United States securities markets for their customers would need to arrange for whatever consents or waivers local law may require in order to permit compliance with the Rule, as amended. Where any such person would not be subject to service of process in the United States, it might be the case

[27] Pub. L. No. 94–29 (June 4, 1975). See section 13(f) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. 78m(f), as added by the 1975 Amendments.

[28] The Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, sets forth the basic federal policy and administrative practice concerning disclosure, and non-disclosure, of information in the government's possession. Under that Act, the Commission may deny a request for disclosure of information falling within one or more areas specified in section 552(b). Particularly relevant in this context are (1) the exemption provided for investigatory records compiled for law enforcement purposes to the extent that disclosure of such records would, among other things, constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy and (2) the exemption provided for trade secrets and privileged or confidential commercial or financial information obtained from a person. In any situation where (1) the Commission obtained information by invoking an agreement made in compliance with the proposed amendment to Rule 17a–3(a)(9) and (11) disclosure of that information by the person making that agreement would otherwise have been prohibited (because, for example, the beneficial owner had not consented to a more genial disclosure) under the laws of the country of which that person is a domiciliary, it would appear that, generally, such information should come within the above-described exceptions to the Freedom of Information Act. For a further description of the Commission's policies under that Act, see 17 CFR 200.80 et seq.

that that Commission's remedies for non-compliance with a Rule 17a–3(a)(9) agreement would, as a practical matter, be somewhat circumscribed. In any event, however, the Commission would plan, if the need arose, to maintain a public list (analogous to its Foreign Restricted List) in order to draw to the attention of registered brokers and dealers the fact that persons on the list did not adhere to their agreements. Where a registered broker or dealer knew—and upon publication of any such list or supplement thereto it would be deemed to know—that a person would not carry out the terms of the required agreement, that broker or dealer would not be in compliance with the proposed amendment to Rule 17a–3(a)(9) if it thereafter maintained an account for such person unless the record maintained by the broker or dealer for the account in fact reflected the true name and address of the account's beneficial owner or owners. Nor, in any event, would a registered broker or dealer be in compliance with the proposed amendment to Rule 17a–3(a)(9) if it maintained an account for a person where it was apparent that a straw or dummy was being inserted for the purpose of evading Rule 17a–3(a)(9).[*]

STATUTORY BASIS

The proposed amendment would be adopted pursuant to the provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78a et seq., and particularly sections 2, 3, 10, 11, 15, 17, 21, 23 and 30 thereof (15 U.S.C. 78b, 78c, 78j, 78k, 78o, 78q, 78u, 78w, and 78dd).

IMPACT ON COMPETITION

The Commission recognizes that, to the extent foreign persons view the amendment as a disincentive to investing through (and consequently lessen their financial involvement in) United States markets, the proposed amendment might have an inhibiting effect on competition.

While the Commission considers it desirable to facilitate foreign access to the United States markets, it also believes that the gaps existing in the present scheme of regulation with respect to disclosure of account ownership pose serious threats to the integrity of the domestic markets and may undermine public confidence therein. The predicted decrease in foreign portfolio investment occurring as a result of the proposed amendment would be a more remote possibility. In any event, any such burden on competition would appear to be necessary and appropriate to make the Commission regulation reasonably complete and effective.

On the other hand, the proposed amendment to Rule 17a–3(a)(9) may be more likely, on balance, to lessen burdens on competition through the elimination of an inappropriate disparity in regulation with respect to domestic and foreign intermediaries. Under current regulations, persons who invest directly in the United States markets are subject to disclosure and compliance requirements under the Act which other persons, domestic and foreign alike, have been able to avoid by the use of financial intermediaries located abroad. That regulatory disparity does not appear to be necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. Particularly disturbing are indications that domestic financial intermediaries may currently be planning to rearrange their affairs to place themselves on the same footing as their foreign competitors. It does not seem appropriate to eliminate competitive disparities by degrading the investor protections afforded by the Act. Accordingly, the proposed amendment would eliminate the competitive disparity while upholding the purposes of the Act.[]

TEXT OF RULE

Securities Exchange Act Rule 17a–3, 17 CFR 240.17a–3, would be amended to read as follows:

§ 240.17a–3 Records to be made by certain exchange members, brokers and dealers.

(a) * * *

(9) A record in respect to each cash and margin account with such member, broker, or dealer containing the name and address of each beneficial owner of such account and in the case of a margin account, the signature of such owner: Provided, That in the case of a joint account or an account other than an account of a natural person, such records are required only in respect of the person or persons authorized to transact business for such account if such persons undertake to furnish, at the request of the Commission, the name and address of each beneficial owner of such account.

* * * * *

All interested persons are encouraged to submit written data, views and arguments with respect to the proposed amendment or the plan of administration explained in this release. Persons wishing to make written submissions should file six copies thereof with George A. Fitzsimmons, Secretary, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549, not later than March 4, 1977. All comments should make reference to Securities and Exchange Commission File No. S7–613. Copies of all submissions will be made available in the Commission's Public Reference Section, Room 6101, 1100 L Street, Washington, D.C.

By the Commission.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

[*] For example, if a well-known and active financial intermediary closed its accounts with a broker and individuals known to be officers (or other authorized agents) of that financial intermediary opened accounts in the name of a new, and unknown, intermediary, it would appear that a reasonable broker or dealer would be alerted to the possibility that an effort was being made to evade Rule 17a–3(a)(9). Under such circumstances, the broker or dealer maintaining the new accounts would need, as a practical business matter in order to reduce its own risk of violating Rule 17a–3(a)(9), to satisfy itself that the new arrangements were not being undertaken to evade disclosure under the Rule. Similar considerations would apply to a financial intermediary that found persons opening accounts on a basis which suggested that the financial intermediary would not in fact be able to comply with the agreement it had entered into pursuant to Rule 17a–3(a)(9). Nor, for example, would the beneficial owner of an account cease to be such merely because its financial intermediary had recast agency transactions for such beneficial owner's account into principal transactions.

[Regulations No. 16]

SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME FOR THE AGED, BLIND, AND DISABLED

Income and Exclusions; Deeming of Income

On January 22, 1974, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (39 FR 2487) a notice of proposed rulemaking with proposed amendments to the regulations relating to the deeming of income under section 1614(f) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1382c(f)), exclusion of earnings of a child who is a student, and exclusion of certain household goods and personal effects under the supplemental security income for the aged, blind, and disabled program.

Interested parties were given the opportunity to submit within 30 days, data, views, or arguments with regard to the proposed amendments. As described below, comments were received and fully taken into consideration. The section on deeming is being published at this time in the form of notice of proposed rulemaking because of the breadth of the changes from the previously published notice. While some of the changes were the direct result of the comments received, others have been initiated by the Social Security Administration. For this reason and because the rules currently in effect have been followed for two years, it appears most appropriate to publish a revised notice pertaining to deeming of income. The other two sections published on January 22, 1974, were finalized on October 20, 1975 (40 FR 48911).

Section 1614(f) of the Social Security Ac requires that, where an eligible individual lives together with his ineligible spouse, his income shall be deemed to include the income of the spouse, except to the extent that the Secretary finds it would be inequitable to do so. Similarly, the income of the child who is eligible for SSI benefits and lives with his parents (or spouse of a parent), is deemed to include the parents' income, subject to exceptions directed by the Secretary. The amounts of a parent's income which pursuant to these regulations are not deemed to the SSI beneficiary are termed "allocations." Allocations of parents' income, prior to deeming, are provided for the use of the parents and for any other children in the household who are not SSI beneficiaries.

Comments were received from the Governor of Connecticut, the welfare administrators in the States of Idaho, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and the administrator of the New York City Human Resources Administration. Comments were also received from the Legal Services for the Elderly Poor in New York. All of the comments received suggested that the allocation for the ineligible spouse, parent, and spouse of the parent be the same as the SSI benefit payment levels so that a family unit involved in the deeming process could have the same amount of income as a family unit with both parents and at least one child meeting the supplemental security income eligibility criteria. The regulations have been prepared for publication with a change in the allocation amounts for an ineligible spouse, parent, or spouse of the parent. The new quarterly allocation amounts will permit the ineligible spouse, parent, or spouse of a parent with income which is to be deemed, to exclude the same amount of earned or unearned income that an eligible individual or eligible couple can have before becoming ineligible for supplemental security income payments.

Similarly, the allocation for each ineligible child has been related to the payment amounts for an eligible spouse or an essential person. At the present time, this allocation equals $252 per quarter, but will increase automatically as the SSI benefit rate increases.

Other comments were made that only the income actually available to the eligible individual should be deemed. This concept is not consistent with the legislative language in title XVI which requires that the income of an ineligible spouse, parent, and spouse of parent should be deemed to the eligible individual whether or not the income is actually available to the eligible individual. Accordingly, no change is being made on this point.

The report of the Supplemental Security Income Study Group dated January 1976, made two recommendations pertaining to the deeming of income. The Study Group recommended that deemed income of parents no longer be considered when a child recipient reaches age 18, and that the same exemptions for earned and unearned income of the eligible spouse be allowed for the ineligible spouse. The recommendation dealing with the age of the child cannot be implemented without a statutory change, because section 1614(f)(2) requires that the income and resources of a parent and spouse of a parent be deemed to a child under age 21. The second recommendation was partially adopted. Under the proposed rules, an eligible individual and an ineligible spouse will receive the same earned and unearned income exclusions that are allowed for an eligible individual and eligible spouse (eligible couple).

A new paragraph (§ 416.1185(c)) has been added to provide guidelines for the situation in which an individual's income must be deemed both to his spouse, who is an aged, blind, or disabled adult, and to his child who is blind or disabled. In this case, the individual's income is deemed to the adult first (in accordance with the rules of spouse-to-spouse deeming). Thereafter, any deemable income in excess of the amount which caused the adult to become ineligible on the basis of income will be deemed to the blind or disabled child.

When there are two or more blind or disabled children, the income to be deemed will be divided equally between the children; however, if either or both have income for their own, income will be deemed only to the extent needed to reduce a child's payment to zero. All the remaining income will be deemed to the other blind or disabled child.

The regulations (§ 416.1185(d)) provide that certain items of income will not be included in the deeming process. Several of these items are statutory exclusions adopted from title XVI or other statutes (e.g., Food Stamp Act of 1965). Assistance based on need and income based on need will not be included as income to be deemed nor will the income used to determine the eligibility and amount of the need-based payments be included because to do so would be indirectly requiring the other assistance program to support an SSI recipient. Any in-kind support and maintenance (food, clothing, and shelter) furnished to the ineligible spouse, parent or spouse of a parent, if any, and any ineligible children in the household will not be considered as deemable income under this section.

The regulations also provide (§ 416.1185(e)) that the Social Security Administration will continue to deem income to an eligible individual when either the eligible individual or the person from whom income is deemed is absent from the household for temporary periods. A temporary absence is defined as one in which either the eligible individual or the person from whom income is deemed leaves the household but intends to return in the same or the next month. However, it is specifically provided that deeming will continue to apply to a child who is absent for extended periods in order to attend school so long as the child returns home on vacations and, thus, can fairly be said to continue to maintain his residence with his parents. If the absence is not temporary, deeming will cease effective with the first full month of absence. This provision makes explicit what has been the policy of the Social Security Administration.

It should be noted that § 416.1185 was first published as an interim regulation for comment on January 22, 1974, and a number of comments were received relating to the deeming of income. This section will continue in effect, as here amended, on an interim basis effective upon publication until a final regulation is adopted.

It is being published with interim effectiveness because a delay in the implementation of the proposed changes would be contrary to the interests of the public. There are several reasons why it is in the best interests of the public to publish these changes with interim effectiveness. The policy reflected in these changes is a liberalization of the current rules applicable in deeming of income from spouse to spouse and from parent to child situations, and will also simplify eligibility determinations for all concerned. The new rules take cognizance of the inflationary process on the income of persons from whom income is deemed and will equalize the treatment of income used in the deeming process with that of other SSI recipients not involved in the deeming process. As a result it is anticipated that no individual to whom these rules are applicable will be disadvantaged. Finally, these changes also take into consideration whenever possible, comments and suggestions made by the public with respect to the deeming policy.

If there are any questions concerning this regulation, you may contact Mr. S. J. Weissman, Legal Assistant, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235, telephone—(301) 594–7341. Mr. Weissman will respond to any questions, but will not accept comments on this regulation.

Prior to final adoption of these amendments to the regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Commissioner of Social Security, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, P.O. Box 1585, Baltimore, Maryland, 21203 within a period of 45 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Copies of all comments received in response to this notice will be available for public inspection during regular business hours at the Washington Inquiries Section, Office of Information, Social Security Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, North Building, Room 4146, 330 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Part 416 of Chapter III of Title 20 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

Section 416.1185 is added to read as follows:

§ 416.1185 Deeming of income.

Any amounts used in the examples in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section are based on the rates for quarters beginning July 1, 1976.

(a) Individual with spouse. In the case of an individual who is living in the same household with a person not eligible for benefits under this part who is, or who is considered to be, such individual's husband or wife in accordance with the provisions set forth in §§ 416.1001–416.1041, such individual's income shall be deemed to include (except as otherwise provided in this section) any income (as defined in § 416.1102(a)) of such spouse whether or not such income is available to such individual. For each child in the household who is neither blind nor disabled, the quarterly income of the ineligible spouse will be reduced by an amount equal to the difference between the quarterly benefit rate for an individual (as defined in § 416.410) and the quarterly benefit rate for a couple (as defined in § 416.412). Any income of such child will be used to reduce the allocation of income made on his behalf. If the remaining income of the ineligible spouse does not exceed one-half the quarterly benefit rate for an eligible individual there is no income to be deemed. If the remaining income of the ineligible spouse exceeds one-half of the quarterly benefit rate for an eligible individual, all income will be deemed to the eligible individual, combined with his own income, and the eligible individual's income will be treated as it would be if his spouse were an eligible spouse (as indicated in § 416.412). However, in no case will a payment to the eligible individual exceed the amount specified for an eligible individual without an eligible spouse. Whenever the initial application is filed in the second or third month of the quarter, the allocations enumerated in this paragraph will be prorated on a monthly basis.

Example 1. After all the prescribed allocations have been applied, Alice, the ineligible spouse of Ted, has $200 of deemable income for the third quarter of 1976. Since this is less than half the quarterly benefit rate for an eligible individual without an eligible spouse ($503.40 divided by 2=$251.70), no income is deemed to Ted and he is paid at the rate for an eligible individual. Only his own countable income is applied to that benefit rate.

Example 2. After all the prescribed allocations have been computed, Alice has $400 of deemable income for the third quarter of 1976. Since this exceeds one-half of the quarterly benefit rate for an eligible individual, Alice's income is to be added to Ted's own countable income. Ted has $200.00 of income (before any disregards are applied), which together with the deemed income equals $600 total quarterly income. All income disregards appropriate to an eligible couple are applied to determine countable income. This countable income is applied against the amount which would be paid to an eligible couple in determining the eligibility of the individual.

(b) Child. (1) In the case of an individual who is a child (as defined in § 416.1050) and under age 21, such individual's income shall, subject to the succeeding sentences of this paragraph and to paragraph (c) of this section, be deemed to include (except as otherwise provided in this section), any income (as defined in § 416.1102(a)) of a parent of such individual (or the spouse of such a parent) who is not eligible for benefits under this part and is living in the same household as such individual whether or not such income is available to such individual. Income so deemed will be treated as unearned income. Whenever there is more than one blind or disabled child in the deeming situation, the income to be deemed will be divided equally among them. However, no income will be deemed to a blind or disabled child in excess of that amount which, when combined with his own income, if any, reduces his payment level to zero. Thereafter, any remaining deemable income will be deemed only to the other blind or disabled children. Whenever the initial application is filed in the second or third month of the quarter, the allocations described in this paragraph will be prorated on a monthly basis.

(2) In the case of income for any quarter of the parent and spouse of such parent, such income will be reduced by the allocation specified in paragraph (a) of this section for each ineligible child (as defined in § 416.1050) under the age of 21 of the parent or spouse of the parent residing in the household. However, any income of the ineligible child himself will be used to reduce the allocation of income made on his behalf.

(3) (i) Thereafter, in the case of income for any quarter, all of which is earned (as defined in § 416.1102(b)), of the parent and spouse of such parent, such earned income will be reduced by an amount equal to $255 plus:

(a) Twice the quarterly benefit rate for an individual (as defined in § 416.410) in the case of one parent or spouse of a parent residing in the household; or

(b) Twice the quarterly benefit rate for a couple (as defined in § 416.412) in the case of a parent and spouse of a parent residing in the household.

(ii) In the case of income for any quarter, all of which is unearned, of the parent and spouse of such parent, such unearned income will be reduced by an amount equal to $60 plus:

(a) The quarterly benefit rate for an individual in the case of one parent or spouse of a parent residing in the household; or

(b) The quarterly benefit rate for a couple in the case of a parent and spouse of a parent residing in the household.

(iii) In any case in which the total income for a quarter of the parent(s) includes both earned and unearned income, the unearned income is reduced by $60; and the earned income is reduced by $195 plus one-half of the remainder. The sum of the unearned and earned income remaining after such reduction is further reduced by:

(a) The quarterly benefit rate for an individual (as defined in § 416.410) in the case of one parent or spouse of a parent residing in the household; or

(b) The quarterly benefit rate for a couple (as defined in § 416.412) in the case of a parent and spouse of a parent residing in the household.

(c) The remaining income is deemed income.

(iv) Examples.

Example 1. Susan, a blind 10-year-old, lives with her mother, stepfather, and able-bodied sister. Her stepfather has earned income of $1800 for the third quarter of 1976. Neither her mother nor her sister has any income of her own. In order to compute deemable income, there is first allocated to the sister $252 for the quarter. Thereafter, since the remaining parental income is earned and is less than $1765.80 per quarter (twice the couple's rate plus $255, or the amount of earned income which just makes a couple ineligible), there is no income deemed to Susan.

Example 2. James is a disabled child who lives with his mother. His mother receives benefits under title II of the Social Security Act in the amount of $225 per month or $675 for the third quarter of 1976. James has no income of his own. Since his mother's income is totally unearned, it is reduced before deeming by $563.40 ($503.40 (the quarterly benefit rate for a single individual) plus $60 (the unearned income disregard)). Thereafter, $111.60 per quarter is deemed to James. Since this is treated as unearned income, his $60-per-quarter disregard is applied, reducing the countable income to $51.60. This quarterly benefits, therefore, equal $451.80.

(c) Individual with spouse and child. In the case of an individual, as described in paragraph (a) of this section, and a child, as described in paragraph (b) of this section, living in the same household with a person not eligible for benefits under this part who is, or who is considered to be, the husband or wife of the individual and parent or spouse of the parent of the child, such individual's and child's income shall be deemed to include the income of such person whether or not such income is available to such individual or child. This person's income will be treated in the same manner, as described in paragraph (a) of this section. After the application of the spouse-to-spouse deeming, as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, all income in excess of the amount which reduces the individual's payment to zero will be deemed to the blind or disabled child and treated as unearned income.

(d) Income not included. (1) For purposes of this section, the term income does not include:

(i) Assistance based on need and income based on need and furnished by any Federal agency, State, or political subdivision of a State, or the payments made under title XVI of the Social Security Act and any income which was taken into account in determining and which affected the eligibility for, and amount of such assistance or payments;

(ii) Any portion of any grant, scholarship, or fellowship used to pay the cost of tuitions and fees;

(iii) Amounts received for foster care of an ineligible child;

(iv) Bonus value of food stamps and the value of the Department of Agriculture donated foods;

(v) Home produce grown for personal consumption;

(vi) Refund of taxes paid on income, real property, or food purchased by the family;

(vii) Such income needed to fulfill an approved plan for achieving self-support;

(viii) Such income used to comply with the terms of court-ordered support;

(ix) The value of any in-kind support and maintenance furnished to the ineligible spouse, ineligible parent or ineligible spouse of a parent, and ineligible children in the household;

(x) Periodic payments made by a State under a program established before July 1, 1973, based solely on duration of residence and attainment of age 65; and

(xi) Income otherwise excluded by Federal statute (see § 416.1146 of this part).

(2) In determining the income of ineligible children in the household for purposes of allocating a share of the parent's income, the items enumerated in paragraph (d) (1) of this section shall be excluded, and, in addition, the total earned income of such child who is a student (subject to the limitation in § 416.1163) shall be excluded unless the child actually makes this income available to the family.

(e) Limitation on deeming. The procedures for computing an individual's income described in this section will be applied during periods of temporary absence from the household on the part of the individual or the person from whom income is deemed. For the purposes of this section, a temporary absence is defined as one in which either the individual, or the person from whom income is deemed, leaves the household but intends to return in the same month or the next month. If an absence is not temporary, those procedures will cease to be applied effective with the first full month of absence. However, a child who is away at school will be considered to be temporarily absent (regardless of the duration of the absence) if he comes home on weekends or lengthy holidays and vacations (or for extended visits in accordance with school regulations).

MISCELLANEOUS INDIAN IRRIGATION PROJECTS

Proposed Revisions

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior for issuance of irrigation operation and maintenance orders fixing per acre assessments against lands included in Indian Irrigation Projects, delegated to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs by Order No. 2508 (10 BIAM 2.1, Section 15a) and redelegated to the Area Directors by 10 BIAM 4.1, notice is hereby given that it is proposed to modify § 221.105 Charges of Title 25, Code of Federal Regulations, dealing with operation and maintenance assessments against land to which water can be delivered under the Pyramid Lake Irrigation Project in Nevada and the San Carlos Reservation Irrigation Project in Arizona. On the Pyramid Lake Irrigation Project, the annual assessment rate will be $20.00 per acre for non-Indians; and $1.00 per acre for Indian owned and operated land. On the San Carlos Reservation Irrigation Project, the annual assessment rate will be $35.23 per acre for non-Indian owned land and Indian land leased to non-Indians. These annual assessment rates shall become effective for the calendar year 1977 and subsequent years unless changed by further orders. The revised section shall read as follows:

§ 221.105 Charges.

Pursuant to the acts of August 1, 1914, and March 7, 1928 (38 Stat. 583, 45 Stat. 210; 25 U.S.C. 385, 387), the annual basic charges against the lands to which water can be delivered under the respective irrigation systems of the projects listed in this section are hereby fixed in the following amounts for non-Indian owned lands, Indian owned lands leased to non-Indians and Indian owned and operated lands, for the calendar year 1977 and for each succeeding calendar year thereafter until further notice:

Annual per acre assessment

Project	Non-Indian owned land	Indian owned land leased to non-Indians	Indian owned and operated land
Duck Valley:
Subjugated lands	$3.40	$3.40	$3.40
Native hay lands	3.40	3.40	1.00
Pyramid Lake	20.00	20.00	1.00
San Carlos Reservation	35.23	35.23	5.50
Warm Springs	2.00	2.00

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior whenever practicable to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions or objections, with respect to the proposed amendments, to John H. Artichoker, Area Director, Phoenix Area Office, P.O. Box 7007, Phoenix, Arizona 85011, on or before February 10, 1977.

WALKER RIVER INDIAN IRRIGATION PROJECT

Proposed Revisions

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior for issuance of irrigation operation and maintenance orders fixing per acre assessments against lands included in Indian Irrigation Projects, delegated to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs by Order No. 2508 (10 BIAM 2.1, Section 15a) and redelegated to the Area Directors by 10 BIAM 4.1, notice is hereby given that it is proposed to modify § 221.83 Charges, of Title 25, Code of Federal Regulations, dealing with operation and maintenance assessments against land to which water can be delivered under the Walker River Indian Irrigation Project in Nevada, by establishing an assessment rate of $7.00 per irrigable acre for non-Indian owned land and Indian owned land leased to non-Indians, and $1.00 per irrigable acre for Indian owned land farmed and operated by Indians for calendar year 1977 and subsequent years unless changed by further orders. The revised section shall read as follows:

§ 221.83 Charges.

The annual basic operation and maintenance assessment rates for land to which water can be delivered under the Walker River Indian Irrigation Project in Nevada for the operation and maintenance of the project are hereby fixed at $7.00 per irrigable acre for non-Indian owned land and Indian owned land leased to non-Indians, and $1.00 per irrigable acre for Indian owned land farmed and operated by Indians. The foregoing charges shall become effective for the calendar year 1977 and continued in effect thereafter until further notice.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior whenever practicable to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions or objections with respect to the proposed amendments, to John H. Artichoker, Area Director, Phoenix Area Office, P.O. Box 7007, Phoenix, Arizona 85011, on or before February 10, 1977.

CHARLES D. WORTHMAN,
Assistant Area Director.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Assistant Secretary for Labor-Management Relations Office of Labor-Management Relations Services

[29 CFR Part 215]

URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ACT OF 1964

Proposed Guidelines

Section 13(c) of the Urban Mass Transportation Act provides, in general, it shall be a condition of any federal financial assistance by the Department of Transportation to states other than local public bodies in financing mass transportation systems, that fair and equitable arrangements must be made, as determined by the Secretary of Labor, to protect the interests of employees affected by such assistance. In conjunction with the Secretary of Labor's role in making such determinations, it is, therefore, the purpose of these proposed guidelines to provide information concerning the Department of Labor's administrative procedures in processing applications for assistance under the Urban Mass Transportation Act, and certification by the Secretary of Labor of acceptable employee protective arrangements.

Interested persons are accorded until on or before March 4, 1977, to offer data, views or comments addressed to the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Labor-Management Relations United States Department of Labor. New Department of Labor Building, 200 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210. Any comments received by interested parties will be available for public inspection during normal working hours in Room N-5641, New Department of Labor Building at the same address.

Accordingly, it is proposed to amend 29 CFR Chapter 2, by adding a new Part 215 to read as follows:

PART 215—GUIDELINES, SECTION 13(c), URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ACT OF 1964, AS AMENDED

Sec.
215.1 Purpose statement.
215.2 General.
215.3 Employees represented by a labor organization.
215.4 Employees not represented by a labor organization.
215.5 Processing of amendatory applications.
215.6 Recertifications based on existing agreements.
215.7 Department of Labor contact.

AUTHORITY: Secretary's Order No. 11-72, May 12, 1972.

§ 215.1 Purpose statement.

(a) The purpose of these guidelines is to provide information concerning the Department of Labor's administrative procedures in processing applications for assistance under the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended (hereinafter "the Act").

(b) Section 13(c) of the Act reads as follows:

It shall be a condition of any assistance under section 3 of this Act that fair and equitable arrangements are made, as determined by the Secretary of Labor, to protect the interests of employees affected by such assistance. Such protective arrangements shall include, without being limited to, such provisions as may be necessary for (1) The preservation of rights, privileges, and benefits (including continuation of pension rights and benefits) under existing collective bargaining agreements or otherwise; (2) The continuation of collective bargaining rights; (3) The protection of individual employees against a worsening of their positions with respect to their employment; (4) Assurances of employment to employees of acquired mass transportation systems and priority of reemployment of employees terminated or laid off; and (5) Paid training or retraining programs. Such arrangements shall include provisions protecting individual employees against a worsening of their positions with respect to their employment which shall in no event provide benefits less than those established pursuant to section 5(2)(f) of the Act of February 4, 1887 (24 Stat. 379, as amended). The contract for the granting of any such assistance shall specify the terms and conditions of the protective arrangements.

§ 215.2 General.

Upon receipt of copies of applications for Federal assistance subject to section 13(c), together with a request for the certification of employee protective arrangements from the Department of Transportation, the Department of Labor will process those applications, which may be in either preliminary or final form. To facilitate review, the section of the application dealing with labor and relocation should estimate the effects on mass transportation employees of urban mass transportation carriers of the contemplated Federal assistance including possible impact of the assistance upon existing collective bargaining agreements, employment rights, privileges and benefits (including pensions) and the continuation of collective bargaining rights. The application should identify the labor organization, if any, representing employees of urban mass transit carriers in the area of the proposed project and describe what steps, if any, have been taken to develop the required employee protections.

§ 215.3 Employees represented by a labor organization.

(a) If affected employees are represented by a labor organization it is expected that protective arrangements shall be the product of negotiation, pursuant to these guidelines.

(b) Upon receipt of an application involving affected employees represented by a labor organization, the Department of Labor will refer a copy of the application to that organization and notify the applicant of referral.

(c) Following referral and notification under paragraph (b), of this section, and subject to the exceptions defined in §§ 215.5 and 215.6, parties will be expected to engage in good faith efforts to reach mutually acceptable protective arrangements through negotiation.

(d) Provisions will be made for the setting of time limitations by the Secretary of Labor within which negotiations must be concluded. It is anticipated that time limits will be set, case by case, for all projects which the Secretary of Transportation indicates have a significant possibility of funding. Further, expedited processing will be given high priority projects, upon the Secretary of Labor's own initiative or on the request of the Secretary of Transportation.

(e) The Secretary of Labor will review negotiated protective arrangements. If an arrangement meets the requirements of section 13(c), the Secretary will so certify to the Urban Mass Transportation Administrator. If the arrangement is not in conformity with the provisions of section 13(c), the Secretary may grant parties additional time to negotiate a satisfactory agreement, or he may set forth the provisions of the protective arrangement himself.

(f) If the parties are unable to reach agreement within the time period specified pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section, the Secretary will review the positions of the parties to determine appropriate action. If it is determined that the parties cannot reach agreement, he will advise them of the protective terms and conditions upon which he intends to base the certification. If the Secretary determines that the applicant has not negotiated in good faith he will refuse to certify.

§ 215.4 Employees not represented by a labor organization.

(a) The certification made by the Secretary will afford the same level of protection to those employees who are not represented by labor organizations.

(b) If there is no labor organization representing employees, the Secretary will set forth the protective terms and conditions in his letter of certification.

§ 215.5 Processing of amendatory applications.

When an application is supplemental to or revises or amends in immaterial respects an application for which the Department of Labor has already certified that fair and equitable arrangements have been made to protect the interests of mass transit employees affected by the subject project, and absent unusual circumstances, the Department of Labor will on its own initiative apply to the supplemental or other amendatory application the same terms and conditions as were certified for the subject project as originally constituted. The Department of Labor's processing of these applications will be expedited.

§ 215.66 Recertificationns based on existing agreements.

When the Department of Labor receives a certification request for a grant application which is identified as being in a category of recurring grants, as set forth below, and when the applicant has an existing section 13(c) arrangement for a previous grant in that category, the Department of Labor will notify the parties of its receipt of the application and its intent to certify the new project on the basis of the previously developed section 13(c) arrangement unless within 30 days from that notification a party objects in writing to certification on that basis. Upon receipt of any objection the Secretary of Labor will review the objection to determine appropriate action to take in future processing of the certification request. This procedure will apply to the following categories of grants:

(a) Capital grants for purchase or renovation of vehicles (including buses, railcars, or other vehicles) based on a normal equipment replacement or maintenance cycle, not resulting in a contraction of service levels;

(b) Capital grants for refurbishing of rights-of-way, buildings, or other real property where the activity is closely similar to that carried out over a period of years;

(c) Grants pursuant to specified multi-year programs of identifiable projects;

(d) Other categories to be determined by the Secretary of Labor.

§ 215.7 Department of Labor contact.

Questions concerning the subject matter covered by these guidelines should be addressed to the Division of Employee Protections, Labor-Management Services Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, Room N-5641, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20210; phone number (202) 523-6495.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 13th day of January, 1977.

BERNARD E. DELURY,
Assistant Secretary for Labor-Management Relations.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Geological Survey

[30 CFR Part 251]

GEOLOGICAL AND GEOPHYSICAL EXPLORATION PERMIT

Submission of Data

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act of August 7, 1953, 67 Stat. 462, 43 U.S.C. 1331-1343, the Department of the Interior proposes the following changes in Title 30, Code of Federal Regulations Part 251.

Part 251 provides for the issuance of geological and geophysical exploration permits on the Outer Continental Shelf (OCS). As promulgated (41 FR 25891, June 23, 1976), the regulations provided for the submission of permit data for inspection by the Supervisor at his request. The submission of volumes of geophysical data which the Supervisor ultimately concludes are not to be selected, but which are subject to the reimbursement provisions for reproduction costs, has proven burdensome to Geological Survey and objectionable to the geophysical exploration industry.

This amendment proposes to resolve this problem by providing that submission of data to the Supervisor prior to its selection will occur only when mutually agreeable, and that the Supervisor will rely more on inspection on the permittee's premises. This amendment should end industry's suspicion that submitted data are used, not just inspected for quality and suitability, and returned without being subject to the provisions for reimbursement of processing and reprocessing costs. This amendment makes no change in the requirements for submission of data upon their selection by the Supervisor.

The Department is now revising and simplifying the geophysical exploration permit form. In conjunction with this, certain provisions deleted from the permit should be elevated to the regulations. Among these are provisions proposed to be added to 30 CFR 251.13 and paragraph 9 below, 30 CFR 251.14(d).

The Department in this Notice also proposes to amend the definitions of "analyzed geological information" and "processed geophysical information" to include reference to data collected under a lease, so that the cross reference in 30 CFR 250.97 to definitions contained in section 251.3 is accurate.

In addition, the Department seeks, under proper circumstances, to allow geological and geophysical explortion for other commercial purposes not related to mineral development. Section 11 of the OCS Act, 43 U.S.C. 1340, requires geological and geophysical exploration of the OCS to be "authorized by the Secretary." By adopting regulations permitting only mineral exploration and scientific research, the Department did, but did not intend to, foreclose exploration permits in non-mineral commercial purposes. The proposed amendments remedy this.

This action does not require the drafting of an inflationary impact statement under the mandate of Executive Order No. 11821, 39 FR 41501 (1974). Departmental review under the criteria set forth in OMB Circular A-107 and the Department's memorandum on E.O. 11821 (revised October 7, 1975), indicates that the proposal does not invoke this impact statement requirement.

This action does not constitute a "major federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of section 102(2(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. 4332(2)(C). These technical changes will not significantly alter the environmental effects of exploration under permits issued by the Department under the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act, 43 U.S.C. 1331-1343. These impacts were discussed in the Impact Statement prepared prior to initial promulgation of these rules, Interior FES 76-23.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public on opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process. Interested parties may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed regulations to the Director, U.S. Geological Survey, National Center, Reston, Virginia 22092, on or before February 17, 1977.

Dated: January 11, 1977.

WILLIAM L. FISHER,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

1. Accordingly, it is proposed that the table of contents for Part 251 be amended by revising the entry for § 251.12 to read:

Sec.
251.12 Inspection, selection and submission of data and information.

§ 251.3 [Amended]

2. It is proposed to revise § 251.3(j) to read as follows:

• • • • • •

(j) Geological exploration for mineral resources or other commercial purposes. Any operation conducted on the Outer Continental Shelf which utilizes geological and geochemical techniques, including, but not limited to, core and test drilling, well logging techniques, and various bottom sampling methods, to produce data and information on mineral resources, including data and information in support of possible exploration and development activity, or for other commercial purposes. The term does not include exploration for scientific research.

• • • • • •

3. It is proposed to revise § 251.3(k) to read as follows:

• • • • • •

(k) Geophysical exploration for mineral resources or other commercial purposes. Any operation conducted on the Outer Continental Shelf which utilizes geophysical techniques, including, but not limited to, gravity, magnetic and various seismic methods, to produce data and information on mineral resources, including data and information in support of possible exploration and development activity, or for other commercial purposes. The term does not include exploration for scientific research.

• • • • • •

4. It is proposed that the first sentence of 30 CFR 251.3(p) be revised to read:

• • • • • •

(p) Data, collected under a permit (or, for the purposes of § 250.97 of this chapter, under a lease), which have been analyzed. • • •

• • • • • •

5. It is proposed that the first sentence of 30 CFR 251.3(q) be revised to read:

• • • • • •

(q) Data, collected under a permit (or, for the purposes of § 250.97 of this chapter, under a lease), which have been processed. • • •

• • • • • •

§ 251.12 [Amended]

6. It is proposed that the following modifications be made in 30 CFR 251.12:

A. That the section title be revised to read:

§ 251.12 Inspection, selection and submission of data and information.

B. That the heading of paragraph (b) be revised to read:

(b) Inspection, selection and submission of geophysical data and processed geophysical information. • • •

C. That the second and third sentences of paragraph (b)(2) be revised to read:

(b) • • •

(2) • • • This inspection may be performed on the permittee's premises or, at the request of the Supervisor, the permittee may agree to submit the geophysical data, processed geophysical information or reprocessed geophysical information to the Supervisor for inspection. The permittee may either submit the requested material within 30 days of receipt of the Supervisor's request or immediately notify the Supervisor of his objection to submission of any or all of the material for inspection. • • •

• • • • • •

D. That the introductory portion of paragraph (b)(4) before paragraph (b)(4)(i) be revised to read:

• • • • • •

(b) • • •

(4) The right of inspection and each submission shall include, at the direction of the Supervisor, all or any part of the following: • • •

§ 251.13 [Amended]

7. It is proposed that § 251.13(b) be revised to read:

• • • • •

(b) Reimbursement for processing and reprocessing costs. After the Supervisor selects processed and reprocessed geophysical information by written notice to the permittee or third party in accordance with § 251.12(b)(2), the permittee or third party shall be reimbursed for not more than one-half of the cost attributable to processing and reprocessing only, as distinguished from the cost of data acquisition. Reimbursement will be for the amount attributable to processing and reprocessing costs of the lowest rate at which the processed geophysical information is made available by the permittee or third party, but in no case shall reimbursement be more than one-half of the processing and reprocessing cost incurred by the permittee or the third party. When in the exercise of his discretion, the Supervisor so directs, the permittee or third party shall refund to the United States any amount by which the lowest share of the total processing and reprocessing cost is reduced following reimbursement to the permittee or third party by the United States.

• • • • •

8. It is proposed to revise 30 CFR 251.13(c) to read as follows:

• • • • •

(c) Procedures for establishing amount of reimbursement. Requests for reimbursement will contain a cost breakdown in sufficient detail to allow separation of processing and reprocessing from acquisition costs. Any reimbursement to a permittee or third party shall be conditioned upon a determination by the Supervisor that the request for reimbursement as originally submitted or as revised is proper.

• • • • •

§ 251.14 [Amended]

9. It is proposed that § 251.14 be amended by the addition of a paragraph (d) to read as follows:

• • • • •

(d) Disclosure to independent contractors. The Government reserves the right to disclose any data or information acquired from a permittee to an independent contractor or agent for the purpose of processing, reprocessing or interpretation.

§ 251.16 [Amended]

10. It is proposed to amend 30 CFR 251.16 by the addition of the words "or other commercial purposes" after "mineral resources" and before "and exploration".

RENEGOTIATION BOARD

[32 CFR Part 1482]

MEETINGS; PUBLIC NOTICE AND OBSERVATION

Proposed Implementation of Government in Sunshine Act

Notice is hereby given that the Renegotiation Board proposes to amend 32 CFR by adopting a new Part 1482 to implement the provisions of the Government in the Sunshine Act (Pub. L. 94-409, 90 Stat. 1241).

The Government in the Sunshine Act is intended to provide the public with the fullest practicable information regarding the decisionmaking processes of the Federal Government while protecting the rights of individuals and the ability of the Government to carry out its responsibilities. Section 3 of the act requires that certain agencies, including the Renegotiation Board, adopt regulations generally providing for public announcements of their meetings, public attendance at such meetings unless exempt under the statute, and, if a meeting is closed, public access to a transcript or recording of the nonexempt portions of such meeting. The proposed Part 1482 is intended to comply with these requirements.

The proposed § 1482.1 would state the scope of Part 1482 and would provide that it applies to all meetings of the Board, and to all meetings of divisions of the Board composed of two or more members, and that the Board members shall not jointly conduct or dispose of official agency business except in accordance with the rules set forth therein. Paragraph (c) would make it clear that access to documents is governed by Part 1480 and not by the proposed Part 1482.

The proposed § 1482.2 would contain definitions applicable to Part 1482. Paragraph (e) would define the term "meeting" broadly to include not only all meetings of a majority of the Board, but also all meetings of a majority of the members of a division but not less than two, at which deliberations are undertaken which determine or result in the joint conduct or disposition of official business. Excepted from such definition would be meetings to consider closing another meeting to the public; meetings to establish or change the time, date or subject matter of another meeting; and actions taken by the Board through written notations which do not involve any gathering at all.

The proposed § 1482.3 would provide for the issuance of public announcements of the time, place and subject matter of meetings, and whether they will be open to public observation. Generally, such public announcements would be made at least seven days before such a meeting. Under certain circumstances, meetings could be held sooner or certain exempt information could be omitted from a public announcement. Public announcements would be made available for public inspection and copying in the Board's Public Information Office and, thereafter, submitted for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed § 1482.4 would require that all covered meetings be open to public observation unless they are within one or more of the ten specific exemptions set forth in the Government in the Sunshine Act and paraphased in paragraph (b). Paragraph (c) would set forth in detail the procedures for closing a meeting. Paragraph (d) would permit any affected person to request that any meeting be closed to public observation. Paragraph (e) would make clear that "public observation" means the opportunity to see and hear Board proceedings but not to participate in or to record them.

The proposed § 1482.5 would require that every covered meeting, whether open or closed to public observation, be recorded and that such recordings, after excision of exempt matter from those of closed meetings, be made available for public review and copying. In addition, paragraph (c) would require that an index to such recordings be maintained and open to the public. Excisions would be made initially by the Assistant General Counsel-Secretary and, upon the request of any person, subject to review by the Board. Fees for copies of tapes would be limited to the actual cost of duplication.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rulemaking through submission of written comments pertaining to these proposed regulations. Comments received by the Board before February 21, 1977 will be considered by the Board before taking final action. Such comments should be addressed to the General Counsel, Renegotiation Board, Washington, D.C. 20446.

Written material and comments submitted will be available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Board's Public Information Office, 2000 M Street, NW., Washington, D.C.

The Renegotiation Board has determined that this document does not contain a major proposal requiring preparation of an Inflation Impact Statement under Executive Order 11821 and OMB Circular A-107.

Dated: January 13, 1977.

REX M. MATTINGLY,
Acting Chairman.

32 CFR Chapter XIV is amended by adding a new Part 1482, reading as follows:

PART 1482—PUBLIC NOTICE AND OBSERVATION OF MEETINGS

Sec.

1482.1 Scope.
1482.2 Definitions.
1482.3 Public announcement of meetings.
1482.4 Public observation of meetings.
1482.5 Recordings of meetings.

AUTHORITY: Sec. 109, Pub. L. 9, 82nd Cong., 65 Stat. 22 (50 U.S.C.A. App. 1219); sec. 3, Pub. L. 94-409, 90 Stat 1241 (5 U.S.C. 552b).

§ 1482.1 Scope.

(a) In general. This part implements the Government in the Sunshine Act (Pub. L. 94-409, 90 Stat. 1241). The regulations herein provide for public announcement of information concerning meetings of the Board, public observation of such meetings unless exempt from such observation by law, and public access to recordings of such meetings except to the extent that such recordings are of meetings or portions of meetings closed to public observation and the discussion thereon is exempt from disclosure by law.

(b) Applicability. This part applies to all meetings of the Board and all meetings of divisions of the Board which are composed of two or more members. The members of the Board shall not jointly conduct or dispose of official agency business other than in accordance with this part.

(c) Access to records. Access to records, including those discussed, referred to or adopted in a meeting to which this part is applicable, shall be governed exclusively by the provisions of Part 1480 of this subchapter.

§ 1482.2 Definitions.

(a) "Board" means the Renegotiation Board.

(b) "Division" means one or more members of the Board designated by the Chairman pursuant to section 107(e) of the act.

(c) "Member" means an individual who has been appointed to the Board.

(d) "General Counsel" means the General Counsel of the Board appointed pursuant to section 107(c) of the act or, in his absence, the Acting General Counsel.

(e) "Meeting" means the deliberations of at least the number of members required to take action on behalf of the Board, or the deliberations of at least the number of members of a division required to take action on behalf of the division but not less than two, where such deliberations determine or result in the joint conduct or disposition of official business, but does not include deliberations for the purpose of closing a meeting or portion thereof to public observation under § 1482.4, deliberations for the purpose of establishing or changing the time, place or subject matter of a meeting under § 1482.3, or actions taken by the Board or a division through sequential, written notation of its members.

(f) "Earliest practicable time" means as soon as reasonably possible which, except in unusual circumstances, will be not later than the close of the next day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday.

§ 1482.3 Public announcement of meetings.

(a) In general. A public announcement, in the form prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section, will be posted at least seven calendar days in advance of each meeting except that if a majority of the Board determines by recorded vote that agency business requires that such meeting be called at an earlier date, such public announcement will be posted at the earliest practicable time.

(b) Changes in public announcements. The time and place of a meeting may be changed following its public announcement only if the Board posts a public announcement of such change at the earliest practicable time. The subject matter of a meeting or the determination to open or close a meeting or portion thereof to public observation may be changed only if:

(1) A majority of the Board determines by recorded vote that that agency business so requires and that no earlier announcement of the change was possible; and

(2) A public announcement of such change, and the vote of each member thereon, is posted at the earliest practicable time.

(c) Contents of public announcements. Each public announcement of a meeting required by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall state:

(1) The time and place of the meeting;

(2) The subject matter of the meeting;

(3) Whether the meeting will be open or closed to public observation; and

(4) The name, address and telephone number of the official designated to respond to requests for information concerning the meeting; except that, with respect to a meeting or portion thereof which is to be closed to public observation under § 1482.4, to the extent that any information required to be stated in a public announcement by this paragraph is exempt from disclosure under the provisions of § 1482.4(b), such information will not be included in a public announcement.

(d) Posting. A public announcement required under this section shall be posted by making it available for public inspection and copying during the usual hours of business in the Public Information Office at the principal office of the Board. See § 1472.6 (d)(1) and (e)(2). Immediately following its posting, such public announcement shall be submitted for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 1482.4 Public observation of meetings.

(a) In general. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, every meeting shall be open to public observation.

(b) Exemptions. Meetings or portions of meetings will be closed to public observation, and information concerning such meetings or such portions will not be announced to the public, if the Board determines that public observation of such meeting or such portion, or public announcement of such information, is likely to:

(1) Disclose matters that are:

(i) Specifically authorized under criteria established by an Executive Order to be kept secret in the interests of national defense or foreign policy; and

(ii) In fact properly classified pursuant to such Executive Order;

(2) Relate solely to internal personnel rules and practices of the Board;

(3) Disclose matters specifically exempted from disclosure by statute (other than 5 U.S.C. 552), provided that such statute:

(i) Requires that the matters be withheld from the public in such a manner as to leave no discretion on the issue; or

(ii) Establishes particular criteria for withholding or refers to particular types of matters to be withheld.

(4) Disclose trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person and privileged or confidential;

(5) Involve accusing any person of a crime, or formally censuring any person;

(6) Disclose information of a personal nature where disclosure would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy;

(7) Disclose investigatory records compiled for law enforcement purposes, or information which if written would be contained in such records, but only to the extent that the production of such records or information would:

(i) Interfere with enforcement proceedings,

(ii) Deprive a person of a right to a fair trial or an impartial adjudication,

(iii) Constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy,

(iv) Disclose the identity of a confidential source and, in the case of a record compiled by a criminal law enforcement authority in the course of a criminal investigation, or by an agency conducting a lawful national security intelligence investigation, confidential information furnished only by the confidential source,

(v) Disclose investigative techniques and procedures, or

(vi) Endanger the life or physical safety of law enforcement personnel;

(8) Disclose information contained in or related to examination, operating, or condition reports prepared by, on behalf of, or for the use of an agency responsible for the regulation or supervision of financial institutions.

(9) Disclose information the premature disclosure of which would:

(i) In the case of an agency which regulates currencies, securities, commodities, or financial institutions, be likely to

(A) Lead to significant financial speculation in currencies, securities, or the commodities, or

(B) Significantly endanger the stability of any financial institution or

(ii) In the case of any agency, be likely to frustrate implementation of a proposed agency action, except that subparagraph (ii) shall not apply in any instance where the agency has already disclosed to the public the content or nature of its proposed action, or where the agency is required by law to make such disclosure on its own initiative prior to taking final agency action on such proposal; or

(10) Specifically concern the Board's participation in a civil action or proceeding, an action in a foreign court or international tribunal, or an arbitration, or the initiation, conduct, or disposition by the Board of a particular case of formal agency adjudication involving a determination on the record after opportunity for a hearing: Provided, That the Board may open to public observation any meeting to which this paragraph applies if it determines that the public interest so requires. In making a determination that the public interest requires public observation of a meeting, the Board shall consider the probable effect of such public observation on the Board's ability to carry out the purposes and intent of the act and on the rights, duties and interests of affected persons, including other agencies, employees and contractors, and whether such public observation would violate any applicable provision of law, such as 5 U.S.C. 552a, 18 U.S.C. 1905 or 26 U.S.C. 7213.

(c) Procedures. (1) Upon the motion of any member of the Board to close any meeting or portion thereof to public observation,

(i) The General Counsel shall certify whether, in his opinion, such meeting or such portion may be closed to public observation under one or more of the exemptions set forth in paragraph (b) of this section and

(ii) The Board shall vote upon such motion.

(2) Within one business day following a vote under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, a written record of such vote, reflecting the vote of each member and attaching the General Counsel's certification, shall be posted.

(3) If the vote of the Board under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is to close such meeting or such portion to public observation, within one business day following such vote a full written explanation of the Board's action, together with a list of all persons expected to attend such meeting or such portion and their affiliation shall be posted.

(4) At the earliest practicable time following a meeting any portion of which is closed to public observation pursuant to this paragraph, the presiding member shall file a statement setting forth the time and place of such meeting and the persons present, which shall be posted.

(5) For the purposes of this paragraph, posting a document shall consist of making such document available for public inspection and copying during usual hours of business in the Public Information Office at the principal office of the Board. See § 1472.6(d) (1) and (e) (2) of this subchapter.

(6) With respect to any meeting or portion of a meeting closed to public observation pursuant to this section, if the Board determines that any information contained in any of the documents required to be posted pursuant to subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph is exempt from public disclosure under paragraph (b) of this section, such information shall be deleted from the copies of such documents that are posted; Provided, however, That undeleted copies of such documents shall be retained by the Board in its files.

(d) Requests to close meetings. Any person who believes that his interests may be directly affected by public observation of a meeting or portion of a meeting may request that such meeting or such portion be closed to such public observation for any of the reasons set forth in paragraph (b) of this section. Such requests shall be filed with the Assistant General Counsel-Secretary at the principal office of the Board, who shall distribute copies of such request to each member at the earliest practicable time. See § 1472.6 (d) (1) and (e) (2). Action on such request, if any, shall thereafter be taken in accordance with the procedure set forth in paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) Public observation. Unless otherwise stated in a public announcement made pursuant to § 1482.3 (a) or (b) of this subchapter, public observation of a meeting shall mean that all members of the public are invited to attend such meeting for the purposes of observing and listening to the proceedings but not for the purposes of participating in or recording, whether electronically, photographically or otherwise, such proceedings.

§ 1482.5 Recordings of Meetings.

(a) In general. Recordings of every meeting, whether open or closed to public observation under § 1482.4 of this subchapter, shall be made and retained. Each such recording shall accurately identify the meeting to which it relates, each speaker thereat and each document or physical item discussed thereat.

(b) Excision of recordings of closed meetings. The Assistant General Counsel-Secretary or his duly appointed representative shall prepare a copy of the recording of each meeting or portion thereof closed to public observation pursuant to § 1482.4 of this subchapter and shall excise therefrom all discussion which, in his opinion, is exempt from public disclosure under paragraph (b) of such section. The original recording of each such meeting or portion shall be retained by him.

(c) Public access to recordings. The recording of each meeting or portion thereof which is open to public observation and the copy of the recording of each meeting or portion thereof which is closed to public observation, after excision in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, together with an index of the subject matter thereon and suitable equipment for the review of such recordings and copies, shall be available to the public during the usual hours of business in the Public Information Office at the principal office of the Board. See § 1472.6(d) (1) and (e) (2) of this subchapter.

(d) Procedure for obtaining copies of recordings. (1) Any person desiring a copy of any recording available to the public under the preceding paragraph shall submit a written request therefor, stating that it is made pursuant to the Government in the Sunshine Act and describing such recording with sufficient particularity to permit its identification with reasonable certainty. All requests should be addressed to the Assistant General Counsel-Secretary, Renegotiation Board, Washington, D.C. 20446. The envelope in which such request is sent shall be prominently marked with the letters "GISA."

(2) The Assistant General Counsel-Secretary or, in his absence, his duly appointed representative, shall furnish the requested copies within ten days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays) after the receipt of a request under this paragraph.

(e) Review of excisions. Any person who has been afforded access to a copy of a recording of a closed meeting under paragraph (c) of this section or who has received a copy of such a recording under paragraph (d) of this section may obtain review by the Board of the decision of the Assistant General Counsel-Secretary excising portions of such recordings under paragraph (b) of this section by making written application to the Renegotiation Board, Washington, D.C. 20446, within 20 calendar days after the date of such access or receipt of such copy. The decisions of the Board shall be made within 20 days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays) after the receipt of such application. Failure of the Board to act within the time limit prescribed in the preceding sentence shall constitute a decision of the Board not to furnish the excised discussion to the requester.

(f) Fees. (1) The charge for furnishing a copy of a recording under paragraph (d) of this section shall be the actual cost of its duplication.

(2) Where it is anticipated that the fees chargeable under this section will amount to more than $25, and the requester has not indicated in advance his willingness to pay fees as high as anticipated, the requester shall be notified of the amount of the anticipated fee. Such notification shall be transmitted as soon as possible, but in any event within five working days, giving the best estimate then available. In such cases, a request will not be deemed to have been received until the requester is notified of the anticipated cost and agrees to bear it.

(3) Where the anticipated fee exceeds $25 or where a requester has previously failed to pay a fee under this paragraph, an advance deposit of the full amount of the anticipated fee may be required. In any case requiring a deposit, the request will not be deemed to be received until receipt of such deposit.

(4) Remittances of fees under this paragraph shall be made payable to the order of the Renegotiation Board and mailed to the Renegotiation Board, Attention: Director, Office of Administration, Washington, D.C. 20446. The Board will assume no responsibility for cash which is lost in the mail.

(5) The Board shall waive any fee prescribed in this paragraph in any instance in which the Board, in its discretion, determines such waiver to primarily benefit the general public. There will be no charge for making copies of recordings required for use by other agencies of the Government.

(g) Period of retention. A recording made and maintained under paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section shall be retained for a period of not less than two years after the meeting or one year after the conclusion of any Board proceeding with respect to which the meeting was held, whichever is longer.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

Office of the Secretary

[45 CFR Subtitle A]

PUBLIC ATTENDANCE AT ADJUDICATIVE HEARINGS

Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

The Secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has determined that the Department should adopt a uniform policy with respect to public attedance at adjudicative hearings and has sent the following memorandum to the heads of the principal operating components of the Department directing that regulatory amendments be prepared to effect such a policy. Interested persons are invited to comment on the policy and to participate in the development of regulations by submitting such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. All communications should be addressed to the Director, Office of Regulatory Review, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 730–E, South Portal Building, 200 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20201.

Written comments and information may be submitted in any form such as by means of letters, position papers, or memoranda. There are no special rules concerning format. However, to assure full consideration, all written comments should be submitted on or before March 21, 1977. Comments received in response to this Notice will be available for public inspection in Room 730–E, South Portal Building, 200 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20201.

Dated: December 21, 1976.

DAVID MATHEWS,
Secretary.

To: Heads of Principal Operating Components, Assistant Secretary for Administration and Management, Director, Office for Civil Rights, Chairman, Grant Appeals Board.
From: Secretary.
Subject: Public Attendance at Adjudicative Hearings.

DECEMBER 21, 1976.

It has recently come to my attention that the Department has no uniform policy, and has a diversity of practice, concerning the admission of the general public to adjudicative hearings. It also appears to me that at least some of the regulations of the operating components dealing with this subject are more restrictive than they need or should be. For these reasons, I have determined that the Department should have a uniform policy permitting public attendance at adjudicative hearings unless such attendance would be inconsistent with our obligation not to disclose personal and private information, trade secrets or other information made confidential by law.

To implement the new policy, each component of the Department that conducts adjudicative hearings should prepare and submit for my approval amendments to such regulations in a form consistent with the model regulatory provision attached to this memorandum. If for any reason such an amendment is inappropriate for a particular program, the program administrator should submit to me in writing a full explanation in support of his request that he be allowed to deviate from the general policy.

The regulation amendments as well as any explanations why such amendments should not be adopted should be submitted to me no later than March 21, 1977.

Attachment.

MODEL REGULATORY PROVISION FOR PUBLIC ATTENDANCE AT ADJUDICATIVE HEARINGS

§ ------ Public attendance.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, all [adjudicative[1]] hearings shall be open for attendance by the public.

(b) The presiding officer shall, on his own motion or on that of any party, close to the public any hearing or portion of a hearing at which evidence is to be offered or matters discussed which—

(1) Are of a personal nature and disclosure would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy;

(2) Are trade secrets or consist of other commercial or financial information of a privileged or confidential nature; or

(3) Are such that disclosure would violate any provision of law.

MEDICAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Intermediate Care Facilities—Institutions for the Mentally Retarded

Notice is hereby given that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed by the Administrator, Social and Rehabilitation Service, with the approval of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare. The purpose of these regulations is to modify certain Federal requirements which become effective on March 18, 1977, and to extend the period allowed under current regulations for compliance with certain selected standards. These regulations will apply to institutions for the mentally retarded certified on or before March 18, 1977, as Intermediate Care Facilities under the Medicaid program (title XIX, Social Security Act) and participating under an approved plan of compliance provided for under 45 CFR 249.33(a) (8). Facilities (or distinct parts thereof) entering the program after March 18, 1977, would be subject to the current provisions for full compliance under 45 CFR 249.12(c) (6) or certification with deficiencies under the provisions of 45 CFR 249.33(a) (4).

[1] The context provided by the procedural regulations in which this section would be inserted may make it unnecessary to describe the hearings as "adjudicative." On the other hand, some other qualifying adjective may be appropriate.

With the adoption of the intermediate care facility program under title XIX, Social Security Act, effective on March 18, 1974, the Department established standards applicable to institutions for the mentally retarded which provided that all such institutions participating under the title XIX program as providers of intermediate care would be required to be in compliance with Federal standards established under 45 CFR 249.13 effective March 18, 1977. To achieve this purpose, provisions were made to allow institutions for the mentally retarded to initially participate under the program provided that such facilities submitted a plan of compliance, approved by the Secretary, for achieving conformity with the standards specified in 45 CFR 249.13 no later than March 18, 1977.

A Departmental study completed in June of 1976 by the Office of Long Term Care of the status and progress of facility efforts to meet the March 18, 1977, deadline indicated that only 35% of the State-owned facilities were expected to be in full compliance by the deadline. The shortage of available State funds to make the required changes and renovations to meet Federal requirements with respect to the Life Safety Code and physical environment was identified as the major obstacle in achieving full compliance. Staffing was also identified as an area in which States needed more time because of the shortage of qualified personnel.

These problems were of sufficient significance that they became very clear to the Department both through reports and inquiries from State and local agencies and through contacts from the New Coalition, an organization consisting of the National Association of Counties, the National Governors' Conference and the National Conference of State Legislators. These groups reiterated to the Department the difficulties in meeting certain aspects of the existing regulations; they emphasized that it would be impossible for all State-owned facilities to comply in full by the specified date. A special problem existed in some States that were attempting to phase out certain facilities and place the residents in alternative care settings. These States would have been forced to spend funds on renovating those facilities in order to continue to receive Federal Medicaid matching funds. Recognizing the validity of these concerns, the Department initiated intensive discussions with the New Coalition, National Association of Retarded Citizens, Epilepsy Foundation, Cerebral Palsy Association, and the National Association of Coordinators of State Programs for the Mentally Retarded, Inc. These discussions culminated in specific recommendations made to the Department by the New Coalition, and a Departmental response indicating a willingness to make certain regulatory changes in response to their legitimate concerns. Accordingly, this Notice of Proposed Rule Making specifies such changes, which the Department also believes maintain the necessary program quality.

Under the proposal, the Department purposes to maintain in principle the March 18, 1977, compliance date for facilities providing services to the mentally retarded which were certified prior to that date. However, in the case of an individual facility which will not meet the Federal requirements for staffing, Life Safety Code, and certain physical environmental standards by the deadline date, continued Medicaid participation will be allowed provided that the health and safety of the residents in the facility will not be jeopardized by a delay in achieving compliance with those requirements.

Under these proposed regulations, facilities may be granted up to one additional year to correct deficiencies in staffing on the basis of a written plan, approved by the Secretary or his designee, which establishes a timetable of corrective action to achieve full compliance with Federal staffing requirements within one year. Similarly, provided that the facility is found in compliance with existing State fire safety and sanitation requirements, the facility may be granted up to March 18, 1980, to correct deficiencies in requirements for the Life Safety Code, living units, dining rooms, and therapy areas. Such facilities may be recognized for purposes of certification based upon a written plan, approved by the Secretary or his designee, which establishes a timetable for correcting deficiencies in, or phase-out of, buildings which will assure a facility's full compliance with Federal Life Safety Code and physical environment requirements by March 18, 1980.

The proposed regulation would also:

Modify current requirements for application of the Rooming House section of the residential occupancy section of the Life Safety Code in facilities of 15 beds or less to permit mobile nonambulatory as well as ambulatory residents to be housed in these buildings rather than in large institutions as part of the normalization and deinstitutionalization process. In addition, the Federal requirement with respect to resident actions for self-preservation has been modified to provide some flexibility of the residential occupancy code in housing arrangements for the mentally retarded population by providing for the application of the residential occupancy code in facilities of fifteen beds or less where the Secretary or his designee has determined, in the case of residents who ar not capable of self-preservation, that the facility has procedures which assure the orderly evacuation of each resident.

Expand the definition of "Qualified Mental Retardation Professional" to include a certified rehabilitation counselor in order to recognize and specifically provide for inclusion of a category which by professional training and experience would be qualified in the area of mental retardation.

Clarify the effective date of the Federal standards under 45 CFR 249.13 and correct the citations of the cross-referenced requirements under 45 CFR 249.12. The cross-referenced requirements omit, due to a technical error, current provisions for patient rights.

Modify requirements with respect to the maximum number of residents per bedroom, to recognize and allow for a variance which is in accordance with the programmatic needs of an individual. For purposes of survey and certification, the survey agency may grant a variance where the survey agency has established that a physician or qualified psychologist has documented in the resident's plan of care that such a variance is in accordance with the resident's programmatic needs.

Modify requirements for minimum bedroom floor space to provide some flexibility in the application of Federal requirements to existing buildings. The survey agency may grant a variance within certain limitations for ambulatory resident bedrooms where the survey agency has determined in accordance with Federal guidelines that such a variance does not adversely affect the programmatic needs of the resident.

These proposed amendments are intended to alleviate the serious difficulties some States are encountering in their efforts to meet the published requirements by the 1977 date, and thus to permit continued participation of facilities for a reasonable time while improvements are being made in order to avoid substantial disruption in the care, treatment, and living arrangements of the residents by having to move them to other certified facilities. Residents of the facilities will not be disadvantaged by the changes since the extended time may be granted only when an approved plan of correction is in effect and no harm will result to the individuals. The Department will monitor activities under each facility's plan to assure that adequate and timely progress is being made.

With respect to the time extension for staffing, one year is considered sufficient time for a facility to recruit the necessary staff and also is the maximum period that a facility should attempt to provide the required "active treatment" short of a full complement of staff. The Department believes a longer period could result in harm to the residents or at least deter their progress toward maximum normal functioning. With respect to structural changes, however, it is recognized that a longer period may be necessary to plan and carry out building modifications or to complete a satisfactory building phase-out plan. Thus three years is considered reasonable in this instance based upon the Department's study and review of the State's progress toward compliance in these areas. Following the time periods which are being proposed for correction of staffing, Life Safety Code, and physical environment deficiencies, the facility must be found in compliance with the Federal standards and would not be eligible for further participation under the program in accordance with Federal prohibitions with respect to repeating deficiencies under 45 CFR 249.33(a)(4).

These special provisions for achieving full compliance with the staffing and structural requirements are applicable only to facilities which have been participating in the Medicaid program under approved plans of compliance in accordance with 45 CFR 249.33(a)(8). It is the Department's view that serious harm would be done both to the States which have been attempting to provide adequate care to their retarded populations, using State and Federal funds, and, more importantly, to the individuals involved who are now benefiting from participation in the Medicaid program, if there were a cutoff of Federal funds at this point. These facilities are already making progress toward compliance so that they can continue in the program and thus their termination would serve no real purpose and could result in very inadequate or no care for their residents.

The Department's current policies on the regulations process provided for publication of a "Notice of Intent" to develop regulations on which all interested persons may comment, and which would then be followed by a Notice of Proposed Rule Making (NPRM). In the case of these proposed amendments to the standards for mental retardation facilities, it has been determined that the "Notice of Intent" step should be omitted (and the regular 45-day comment period on NPRMs shortened) since the time remaining between publication of this NPRM and the effective date of the current regulations (March 18, 1977) does not allow for it. States must know before March 18, 1977, what specific Federal standards will be applied in determining the qualifications of facilities to participate in the Medicaid program for purposes of Federal matching.

Further, the Department believes that the purpose of the "Notice of Intent" process has been met in large measure by the extensive discussions already held on the proposed changes with representatives of both the State agencies and affected consumers. Meetings have been held with the National Governors' Conference, the National Association for Retarded Citizens, the President's Committee on Mental Retardation, and the National Association of Coordinators of State Programs for the Mentally Retarded which involved thorough consideration of the existing standards and possible modifications. Accordingly, this NPRM is being published without a preceding Notice of Intent so that a final decision on standards can be communicated to all affected parties before March 18, 1977.

Prior to the adoption of the proposed regulations, consideration will be given to written comments, suggestions, or objections thereto which are received by the Administrator, Social and Rehabilitation Service, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, P.O. Box 2382, Washington, D.C. 20013, on or before February 17, 1977. In order to assure prompt handling of comments, please refer to MSA-194-P. Agencies and organizations are requested to submit their comments in duplicate.

Comments will be available for public inspection, beginning approximately two weeks after publication, in Room 5225 of the Department's offices at 330 C Street, SW., Washington, D.C., on Monday through Friday of each week from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. (202-245-0950). Answers to specific questions may be obtained by calling Robert Silva (202-245-0425).

Acting Secretary.

Chapter II, Title 45, Code of Federal Regulations, is amended as set forth below:

1. Section 249.10 of Part 249 is amended by revising paragraph (b)(15)(i), as set forth below:

§ 249.10 Amount, duration, and scope of medical assistance.

* * * * *

(b) Federal financial participation. Subject to the limitations in paragraph (c) of this section, Federal financial participation is available in expenditures for medical or remedial care and services under the State plan which meet the following definitions: * * *

(15) Intermediate care facility services (other than such services in an institution for tuberculosis or mental diseases) for individuals who are determined, in accordance with section 1902(a)(31)(A) of the Act, to be in need of such care. Intermediate care facility services may include services in a public institution (or distinct part thereof) for the mentally retarded or persons with related conditions. (See paragraph (d)(1)(vi) of this section.) "Intermediate care facility services" means those items and services furnished by a facility which meets the following conditions: * * *

(i) * * *

(D) It meets the standards for an intermediate care facility specified by the Secretary under § 249.12, and in the case of an institution for the mentally retarded or persons with related conditions, also meets the standards specified under § 249.13; and no later than March 18, 1977; and

* * * * *

2. Section 249.12 of Part 249 is amended by revising paragraph (a)(5), adding new paragraph (c)(3)(ix), and revising paragraph (c)(6), as set forth below:

§ 249.12 Standards for intermediate care facilities.

(a) The standards for an intermediate care facility (as defined in § 249.10(b)(15) of this part) which are specified by the Secretary pursuant to section 1905(c) and (d) of the Social Security Act and are applicable to all intermediate care facilities are as follows. The facility: * * *

(5) Meets such provisions of the Life Safety Code of the National Fire Protection Association as are applicable to institutional occupancies; except that:

(i) For facilities of 15 beds or less, the State survey agency may apply the Lodging or Rooming Houses section of the residential occupancy requirements of the Code for institutions for the mentally retarded or persons with related conditions and intermediate care facilities primarily engaged in the treatment of alcoholism and drug abuse, all of whose residents are currently certified by a physician or in the case of an institution for the mentally retarded or persons with related conditions by a physician or psychologist as defined in paragraph (c)(3)(i) of this section, as:

(A) Ambulatory or mobile nonambulatory (as defined under the provisions of § 249.13(h) of this chapter) and determined to be capable of following directions;

(B) Engaged in active programs for rehabilitation which are designed to and can reasonably be expected to lead to independent living, or in the case of an institution for the mentally retarded or persons with related conditions, receiving active treatment; and

(C) Capable of taking appropriate action for self-preservation under emergency conditions; except that, in facilities with ambulatory and mobile nonambulatory residents who are not certified as capable of self-preservation, the Lodging or Rooming Houses section of the Code may be applied where the Secretary has made a determination, in writing based upon documented evidence, that the facility has in place an adequate 24-hour operational plan designed on the basis of the specific needs of such residents, which assures their systematic and orderly evacuation within acceptable time lengths and conditions.

* * * * *

(c) In addition, for institutions for the mentally retarded or persons with related conditions the following standards specified pursuant to section 1905(d) of the Social Security Act shall apply. * * *

(3) The institution provides for a Qualified Mental Retardation Professional who is responsible for supervising the implementation of each resident's individual plan of care, integrating the various aspects of the institution's program, recording each resident's progress and initiating periodic review of each individual plan of care for necessary modifications or adjustments. The term "Qualified Mental Retardation Professional" means: * * *

(ix) A rehabilitation counselor who is certified by the Committee on Rehabilitation Counselor Certification and who has specialized training or one-year of experience in treating the mentally retarded.

* * * * *

(6) No later than March 18, 1977 the institution meets the standards specified in § 249.13. For institutions determined to meet the standards specified in § 249.13, the following sections of paragraph (a) and (c) of this section do not apply: (a)(1)(i), (ii)(A), (iv), (v) and (vi); (a)(4); (a)(6); (a)(7); (a)(8); (c)(4); and (c)(5).

3. Section 249.13 of Part 249 is amended by revising the first sentence and paragraph (b)(6), as set forth below:

§ 249.13 Standards for intermediate care facility services in institutions for the mentally retarded or persons with related conditions.

No later than March 18, 1977, the standards for intermediate care facility services (as defined in § 249.10(b)(15)) in an institution for the mentally retarded or persons with related conditions which are specified by the Secretary pursuant to section 1905(c) and (d) of the Social Security Act and referred to in § 249.12(c)(6), are specified in this section. At such time as an institution is deemed to meet the standards contained in this section, such institution will no longer be required to meet the following provisions of § 249.12: (a)(1)(i), (ii)(A), (iv), (v) and (vi); (a)(4); (a)(6); (a)(7); (a)(8); (c)(4); and (c)(5).

* * * * *

(b) Resident living. * * *

(6) Design and equipage of living units. (i) Bedrooms shall:

(A) Be on or above street grade level;

(B) Be outside rooms;

(C) Accommodate no more than 4 residents, except where the survey agency has made a finding in writing that a variance (which in no case may exceed 8 residents per room) is in accordance with the programmatic needs of each of the residents assigned to such bedroom as documented by a physician or qualified psychologist, (as defined in § 249.12(c)(3)(i) of this chapter), in the individual resident's plan of care. In instances where such a variance has been granted rejustification of the variance by the survey agency must be established in writing on a quarterly basis and maintained on file for continued certification of the institution under the program; and

(D) Provide not less than 80 square feet per resident in multiple bedrooms and not less than 100 square feet per resident in single bedrooms, except that the survey agency may grant a variance in bedrooms for ambulatory residents in existing buildings where the survey agency has justified and documented, in accordance with guidelines issued by the Secretary, that such variance does not adversely affect the programmatic needs and goals of each specific resident and provided that such variance is within the following limitations:

(1) Not less than 60 square feet is provided per resident in multiple bedrooms, and

(2) Not less than 80 square feet is provided per resident in single bedrooms.

* * * * *

4. Section 249.33 of Part 249 is amended by revising paragraphs (a)(2) and (a)(4)(iii), as set forth below:

§ 249.33 Standards for payment for skilled nursing and intermediate care facility services.

(a) State plan requirements. A State plan for medical assistance under title XIX of the Social Security Act must:

(2) Provide that the single State agency will, prior to execution of an agreement with any facility (including hospitals and skilled nursing facilities) for provision of intermediate care facility services and making payments under the plan, obtain certification from the agency designated pursuant to § 250.100 (c) of this chapter that the facility meets the definition set forth under § 249.10(b)(15), except that: (i) In the case of an intermediate care facility determined to have deficiencies under the requirements for environment and sanitation (§ 249.12(a)(6)) or of the Life Safety Code (§ 249.12(a)(5)) it may be recognized for certification as an intermediate care facility in accordance with subparagraph (a)(4)(iii) of this section for a period not exceeding 2 years following the date of such determination provided that:

(A) The institution submits a written plan of correction acceptable to the survey agency which contains;

(1) The specific steps that it will take to meet all such requirements; and

(2) A timetable not exceeding 2 years from the date of the initial certification of the facility for participation as an intermediate care facility detailing the corrective steps to be taken and when correction of deficiencies will be accomplished;

(B) The survey agency makes a finding that the facility potentially can meet such requirements through the corrective steps and they can be completed during the 2 year allowable period of time;

(C) During the period allowed for corrections, the institution is in compliance with existing State fire safety and sanitation codes and regulations;

(D) The institution is surveyed by qualified personnel at least semiannually until corrections are completed and the survey agency finds on the basis of such surveys that the institution has in fact made substantial effort and progress in its plan of correction as evidenced by supporting documentation, signed contracts and/or work orders, and a written justification of such findings is maintained on file; and

(E) At the completion of the period allowed for corrections, the intermediate care facility is in full compliance with the Life Safety Code requirements set forth under §249.12(a)(5), and the requirements for environment and sanitation set forth under §249.12(a)(6), except for any provisions waived in accordance with §249.12; and

(ii) In the case of an institution for the mentally retarded (or distinct part thereof) certified under the program and participating under a plan approved by the Secretary prior to March 18, 1977 in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a)(8) of this section and determined to have deficiencies under the requirements for staffing (§249.13(b)(5)), the Life Safety Code (§ 249.12(a)(5)); living units (§ 249.13(b)(6)(i)(A), (B), (D); (ii)(D); (iii), (iv), (v), (vii), (viii), (ix) and (xii)); dining rooms (§ 249.13(c)(4)(viii)); or therapy areas (§ 249.13(c)(8)(vi)), it may be recognized for certification as an intermediate care facility in accordance with paragraph (a)(4)(iii)(A) of this section, provided that:

(A) Prior to the certification, a written plan of correction has been approved in writing by the Secretary which details the extent of the institution's current compliance with such requirements and the specific action steps that it will take to meet all such requirements. Such plans must:

(1) In the case of public institutions be approved by the State or political subdivision having jurisdiction over the operation of the facility; and

(2) In the case of a facility determined to have deficiencies under the requirements for staffing (§ 249.13(b)(5)) establish a timetable not exceeding one year from effective date of certification after (publication of these regulations) for completion of necessary action steps for correction of staffing deficiencies. Such plan must include the number, job titles, and qualifications of personnel employed by the facility and arrangements for recruiting and training additionally required personnel sufficient to insure that each resident participates in an effective program of active treatment, and

(3) In the case of a facility determined to have deficiencies under the requirements for the Life Safety Code (§ 249.12(a)(5)), living units (§ 249.13(b)(6)(i)(A), (B), (D); (ii)(D); (iii), (iv), (v), (vii), (viii), (ix) and (xii)); and dining rooms (§ 249.13(c)(4)(viii)), or therapy areas (§ 249.13(c)(8)(vi)), provide assurance that the facility will meet such requirements during a period not to exceed March 18, 1980 by either:

(i) A timetable detailing the corrective steps to be taken and specifying when correction of deficiencies will be accomplished. The timetable must specify the necessary structural changes and renovations to buildings and provide documented evidence of the availability of sufficient financial resources to complete such changes or renovations on schedule; or

(ii) A timetable for the phasing out of the certified institution (or distinct part thereof) which provides for no new title XIX resident admissions to subject buildings (or distinct parts thereof) after approval of the plan. Such timetables must specify the units or buildings to be closed and describe the phase-out action steps and the alternate methods and systems provided in lieu of the full regulatory requirements which will assure the health and safety of the residents until the building is completely phased out.

(B) During the period allowed for correction, the institution is in compliance with applicable existing State fire safety and sanitation codes and regulations;

(C) The institution is surveyed by qualified personnel at least semi-annually until corrections or phasing-out under the provisions of paragraph (a)(2)(ii)(A) of this section are completed and the Secretary finds on the basis of such surveys as supported by documentation, signed contracts and work orders that the institution has in fact made substantial progress in meeting its plan for correction.

(D) At the completion of the period provided for under plans established under paragraph (a)(2)(ii)(A) of this section, the institution (or distinct part thereof) has achieved full compliance with such plans and is found in compliance with the requirements for staffing (§ 249.13(b)(5)), the Life Safety Code (§ 249.12(a)(5)), living units (§ 249.13(b)(6)(i)(A), (B), (D); (ii)(D); (iii), (iv), (v), (vii) and (viii)); dining rooms (§ 249.13(c)(4)(viii)) and therapy areas (§ 249.13(c)(8)(vi)); except for any provisions waived in accordance with § 249.12(a)(5), and § 249.13(f)(1)(iv) or granted a variance under § 249.13(b)(6)(i)(C) and (D).

MEDICAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Utilization Control: Quarterly Showing Regulation, Notice of Intent To Issue Proposed Rules

Notice is hereby given that the Administrator, Social and Rehabilitation Service (SRS), with the approval of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, intends to propose revised regulations implementing the quarterly showing requirement of section 1903(g) of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. section 139b(g), which would supersede the current regulation at 45 CFR 250.20(b)(1). Section 1903(g) requires that each State participating in title XIX of the Social Security Act (Medicaid), in order to avoid a reduction in Federal financial participation (FFP) in its Medicaid program, make a quarterly showing satisfactory to the Secretary, that it has in operation an effective program of control over the utilization of institutional services (called in this Notice utilization control or UC).

SRS has found the current regulations unsatisfactory in that it does not give States clear notice of information they may be required to supply to make a satisfactory showing of performance of the UC requirements (subject to subsequent validation). Therefore, SRS has become aware of a need to require States to provide more detailed and in-depth information in order to be able to make a more reliable judgment of the effectiveness of a State's UC program. In the interim period before a final quarterly showing regulation become effective, SRS will continue to require States to submit quarterly showings under the requirements of section 1903(g) in the format prescribed in SRS-AT-76-88, dated June 3, 1976, as revised and updated.

This Notice is confined to the issues which must be addressed in the development of quarterly showing regulations. SRS also plans an overall revision of all current UC regulations (at 45 CFR §§ 250.18, 250.19, 250.20, 250.23, and 250.24), which revision will be coordinated with the development of the quarterly showing regulations to assure their consistency with them. A Notice of Intent to Issue Proposed Rules on that subject will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER at a later date.

STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS

Section 1903(g)(1) of the Social Security Act provides that:

* * * After an individual has received care as an inpatient in a hospital (including an institution for tuberculosis), skilled nursing facility or intermediate care facility on 60 days, or in a hospital for mental diseases on 90 days (whether or not such days are consecutive), during any fiscal year, which for purposes of this section means the four calendar quarters ending with June 30, the Federal medical assistance percentage with respect to amounts paid for any such care furnished thereafter to such individual in the same fiscal year shall be decreased by 33⅓ per centum thereof unless the State agency responsible for the administration of the plan makes a showing satisfactory to the Secretary that, with respect to each calendar quarter for which the State submits a request for payment at the full Federal medical assistance percentage for amounts paid for inpatient hospital services (including tuberculosis hospitals), skilled nursing facility services, or intermediate care facility services furnished beyond 60 days (or inpatient mental hospital services furnished beyond 90 days), there is in operation in the State an effective program of control over utilization of such services; * * * (Emphasis added.)

As stated above, the Federal medical assistance percentage for specified institutional care must be decreased by 33⅓ percent "unless the State agency responsible for the administration of the plan makes a showing satisfactory to the Secretary" that it has in operation "an effective program of control over utilization of such services." If the showing (or the Secretary's attempt to validate the showing) reveals that any of the utilization control requirements listed in section 1903(g) has not been met for a particular level of care, the Secretary must assess the entire reduction specified in the statute. These reductions are substantial.

The statute specifies five elements that must be included in a satisfactory showing. Each showing must include evidence:

(1) That in each case for which payment is made under the State plan, a physician certified the necessity of institutionalization at that level of care at the time of admission or, if later, at the time of application for medical assistance under the State plan (1903(g)(1)(A));

(2) That, in each such case, a physician recertified at 60-day intervals that there was a continuing need for institutionalization at that level of care (1903(g)(1)(A));

(3) That, in each such case, such services were furnished under a plan of care established and periodically reviewed and evaluated by a physician (1903(g)(1)(B));

(4) That the State had in effect "a continuous program of review of utilization pursuant to section 1902(a)(3) whereby each admission is reviewed or screened in accordance with criteria established by medical and other professional personnel who are not themselves directly responsible for the care of the patient involved, and who do not have a significant financial interest in any such institution and are not, except in the case of a hospital, employed by the institution providing the care involved; and the information developed from such review or screening, along with the data obtained from prior reviews of the necessity for admission and continued stay of patients by such professional personnel, shall be used as the basis for establishing the size and composition of the sample of admissions to be subject to review and evaluation by such personnel, and any such sample may be of any size up to 100 per centum of all admissions and must be of sufficient size to serve the purpose of (i) identifying the patterns of care being provided and the changes occurring over time in such patterns so that the need for modification may be ascertained, and (ii) subjecting admissions to early or more extensive review where information indicates that such consideration is warranted;"

(5) That the State had in operation an effective program of medical review of the care of patients in mental hospitals and skilled nursing facilities, and of independent professional review of the care of patients in intermediate care facilities, pursuant to sections 1902(a)(26) and (31), whereby the professional management of each case is reviewed and evaluated at least annually (1903)(g)(1)(D)).

Section 1903(g)(2) provides that the Secretary is to validate the States' showings, in part by sample onsite surveys in institutions providing inpatient services.

GENERAL PROBLEMS RELATED TO QUARTERLY SHOWING (QS) REQUIREMENTS

A. Type of Information Required. The Department seeks comments on the information that should be required as a showing with respect to each of the five required elements of a UC program. The information submitted in the showing must be verifiable by Federal reviewers in validation surveys. The information required should be a valid indicator of States' performance of the UC requirements; it must enable the Department to make an intelligent judgment as to whether a State has satisfactorily shown that it has an effective UC program and thus is entitled to full Federal funding. Because section 1903(g) requires a reduction in FFP for any State which fails to make the required showing, the regulation cannot require information as part of a satisfactory showing that does not go to the question of whether adequate UC is being performed, because to do so might create an anomalous situation in which a State's showing would be found unsatisfactory for failure to submit information which would not have shown whether it had an effective UC program as mandated by the statute. At the same time, in order to minimize the administrative burdens on both the States and the Department, the information required should be the minimum necessary to test the States' performance of each requirement.

SRS is well aware that it would be a considerable administrative burden for the States to collect and submit and for the Department staff to analyze the information under the proposed requirements outlined below, but has been unable to develop alternative requirements that would produce information providing an equally accurate picture of the States' performance of UC requirements. SRS would welcome suggestions of such alternatives. SRS would particularly welcome suggestions for use of Medicaid Management Information Systems (MMIS) or other presently available computerized data to meet the QS requirement.

B. Sampling. The collection of information on performance of UC requirements with respect to all recipients or institutions would be administratively burdensome for States. Therefore, SRS intends to require States to submit as a satisfactory showing of some or all of the UC requirements information based on a sample of institutions or of institutionalized patients.

One question to be considered is the appropriate size of each of these samples. Unnecessarily large samples will needlessly increase the burden on the States of making a satisfactory showing; on the other hand, samples that are too small may be unrepresentative.

Apart from the issue of sample size, other issues need to be considered concerning the methodology for sample selection. Perhaps a sample of patients could be taken from single State agency (sSa) records. Or sampling might be done in two steps: First, a sample of institutions could be selected for each level of care; second, a sample of the patients at each selected institution could be selected for review. The methods for selecting samples should ensure that neither a State agency nor an institution would be able to influence the selection. Ideally, the sampling methods would provide a cross-section by size of institution within each level of care, geographical location, and any other relevant factors.

Since section 1903(g) seems by its terms to require 100% performance of each element in the UC program (physician certification, recertification, and plan of care "in each case"; utilization review and medical review "of the professional management of each case" "at least annually"), it is the Department's position that it is not necessary, in order to determine that a State is subject to the penalty provided by the statute, for the sampling technique to assure a statistically valid sample, because any omission, under this reading of the statute, would be legally sufficient grounds to assess the entire penalty. However, the Department believes that the statute can be read to allow for human error. In the interests of fairness, the Department therefore proposes to set an adherence percentage, and to establish a sampling procedure which would provide a representative, though not necessarily statistically valid, sample.

The Department would welcome comments on the above discussion, and in particular seeks guidance as to the factors that are relevant to the selection of an acceptable sample, the methodology that should be used, and the size and composition of an acceptable sample. Are different samples appropriate for different purposes (for example, for testing adherence to different UC requirements)? In particular, where a State has certified only one or a few institutions for a level of care (as is often the case with mental hospitals), should a different sampling method be used, or should sampling be dispensed with altogether in favor of a comprehensive review? Are there some UC requirements, for example medical review, for which sampling is an inappropriate method of making an adequate showing?

Proposed Quarterly Showing (QS) Format

SRS is considering the following format for its quarterly showing (QS) requirement: The regulation would require that the sSa have procedures in place:

(a) To select a sample of institutions at each level of care by methods specified or approved by the Secertary;

(b) To have these institutions visited by a sSa review team meeting qualifications established by the Secretary, in order to collect specified information as evidence of adherence to each of the statutory UC requirements; and

(c) To submit the information to the Regional Commissioner when requested, on forms to be developed by the Department. This format would give SRS the flexibility to focus each QS on whichever UC requirements seemed currently of greatest concern, and would minimize the burden of QSs on the States by requiring them to collect for each quarter only the information required for that quarter's showing.

SRS seeks comments on the proposed format, and would also welcome proposals for other possible QS formats.

Proposed QS Requirements for Specific Elements of UC Program

A. Proposed QS Requirements for Certification and Recertification. As a showing that certification and recertification by a physician have been performed as required, SRS is considering requiring the sSa to be able to provide upon request some or all of the following information for each patient whose record is reviewed by the sSa team, and for whom, under the terms of the statute and regulations, a physician should have certified or recertified need for institutionalization:

(1) Date of admission and, if later, authorization of benefits; date of certification (and recertification);

(2) The physician's name and medical degree;

(3) A description of the form and content of the certification or recertification (e.g. statement signed and dated by attending physician that the individual is in need of a particular level of care; physician orders signed and dated on or before the date of admission; medical evaluation signed and dated by a physician prior to admission; referral or transfer forms signed and dated by a physician);

(4) A statement describing where the certification or recertification is maintained.

B. Proposed QS Requirements for Plan of Care. As a showing that it has complied with the statutory requirement that for each Medicaid patient there be a written plan of care periodically reviewed and evaluated by a physician, SRS is considering requiring the sSa to to be able to provide upon request the following information for each patient record reviewed.

(1) A description of the content of the plan of care which includes the diagnosis, symptoms, complaints, and/or complications indicating the need for admission;

(2) A description of the functional level of the individual;

(3) Orders (as apropriate) for medications, treatment, restorative and rehabilitative services, activities, social services and diet;

(4) Documentation of the frequency with which the plan of care is reviewed.

C. Proposed QS Requirements for Utilization Review (UR). As a showing that the State has complied with the statutory requirement that it have in effect a continuous program of UR pursuant to section 1902(a)(3), SRS is considering the following requirements:

(1) As evidence that it has complied with the statutory requirement of review or screening of admissions, SRS is considering requiring the sSa to be able to provide upon request some or all of the following information:

For each patient record reviewed by the sSa team: (a) date admission was reviewed or screened; (b) result of review or screening (conclusion of reviewer(s) concerning need for admission); (c) name(s), title(s), professional qualifications and affiliations of individual(s) performing review or screening.

For each institution reviewed:

(a) A description of the criteria established for UR;

(b) Names, titles, professional qualifications and affiliations of the individuals who established the UR criteria.

If the current statute is amended to restore the requirement of review or screening of extended stays, similar information would be required as evidence that this requirement was being met.

(2) As a showing that it has complied with the statutory requirement of review and evaluation of a sample of admissions, SRS is considering requiring the sSa to be able to provide, in addition to the information detailed under (1) above, a statement of the methodology and criteria used for setting the sample size and for selecting the sample.

SRS may need to establish separate QS requirements for States performing UR under a waiver pursuant to 45 CFR 250.19(b). Comments are solicited particularly from States performing UR under a 250.19(b) waiver as to the information necessary to establish a satisfactory showing of performance of UR.

D. Proposed QS Requirements for Medical Review (MR) and Independent Professional Review (IPR). As a showing that it has complied with the statutory requirement that MR be performed at least annually in each mental hospital and skilled nursing facility, and that IPR be performed at least annually in each intermediate care facility, SRS is considering requiring that the sSa be able to provide some or all of the following information:

(1) A list of facilities at each level of care certified during the quarter, which list indicates:

(a) The effective date of the provider agreement, and if the provider agreement has terminated, the termination date;

(b) The date on which MR or IPR was performed in the facility in the current annual period;

(c) The date of the most recent prior review;

(d) (In the case of MR) the name and medical degree of the physician who supervised the MR team;

(2) For a sample of institutions in which MR and IPR were performed in the quarter to which the QS applies:

(a) The names, titles, professional qualifications and affiliations of the review team members;

(b) The number of title XIX patients for that level of care in the facility on the review date;

(c) Specific findings in the review team's report with respect to individual patients;

(d) Action taken (or not taken) on any recommendations of the review team.

Relation of QS to Validation Surveys (VS)

Section 1903(g)(2) requires that the Secretary, as part of his validation of the States' fulfillment of the statutory UC requirements, conduct on-site surveys in health care institutions. SRS proposes to tie these validation surveys (VS) closely to the quarterly showings, focusing the survey on validation of the quarterly showing. Issues being considered in this connection are:

Should the on-site VS be performed at the same time that the State is collecting information on-site for its QS? Or should the VS be performed later?

SSRS seeks suggestions on a VS format (or perhaps a number of interchangeable formats) that will be a reliable test of the States' operation of effective UC programs, while making the most efficient and economical use of limited administrative resources.

Consideration will be given, in designing proposed regulatory changes, to written comments and suggestions on these issues addressed to the Administrator, Social and Rehabilitation Service, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, P.O. Box 2366, Washington, D.C. 20013, and received on or before March 4, 1977. In order to assure prompt handling of comments, please refer to MSA–197–N1. Agencies and organizations are requested to submit their comments in duplicate.

Such comments will not be acknowledged but will be available for public inspection in Room 5223 of the Department's offices at 330 C Street, S.W., Washington, D.C., beginning approximately two weeks after publication of this Notice in the Federal Register, on Monday through Friday of each week from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. (area code 202–245–0950). Answers to specific questions on this Notice may be obtained by calling Dorothy Soltys, 202–245–0225.

This invitation to submit suggestions is being issued for the purpose of obtaining the broadest participation possible in drafting regulatory revisions. Any such changes developed by the Service will be published in the regular manner as a Notice of Proposed Rule Making with a period for comment by all interested parties.

BIG RIVERS ELECTRIC CORP.

Proposed Loan Guarantee

Under the authority of Pub. L. 93–32 (87 Stat. 65) and in conformance with applicable agency policies and procedures as set forth in REA Bulletin 20–22 (Guarantee of Loans for Bulk Power Supply Facilities), notice is hereby given that the Administrator of REA will consider providing a guarantee supported by the full faith and credit of the United States of America for a loan in the approximate amount of $7,100,000 to Big Rivers Electric Corporation, of Henderson, Kentucky. These loan funds will be used to finance the purchase of an additional fuel supply to assure a 60-day, continuous burn, supply of coal on hand for the borrower's existing generation system.

Legally organized lending agencies capable of making, holding and servicing the loan proposed to be guaranteed may obtain information on the proposed project, including the engineering and economic feasibility studies and the proposed schedule for the advances to the borrower of the guaranteed loan funds from Mr. Marshall R. Dorsey, Manager, Big Rivers Electric Corporation, P.O. Box 24, Henderson, Kentucky 42420.

In order to be considered, proposals must be submitted on or before February 17, 1977 to Mr. Dorsey. The right is reserved to give such consideration and make such evalution or other disposition of all proposals received, as Big Rivers and REA deem appropriate. Prospective lenders are advised that the guaranteed financing for this project is available from the Federal Financing Bank under a standing agreement with the Rural Electrification Administration.

Copies of REA Bulletin 20–22 are available from the Director, Information Services Division, Rural Electrification Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 12th day of January, 1977.

BOARD FOR INTERNATIONAL BROADCASTING

PRIVACY ACT OF 1974

Adoption, Additional Routine Use Payroll Records System

JANUARY 6, 1977.

On December 7, 1976, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 53517) a notice of proposed additional routine use for the system of records designated "Payroll Records—BIB–2." Interested parties were given the opportunity to submit comments on the additional routine use contained in that notice, no later than January 6, 1977.

No comments have been received, and the proposed additional routine use for this system of records is hereby adopted without change and is set forth below.

Effective date: January 6, 1977.

Signed at Washington, D.C. on January 6, 1977.

WALTER R. ROBERTS,
Executive Director.

BIB–2

System name:

Payroll Records—Board for International Broadcasting.

System location:

General Services Administration, Region Three Office; copies held by the Board for International Broadcasting. (GSA holds records for the Board for International Broadcasting under contract.)

Categories of records maintained in the system:

Varied payroll records, including, among other documents, time and attendance cards; payment vouchers; comprehensive listing of employees; health benefits records, requests for deductions; tax forms, W–2 forms, overtime requests; leave data; retirement records. Records are used by the Board for International Broadcasting and GSA employees to maintain adequate payroll information for the Board for International Broadcasting employees, and otherwise by the Board for International Broadcasting and GSA employees who have a need for the record in the performance of their duties.

Authority for the system:

31 U.S.C., generally. Also, Pub. L. 93–129, as amended.

Routine use of records:

See Appendix. Records also are disclosed to GAO for audits; to the Internal Revenue Service for investigation; and to private attorneys, pursuant to a power of attorney.

A copy of an employee's Department of the Treasury Form W–2, Wage and Tax Statement, also is disclosed to the State, city, or other local jurisdiction which is authorized to tax the employee's compensation. The record will be provided in accordance with a withholding agreement between the State, city, or other local jurisdiction and the Department of the Treasury pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 5516, 5517, or 5520, or in the absence thereof, in response to a written request from an appropriate official of the taxing jurisdiction to the Budget and Administrative Officer, Board for International Broadcasting, Suite 430, 1030 Fifteenth Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005. The request must include a copy of the applicable statute or ordinance authorizing the taxation of compensation and should indicate whether the authority of the jurisdiction to tax the employee is based on place of residence, place of employment, or both.

Pursuant to a withholding agreement between a city and the Department of the Treasury (5 U.S.C. 5520), copies of executed city tax withholding certificates shall be furnished the city in response to written request from an appropriate city official to the Budget and Administrative Officer of the Board for International Broadcasting.

In the absence of a withholding agreement, the Social Security Number will be furnished only to a taxing jurisdiction which has furnished this agency with evidence of its independent authority to compel disclosure of the Social Security Number, in accordance with Section 7 of the Privacy Act, Pub. L. 93–579.

Policies and practices for storing and retrieving, assessing, retaining and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and microfilm.

Retrievability and accessing:

Social Security Number.

Safeguards:

Stored in guarded building; released only to authorized personnel.

Retention and disposal:

Disposition of records shall be in accordance with the HB GSA Records Maintenance and Disposition System (OAD P 1820.2).

System manager:

Budget and Administrative Officer; Board for International Broadcasting, Suite 430, 1030 Fifteenth Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20005.

Notification procedures:

Refer to Board for International Boardcasting access regulations contained in 1 CFR Part 415.

Record access procedures:

Refer to Board for International Broadcasting access regulations contained in 1 CFR Part 415.

Contesting records procedures:

Refer to Board for International Broadcasting access regulations contained in 1 CFR Part 415.

Categories of sources of records in the system:

The subject individual; the Board for International Broadcasting.

APPENDIX—BOARD FOR INTERNATIONAL BROADCASTING

In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, state, local or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement information or other pertinent information, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain information relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the information is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision in the matter.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to an authorized appeal grievance examiner, formal complaints examiner, equal employment opportunity investigator, arbitrator or other duly authorized official engaged in investigation or settlement of a grievance, complaint, or appeal filed by an employee. A record from this system of records may be disclosed to the United States Civil Service Commission in accordance with the agency's responsibility for evaluation and oversight of federal personnel management.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to officers and employees of a federal agency for purposes of audit.

The information contained in this system of records will be disclosed to the Office of Management and Budget in connection with the review of private relief legislation as set forth in OMB Circular No. A–19 at any stage of the legislative coordination and clearance process as set forth in that Circular.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to a Member of Congress or to a Congressional staff member in response to an inquiry of the Congressional office made at the request of the individual about whom the record is maintained.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to officers and employees of the General Services Administration in connection with administrative services provided to this agency under agreement with GSA.

[Order 77–1–44; Docket 29123; Agreement C.A.B. 26352 R–1 and R–2]

INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT ASSOCIATION

Agreement Relating to Passenger Fare Matters

Issued under delegated authority January 10, 1977.

An agreement has been filed with the Board pursuant to section 412(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (the Act) and Part 261 of the Board's Economic Regulations between various air carriers, foreign air carriers, and other carriers embodied in the resolutions of the Joint Traffic Conferences of the International Air Transport Association (IATA). The agreement, adopted by mail vote, has been assigned the above C.A.B. agreement number.

The agreement would amend the resolution establishing first-class and economy-class fares between Benghazi and Japan/Korea so that those fares need not be higher than the corresponding fares between Tripoli and Japan/Korea, thus reflecting Benghazi's status as the gateway point from Libya to the Far East.

Consistent with our prior approval, we will approve the agreement insofar as the fares established under this resolution are combinable with fares to/from the United States and thus have indirect application in air transportation as defined by the Act.

Pursuant to authority duly delegated by the Board's Regulations 14 CFR 385.14, it is not found that Resolutions JT23(Mail 83)055 and JT23(Mail 83)065 which are incorporated in Agreement C.A.B. 26352, and which have indirect application in air transportation as defined by the Act, are adverse to the public interest or in violation of the Act.

Accordingly, it is ordered That: Agreement C.A.B. 26352, R–1 and R–2, be and hereby is approved.

Persons entitled to petition the Board for review of this order, pursuant to the Board's Regulations, 14 CFR 385.50, may file such petitions within ten days after the date of service of this order.

This order shall be effective and become the action of the Civil Aeronautics Board upon expiration of the above period, unless within such period a petition for review thereof is filed or the Board gives notice that it will review this order on its own motion.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PHYLLIS T. KAYLOR,
Secretary.

[Docket 27813; Agreement C.A.B. 26064, R–1 through R–13, R–15]

INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT ASSOCIATION

North/Central Pacific Passenger Fares

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 11th day of January, 1977.

Agreement adopted by the Joint Traffic Conferences of the International Air Transport Association relating to North/Central Pacific passenger fares.

By Order 76–8–147, August 27, 1976, the Board directed the U.S. carrier members of the International Air Transport Association (IATA) to submit justification in support of an agreement which would close North/Central Pacific fares through March 31, 1977.[1] Northwest Airlines, Inc. (Northwest), although not a member of IATA, was likewise directed to file pertinent economic data.

Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Pan American), the only U.S. IATA member providing service over the North/Central Pacific, has submitted economic data as directed, as has Northwest. Two supplemental carriers, Trans International Airlines, Inc. (TIA) and World Airways, Inc. (World), have jointly filed initial comments and objections, as well as reply comments, and the Puget Sound Traffic Association (PSTA) has filed reply comments. Finally, Pan American has filed a motion, which will be granted, to file an otherwise unauthorized document in response to the reply comments of TIA, World, and PSTA.

THE AGREEMENT

The agreement proposes an increase of three percent in normal economy fares, and a five percent increase in first-class and most promotional fares between the U.S. west coast/Honolulu and Japan. The basic-season group inclusive-tour (GIT) fare would be increased by an additional $50 over the five percent increase, and group-100 affinity fares applicable to U.S.-originating traffic would be increased by ten percent. Most fares between Alaska and Japan would remain at present levels, although first-class fares would be increased by four percent, and the basic-season GIT and group-100 affinity fares would be increased by $25 and 10 percent, respectively.

Fares to Asian destinations other than Japan would remain at present levels, with the exception of first-class and basic-season GIT fares which would be increased by four percent and $50 ($25 from Alaska), respectively. In addition, the agreement proposes two roundtrip 30/120-day excursion fares: one for eastbound-originating travel to the Western Hemisphere, the other for westbound travel from Canada, which is set at a lower level than that proposed for eastbound travel. Finally, the agreement would eliminate stopover restrictions previously applicable to travel on the GIT fares, and would permit individual return from the last point of embarkation in Asia to point of origin in the Western Hemisphere.

CARRIER JUSTIFICATION

Pan American anticipates that, for the year ending September 1977, the agreement will produce a $5.0 million increase in revenue, 1.7 percent above that otherwise forecast at present fares. The carrier states that it sustained an operating loss of $18.9 million and a −3.7 percent return on investment (ROI) during the historical period. It forecasts an operating profit of $10.0 million and an ROI of 5.3 percent during the forecast period under present fares, and an operating profit of $14.6 million and a ROI of 6.8 percent under the fares proposed. These estimates are based upon a historical load factor of 41.6 percent, and forecast load factors of 50.2 and 49.9 percent under present and proposed fares, respectively. The improved load factors stem from an expected 16.8 percent increase in traffic, coupled with a 3.3 percent decline in capacity offered.

Pan American contends that the three to five percent increases in U.S.-Japan fares serve only to realign these fares with other fares between this country and Asia, for which similar increases were approved in May 1976;[2] that the additional increases in the basic-season GIT and group-100 affinity fares are an effort to reduce discounts which now exceed 50 percent from the normal economy fare; and that the individual-return option on the GIT fare is necessitated by current practices of competitive non-IATA carriers. The carrier further maintains that the eastbound Asia-originating 30/120-day excursion fare is required to stem the capture of traffic by competing non-IATA carriers resulting from their overt offering of non-tariff fares at levels and conditions more liberal than those proposed in the agreement. Finally, Pan American states that the Canadian-originating 30/120-day excursion fare proposed by the IATA agreement is similar to a present fare unilaterally filed from Canada and available in tariffs from certain U.S. points by combination of fares over Canada.

In anticipation that the issue of common-faring Seattle with other U.S. west-coast cities would again be raised, Pan American contends that this practice is for the purpose of enabling the IATA carriers to compete equally for all continental U.S. traffic; that Northwest, unlike the IATA carriers, has nonstop route authority to/from Seattle and, as a result, already holds a competitive edge in terms of elapsed time; that over the routings Pan American actually operates, Seattle-Far East fares are lower on a per-mile basis than are fares from other west-coast cities; and that de-common-faring would impact adversely upon the competitive posture of various Pacific carriers, raise problems with foreign governments, and disrupt California-Far East services. The carrier argues that the Board has approved and the courts have upheld Seattle-west coast common-faring; that in seeking a change, the burden is upon the complainant to show that it would be just, reasonable, and otherwise not unlawful; and that the proper forum for full examination of the impact of de-common-faring Seattle is the investigation recommended by the administrative law judge in his Initial Decision in the Domestic Common Fares Investigation (DCFI) case, Docket 27330.[3]

Northwest states that the proposed fare increases will provide $4.2 million in additional revenue, 2.3 percent above that forecast at present fares for the year ending September 1977. The carrier states that it earned a $9.0 million operating profit and an ROI of 3.26 percent during the historical year ended June 1976, anticipates an operating profit of $8.9 million and an ROI of 2.92 percent during the forecast period under present fares, and an operating profit of $12.4 million and an ROI of 3.81 percent under the proposed fares. Its estimates are based upon load factors of 49.5 percent in the historical period, and 51.0 percent during the forecast period under both present and proposed fares. The improved load factor appears to be the result of a 7.0 percent increase in anticipated traffic, offset by a lesser 3.7 percent increase in forecast capacity.

COMMENTS AND CARRIER RESPONSES

In general, TIA and World contend again that further increases in normal fares should be disallowed, but express some approval of the fact that the low U.S.–Japan promotional fares would be increased in greater percentage degree than would be the normal fares. However, both object to continuation of certain promotional fares, particularly urging elimination of the group-100 affinity fare on the grounds that it continues to reflect a discount from normal economy-class fares in excess of 50 percent; that it is below fully-allocated costs; and that it has not yet been fully and specifically justified. In essence, they argue that it is predatory and, in reality, a "part-charter" fare.

[1] Agreement C.A.B. 26064, R–14, which deals with Japan-originating group—30/40 inclusive-tour fares has been disposed of by the Board in Order 76–9–160, September 30, 1976.

[2] Order 76–5–158, May 28, 1976. In that order the Board disapproved increases in U.S.-originating fares to Japan in the absence of similar increases in Japan-originating fares to the United States.

[3] The Initial Decision, presently under review by the Board, recommended deferral of final disposition of the Hawaii-U.S. mainland gateway common-faring question pending investigation of those fares in the overall context of the total international Pacific fare structure.

The supplemental carriers urge deferral of action on the Japan-originating group-30/40 GIT fares, and request that the Board direct the participating carriers to provide additional data showing the historical and forecast impact of that fare on traffic traveling on other fares, the fare's relationship to cost, and its historic yield (net of commission). They contend that this is necessary since these fares are being further decreased in the shoulder season; that the basic-season fares are set at levels approximating discounts of 50 percent from the normal economy fare; and that the carriers apparently disagree on the impact of these fares on their respective systems.[4]

Pan American, on the other hand, argues that both the group-100 affinity and group-30/40 GIT fares produce yields which cover total operating costs, are almost entirely generative, are sufficiently restrictive to preclude diversion, and thus profitable as demonstrated in its justification. The carrier contends that advocacy of fully-allocated cost pricing by TIA and World is motivated by their desire to prevent price competition between scheduled and charter services; that this pricing methodology has no basis in economic theory or business practice; that the Board has recognized that each fare cannot be expected to meet the fully-allocated costs of service; and that the relevant standard is incremental cost. Finally, Pan American denies that the group-100 affinity fare is anti-competitive, arguing that neither supplemental carrier has demonstrated resultant injury; that the fare has little impact upon charter competition; and that the real problem lies with the restrictive charter policy of the Japanese Government which cannot be addressed by the IATA carriers or the Board within the context of its evaluation of IATA agreements.

PSTA continues to maintain that the Board is required to end the inequities suffered by Seattle. and requests that the Board condition the agreement to require mileage-related fares from west-coast gateways. It argues that it is merely seeking application of the Board's existing domestic common-fare policies which preclude the practice absent special circumstances not allegedly yet demonstrated; that while not directed towards North/Central Pacific markets, the initial decision in DCFI recommended abolition of common-faring; and that the present common-faring violates the "rule of equality" in all respects.[5]

PSTA contends that Pan American's reference to court approval of common-faring in the Pacific is misplaced; that de-common-faring will not disrupt California-Far East services; that the burden is on the carriers to demonstrate that "special circumstances" justify the current practice; and that the possible objection of foreign governments provides no basis for the Board to ignore the legal requirements of the Act. Absent the requested condition, PSTA requests disapproval of the agreement on the general ground that the carriers' justifications are inadequate, deficient, and show irreconcilable contradictions. The Association argues that Northwest's justification is suspect since, while supposedly a low-cost carrier, that carrier has projected a higher load factor but a lower ROI than has Pan American; that for many reasons Northwest's traffic-growth projection is unrealistically low, thus understating its forecast passenger revenue under the proposed fares; that when adjusted to Pan American's more realistic growth rate, Northwest's forecast would show a 7.4 percent rather than a 3.81 percent ROI. It is also contended that Northwest's allowance for commission expense is inexplicably excessive; and that when adjusted to Pan American's more moderate expense level, its forecast ROI would increase further to 10.44 percent. In addition, PSTA argues that Pan American uses an elasticity factor in its justification to adjust forecast revenue, whereas Northwest does not; and that Pan American's unit cost is inexplicably and substantially greater than is Northwest's which, when substituted for Pan American's, places that carrier in an excess earnings position. Finally, PSTA contends that neither carrier's justification addresses the question of apparent illegal discounting on Asia-originating fares and its effect upon historical and forecast yields.

In reply to PSTA, Pan American contends that it has demonstrated the existence of special circumstances which fully warrant the common-faring of Seattle with other west-coast points and that, if the Board wishes to reexamine its historic policy in the Pacific area, it should do so along the lines recommended in the Initial Decision in DCFI. The carrier further argues that, since present west coast-Far East fares are set at levels appropriate for the shortest-haul Seattle-Far East market, present Seattle-gateway passengers do not subsidize California-gateway passengers and that de-common-faring will not result in lower fares from Seattle. Finally, the carrier states that the difference between its unit operating cost and that of Northwest results from its different fleet mix and relative use of leased aircraft.

FINDINGS

Except for several important exceptions as noted below, the Board has decided to approve the agreement. It is essentially of an interim nature with the primary objective being to bring U.S.-Japan fares into line with increases in fares between the U.S. and other points in Asia previously approved by the Board (Order 76–5–158), and does, to some extent, move toward the Board's expressed objectives insofar as it narrows the spread between the normal economy fare and some of the lowest-rated promotional fares. In that context disapproval of the group-100 affinity fare at this time would not appear to solve the problem facing TIA and World which, as a practical matter, stems more from the Japanese Government's restrictive charter-policy. In all likelihood, the net result would be a continuation of the existing and lower group-100 affinity fares in the carriers' tariffs.

As for PSTA's arguments on the common-faring issue, the Board has previously determined the appropriate occasion for the examination of this issue, and has clearly placed the carriers on notice that they will be expected to consider and fully address PSTA's arguments in their justifications in support of the next major IATA North/Central Pacific fare agreement for effect April 1, 1977.[6]

Pan American has submitted detailed traffic data as requested, showing revenue passenger-miles and revenue by specific fare category. As a result of a moderate upward shift to higher fare categories, Pan American forecasts a 4.8 percent increase in yield over its historical experience, assuming continuation of present fares, and a further 2.3 percent increase under the proposed fares. By contrast, Northwest forecasts a 1.2 percent decline from its historical yield under present fares, which would be countered by a 2.3 percent increase in yield under the proposed fares for a net 1.1 percent increase. Northwest has not provided detailed traffic data as requested by the Board to document its projected initial decline in yield. In the absence of sufficient documentation by Northwest with which to compare its differing estimate and on the assumption that the recent grand jury action in San Francisco will have the effect of abating illegal discounts, we have adjusted Northwest's forecast revenue under the proposed fares to reflect an increase over its historical yield of 2.3 percent.

After making the foregoing adjustment, eliminating the elasticity factor used by Pan American and adjusting the data to the "revenue-offset" method,[7] the carriers' historical data indicate an experienced composite ROI during the historical period of 2.0 percent. This is expected to increase to 5.06 percent during the forecast period assuming continuation of currently effective fares. Under the proposed fares, the two carriers can be expected to achieve, on an adjusted basis, a $13.4 million improvement in revenues and a composite ROI of 6.40 percent.[8] It seems clear, therefore, that on a composite basis the carriers will not approach the Board's 12-percent ROI guideline. This conclusion is buttressed by our disapproval of portions of the agreement, as discussed below.

[4] These and other contentions have previously been made to the Board and considered by it in connection with its approval of the Japan-originating group-30/40 GIT fares through March 31, 1977 (Order 76–9–160).

[8] Were the "space-method" approach applied, the resulting composite ROI would be 5.59 percent.

We are unable to approve the increases proposed in the normal economy fares. The carriers were cautioned in the May 28, 1976, Order that the Board would not be prepared to approve future increases in normal economy fares. It seems increasingly clear that the level of the normal economy fares could substantially exceed that necessary to recover fully-allocated costs plus a reasonable return from those services. Based upon a 50 percent load factor, and even allowing for the increase forecast in carrier unit costs, the proposed normal economy fares are substantially in excess of the level needed to recover fully economic cost including a 12 percent ROI.

As for first-class fares, we would have been inclined to approve an increase between the U.S. west coast/Honolulu and Japan had it been limited to three percent rather than the five percent proposed, and thus held to the three percent increase in first-class fares to other destinations in Asia approved by Order 76–5–158. However, we are unable to approve the greater increase to Japan or the additional four-percent increase to other Asian destinations which are here proposed. The Board is reluctant to permit increases in first-class fares, since most carriers persist in using this fare as the basis for determining their charge for excess-baggage. Despite the Board's decision in Baggage Allowance Tariff Rules in Overseas and Foreign Air Transportation (Docket 24869), various governments in the North/Central Pacific area have ordered their carriers to continue to apply charges set at one percent of the applicable first-class fare in transportation to and from the United States, charges demonstrated to be excessive in a formal proceeding.

We have also decided to disapprove the proposed Asia-originating 30/120-day excursion fare. Although these fares are proposed by IATA at slightly higher levels, they are nevertheless substantially the same as those which Pan American has previously attempted to file with the Board on a unilateral basis. Then, as now, Pan American seeks to justify this fare on the need to meet alleged illegal competition. However, Pan American has again failed to submit the kind of detailed economic analysis of the potential profit impact of the fare which would lead to the conclusion that its position would be improved by implementation of such a steeply discounted, below-cost fare, which would be widely available because of its few meaningful conditions.[9] As the Board has previously stated, it is incumbent upon the IATA carriers, in tandem with IATA and governmental enforcement activities, to resolve the problem of illegal fares in the area and to undertake steps to protect the legally filed fare structure.

As for the westbound-originating 30/120-day excursion fare, it is specified in the IATA agreement only for Canadian originations. It is our understanding that it was required by CP Air because of Pan American's requirement for a comparable Asia-originating excursion fare. Since we are herein disapproving the latter, we perceive no reason for continuation of the Canada-originating fare, and strongly urge its elimination from the structure. Finally, consistent with our previously stated conviction that individual-return travel on the GIT fare erodes its economic soundness, we will condition our approval of the pertinent resolution to preclude this option.[10]

In view of the Board's partial approval of this agreement, we are constrained to caution the carriers against the trend in the transpacific fare structure and level which appears to be moving towards that which has evolved on the North Atlantic. The Board has, on a number of occasions, expressed its dissatisfaction with respect to the level of fares at the lowest end of the spectrum, most specifically the group-100 affinity group fare, and continues to question the need, much less the economic validity, for fares at such a level on scheduled service.[11] The Board is aware of the carriers' need for additional revenue but feels that the carriers should devise a fare structure that is consistent with both the Board's expectation that passengers traveling on certain already above-cost fares not be further burdened by those passengers traveling on excessively discounted fares. In this light, the carriers may well wish to renegotiate the recently submitted North/Central Pacific fare package proposed for April 1, 1977 effectiveness to make appropriate changes which would satisfy both their need for revenue and the Board's desires for a more equitable fare structure.[12]

The Board, acting pursuant to sections 102, 204(a), and 412 of the Act, makes the following findings:

1. It is not found that the following resolutions, incorporated in the agreement as indicated, are adverse to the public interest or in violation of the Act, provided that approval is subject, where applicable, to conditions previously imposed by the Board:

[Order 77-1-64; Docket 29968]

LOUISVILLE SERVICE CASE

Order

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 13th day of January, 1977.

By Order 76-10-113, October 26, 1976, the Board instituted the Louisville Service Case, Docket 29968. The issues in the Louisville Service Case are as follows:

(a) Do the public convenience and necessity require the certification of an air carrier or air carriers to engage in new or additional nonstop air transportation between:

(i) Louisville, Kentucky, on the one hand, and Baltimore, Maryland, Washington, D.C., or the hyphenated point Washington/Baltimore, on the other hand;

(ii) Louisville, Kentucky, on the one hand, and Los Angeles, California, Memphis, Tennessee, and/or Nashville, Tennessee, on the other hand; and/or

(iii) Houston, Texas, on the one hand, and Cincinnati, Ohio, and/or Louisville, Kentucky, on the other hand?

(b) Is the answer to (a) is in the affirmative, which air carrier(s) should be authorized to engage in such service? and

(c) What conditions, if any, should be placed on the operations of such carrier(s)?

Petitions for reconsideration of Order 73-10-113, October 26, 1976, were filed by Braniff Airways, Inc.; Delta Air Lines, Inc.; Eastern Air Lines, Inc.; Frontier Airlines, Inc.; Piedmont Aviation, Inc.; Southern Airways, Inc.; and the Louisville Parties.[1]

The various petitions urge expansion of the issues to include nine markets in addition to the seven markets already in issue herein.

Braniff urges that the case should include the Dallas/Ft. Worth-Louisville, Dallas/Ft. Worth-Cincinnati, and Cincinnati-Washington/Baltimore markets. Braniff argues in pertinent part that the Dallas/Ft. Worth-Louisville market is substantially larger than several of the markets which the Board has already placed in issue; that since Cincinnati-Houston nonstop service is already being considered herein, enlargement of the issues to include the Cincinnati-Dallas/Ft. Worth market which is a larger market than Cincinnati-Houston, would not affect the size of the proceeding; and finally that inclusion of the Cincinnati-Washington/Baltimore market would not substantially enlarge the proceeding since Louisville-Washington/Baltimore is already in issue.

In its petition Delta notes that the Board indicated in the text of Order 76-10-113 its intention to consider in the investigation the deletion of the nonstop authority of Eastern in the Louisville-Baltimore and Louisville-Nashville markets but that the ordering paragraphs fail to mention those issues.

Eastern asks the Board to expand the issues to consider the Louisville-Minneapolis/St. Paul and Louisville-Milwaukee markets. Eastern also seeks elimination of its Route 5 restriction which prevents the carrier from operating single-plane service between Buffalo and Pittsburgh, on the one hand, and Houston, on the other hand. As an alternative to elimination of its own restriction Eastern seeks a pretrial restriction which would preclude single-plane service by Allegheny in the Buffalo/Pittsburgh-Houston markets via Louisville or Cincinnati. Finally, Eastern asks the Board specifically to focus on the question of which airport or airports in the Washington/Baltimore area would be served under an authorization of additional service between Louisville, on the one hand, and Washington, Baltimore, or the hyphenated point Washington/Baltimore, on the other hand.

Frontier asks the Board to reconsider and include the Louisville-St. Louis and Louisville-Kansas City markets in the case. Frontier argues that TWA now provides no service at all in the Louisville-Kansas City market which is larger than several of the markets which the Board has included herein; that Louisville-St. Louis is larger than the Louisville-Washington market which the Board has included for consideration herein; and that Frontier has available to it a strong traffic flow to support Louisville-Kansas City and Louisville-St. Louis service.

Piedmont seeks expansion of the issues to include Nashville-Houston service. According to Piedmont, the Nashville-Houston market could support new service when combined with other markets involved in this proceeding and it is comparable in size to markets already consolidated herein.

Southern seeks inclusion of the Louisville-Detroit market. According to Southern, the Louisville-Detroit market compares favorably in size with markets already consolidated herein and the quality and quantity of Delta's Louisville-Detroit service has declined in the past year.

The Louisville Parties ask for reconsideration to the extent that the issues do not include the Louisville-St. Louis and Louisville-Kansas City markets. According to the Louisville Parties, the Louisville-St. Louis market will soon be Louisville's largest remaining monopoly market and it is larger than numerous other markets where the Board has recently investigated and in most cases actually authorized competitive nonstop service. The Louisville Parties also state that Eastern holds nonstop authority in the Louisville-St. Louis market and has not operated nonstop service since 1972. With respect to the Louisville-Kansas City market, the Louisville Parties contend that TWA actually pulled out of the Louisville-Kansas City market on October 1, 1976, and that the statement in Order 76-10-113 that TWA operates one daily nonstop round trip is therefore erroneous.

Answers to the petitions for reconsideration were filed by Allegheny Airlines, Inc.;[2] American; Delta; Eastern; Piedmont; TWA; the Cincinnati Parties, the Louisville Parties, the St. Louis Parties, and the Bureau of Operating Rights. In addition, American and Delta both filed motions to file late documents, in the case of Delta an answer to Southern's petition for reconsideration, and in the case of American, an answer to Braniff's petition for reconsideration.[3]

Allegheny opposes any expansion of the proceeding. American opposes Piedmont's request to include the additional issue of Nashville-Houston service and Braniff's request to include Louisville-Dallas/Ft. Worth, Cincinnati-Dallas/Ft. Worth, and Cincinnati-Washington/Baltimore issues. Delta opposes inclusion of the Louisville-Detroit market and also opposes Eastern's request to limit new authorizations in the Washington/Baltimore area to a specific airport or airports. Eastern opposes the petitions for reconsideration which seek inclusion of the Louisville-St. Louis market in the case; and Piedmont opposes Braniff's request to expand the issues to include the Cincinnati-Washington/Baltimore markets. TWA opposes the petitions of Louisville and Frontier insofar as they seek consideration of Louisville-St. Louis/Kansas City issues and TWA also opposes the petition of Braniff insofar as it seeks addition of a Cincinnati-Washington issue to the case. The Cincinnati Parties support Braniff's petition insofar as it relates to the Cincinnati-Dallas/Ft. Worth market. The St. Louis Parties urge the Board to expand the issues to include the St. Louis-Louisville market, and, finally, the Louisville Parties state that the Board should not consider the addition of other Louisville markets unless Louisville-St. Louis and Louisville-Kansas City are first placed in issue.

The Bureau of Operating Rights opposes all of the requests to change the issues.

Upon consideration of the pleadings and all of the relevant facts we have decided to deny the various petitions for reconsideration.[4]

In our Order of Investigation, we considered the traffic and service in the Louisville-St. Louis, Louisville-Kansas City and Louisville-Dallas/Ft. Worth markets. The petitions have not persuaded us that we should alter our previous determination not to include those markets in the instant proceeding.[5]

Several parties seek expansion of the issues to include certain markets not considered by the Board in its Order of Investigation.

A number of the suggested additional markets are non-Louisville markets and there is no sound basis for including them in a case designed to consider the service needs of Louisville. The non-Louisville markets for which inclusion is sought are: Cincinnati-Dallas/Ft. Worth, Cincinnati-Washington/Baltimore, Buffalo/Pittsburgh-Houston, and Nashville-Houston. The Cincinnati-Washington market is clearly not appropriate for consideration herein because that service issue is being considered by the Board in the Allegheny-Piedmont Subpart M Proceeding, Docket 29132.[6]

With respect to the Cincinnati-Dallas/Ft. Worth market, Braniff seeks inclusion of this market essentially because the Board included the Cincinnati-Houston market. Inclusion of the latter market, however, was predicated on an interrelationship between the Cincinnati-Houston market and the Louisville-Houston market and the lack of nonstop service in the Cincinnati-Houston market. These considerations are not applicable to the Cincinnati-Dallas/Ft. Worth market.

With respect to the Nashville-Houston market for which Piedmont seeks inclusion, American correctly points out that there is no relationship between the Nashville-Houston market and the instant proceeding which would require or warrant hearing Nashville-Houston in the Louisville Service Case. Moreover, both American and Braniff provide single-plane service in the Nashville-Houston market and American provides nonstop service.

Expansion of the issues to include the Louisville-Detroit, Louisville-Minneapolis-St. Paul, and Louisville-Milwaukee markets is sought by Southern in the case of the Detroit market and by Eastern in the case of the Twin Cities and Milwaukee markets.

Delta opposes consolidation of Southern's Louisville-Detroit application and points out that it presently provides three daily round trips in the market. Although the market is sizeable (65,000 annual passengers), it is smaller than the Louisville-St. Louis market which the Board has excluded from the instant proceeding and like the Louisville-St. Louis market, Louisville-Detroit has single-plane service.

The Louisville-Milwaukee and Louisville-Twin Cities markets are both small (13,000 in the Milwaukee market and 18,000 in the Twin Cities market) and it does not apear that there is any persuasive basis for hearing these two markets and excluding other larger Louisville markets.

Eastern has requested removal of the certificate restriction which prohibits it from providing Buffalo/Pittsburgh-Houston single-plane service on the grounds that Allegheny could receive such authority via Louisville as the result of this proceeding. In the alternative, Eastern seeks imposition of a pretrial restriction to preclude single-plane service via Allegheny in the Buffalo/Pittsburgh-Houston markets. We will deny Eastern's request. The Board's customary practice is not to impose pretrail restrictions to bar tacking. Eastern, of course, will be free to argue that such a restriction should be imposed on Allegheny if Allegheny receives an award in this proceeding.

Finally, Eastern suggests that the Board include in the issues the following: "If additional service is authorized between Louisville and the Washington/Baltimore area should the new authorization be limited to a particular airport or airports?" The Bureau correctly points out, however, that there is no need to recite the particular language suggested by Eastern, since the issues expressed in the Order of Investigation are clearly broad enough to encompass the question of whether a Washington/Baltimore award should be limited to a particular airport or airports.

Accordingly, it is ordered That: 1. The motions of American Airlines and Delta Air Lines to file late documents, be and they hereby are granted;

2. The applications of American Airlines, Docket 30075; Braniff Airways, Docket 27812 (Amendment No. 2); Delta Air Lines, Docket 27814 (Amendment No. 2); Hughes Airwest, Docket 29690; Ozark Air Lines, Docket 30078; Piedmont Aviation, Docket 30077; Southern Airways, Docket 30071; and Trans World Airlines, Docket 30074, be and they hereby are consolidated for hearing and decision with the Louisville Service Case, Docket 29968 to the extent that they conform to the issues in that proceeding;

3. The issues in the Louisville Service Case, Docket 29968, shall include the following:

Do the public convenience and necessity require, the alteration, amendment, modification or suspension of the certificates of Eastern Air Lines, Inc., so as to delete Eastern's nonstop authority in the Louisville-Baltimore and Louisville-Nashville markets?

4. The motion of the Louisville Parties for leave to file an unauthorized document, be and it hereby is denied; and

5. Except to the extent granted herein, the petitions for reconsideration of Order 76-10-113, be and they hereby are denied.

This order shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.[7]

PHYLLIS T. KAYLOR,
Secretary.

---

[1] Additional applications and motions to consolidate applications were filed by American Airlines, Inc.; Braniff; Delta; Hughes Airwest; Ozark Air Lines, Inc.; Piedmont; Southern; and Trans World Airlines, Inc. The motions seek consolidation of applications which conform to the issues as presently constituted although in certain instances, the applications involve markets not presently in issue.

[2] In addition, Allegheny filed an answer to the motions to consolidate.

Moreover, the Louisville Parties filed a motion for leave to file an unauthorized document, a reply to the Bureau's answer. The Louisville Parties have not established good cause for filing a reply which would represent a third round of pleadings, and, hence, we will deny the motion.

[3] Delta states that it was never served with Southern's petition in the instant proceeding, and, therefore, did not have an opportunity to respond to Southern's petition in a timely fashion. American states that it did not actually see Braniff's petition until after the answers were due.

[4] As several parties have noted, we inadvertently omitted from the ordering paragraphs of Order 76-10-113, issues relating to the deletion of Eastern's nonstop authority in the Louisville-Baltimore and Louisville-Nashville markets. These issues are included in the ordering paragraphs herein.

[5] We recognize, as Frontier has pointed out, that TWA does not now provide any nonstop service in the Louisville-Kansas City market. However, we are not convinced that the fact that TWA does not now operate nonstop service in this market is a sufficient justification in the light of the size of the market to warrant inclusion of a Louisville-Kansas City issue.

[6] Although the Cincinnati-Baltimore market is not being directly considered in the Subpart M Proceeding, there is no logical basis for hearing Cincinnati-Baltimore in the instant proceeding and Cincinnati-Washington in some other case.

Applications for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Articles

The following are notices of the receipt of applications for duty-free entry of scientific articles pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Pub. L. 89-651; 80 Stat. 897). Interested persons may present their views with respect to the question of whether an instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value for the purposes for which the article is intended to be used is being manufactured in the United States. Such comments must be filed in triplicate with the Director, Special Import Programs Division, Office of Import Programs, Washington, D.C. 20230, on or before February 7, 1977.

Amended regulations issued under cited Act, (15 CFR 301) prescribe the requirements applicable to comments.

A copy of each application is on file, and may be examined during ordinary Commerce Department business hours at the Special Import Programs Division, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

Docket Number: 77-00062. Applicant: Vanderbilt University, Department of Molecular Biology, P.O. Box 1820, Station B., Nashville, Tennessee. Article: High Vacuum Freeze Etch Unit. Manufacturer: Balzers Liechtenstein, Germany. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for fundamental studies on membrane arrangement by reconstituting membrane in the test tube with different proteins and lipids and looking at the freeze-fracture ultrastructures, arrangements, and density of particles in fracture faces and on freeze-etched surface. A variety of biological membranes will be studied especially from liver and muscle spermatozoans and protozoans. The article will also be used in the following courses: Molecular Biology 390, Molecular Biology 369, and Molecular Biology Ph.D. Dissertation Research.

Students will be instructed individually in the use of the equipment to provide familarity with modern laboratory techniques and to permit the student to pursue a research problem as part of undergraduate or graduate education. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: December 10, 1976.

Docket Number: 77-00063. Applicant: Emory University, Chemistry Dept. 1515 Pierce Ave., Atlanta, Ga. 30322. Article: NMR Coherent Pulse Spectrometer, CPS-2. Manufacturer: Spin Lock Ltd., Canada. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used to measure water proton relaxation times (T_1, $T_{1\rho}$, and T_2) of suspensions of red and white blood cells for the purpose of more fully characterizing disease processes in blood (particularly sickle cell anemia, hereditary spherocytosis, leukemia and drug resistant cell lines). Measurements of water proton exchange across the membranes of blood cells can be made by utilizing these relaxation parameters. Application received by Commissioner or Customs: December 10, 1976.

(a) Characterization of the species present in air comprising the following environments: ambient air; stationary source emisions; occupied spaces; worker environments, indoor and outdoor; fire generated atmosphere; aircraft-generated events, aircraft-range sampling.

(b) Characterization of laboratory generated atmospheres: combustion/degradation emissions; product effluents; laboratory simulated process operations; explosives effluents.

(c) Characterization of organic species in water: industrial wastewaters; receiving waters; drinking water.

(d) Characterization of organic species adsorbed on environmental particulate samples.

(e) Characterization of species present in lung effluents.

(f) Detection and quantification of specific analytes in environmental samples: air; water; biota.

(g) Detection and quantification of specific analytes for chronic bioassays in animal tests designed to establish their carcinogenic potential.

(h) Identification and characterization of organic compounds synthesized for study as potential therapeutic agents.

(i) Identification and characterization of toxic environmental contaminants synthesized for toxicologic study and for investigation of their potential carcinogenic properties.

(j) Identification and characterization of mass isotope-labeled compounds synthesized for metabolism studies and the detection, identification and characterization of metabolites obtained in these studies.

(k) Characterization and monitoring of very low levels of vapor pressure ($<10^{-5}$ mm Hg).

(l) Characterization of the sphingomyelins, cerebrosides, sulfatides and gangliosides in relation to genetically transmitted neurological diseases.

(m) Identification of the mycolic acids associated with various strains of Mycobacteria smegmatis.

(n) Structural alterations in the pulmonary surfactant phospholopids due to oxygen toxicity, proteinosis, and air pollutant oxidants.

(o) Studying the possible role of folic acid in the formation of cyclopropanoid fatty acids in L. casei using $S^{-13}C=$ methyladenosyl-methionine.

Article: PW6570/00C Scanning Attachment for EM 300, Adaptor; and accompanying accessories. Manufacturer: Philips Electronics Instruments NVD, The Netherlands. Intended use of article: The article is an attachment to an existing electron microscope that provides the facility to scan the electron beam across the specimen with a beam diameter from 250 to 2.5 nm. The STEM facility will be used to investigate the following materials problems:

(1) Solute redistribution occurring during selected phase transformations,

(2) Solute profiles occurring in meteorites,

(3) The fine scale structure of iron meteorites which have been shocked and cosmically reheated.

(4) The fine structure of hot-pressed and as-crept specimens of SiC and Si_3N_4 manufactured from the powder.

(5) The identification of particles in the Bi-MnBi directionally solidified eutectic.

(6) The crystalline structure of polyethylene.

The equipment will also be used in a course in Electron Metallography to introduce students to the most recent advances in electron optical applications. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: December 19, 1976.

Docket Number: 77-00068. Applicant: University of California—Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, P.O. Box 990, Los Alamos, NM 87545. Article: Automatic Bar Machine, Model AR7 and accessories. Manufacturer: Lumonics Research Ltd., Canada. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for the study of laser induced fusion of cryogenic targets. Typical targets would include various hydrocarbon and materials such as carbon dideuterium. The system will be used to investigate radiation damage in materials and the feasibility of controlled thermonuclear fusion. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: December 22, 1976.

Docket Number 77-00071: Applicant: University of Wisconsin, Department of Physics, 1150 University Avenue, Madison, WI 53706. Article: Polarized Neutral Atomic Beam Source. Manufacturer: ANAC Ltd., New Zealand. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used to provide a directed beam of polarized hydrogen or deuterium atoms of high intensity. The ultimate purpose of the device is to bombard the polarized atoms with an intense beam of fast neutral cesium atoms to study the transformation of polarized hydrogen atoms into polarized negative ions. The objective pursued in this investigation is to determine whether in atomic collisions of this type the atoms maintain a state of polarization or whether the polarization is disturbed by the collision process. If it develops that the atoms maintain polarization, the article will be used for a second purpose—to inject the polarized negative ions into the University of Wisconsin Tandem Accelerator in order to study nuclear reactions with polarized beams. The work described above will constitute part of the Ph. D. thesis of two graduate students in the course: Physics 990. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: December 22, 1976.

Endangered Species Certificate of Exemption; Application

Notice is hereby given that the following applicant has applied in due form for a Certificate of Exemption under Pub. L. 94-359, and the regulations issued thereunder (50 CFR Part 222, Subpart B), to engage in certain commercial activities with respect to pre-Act endangered species parts or products.

Applicant: Charles F. McAlpine, McAlpine Fur Trading Co., 819 West Fourth Avenue, Anchorage, Alaska 99501.

Period of Exemption: The applicant requests that the period of time to be covered by the Certificate of Exemption begin on the date of the original issuance of the Certificate of Exemption and be effective for a 3-year period.

Commercial activities exempted: (1) The prohibition, as set forth in section 9(a)(1)(A) of the Act, to export any such species part from the United States;

(2) The prohibition, as set forth in section 9(a)(1)(E) of the Act, to deliver, receive, carry, transport, or ship in interstate or foreign commerce, by any means whatsoever and in the course of commercial activity any such species part;

(3) The prohibition, as set forth in section 9(a)(1)(F) of the Act, to sell or offer for sale in interstate or foreign commerce any such species part.

Parts or products exempted: Finished scrimshaw products to be made from approximately 34,400 pounds of whale bone and 2,500 pounds of baleen.

Written comments on this application may be submitted to the Director, National Marine Fisheries Service, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20235 on or before February 17, 1977.

CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION

ALUMINUM WIRE CONNECTIONS

Extension of Time

The purpose of this notice is to announce that the Consumer Product Safety Commission has extended the time period within which it must publish either a proposed consumer product safety standard for aluminum wire connections or a notice withdrawing the previously published notice of proceeding to develop such a standard.

BACKGROUND

On November 4, 1975, the Commission published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 51218) a notice under section 7 of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA) (15 U.S.C. 2056) commencing a proceeding to develop a consumer product safety standard applicable to the aluminum wire system used in 15 and 20 ampere electrical circuits.

In that notice, the Commission, on the basis of various injury data and technical information, preliminarily determined that the aluminum wire system presents an unreasonable risk of injury and that a consumer product safety standard is necessary. In the notice of proceeding, the Commission identified the ultimate risk of injury it believed to be associated with the aluminum wire system as death or injury due to fire. The Commission also solicited offers to develop a standard and the submission of existing standards to address the hazard. In response to the notice, the Commission received one offer to develop a standard and the submission of an existing standard. On December 30, 1975, the Commission determined that the submissions were not acceptable because they failed to comply with the regulations of the Commission and were not fully responsive to the notice of proceeding. The Commission directed its staff to develop a plan under which the Commission would develop the standard itself.

The Commission staff on February 20, 1976, submitted a plan to the Commission for developing a standard for the aluminum wire system. This plan involved technical work by the staff with subsequent public participation in the development of a standard.

On March 25, 1976, the staff submitted to the Commission for its consideration an unsolicited proposal from Battelle Columbus Laboratories to undertake and manage the development of a consumer product safety standard for the aluminum wire system. By notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 10, 1976 (41 FR 23450), the Commission extended the period within which it would publish either a proposed rule or a notice withdrawing the notice of proceeding to develop a rule until August 30, 1976.

In a briefing package dated June 11, 1976, the staff, at the Commission's request, submitted to the Commission a plan of the Commission's Bureau of Engineering Sciences for developing a design standard to address the problems associated with the alumipum wire system.

After considerable deliberation of the issues emerging from the earlier briefing packages, the Commission requested and the staff submitted another briefing package dated September 14, 1976, which contained a plan for resolving the problems associated with the aluminum wire system through modification of the National Electric Code (NEC) as it applies to aluminum wire. The National Electric Code, which is administered by the National Fire Protection Association states as one of its purposes the practical safeguarding of persons and property from hazards arising from the use of electricity.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

The Commission has been studying the available technical information on the nature of the aluminum wire problem in terms of the various alternatives available to it in regard to the development of a standard for the aluminum wire system. The Commission recognizes that the method of termination of an aluminum wire system, that is, the method in which electrical conductors are connected, joined, or terminated, with various products, devices and assemblies (convenience outlets, wall switches, circuit breakers and the like) to may be capable of resolution in an expeditious and cost-effective manner through modification of the National Electric Code. Thus, the Commission on December 16, 1976, approved the staff plan included in the Briefing Package of September 14, 1976, which suggested a method of resolving the problems associated with the aluminum wire system through a modification of the National Electric Code. A copy of the Briefing Package is available in the Commission's Office of the Secretary, 1111 18th Street, NW., Washington, D.C.

Recognizing the ability and technical expertise of organizations such as the National Fire Protection Association, (NFPA), the Commission has instructed its staff to contact the NFPA and other appropriate organizations to determine their interest in implementing a modification of the NEC.

In this regard, the Commission notes that the National Electric Code has been adopted and is enforced by building code authorities that have authority over the vast majority of residences in the United States. It is anticipated that this independent local governmental enforcement of the NEC can be expected to result in a high degree of compliance with the code, possibly approaching that which might be expected for a federal mandatory standard enforced by the Commission. Morover, the availability of a large, local inspectional force is of great importance in a situation such as this where the aluminum wire conections that would be the subject of the NEC modifications are assembled on site. This local inspectional capability far exceeds that available to the Commission through the use of its own resources.

Consequently, revisions to the NEC that address the risk of injury that the Commission has preliminarily determined to be associated with the aluminum wire system might reduce or eliminate that risk. Reduction to a sufficient degree, or elimination, of the risk of injury through revisions to the NEC might lead to Commission withdrawal of its notice of proceeding for the development of a mandatory safety standard for the aluminum wire system used in 15 and 20 ampere electrical circuits.

EXTENSION OF TIME

In order to provide the staff and organizations contacted an opportunity to develop appropriate requirements for the aluminum wire system, the Commission, pursuant to section 7(f) of the CPSA, as amended, is extending the period within which it must propose a consumer product safety standard for the aluminum wire system or withdraw the notice of proceeding until May 1, 1977. If, in the Commission's opinion, demonstrable progress is not being made, the Commission will then complete the development of and propose a mandatory Federal standard.

This decision does not affect the Commission's activities under section 15 of the CPSA and those activities are to continue.

Dated: January 13, 1977.

SHELDON D. BUTTS,
Acting Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission.

[DOD Directive 5120.46, 1/8/77]

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE AFFIRMATIVE ACTION BOARD

Establishment

The Secretary of Defense has approved the following:

I. Purpose. This Directive establishes the Department of Defense Affirmative Action Board, and prescribes its missions, functions, responsibilities, policies, and management arrangements.

II. Applicability. The provisions of this Directive apply to the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Military Departments, the Organization of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the Defense Agencies (hereinafter referred to collectively as "DOD Components").

III. Mission. The mission of the DOD Affirmative Action Board is to:

A. Emphasize and coordinate efforts throughout the Department of Defense to increase the employment and promotional opportunities of minorities and women in executive positions, GS–15 and above.

B. Provide policy and operational guidance and direction to an Executive Search Group on Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) matters relating to staffing executive positions.

C. Eliminate barriers or problems which hinder progress in attaining the numerical goals of the Affirmative Action Plans of DOD Components and in implementing established policies of the Department of Defense.

IV. Policy. The Department of Defense will pursue an affirmative course of action for purposes of providing increased representation of minorities and women in executive positions, GS–15 and above. All actions to achieve this policy will be in full compliance with merit system requirements.

V. Functions. The DOD Affirmative Action Board will:

A. Establish equal employment opportunity policies and procedures for staffing executive positions in DOD, in accordance with DOD Directive 1100.15, "The Department of Defense Equal Opportunity Program," June 3, 1976[1] and DOD Directive 1400.19, "Staffing of Executive Level Positions," June 20, 1968.[1]

B. Assess the efforts made by all DOD Components to ensure compliance with the equal employment opportunity provisions of DOD Directive 1100.15[1] as they relate to staffing executive positions throughout the DOD.

C. Monitor the progress of the Executive Search Group in its efforts to enhance equal employment opportunities for all minority group members and women in staffing executive positions.

D. Review and approve specific numerical goals and timetables for the hiring of minorities and women in executive positions by all DOD Components.

E. Periodically advise the Secretary of Defense on the status and progress made by all DOD Components in placing minorities and women in executive positions.

VI. Responsibilities. A. The Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Reserve Affairs) (ASD (M&RA)) shall:

1. Serve as Chairman of the DOD Affirmative Action Board with representatives from the Army, Navy, Air Force, DSA, DASD (Administration), OASD (C); and the DASDs (Equal Opportunity) and (Civilian Personnel Policy), OASD (M&RA).

2. Establish an Executive Search Group which shall receive policy and operational guidance from the DOD Affirmative Action Board.

3. Review and approve the Executive Search Group's program plans and operational requirements.

4. Coordinate the interchange of statistical and related data between and among the DOD Components.

B. Under the direction of the ASD (M&RA), the Director of Personnel, in the Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Administration), Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller), shall:

1. Serve as Executive Secretary of the DOD Affirmative Action Board.

2. Provide advisory assistance to the Executive Search Group.

3. Assist in the coordination of the Executive Search Group activities within the DOD Components.

4. Provide to the Chairman analyses of the Executive Search Group activities, suggestions, and recommendations for the operation of the Group, including use of consultants with expertise in the field of minority recruiting.

[1] Filed as part of original. Copies available at U.S. Naval Publications and Forms Center, 5801 Tabor Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. 19120, Attn: Code 300.

C. The Executive Search Group shall:

1. Establish guidelines and review procedures established by DOD Components by which minorities and female executive candidates are identified and considered for employment by DOD managers. Guidelines developed will be coordinated with DOD Components before being implemented.

2. Oversee recruitment undertaken by the DOD Components to ensure they have widely publicized executive position vacancies to all sources, including women and minority group members.

3. Use data bases consisting of extracts from automated files developed and maintained by DOD Components for their own use.

4. Make analyses and provide the DOD Affirmative Action Board with recommendations and/or reports as may be required.

5. As requested by the Secretary of Defense, the Affirmative Action Board will assist in search for personnel/nominees to fill Schedule C and other noncareer executive positions.

VII. Authority. The Executive Secretary, DOD Affirmative Action Board, is delegated authority to:

A. Manage and operate the Executive Search Group.

B. Communicate directly with DOD Components relative to employment programs as they relate to minority groups and women.

C. Obtain such information, data, analyses, reports, and assistance from DOD Components as is necessary for the performance of responsibilities assigned by the DOD Affirmative Action Board.

VIII. Effective date. This Directive is effective immediately.

MAURICE W. ROCHE,
Director, Correspondence and Directives, OASD (Comptroller).

Interim Certification To Register Pesticides To Meet "Special Local Needs"

Pursuant to section 24(c) of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), as amended (86 Stat. 973; 89 Stat. 751; 7 U.S.C. 136(a) et seq.), the State of Connecticut submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) a request for Interim Certification to register pesticides for special local needs (Request), which was subsequently approved on April 20, 1976. Notice of approval of this Request was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 24, 1976 (41 FR 21219). This initial Request sought authority to amend EPA registrations that involve "changed use patterns", as that term is defined in § 162.152(c) of the proposed regulations as they were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 3, 1975 (40 FR 40538), and to amend EPA registrations that did not involve changed use patterns.

On October 22, 1976, the State of Connecticut sought to amend its Request to include authority to register "new products", as that term is defined in § 162.152(g) of the proposed regulations. This Agency has found that the specific requirements for registration of new products are satisfied in the Connecticut Request, in that Connecticut's registration program provides for both efficacy determination and product hazard review.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given that the Administrator, EPA, has approved the amendment from the State of Connecticut for Interim Certification allowing that State the authority to register new products. The State agency designated responsible for issuance of such registrations, the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection, was notified on December 16, 1976, that the amendment to its Request had been approved.

Copies of the amendment to the Request for Interim Certification from Connecticut, along with the letter reflecting the Agency's decision to approve the amendment, are available for public inspection at the following locations:

PP 3F1351 proposed the establishment of tolerances (40 CFR Part 180) for residues of the insecticide formetanate hydrochloride (m-[[(dimethylamino)methylene] amino]phenyl methylcarbamate hydrochloride) and its metabolites containing the m-aminiophenol moiety (calculated as formetanate hydrochloride) in or on grapes at 5 parts per million (ppm); liver and kidney of cattle, goats, hogs, horses, poultry, and sheep at 0.1 ppm; meat, fat, and meat byproducts (excluding liver and kidney) of cattle, goats, hogs, horses, poultry, and sheep; milk; and eggs at 0.05 ppm. Notice of Filing was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of March 23, 1973 (38 FR 7488).

FAP 3H5025 proposed the establishment of food additive tolerances (21 CFR Part 121) for residues of the above insecticide in or on dried grape pomace and raisin waste at 45 ppm and raisins at 20 ppm resulting from application of the insecticide to growing grapes. (38 FR 7488)

PP 4F1419 proposed the establishment of tolerances (40 CFR Part 180) for combined residues of the above insecticide in or on the raw agricultural commodities almond hulls at 35 ppm; almonds at 0.5 ppm; and liver and kidney of cattle, goats, hogs, horses, sheep, and poultry at 0.3 ppm. Notice of Filing was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 15, 1973 (38 FR 22182).

FAP 3H5029 proposed the establishment of a food additive tolerance (21 CFR Part 121) for combined residues of the above insecticide in dried apple pomace at 30 ppm resulting from application of the insecticide to the growing raw agricultural commodity apples. (38 FR 22182)

Interim Certification To Register Pesticides To Meet "Special Local Needs"

Pursuant to section 24(c) of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), as amended (86 Stat. 973; 89 Stat. 751; 7 U.S.C. 136(a) et seq.), the State of West Virginia submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) a request for Interim Certification to register pesticides for special local needs (Request), which was subsequently approved on May 7, 1976. Notice of approval of this request was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 3, 1976 (41 FR 22412). This initial request sought authority to amend EPA registrations that involve "changed use patterns", as that term is defined in § 162.152(c) of the proposed regulations as they were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 3, 1975 (40 FR 40538), and to amend EPA registrations that did not involve changed use patterns.

On November 17, 1976, the State of West Virginia sought to amend its Request to include authority to register "new products", as that term is defined in § 162.152(g) of the proposed regulations. This Agency has found that the specific requirements for registration of new products are satisfied in the West Virginia Request, in that West Virginia's registration program provides for both efficacy determination and product hazard review.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given that the Administrator, EPA, has approved the amendment from the State of West Virginia for Interim Certification allowing that State the authority to register new products. The State agency designated responsible for issuance of such registrations, the West Virginia Department of Agriculture, was notified on December 16, 1976, that the amendment to its Request had been approved.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. ES77-10]

CITIZENS UTILITIES CO.

Application

JANUARY 13, 1977.

Take notice that on January 5, 1977, Citizens Utilities Company (Applicant) filed an application seeking an order pursuant to section 204 of the Federal Power Act, authorizing the issuance of short-term promissory notes in an aggregate principal amount not to exceed $18,000,000 outstanding at any one time.

Applicant is incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware and is qualified to do business in the States of Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Hawaii, Idaho and Vermont.

The Notes are to be issued pursuant to a credit arrangement with a bank or banks, or, in the alternative, in the form of commercial paper. All notes are to have a final maturity on or before a date which shall be less than one year after the issuance of the first notes issued under such arrangements. The interest rate for notes issued pursuant to the bank credit agreement shall be at the prime commercial interest rate of the banks concerned for short-term borrowings. The maximum principal amount of all notes to be issued pursuant to the application shall not exceed $18,000,000 outstanding at any one time.

The net proceeds from the sale of the Notes will be used, together with other funds of the Applicant, for replenishment of the treasury for expenditures for current transactions, for repayment of indebtedness and for the construction, extension and improvement of facilities.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before January 21, 1977, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions to intervene or protests in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules. The application is on file with the Commission and available for public inspection.

KENNETH F. PLUMB,
Secretary.

[Docket No. ER77-102]

PENNSYLVANIA POWER CO.

Initial Interim Transmission Rate

JANUARY 13, 1977.

Take notice that the Pennsylvania Power Company (Company), on December 23, 1976, tendered for filing an initial interim transmission rate schedule in its FPC Electric Service Tariff, Municipal Resale—Primary Voltage Schedule. This primary rate schedule has had an additional provision added to provide for Transmission Voltage utilizing the existing primary rate with a discount for 69 kv service and was filed in compliance with the Federal Power Commission Order issued August 20, 1975 at Docket No. E-8159.

The reason for this additional transmission voltage provision arises from the fact that Ellwood City Borough, one of five municipalities served by the Company, has either purchased, or leased, a customer-owned 69 kv substation located in the borough that is presently serving Ellwood Steel Casting Company. The Company has received notice from the Ellwood Steel Casting Company that service will no longer be required from the Pennsylvania Power Company at that station effective February 1, 1977. Ellwood City Borough is apparently of the view that all service to the borough and Ellwood Steel Casting Company can be served through this purchased or leased 69 kv substation. The interim rate schedule does not provide that a municipality can receive both primary and transmission service simultaneously.

Copies of the filing were served upon the borough secretaries of Ellwood City, Grove City, New Wilmington, Wampum and Zellenople.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before January 21, 1977. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this application are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

SHELL OIL COMPANY, ET AL.

Applications for Certificates, Abandonment of Service and Petitions to Amend Certificates [1]

JANUARY 5, 1977.

Take notice that each of the Applicants listed herein has filed an application or petition pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for authorization to sell natural gas in interstate commerce or to abandon service as described herein, all as more fully described in the respective applications and amendments which are on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said applications should on or before January 28, 1977, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions to intervene or protests in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accord with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on all applications in which no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein if the Commission on its own review of the matter believes that a grant of the certificates or the authorization for the proposed abandonment is required by the public convenience and necessity. Where a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or where the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicants to appear or to be represented at the hearing.

Agenda—Open public hearing. Any interested person may present information, data, or views, orally or in writing, on issues pending before the committee.

Open committee discussion. Use of amphetamines in the treatment of narcolepsy, seizure disorders, and minimal brain dysfunction; and appropriate indications for the use of antiemetics.

Because of the problem of continuing abuse in spite of Schedule II controls, the Food and Drug Administration is considering the removal of the anorectic indication for amphetamine and methamphetamine. In addition, these drugs have been used in the treatment of narcolepsy, minimal brain dysfunction (MBD), and seizure disorders. The Neurologic Drugs Advisory Committee, invited guests, and other participants are requested to advise on the following:

1. Are there alternative safe and effective treatments for these disorders?

2. Would a withdrawal of amphetamine and methamphetamine from the market have a deleterious effect on the treatment of patients with narcolepsy, MBD, or seizure disorders?

The recommendations of the advisory committee to the Division of Neuropharmacological Drug Products and the Bureau of Drugs will be considered in arriving at a decision whether amphetamines should be totally withdrawn from the market, or relabeled for the treatment only of narcolepsy, MBD, and/or seizure disorders. In either case, the investigational new drug application process would still be available for research purposes.

Open committee discussion. Discussion of histopathology of hepatotoxicity, diagnostic criteria for liver injury, and followup of patients exposed to hepatotoxic drugs.

FDA public advisory committee meetings may have as many as four separable portions: (1) An open public hearing, (2) an open committee discussion, (3) a closed presentation of data, and (4) a closed committee deliberation. Every advisory committee meeting shall have an open public hearing portion. Whether or not it also includes any of the other three portions will depend upon the specific meeting involved. There are no closed portions for the meetings announced in this notice. The dates and times reserved for the open portions of each committee meeting are listed above.

The open public hearing portion of each meeting shall be at least 1 hour long unless public participation does not last that long. It is emphasized, however, that the 1 hour time limit for an open public hearing represents a minimum rather than a maximum time for public participation, and an open public hearing may last for whatever longer period the committee chairman determines will facilitate the committee's work.

Meetings of advisory committees shall be conducted, insofar as is practical, in accordance with the agenda published in this FEDERAL REGISTER notice. Changes in the agenda will be announced at the beginning of the open portion of a meeting.

Any interested person who wishes to be assured of the right to make an oral presentation at the open public hearing portion of a meeting shall inform the contact person listed above, either orally or in writing, prior to the meeting. Any person attending the hearing who does not in advance of the meeting request an opportunity to speak will be allowed to make an oral presentation at the hearing's conclusion, if time permits, at the chairman's discretion.

Persons interested in specific agenda items to be discussed in open session may ascertain from the contact person the approximate time of discussion.

A list of committee members and summary minutes of meetings may be obtained from the Public Records and Documents Center (HFC-18), 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The FDA regulations relating to public advisory committees may be found in 21 CFR Part 2, Subpart D, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 26, 1976 (41 FR 52148).

The Commissioner approves the scheduling of meetings at locations outside of the Washington, D.C., area on the basis of the criteria of § 2.307 (21 CFR 2.307) of FDA's regulations relating to public advisory committees.

Dated: January 11, 1977.

JOSEPH P. HILE,
Associate Commissioner for Compliance.

PUBLIC ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Request for Nomination of Members

The Food and Drug Administration requests nominations for membership on the Science Advisory Board of the National Center for Toxicological Research at Jefferson, AR. Nine vacancies will occur on the Board as of June 30, 1977; nominations must be submitted no later than February 28, 1977.

The function of the Science Advisory Board is to advise the Director, National Center for Toxicological Research in establishing and implementing a research program that will assist the Commissioner of Food and Drugs and the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency in fulfilling their regulatory responsibilities. The Board provides the extra-agency review to assure that research programs and methodology development at the National Center for Toxicological Research are scientifically sound and pertinent to environmental problems.

Terms of office are 3 years. Members shall have diversified experience in biomedical research and be recognized experts in at least one discipline directly related to carcinogenesis, mutagenesis, or teratogenesis. Current needs are in pathology, food technology, immunology, biochemistry, pharmacology, teratology, endocrinology, hormones, genetics, chemistry, and biometry.

Any interested person may nominate one or more qualified persons for membership. A complete curriculum vitae of the nominee shall be included. Nominations shall state that the nominee is aware of the nomination, is willing to serve as a member of the Board, and appears to have no conflict of interest that would preclude committee membership.

Nominations should be submitted to the Executive Secretary, Science Advisory Board, National Center for Toxicological Research, Jefferson, AR 72079, no later than February 28, 1977.

Dated: January 11, 1977.

JOSEPH P. HILE,
Associate Commissioner for Compliance.

Office of Education

EMERGENCY SCHOOL AID ACT

Closing Date for Receipt of Proposals for Educational Television Projects

The Commissioner of Education hereby gives notice that pursuant to sections 711 and 704(b) of the Emergency School Aid Act (20 U.S.C. 1610 and 1603(b)), proposals are being accepted from public and private nonprofit agencies, institutions, and organizations for Educational Television projects.

Proposals for assistance must be received by the U.S. Office of Education Application Control Center on or before April 11, 1977.

A. Proposals sent by mail.—A proposal sent by mail should be addressed as follows: U.S. Office of Education, Application Control Center, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20202, Attention: 13.530. A proposal sent by mail will be considered to be received on time by the Application Control Center if:

(1) The proposal was sent by registered or certified mail not later than April 6, 1977, as evidenced by the U.S. Postal Service postmark on the wrapper or envelope, or on the original receipt from the U.S. Postal Service; or

(2) The proposal is received on or before the closing date by either the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, or the U.S. Office of Education mail rooms in Washington, D.C. In establishing the date of receipt, the Commissioner will rely on the time-date stamp of such mailrooms or other documentary evidence of receipt maintained by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, or the U.S. Office of Education.

B. Hand delivered proposals.—A proposal to be hand delivered must be taken to the U.S. Office of Education Application Control Center, Room 5673, Regional Office Building Three, 7th and D Streets, SW, Washington, D.C. Hand delivered proposals will be accepted daily between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Washington, D.C. time, except Saturdays, Sundays, or Federal holidays. Proposals will not be accepted after 4 p.m. on the closing date.

C. Program Information.—(1) Projects will be considered for funding this year in the following categories as listed and described in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, (45 CFR Part 185) on October 20, 1976, at 41 FR 46317:

(a) 45 CFR 185.72(a)(1)—Additional programs of a national series (i.e., intended for national distribution) previously assisted under the Act (other than a series described in subparagraph (a)(6) of this section);

(b) 45 CFR 185.72(a)(5)—A national series (i.e., intended for national distribution) other than a series described in subparagraphs (a)(1) and (a)(6) of this section, to foster interracial and interethnic understanding among secondary school age children;

(c) 45 CFR 185.72(a)(6)—A national bilingual series (i.e., intended for national distribution) of cognitive and/or affective education value. A bilingual series is a series consisting of programs which contain no more than 60 percent of its content in one of the two languages it offers;

(d) 45 CFR 185.72(a)(7)—Up to three new "regional" series intended for less than nationwide utilization meeting the special needs of subgroups of minority groups as defined in section 185.02(f) which may be unique to a particular geographic region; or

(e) 45 CFR 185.72(a)(8)—Additional programs from up to two "regional" series previously funded under the Act intended for less than nationwide utilization meeting the special needs of subgroups of minority groups as defined in section 185.02(f) which may be unique to a particular geographic region.

Because of the small number of programs directed specifically at Black Americans which have previously been produced under the Emergency School Aid Act, Educational Television, the Office of Education is particularly desirous of receiving proposals whose primary target audience is Black and non-minority children under the "National Secondary and Interracial, Inter-ethnic" (affective) and the new "regional" categories. However, proposals submitted which address this primary target audience will be evaluated in the same manner and under the same criteria as proposals which address other primary target audiences designated in the Emergency School Aid Act.

(2) The ESAA appropriation for FY 77 sets aside $6,450,000 for support of Educational Television. Additional funds, up to $2,150,000, may be provided from funds appropriated for special projects (section 708(a)) of the statute.

(3) In fiscal 1976:

(a) Four "regional" awards at the then allowable maximum of $250,000 each, were made; and

(b) Three national category awards at an average of $2,488,623 were also made.

D. Project periods.—Awards of assistance will be made pursuant to this notice for activities commencing no earlier than May 1, 1977.

E. Applicable regulation.—Awards of assistance made pursuant to this notice will be subject to (1) the regulations contained in 45 CFR Part 185, and, (2) upon their becoming effective, the amendments thereto published as a notice of proposed rulemaking on October 20, 1976, at 41 FR 46317, (3) except where inconsistent with Part 185, the Office of Education General Provisions Regulations relating to direct project assistance programs (45 CFR Parts 100 and 100a). Proposers' attention is directed in particular to subpart H, Educational Television, of 45 CFR 185.

RIGHT TO READ READING ACADEMIES PROGRAM

Closing Date for Receipt of Noncompeting Continuation Applications for Fiscal Year 1977

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the authority contained in section 723 of Title VII of the Education Amendments of 1974, Pub. L. 93-380, as amended (20 U.S.C. 1963) applications are being accepted for non-competing continuation grants under the Right To Read Reading Academies Program (45 CFR Part 162, Subpart E). It is not expected that funds will be available in FY 1977 for new grants under the Reading Academy Program. Therefore, applications for new projects will not be accepted. Applications should be received by the U.S. Office of Education Application Control Center on or before March 18, 1977.

A. Applications sent by mail. An application sent by mail should be addressed as follows: U.S. Office of Education, Grant and Procurement Management Division, Application Control Center, 400 Maryland Avenue SW, Washington, D.C. 20202, Attention: 13:533E. An application sent by mail will be considered to be received on time by the Application Control Center if:

(1) The application was sent by registered or certified mail not later than March 14, 1977, as evidenced by the U.S. Postal Service postmark on the wrapper or envelope, or on the original receipt from the U.S. Postal Service; or

(2) The application is received on or before the closing date by either the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare or the U.S. Office of Education mail rooms in Washington, D.C. In establishing the date of receipt, the Commissioner will rely on the time-date stamp of such mail rooms or other documentary evidence of receipt maintained by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, or the U.S. Office of Education.

B. Hand Delivered Applications. An application to be hand delivered must be taken to the U.S. Office of Education Application Control Center, Room 5673, Regional Office Building Three, 7th and D Streets SW, Washington, D.C. 20202. Hand delivered applications will be accepted daily between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Washington, D.C. time except Saturdays, Sundays, or Federal holidays.

C. Program Information. It is anticipated that $4,800,000 will be available for funding of the Reading Academies Program. This is $800,000 less than the FY 1976 level of funding and will not permit the Commissioner to fund existing projects at their current level for a full twelve-month period.

Grantees may request a project period for a twelve-month cycle; however, it is expected that the award amount will not exceed ⅚ of the current grant award.

In order to absorb this reduction in funds and to maintain the current level of reading assistance and instruction grantees have the alternative option of reducing the project period from a twelve-month cycle to a ten-month cycle. This means that applicants may propose a work statement for a period of ten months from the end of the FY 1976 project period and a supporting budget of only ⅚ of the current grant amount. For the nineteen projects initially funded in FY 1975, that period will be from July 1, 1977 to April 30, 1978. For the sixty-three projects initially funded in FY 1976, that period will be from September 1, 1977 to June 30, 1978.

D. Authority. The regulations applicable to this program include the Office of Education General Provisions Regulations (45 CFR Parts 100, 100a). Regulations governing the Reading Academies Program were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 26, 1976 (General Provisions, 45 CFR Part 162, Subpart A, and Reading Academies Program, 45 CFR 162, Subpart E) and will govern the operation of this program.

E. Application Instructions and Forms. Applications must be prepared and submitted in accordance with instructions and forms which may be obtained from the Office of Right to Read, U.S. Office of Education, Room 2108, 400 Maryland Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20202.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

NL INDUSTRIES, INC.

Request for Determination and Notice Providing Opportunity for Hearing

Notice is hereby given that a request has been made to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, pursuant to the provisions of section 2(g)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (12 U.S.C. 1841(g)(3)) ("the Act"), by NL Industries, Inc., New York, New York ("NL"), for a determination that, after the transfer of all its shareholdings in Lake View Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Illinois ("Lake View Bank"), to Mr. William N. Lane, NL will cease to be a bank holding company as it is not nor will be in fact capable of controlling Mr. Lane, and, thereby, Lake View Bank, notwithstanding the indebtedness incurred by Mr. Lane to NL in connection with his purchase of NL's shareholdings in Lake View Bank.

Section 2(g)(3) of the Act provides that shares transferred after January 1, 1966, by any bank holding company (or any company which, but for such transfer, would be a bank holding company) directly or indirectly to any transferee that is indebted to the transferor or has one or more officers, directors, trustees, or beneficiaries in common with or subject to control by the transferor, shall be deemed to be indirectly owned or controlled by the transferor unless the Board, after opportunity for hearing, determines that the transferor is not, in fact, capable of controlling the transferee.

Notice is hereby given, that pursuant to section 2(g)(3) of the Act, an opportunity is provided for filing a request for oral hearing. Any such request or written comments on the application should be submitted in writing (in duplicate) to the Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551, to be received no later than February 2, 1977. If a request for oral hearing is filed, each request should contain a statement of the nature of the requesting person's interest in the matter, his reasons for wishing to appear at an oral hearing, and a summary of the matters concerning which such person wishes to give testimony. The Board will subsequently designate a time and place for any hearing it orders, and will give notice of such hearing to the transferor, the transferee, and all persons that have requested an oral hearing. In the absence of a request for an oral hearing, the Board will consider the requested determination on the basis of documentary evidence filed in connection with the application.

Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, January 13, 1977.

GRIFFITH L. GARWOOD,
Deputy Secretary of the Board.

SUNSET GROVES

Hearing

In the matter of: Sunset Groves, Section Four, Martin County, Florida, Citrus Groves Investment Corporation, Respondent.

Land Sales Enforcement Division No. 76–265.

Notice of Proceedings and Opportunity for Hearing (Pursuant to 15 USC 1706(d), 24 CFR 1710.45(b)(1) and 24 CFR 1710.125).

Notice is hereby given that: On or about October 15, 1976, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Office of Interstate Land Sales Registration, attempted to serve upon the Respondent at its last known mailing address, 1450 N.E. 123rd Street, North Miami, Florida, 33161, a Notice of Proceedings and Opportunity for Hearing. Service was not achieved because no agent or officer of Citrus Groves Investment Corporation would be located at said address. Therefore, pursuant to 15 USC 1706(d), 24 CFR 1710.45(b)(1) and 24 CFR 1710.125, this Notice of Proceedings and Opportunity for Hearing is published as follows:

I. The Secretary's public files disclose that:

A. The Respondent, Citrus Groves Investment Corporation, is a corporation organized under the laws of Florida.

B. J. Arthur Elliot is the president of the Respondent corporation.

C. The mailing address of the last known principal place of business of the Respondent is 1405 N.E. 123rd Street, North Miami, Florida.

D. Respondent filed a Statement of Record and a Property Report for Sunset Groves, Section Four, situated in Martin County, Florida, which became effective on June 10, 1969, and which remains in effect.

E. The Statement of Record and Property Report pertaining to the said subdivision include untrue statements of material fact and omit to state material facts required to be stated therein and which are necessary to make the statements therein true and correct.

(1) Respondent has failed to file a revised first page of the Property Report and a revised form of purchase contract conforming to the language as required by Departmental Regulations 24 CFR 1710.110, Part B, 2, 4, 5 and 6; 24 CFR 1710.105, Part VI C 1 or 24 CFR 1710.120, II B, as amended, to conform with the amendments made to the Interstate Land Sales Full Disclosure Act (15 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.) by subsection 812(c)(1) if the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93–383), effective October 21, 1974.

(2) Respondent has failed to amend the said Statement of Record and Property Report so as to conform to the Departmental Rules and Regulations which became effective on December 1, 1973, 24 CFR 1710 et seq., as required by the effective date provision thereof.

II. In view of the allegations shown in Part I above, the Secretary will provide an opportunity for a public hearing in order that it can be determined:

A. Whether those allegations are true and, in connection therewith, to afford the Respondent an opportunity to establish adequate defenses to such allegations, and

B. Whether remedial action is appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of purchasers pursuant to the provisions of the Interstate Land Sales Full Disclosure Act.

III. If the Respondent desires a hearing he must file a notice of desire for a hearing accompanied by an answer within 15 days after service of this Notice of Proceedings. Respondent is notified that if it shall fail to file a response pursuant to 24 CFR 1710.140 and 1720.145 within 15 days after service of this Notice of Proceedings, Respondent shall be deemed to be in default, and the proceedings be assumed to be true, and an Order suspending said Statement of Record will be entered. The said Order shall remain in effect until such time as the Statement of Record and the Property Report have been amended in accordance therewith, and thereupon the Order shall cease to be in effect.

IV. Any request for hearing, answer, motion, amendment to pleadings, offer of settlement or correspondence forwarded during the pendency of this proceeding shall be filed with the General Counsel's Clerk for Administrative Proceedings, Room 10278, HUD Building, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, D.C. 20410. All such papers shall be clearly identified according to the type of matter and the docket number as set forth in this Notice of Proceedings.

V. Upon timely request of the Respondent a public hearing shall be held for the purpose of taking evidence on the allegations set forth herein, such hearing to be held before Administrative Law Judge James W. Mast, or before such other Administrative Law Judge as might be designated, in Room 7146, HUD Building, 451 Seventh Street SW, Washington, D.C. 20410, at 10 a.m. on the 30th day after receipt of the answer or at such other time as may be fixed by further order.

This Notice of Proceedings shall be served on the Respondent pursuant to 44 USC 1508.

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 29th day of December, 1976.

CONSTANCE NEWMAN,
Assistant Secretary for Consumer Affairs and Regulatory Functions.

TIMBER HILL

Hearing

In the matter of: Timber Hill, Timber Hill, Inc. and Joseph R. Mattioli, President, 76–309–IS, OILSR No. 0–2828–44–185 and (A).

Pursuant to 15 U.S.C. 1706(d) and 24 CFR 1720.160(b).

Notice is hereby given that: 1. Timber Hill, Timber Hill, Inc. and Joseph R. Mattioli, President, authorized agents and officers, hereinafter referred to as "Respondent", being subject to the provisions of the Interstate Land Sales Full Disclosure Act (Pub. L. 90–448) (15 U.S.C. 1710, et seq.) received a Notice of Proceedings and Opportunity for Hearing issued October 18, 1976, which was sent to the developer pursuant to 15 U.S.C. 1706(d), 24 CFR 1710.45(b)(1) and 1720.125 informing the developer of information obtained by the Office of Interstate Land Sales Registration alleging that the Statement of Record and Property Report for Timber Hill, Timber Hill, Inc., located in Canadensis, Pennsylvania, contain untrue statements of material fact or omit to state material facts required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein not necessary to make the statements therein not misleading.

2. The Respondent filed an Answer received November 4, 1976, in response to the Notice of Proceedings and Opportunity for Hearing.

3. In said Answer the Respondent requested a hearing on the allegations contained in the Notice of Proceedings and Opportunity for Hearing.

4. Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of 15 U.S.C. 1706(d) and 24 CFR 1720.160(d), it is hereby ordered That a public hearing for the purpose of taking evidence on the questions set forth in the Notice of Proceedings and Opportunity for Hearing will be held before Judge James W. Mast, in Room 7146, Department of HUD, 451 7th Street, SW, Washington, D.C., on February 14, 1977 at 10 a.m.

The following time and procedure is applicable to such hearing: All affidavits and a list of all witnesses are requested to be filed with the Hearing Clerk, HUD Building, Room 10150, Washington, D.C., 20410 on or before January 17, 1977.

6. The Respondent is hereby notified That failure to appear at the above scheduled hearing shall be deemed a default and the proceedings shall be determined against Respondent, the allegations of which shall be deemed to be true, and an ORDER Suspending the Statement of Record, herein identified, shall be issued pursuant to 24 CFR 1710.45(b)(1).

This Notice shall be served upon the Respondent forthwith pursuant to 24 CFR 1720.440.

By the Secretary.

Dated: November 23, 1976.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Antitrust Division

[Civil No. CIV. 75-334]

UNITED STATES v. GREATER BUFFALO ROOFING & SHEET METAL CONTRACTORS' ASSOCIATION, INC.

Proposed Consent Judgment and Competitive Impact Statement

Notice is hereby given pursuant to the Antitrust Procedures and Penalties Act, 15 U.S.C. 16 (b) through (h), that a proposed consent judgment and a competitive impact statement as set out below have been filed with the United States District Court for the Western District of New York in United States of America v. Greater Buffalo Roofing & Sheet Metal Contractors' Association, Inc., Civil No. 75-334. The complaint in this case alleges that the defendant conspired to limit the length of guarantee on roofing work performed by its members. The proposed judgment enjoins the defendant from fixing the terms or length of any guarantee, or any price, or any other term or condition of sale, in connection with the installation of roofs. It also requires the defendant to send letters to some 180 architects, general contractors and other interested parties informing them of the settlement of this action and the discontinuance of the association's guarantee program. Public comment is invited on or before March 7, 1977. Such comments and responses thereto will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and filed with the Court. Comments should be directed to Bernard Whermann, Chief, New York Office, Antitrust Division, Department of Justice, 26 Federal Plaza, New York, New York 10007.

Dated: January 6, 1977.

STIPULATION

Filed: January 6, 1977.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

It is stipulated by and between the undersigned parties, by their respective attorneys, that:

1. A Final Judgment in the form hereto attached may be filed and entered by the Court, upon the motion of any party or upon the Court's own motion, at any time after compliance with the requirements of the Antitrust Procedures and Penalties Act (15 U.S.C. 16), and without further notice to any party or other proceedings, provided that plaintiff has not withdrawn its consent, which it may do at any time before the entry of the proposed Final Judgment by serving notice thereof on defendant and by filing that notice with the Court.

2. In the event plaintiff withdraws its consent or if the proposed Final Judgment is not entered pursuant to this stipulation, this stipulation shall be of no effect whatever and the making of this stipulation shall be without prejudice to plaintiff and defendant in this and any other proceeding.

Dated: January 6, 1977.

For the Defendant: Latona, Worthington, Srebro & Nitterauer, Attorneys for Greater Buffalo Roofing and Sheet Metal Contractors' Association, Inc., by Salvatore M. Latona, Member of the Firm.

Filed: January 6, 1977.

FINAL JUDGMENT

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, WESTERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK.

Plaintiff, United States of America, having filed its Complaint herein on August 8, 1975; Defendant, Greater Buffalo Roofing and Sheet Metal Contractors' Association, Inc., having appeared and filed its Answer to the Complaint denying the material allegations thereof and raising certain affirmative defenses; and Plaintiff and Defendant, by their respective attorneys, having consented to the entry of this Final Judgment without trial or adjudication of any issue of fact or law herein and without this Final Judgment constituting any evidence or admission by either party with respect to any such issue;

Now, therefore, before the taking of any testimony and without trial or adjudication of any issue of fact or law herein and without this Final Judgment constituting any evidence or admission by either party with respect to any such issue and upon the consent of the parties, it is hereby Ordered, adjudged and decreed as follows:

I

This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action and of the parties hereto. The Complaint states claims upon which relief may be granted against the Defendant under Section 1 of the Act of Congress of July 2, 1890, as amended (15 U.S.C. 1), commonly known as the Sherman Act.

II

As used in this Final Judgment: (A) "Person" means any individual, individual proprietorship, partnership, firm, corporation or any other legal entity; and

(B) "Installation of roofs" means the construction of new and replacement roofs and the fabrication of sheet metal in conjunction with such construction, and includes such other related services as waterproofing, dampproofing, repairing of roofs, inspecting of roofs, and estimating the cost of repair or installation of roofs.

III

The provisions of this Final Judgment applicable to the Defendant shall also apply to its successors and assigns; to its directors, officers, agents, and employees; and to all persons, including members, in active concert or participation with any of them who receive actual notice of this Final Judgment by personal service or otherwise.

IV

The Defendant is enjoined and restrained from, unilaterally or in concert with any person: (A) Fixing, establishing, stabilizing or maintaining the terms or length of any guarantee, or any price, or any other term or condition of sale, in connection with the installation of roofs;

(B) Urging, recommending, or suggesting that any of its members or any other person adopt or adhere to the terms or length of any guarantee, or any price, in connection with the installation of roofs;

(C) Advertising, publishing or distributing information relating to the terms or length of any guarantee, or any price, in connection with the installation of roofs;

(D) Adopting, publishing, distributing or recommending any printed form of contract or guarantee containing provisions relating to the terms or length of any guarantee, or any price, for use in connection with the installation of roofs, provided, however, that neither Defendant nor any of its members shall be prohibited from recommending any bonds which are sold by national roofing manufacturers in conection with the installation of roofs purchased from them;

(E) Adopting, adhering to, maintaining, enforcing or claiming any rights under any bylaw, rule, regulation, plan or program which restricts or limits the right of any member to give or offer, in accordance with his own business judgment, any terms or length of guarantee, or any price, or any other term or condition of sale, in connection with the installation of roofs; and

(F) Taking any punitive action against any of its members for such member's failure or refusal to adhere to any agreements with any other member or other competitor concerning the terms or length of guarantee, the price, or any other term or condition of sale, in connection with the installation of roofs.

V

The Defendant is ordered and directed within ninety (90) days after the entry of this Final Judgment to eliminate from its charter, constitution and bylaws, code of ethics, rules and regulations, and other documents governing its operations, any provision which is contrary to or inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Final Judgment.

VI

The Defendant is ordered and directed to mail, within ninety (90) days after the date of entry of this Final Judgment, a letter in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A, addressed to each person who was notified of the adoption of Defendant's guarantee program in form letters mailed on or about September 1, 1970 and February 3, 1973.

VII

The Defendant is ordered and directed: (A) To mail, within ninety (90) days after the date of entry of this Final Judgment, a copy of this Final Judgment to each of its members and to each person who was a member at any time from January 1, 1970 to the date of entry of this Final Judgment; and

(B) To furnish a copy of this Final Judgment to each person who becomes a member of Defendant within five years after the date of the entry of this Final Judgment.

VIII

Within one hundred and twenty (120) days from the date of the entry of this Final Judgment, the Defendant is ordered and directed to file with the Clerk of this Court an affidavit setting forth the fact and manner of compliance with Sections V, VI and VII (A) of this Decree.

IX

For a period of ten (10) years from the date of entry of this Final Judgment the Defendant is ordered to file with the Plaintiff, on each anniversary date of such entry, a report setting forth the steps which it has taken during the prior year to advise the Defendant's directors, officers, agents, members, and employees of its and their obligations under this Final Judgment.

X

(A) For the purpose of determining or securing compliance with this Final Judgment, duly authorized representatives of the Department of Justice shall, upon written request of the Attorney General or the Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Antitrust Division, and on reasonable notice to the Defendant made to its principal office, be permitted, subject to any legally recognized privilege, and subject to the right of Defendant, if it so desires, to have counsel present:

1. Access during its office hours to all books, ledgers, accounts, correspondence, memoranda and other records and documents in the possession or under the control of the Defendant relating to any matters contained in this Final Judgment; and

2. Subject to the reasonable convenience of the Defendant, and without restraint or interference from it, to interview directors, officers, agents or employees of the Defendant, which persons if they wish may have counsel of their choosing present, relating to any matters contained in this Final Judgment.

(B) Upon such written request, the Defendant shall submit such reports in writing, under oath if so requested, to the Plaintiff, with respect to any of the matters contained in this Final Judgment as may from time to time be requested. No information obtained by the means provided in this Section X shall be divulged by any representative of the Department of Justice to any person, other than a duly authorized representative of the Executive Branch of Plaintiff, except in the course of legal proceedings to which the United States of America is a party or for the purpose of securing compliance with this Final Judgment or as otherwise required by law.

XI

Jurisdiction is retained by this Court for the purpose of enabling either of the parties to this Final Judgment to apply to this Court at any time for such further orders and directions as may be necessary or appropriate for the construction of any of the provisions hereof, for the enforcement of compliance therewith, and for the punishment of violations thereof.

XII

Entry of this Final Judgment is in the public interest.
Date:

United States District Judge.

EXHIBIT A

GREATER BUFFALO ROOFING AND SHEET METAL CONTRACTORS' ASSOCIATION, INC.

To: Architects, engineers, general contractors, commercial, industrial and institutional users.

Gentlemen:

On August 8, 1975, the Department of Justice filed a civil antitrust action under Section 7 of the Sherman Act, United States v. Greater Buffalo Roofing & Sheet Metal Contractors Association, Inc., alleging that the Association had entered into an agreement to eliminate competition in the offer of guarantees on roofing installations. Prior to the taking of any testimony and without admission by any party in respect to any issue, the Association consented to the entry of a Final Judgment terminating the lawsuit. The Court found that the settlement was in the public interest and entered a Final Judgment on _____ 1976. A copy of that Final Judgment is available for inspection at the offices of the Association.

In accordance with the provisions of the Final Judgment, we are informing all interested parties that any previous announcements made by the undersigned respecting the duration or terms of roofing and sheet metal guarantees are hereby rescinded. Each of our members may give or offer guarantees of whatever length of time or upon such terms as he may wish. He is free to charge, give or offer whatever prices and other terms and conditions of sale for his services he may wish, in accordance with his own business judgment and which may be acceptable to his customers.

(Names of members as of date of Final Judgment who are engaged in roofing installation.)

PROPOSED CONSENT DECREE: COMPETITIVE IMPACT STATEMENT

Filed: January 6, 1977.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, WESTERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK.

Pursuant to Section 2(b) of the Antitrust Procedures and Penalties Act (15 U.S.C. 16 (b)-(h)), the United States of America hereby files this Competitive Impact Statement relating to the proposed consent judgment submitted for entry in this civil antitrust proceeding.

NATURE AND PURPOSE OF THE ACTION

On August 8, 1975, the Department of Justice filed a civil antitrust action charging that the Greater Buffalo Roofing & Sheet Metal Contractors' Association, Inc. had combined and conspired to limit the length of guarantees on roofing work performed by members of the association. The suit, brought under Section 1 of the Sherman Act, charged that the association and its members had conspired to fix, stabilize and maintain guarantees on roofing installation at two years; to fix, stabilize and maintain guarantees on sheet metal fabrication in conjunction with roofing installation at one year and to refuse to grant guarantees on waterproofing and dampproofing. It was alleged that, as a result of the conspiracy, guarantees by members of the defendant on roofing installation and sheet metal fabrication had been fixed, stabilized, and maintained at artificial and noncompetitive levels, depriving customers of free and open competition.

The Court was requested to enjoin the defendant from continuing the alleged conspiracy and from entering into any other conspiracy to fix the terms, prices, or conditions of sale for the installation of roofs or for other services offered by its members.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PRACTICES GIVING RISE TO THE ALLEGED VIOLATION

The Greater Buffalo Roofing & Sheet Metal Contractors' Asociation, Inc. is a trade association of some 30 companies primarily engaged in roofing construction, both original installation and replacement, and sheet metal fabrication in connection therewith. Customers include private homeowners, commercial, industrial and institutional establishments, and government agencies located in Buffalo, New York and in adjacent counties of western New York State. Members of the association normally provide customers a guarantee on both labor and materials as part of the contract for roofing installation.

On April 13, 1970, the Association adopted a resolution stating that:

1. The maximum guarantee on roofing installations for both materials and workmanship would be limited to a period of two years from the date of the completed installation;

2. The maximum guarantee for sheet metal work done in conjunction with roofing would not exceed one year; and

3. No guarantee would be made on waterproofing and dampproofing.

In September 1970, the association sent a form letter to some 180 architects, general contractors, school districts and other interested parties informing them of the adoption of the resolution. A similar letter was sent to some 116 persons and companies in February 1973. The association also adopted, for use by its members, a printed form incorporating the terms of the resolution.

The association's guarantee program was still in effect at the time of the filing of this action.

EXPLANATION OF THE PROPOSED CONSENT JUDGMENT

The proposed consent judgment provides a combination of specific measures to dispel the anticompetitive effects alleged by the Complaint. Defendant is enjoined and restrained from fixing, establishing, stabilizing or maintaining the terms or length of any guarantee, or any price, or any other term or condition of sale, in connection with the installation of roofs. It is prohibited from advertising, publishing or distributing information relating to the terms or length of any guarantee, or any price, in connection with the installation of roofs. Defendant is also barred from adopting, publishing, distributing or recommending any printed form of contract or guarantee containing provisions relating to the terms or length of any guarantee, or any price, for use in connection with the installation of roofs. However, neither Defendant nor any of its members is barred from recommending any manufacturers' or related bonds which are sold by national roofing manufacturers in connection with the installation of roofs purchased from them.

The defendant is ordered to mail, within ninety (90) days after the entry of the proposed consent judgment, a letter (the form of which is attached to the judgment as Exhibit A) addressed to each recipient of the September 1970 and February 1973 form letters. The letter informs each recipient of the institution and settlement of this action and of the discontinuance of the association's guarantee program.

COMPETITIVE EFFECTS OF THE PROPOSED CONSENT JUDGMENT

It is anticipated that by eliminating the conspiracy which restrained competition respecting guarantees, the proposed consent judgment will have the effect of restoring such competition among members of the defendant.

ALTERNATIVE REMEDIES CONSIDERED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

The proposed consent judgment provides substantially all the relief prayed for in the complaint. No alternative to the judgment has been considered by the Department of Justice.

REMEDIES AVAILABLE TO POTENTIAL PRIVATE PLAINTIFFS

Any potential private plaintiffs who might have been damaged by the alleged violations will retain the same right to sue for monetary damages and any other legal and equitable remedies which they would have had, were the proposed consent judgment not entered. However, this judgment may not be used as prima facie evidence in private litigation pursuant to Section 5(a) of the Clayton Act as amended, (15 U.S.C. 16(a)).

PROCEDURES AVAILABLE FOR MODIFICATION OF THE PROPOSED CONSENT JUDGMENT

The proposed consent judgment is subject to a stipulation by and between the United States and the defendant, which provides that the United States may withdraw its consent to the proposed consent judgment until the Court has found that entry of the proposed judgment is in the public interest. By its terms, the proposed judgment provides for retention of jurisdiction of this action in order, among other things, to permit either of the parties to apply to the Court for such orders as may be necessary or appropriate for its modification.

As provided by the Antitrust Procedures and Penalties Act, any persons believing that the proposed judgment should be modified may, for a 60-day period, submit written comments to the United States Department of Justice, Antitrust Division, 26 Federal Plaza, New York, New York 10007, which will file with the Court and publish in the FEDERAL REGISTER such comments and its response to such comments. The Department of Justice will thereafter evaluate any and all such comments and determine whether there is any reason for withdrawal of its consent to the proposed judgment.

DETERMINATIVE DOCUMENTS

There are no materials or documents which the Department of Justice considered determinative in formulating this proposed consent judgment. Therefore, none are being filed with this Competition Impact Statement.

ABRAHAM ECKHAUS

Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 the Department of Labor herein presents the results of TA-W-1168: investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance as prescribed in section 222 of the Act.

The investigation was initiated on October 14, 1976 in response to a worker petition received on that date which was filed on behalf of former workers engaged in the production of men's tailored pants, a component of men's suits at Abraham Eckhaus, New York, New York.

The Notice of Investigation was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 5, 1976 (41 FR 48801). No public hearing was requested and none was held.

The information upon which the determination was made was obtained principally from officials of the New York Clothing Unemployment Fund Agency, the customers of Abraham Eckhaus, the U.S. Department of Commerce, the U.S. International Trade Commission, industry analysts, and Department files.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974 must be met:

(1) That a significant number or proportion of the workers in the workers' firm, or appropriate subdivision thereof, have become totally or partially separated, or are threatened to become totally or partially separated;

(2) That sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision have decreased absolutely;

(3) That articles like or directly competitive with those produced by the firm or subdivision are being imported in increased quantities, either actual or relative to domestic production; and

(4) That such increased imports have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the decrease in sales or production. The term "contributed importantly" means a cause which is important but not necessarily more important than any other cause.

The investigation has revealed that all four of the above criteria have been met.

SIGNIFICANT TOTAL OR PARTIAL SEPARATIONS

Average employment of production workers declined 11 percent in 1975 compared to 1974. All employees of Abraham Eckhaus were separated from employment on or before December 11, 1975.

SALES OR PRODUCTION, OR BOTH, HAVE DECREASED ABSOLUTELY

Sales and production ceased in December 1975 when the company went out of business. Sales fell 76 percent in 1974 compared to 1973 and increased 94 percent in 1975 compared to 1974. Sales declined 54 percent in 1975 compared to 1973.

Production decreased 85 percent in 1974 compared to 1973 and rose 150 percent in 1975 compared to 1974. Production fell 63 percent in 1975 compared to 1973.

INCREASED IMPORTS

Imports of men's and boys' tailored suits increased every year from 1971 through 1975, rose 27 percent in 1975 compared to 1974 and increased 7 percent in the first nine months of 1976 compared to the like period of 1975. The ratio of imports to domestic production increased from 12.3 percent in 1974 to 17.4 percent in 1975 and decreased from 19.9 percent in the first half of 1975 to 17.3 percent in the like period of 1976.

CONTRIBUTED IMPORTANTLY

The Department's investigation revealed that one customer accounting for approximately 75 percent of Abraham Eckhaus' sales in 1975, increased its purchases of imported men's suits approximately 100 percent in 1975 compared to 1974. The customer reduced its purchases from Abraham Eckhaus approximately 40 percent in 1975 compared to 1973.

The lower prices of imports influenced the customer to reduce all domestic purchases and substitute imported men's suits.

In terms of sales and production, 1974 was the worst in a series of bad years for Abraham Eckhaus. Although 1975 showed some recovery, it was not enough to offset the previous years of unusually low production and sales.

CONCLUSION

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports like or directly competitive with articles produced at Abraham Eckhaus, New York, New York contributed importantly to the total or partial separation of the workers of that plant. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers engaged in employment related to the production of men's tailored pants at Abraham Eckhaus, New York, New York who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after September 20, 1975 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 11th day of January 1977.

Director, Office of Management, Administration and Planning.

ARA SERVICES OF SOUTHERN WISCONSIN

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On December 30, 1976 the Department of Labor received a petition dated December 9, 1976, which was filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("The Act") on behalf of the workers and former workers of ARA Services of Southern Wisconsin, Kenosha, Wisconsin, a Division of ARA Food Services Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (TA-W-1,533). Accordingly, the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine wether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with the providing of vended food services by ARA Services of Southern Wisconsin or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments regarding the subject matter of this investigation to the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

The petition filed in this case is available for inspection at the Office of the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 30th day of December 1976.

AMERICAN VALVE MANUFACTURING CORP., COXSACKIE, N.Y.

Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 the Department of Labor herein presents the results of TA-W-1327: investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance as prescribed in Section 222 of the Act.

The investigation was initiated on November 30, 1976 in response to a worker petition received on November 30, 1976 which was filed by the United Steelworkers of America on behalf of workers producing steel, alloy, copper, and brass fittings, valves, couplings, flanges, etc. at the Coxsackie, New York plant of American Valve Manufacturing Corporation.

The notice of investigation was published in the Federal Register on December 14, 1976 (41 FR 54553). No public hearing was requested and none was held.

The information upon which the determination was made was obtained from the United Steelworkers of America and American Valve Manufacturing Corporation.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974 must be met:

(1) That a significant number or proportion of the workers in such workers' firm or an appropriate subdivision of the firm have become totally or partially separated;

(2) That sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision have decreased absolutely;

(3) That articles like or directly competitive with those produced by the firm or subdivision are being imported in increased quantities, either actual or relative to domestic production; and

(4) That such increased imports have contributed importantly to the separations or threat thereof; and to the decrease in sales or production.

The term "contributed importantly" means a cause which is important but not necessarily more important than any other cause.

Without regard to whether any other criteria have been met, criterion (1) has not been met.

The Coxsackie, New York plant of America Valve Manufacturing Corporation produced bronze and iron valves for industrial and residential uses.

Evidence developed in the Department's investigation reveals that no involuntary separations occurred from November 1, 1975, one year prior to the signature date of the petition, to the present.

CONCLUSION

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that employees at the Coxsackie, New York plant of American Valve Manufacturing Corporation have not become totally or partially separated as required in Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 10th day of January 1977.

Director, Office of Management, Administration and Planning.

BROWN SHOE CO.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On December 27, 1976 the Department of Labor received a petition dated December 1, 1976 which was filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") by the Boot and Shoe Workers Union on behalf of the workers and former workers of Union City, Tennessee plant of Brown Shoe Company, St. Louis, Missouri (TA-W-1,521). Accordingly, the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with children's and women's shoes produced by Brown Shoe Company or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments regarding the subject matter of this investigation to the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

CENTURY GLOVE INC.

Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 the Department of Labor herein presents the results of TA-W-1140: investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance as prescribed in Section 222 of the Act.

The investigation was initiated on October 5, 1976 in response to a worker petition received on October 5, 1976 which was filed by the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union on behalf of workers and former workers producing textile work gloves used for product protection at the Newark, New Jersey plant of Century Glove Incorporated, Newark, New Jersey.

No notice of investigation was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. No public hearing was requested and none was held.

The information upon which the determination was made was obtained principally from officials of the Century Glove Incorporated, its customers, the U.S. Department of Commerce, the U.S. International Trade Commission, industry analysts, and Department files.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974 must be met:

(1) That a significant number or proportion of the workers in such workers' firm, or an appropriate subdivision thereof, have become totally or partially separated, or are threatened to become totally or partially separated;

(2) that sales, production, or both, of the firm or subdivision have decreased absolutely;

(3) that articles like or directly competitive with those produced by the firm or subdivision are being imported in increased quantities, either actual or relative to domestic production; and

(4) that such increased imports have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the decrease in sales or production. The term "contributed importantly" means a cause which is important but not necessarily more important than any other cause.

The investigation revealed that although the third criterion has been met, the first, second and fourth criteria have not been met.

SIGNIFICANT TOTAL OR PARTIAL SEPARATIONS

In the first three quarters of 1976, employment at the Newark plant rose 13.2 percent compared to the same period in 1975. Employment in the fourth quarter of 1975 and in the first three quarters of 1976 was higher than in respective quarters of the previous year.

SALES OR PRODUCTION, OR BOTH, HAVE DECREASED ABSOLUTELY

Sales of textile work gloves produced at the Newark plant increased in value by 38.3 percent from the first three quarters of 1975 to the first three quarters of 1976. Plant production increased in volume by 30.1 percent from the first three quarters of 1975 to the first three quarters of 1976. Production levels in the fourth quarter of 1975 and in the first three quarters of 1976 were higher than in the respective quarters of the previous year.

INCREASED IMPORTS

Imports of textile and textile/leather work gloves and mittens increased from 599 thousand dozen pairs in 1971 to 2.6 million dozen pairs in 1974 and declined to 2.5 million dozen pairs in 1975. In the first half of 1976, 2.1 million dozen pairs of textile and textile/leather work gloves were imported compared to 1.2 million dozen pairs in the same period in 1975. The ratio of imports to domestic gloves production increased in each year from 1971 through 1975. The ratio of imports to domestic production increased from 8.4 percent in 1974 to 11.0 percent in 1975 and rose from 10.4 percent in the first half of 1975 to 15.4 percent in the first six months of 1976.

CONTRIBUTED IMPORTANTLY

The Department's investigation revealed that the textile work gloves produced by the Standard Glove Company are designed for product protection rather than for hand protection. Customers who bought textile work gloves from Newark plant did not buy imported textile work gloves that are used for product protection.

CONCLUSION

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports like or directly competitive with the textile work gloves produced at the Newark, New Jersey plant of Century Glove Incorporated did not contribute importantly to the total or partial separations of the workers at that plant.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 11th day of January 1977.

Director, Office of Management, Administration and Planning.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On December 27, 1976 the Department of Labor received a petition dated December 1, 1976 which was filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") on behalf of the workers and former workers of Tenco Division, Linden, New Jersey of Coca Cola Bottling Company, Atlanta, Ga. (TA–W–1,524). Accordingly, the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with instant, decafinated and freeze-dried coffee produced by Coca Cola Bottling Company or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

DAVAL MANUFACTURING CO.

Termination of Investigation

Pursuant to Section 221 of the Trade Act of 1974, an investigation was initiated on November 15, 1976 in response to a worker petition dated October 20, 1976, which was filed by the International Leather Goods, Plastics and Novelty Workers' Union on behalf of workers and former workers producing sporting goods at Daval Manufacturing Company, Kansas City, Missouri.

The Notice of Investigation was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 3, 1976 (41 FR 53087). No public hearing was requested and none was held.

During the course of the investigation, it was established that all employment at Daval Manufacturing Company was terminated in October 1974. Section 223 (b)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974 states that a certification under this section shall not apply to any worker whose last total or partial separation from the firm or appropriate subdivision of the firm occurred more than twelve months before the date of the filing under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

The date of the petition in this case is October 20, 1976 and, thus, workers terminated prior to October 20, 1975 are ineligible for program benefits under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 7th day of January 1977.

Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 the Department of Labor herein presents the results of TA-W-1334: investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance as prescribed in Section 222 of the Act.

The investigation was initiated on November 30, 1976 in response to a worker petition received on November 30, 1976 which was filed by the United Steelworkers of America on behalf of workers producing steel, alloy, copper, and brass fittings, valves, couplings, flanges, etc. at the Indianapolis, Indiana plant of ITT Corporation, Hoffman Specialty Division.

The notice of investigation was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 14, 1976 (41 FR 54559). No public hearing was requested and none was held.

The information upon which the determination was made was obtained principally from the United Steelworkers of America and ITT Corporation, Hoffman Specialty Division.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974 must be met:

(1) That a significant number or proportion of the workers in such workers' firm, or an appropriate subdivision of the firm have become totally or partially separated;

(2) That sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision have decreased absolutely;

(3) That articles like or directly competitive with those produced by the firm or subdivision are being imported in increased quantities, either actual or relative to domestic production; and

(4) That such increased imports have contributed importantly to the separations or threat thereof, and to the decrease in sales or production. The term "contributed importantly" means a cause which is important but not necessarily more important than any other cause.

Without regard to whether any other criteria have been met, criterion (1) has not been met.

The Indianapolis, Indiana plant of ITT Corporation, Hoffman Specialty Division produces steam valves and temperature regulators.

Evidence developed in the Department's investigation reveals that no involuntary separations occurred from November 1, 1975, one year prior to the signature date of the petition, to the present.

CONCLUSION

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that employees at the Indianapolis, Indiana plant of ITT Corporation, Hoffman Specialty Division have not become totally or partially separated as required in Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 10th day of January 1977.

Director, Office of Management Administration and Planning.

JACK SEBASTIAN SHOE, INC.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On January 4, 1977 the Department of Labor received a petition dated December 14, 1976 which was filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") by the Boot and Shoe Workers Union on behalf of the workers and former workers of Jack Sebastian Shoe, Inc., Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania (TA-W-1543). Accordingly, the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with women's casual shoes produced by Jack Sebastian Shoe, Incorporated or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments regarding the subject matter of this investigation to the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

The petition filed in this case is available for inspection at the Office of the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20210.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 4th day of January 1977.

MY OWN BLOUSE, INC.

Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974, the Department of Labor herein presents the results of TA-W-1186: investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance as prescribed in Section 222 of the Act.

The investigation was initiated on October 19, 1976 in response to a worker petition received on October 19, 1976 which was filed by the International Ladies' Garment Workers on behalf of workers and former workers producing ladies' blouses at the Philadelphia, Pennsylania plant of My Own Blouse, Inc.

The Notice of Investigaton was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 48815) on November 5, 1976. No public hearing was requested and none was held.

The information upon which the determination was made was obtained from officials of My Own Blouse, Inc., the international Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, and the Pennsylvania State Employment Security Office.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974 must be met:

(1) That a significant number or proportion of the workers in such workers' firm or an appropriate subdivision of the firm have become totally or partially separated, or are threatened to become totally or partially separated,

(2) That sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision have decreased absolutely, and

(3) That articles like or directly competitive with those produced by the firm or subdivision are being imported in increased quantities, either actual or relative to domestic production; and

(4) That such increased imports have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the decrease in sales or production. The term "contributed importantly" means a cause which is important but not necessarily more important than any other cause.

Without regrad to whether any of the third criterion has been met, criteria (1), (2) and (4) have not been met.

My Own Blouse, Inc. is a one plant facility in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. All workers at the plant are engaged in employment related to the production of ladies' blouses.

SIGNIFICANT TOTAL OR PARTIAL SEPARATIONS

During the course of the investigation it was determined that there have been no involuntary total or partial separations at the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania plant of My Own Blouse, Inc., since October 1, 1975.

SALES OR PRODUCTION, OR BOTH, HAVE DECREASED ABSOLUTELY

Sales and production, in quantity, increased 11.3 percent in 1975 compared to 1974 and increased 13.4 percent in the first seven months of 1976 compared to the first seven months of 1975.

CONTRIBUTED IMPORTANTLY

The subject firm's only customer increased its purchases of ladies' blouses in 1976 compared to 1975 and in the fourth quarter of 1975 compared to the same period in 1974.

CONCLUSION

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that a significant number of employees have not become partially or totally separated from the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania plant of My Own Blouse, Inc. as required in Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 11th day of January 1977.

Director, Office of Management, Administration and Planning.

NATIONAL STEEL CORP.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On December 15, 1976 the Department of Labor received a petition dated November 15, 1976 which was filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") by the United Steelworkers of America on behalf of the workers and former workers of Granite City Steel Div., Granite City, Illinois of National Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (TA-W-1,502). Accordingly, the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with flat rolled & corrugated sheet carbon, alloy and galvanized produced by National Steel Corporation or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments regarding the subject matter of this investigation to the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

The petition filed in this case is available for inspection at the Office of the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210.

NU-CAR CARRIERS, INC. AND CENTRAL JERSEY REPAIR

Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 the Department of Labor herein presents the results of TA-W-1295 and 1296: Investigations regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance as prescribed in Section 222 of the Act.

The investigations were initiated on November 22, 1976 in response to worker petitions received on that date which were filed by the Teamsters Union on behalf of workers and former workers providing transportation services at Nu-Car Carriers, Incorporated (TA-W-1295) and Central Jersey Repair (TA-W-1296), Edison, New Jersey.

The notices of investigation were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 3, 1976 (41 FR 53094, 53085). No public hearing was requested and none was held.

The information upon which the determination was made was obtained principally from officials of Nu-Car Carriers and Department files.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974 must be met:

(1) That a significant number or proportion of the workers in the workers' firm, or an appropriate subdivision thereof, have become totally or partially separated, or are threatened to become totally or partially separated:

(2) That sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision have decreased absolutely;

(3) That articles like or directly competitive with those produced by the firm or subdivision are being imported in increased quantities, either actual or relative to domestic production; and

(4) That such increased imports have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof and to the decrease in sales and production. The term "contributed importantly" means a cause which is important but not necessarily more important than any other cause.

If any one of the above criteria is not satisfied, a negative determination must be made.

Neither Nu-Car Carriers nor Central Jersey Repair produce an article within the meaning of Section 222(3) of the Act and this Department has already determined that the performance of services is not covered by the adjustment assistance program. See Notice of Determination in Pan American World Airways, Incorporated (TA-W-53, 40 FR 54639). The only question presented in this case is whether Ford Motor Company, i.e., a firm which produces an article, namely automobiles, and for whom the service is provided, can be considered the "workers' firm". The Department has also previously determined that an independent firm for which such services are provided cannot be considered the "workers' firm". See Notice of Determination in Nu-Car Driveaway, Inc. (TA-W-393, 41 FR 12749).

Nu-Car Carriers, Incorporated is a transport business licensed and regulated by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Central Jersey Repair is a subdivision of Nu-Car Carriers which provided mechanical maintenance services to Nu-Car at its Edison, New Jersey facility.

Neither Ford Motor Company, on one hand, nor Nu-Car Carriers, on the other, is financially or otherwise involved in the business of the other. Nu-Car Carriers owns the facilities necessary to the operation of its business and owns its trucks and equipment. Central Jersey Repair has no association with the Ford Motor Company assembly plant.

The workers upon whose behalf these petitions were filed were hired and are paid by either Nu-Car Carriers or Central Jersey Repair. They are supervised by and subject to the control of Nu-Car Carriers or Central Jersey Repair personnel only. All employment benefits which they enjoy are provided and maintained by Nu-Car Carriers or Central Jersey Repair.

CONCLUSION

After careful review of the issues and facts involved, I have determined that services of the kind provided by Nu-Car Carriers, Incorporated and Central Jersey Repair, Edison, New Jersey, are not "articles" within the meaning of Section 222(3) of the Trade Act of 1974, and that the Ford Motor Company cannot be considered the "workers' firm". The petitions for trade adjustment assistance are therefore denied.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 11th day of January 1977.

Director, Office of Management, Administration and Planning.

OHIO FERRO ALLOYS CORP.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On December 28, 1976 the Department of Labor received a petition dated December 6, 1976 which was filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") by the United Steelworkers of America on behalf of the workers and former workers of Brilliant, Ohio plant of Ohio Ferro Alloys Corporation, Canton, Ohio (TA-W-1,525). Accordingly, the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with ferro silicon produced by Ohio Ferro Alloys Corporation or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments regarding the subject matter of this investigation to the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

The petition filed in this case is available for inspection at the Office of the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210.

PERRY MANUFACTURING CO.

Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 the Department of Labor herein presents the results of TA-W-1223: investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance as prescribed in Section 222 of the Act.

The investigation was initiated on November 3, 1976 in response to a worker petition received on November 3, 1976 which was filed by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union on behalf of workers and former workers producing ladies' car coats and rain coats at the Perry Manufacturing Corporation, Perryopolis, Pennsylvania.

The Notice of Investigation was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 19, 1976 (41 FR 51144). No public hearing was requested and none was held.

The information upon which the determination was made was obtained principally from officials of Perry Manufacturing Corporation, its customers, the U.S. Department of Commerce, the U.S. International Trade Commission, industry analysts and Department files.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974 must be met:

(1) That a significant number or proportion of the workers in the workers' firm, or an appropriate subdivision thereof, have become totally or partially separated, or are threatened to become totally or partially separated;

(2) That sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision have decreased absolutely;

(3) That articles like or directly competitive with those produced by the firm or subdivision are being imported in increased quantities, either actual or relative to domestic production; and

(4) That such increased imports have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the decrease in sales or production. The term "contributed importantly" means a cause which is important but not necessarily more important than any other cause.

SIGNIFICANT TOTAL OR PARTIAL SEPARATIONS

The average number of production workers employed at Perry Manufacturing declined 4.2 percent from 1974 to 1975 but increased 48.1 percent in the last quarter of 1975 compared to the last quarter in 1974. Average employment of production workers increased 19.1 percent in the first ten months of 1976 compared to the like period in 1975 and then declined 22.2 percent in November 1976 compared to November 1975.

SALES OR PRODUCTION, OR BOTH, HAVE DECREASED

Production at Perry Manufactuirng declined 15.0 percent in quantity from 1974 to 1975 but increased 43.6 percent in the last quarter of 1975 compared to the last quarter in 1974. Production increased 3.7 percent in the first ten months of 1976 compared to the like period in 1975 and then fell 60.0 percent in November 1976 compared to November 1975. All production ceased in November 1976 when the plant was shut down for an indefinite period due to lack of orders.

INCREASED IMPORTS

U.S. Imports of women's, misses' and children's coats and jackets increased from 1971 to 1973, declined from 1973 to 1974, and increased again from 1974 to 1975. The ratios of imports to productions and imports to consumption decreased from 1971 to 1974 and then increased from 1974 to 1975. Imports increased 51.5 percent in quantity in the first nine months of 1976 compared to the like period in 1975.

U.S. imports of women's, misses' and children's raincoats increased both absolutely and relative to domestic production and consumption from 1971 to 1972, declined from 1972 to 1974 and rose again from 1974 to 1975. Imports increased 28.2 percent in quantity in the first nine months of 1976 compared to the like period in 1975.

CONTRIBUTED IMPORTANTLY

Perry Manufacturing, an independent contractor, ceased production in November 1976 for an indefinite period due to lack of orders. One of the firm's two customers, which accounted for about 50 percent of sales, ceased all purchases from Perry and switched primarily to overseas contractors which could produce women's coats at a significantly lower cost than Perry.

CONCLUSION

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports like or directly competitive with women's coats and rain coats produced at Perry Manufacturing Corporation, Perryopolis, Pennsylvania, contributed importantly to the total or partial separation of the workers of such firm.

In accordance with the provisions of the Trade Act of 1974, I make the following certification:

"All workers of Perry Manufacturing Corporation, Perryopolis, Pennsylvania, who became or will become totally or partially separated from employment on or after October 25, 1976, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974."

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 6th day of January 1977.

Director, Office of Management, Administration and Planning.

PRESTIGE SHOE CO.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On January 4, 1977 the Department of Labor received a petition dated December 14, 1976 which was filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") by the Boot and Shoe Workers Union on behalf of the workers and former workers of Prestige Shoe Company, Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, a Division of Frier Industries, Carlstadt, New Jersey (TA-W-1,542). Accordingly, the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with women's casual shoes produced by Prestige Shoe Company or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partical separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

Termination of Investigation

Pursuant to Section 221 of the Trade Act of 1974, an investigation was initiated on December 1, 1976 in response to a worker petition received on that date which was filed by the United Steelworkers of America on behalf of former workers distributing iron pipe fittings at the Vernon, California warehouse of U-Brand.

Notice of the investigation was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 21, 1976 (41 FR 55609). No public hearing was requested and none was held.

During the course of the investigation, it was established that all workers of U-Brand's Ashland, Ohio plant (Machine Division) and Shelby, Ohio warehouse were previously certified eligible to apply for adjustment assistance on October 18, 1976 (See TA-W-918).

It was the intent of the existing certification to cover all employees of U-Brand engaged in employment related to the production of iron pipe fittings. The employees at the Vernon, California warehouse perform the same distribution functions for iron pipe fittings as employees in the Shelby, Ohio warehouse and are covered by the existing certification. The current investigation has therefore been terminated.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On December 28, 1976 the Department of Labor received a petition dated December 1, 1976 which was filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") on behalf of the workers and former workers of Wellington Leather, Inc., Peabody, Mass., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sirois Leather, Inc., Peabody, Mass. (TA-W-1,527). Accordingly, the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with leather outer garments produced by Wellington Leather, Incorporated or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments regarding the subject matter of this investigation to the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

The petition filed in this case is available for inspection at the Office of the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 28th day of December 1976.

MARVIN M. FOOKS,
Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On December 30, 1976 the Department of Labor received a petition dated December 1, 1976 which was filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") by the United Steelworkers of America on behalf of the workers and former workers of Winchester, Tennessee plant of Wilton Corporation, Des Plaines, Illinois (TA-W-1,536). Accordingly, the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with consumer and workbench vises produced by Wilton Corporation or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments regarding the subject matter of this investigation to the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than January 28, 1977.

The petition filed in this case is available for inspection at the Office of the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 30th day of December 1976.

NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR MINORITY PROGRAMS IN SCIENCE EDUCATION

Establishment

Pursuant to the Federal Advisory Committee Act (Pub. L. 92-463), it is hereby determined that the establishment of the Advisory Committee for Minority Programs in Science Education is necessary, appropriate, and in the public interest in connection with the performance of the duties imposed upon the Director, National Science Foundation (NSF) by the National Science Foundation Act of 1950, as amended, and other applicable law. This determination follows consultation with the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), pursuant to section 9(a)(2) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act and OMB Circular No. A-63, Revised.

1. Name of Group: Advisory Committee for Minority Programs in Science Education.

2. Purpose: Section 7 of the Joint Explanatory Statement of the Committee of Conference of the House and Senate on H.R. 12566 strongly urges the appointment of an advisory committee, including minority scientists, to participate in the evaluation and assessment of activities related to the Minority Centers for Graduate Education Program. The Committee will also provide advice on other Foundation programs specifically designed to promote increased participation by disadvantaged ethnic minorities in science and engineering careers.

3. Effective Date of Establishment and Duration: The establishment of the Advisory Committee for Minority Programs in Science Education is effective upon filing the charter with the Director, NSF, and with the standing committees of Congress having legislative jurisdiction of the National Science Foundation. The Advisory Committee for Minority Programs in Science Education will continue for two years from the effective date.

4. Membership: Membership of the Advisory Committee for Minority Programs in Science Education will consist of 12 members, not less than 7 of whom are representative of minority scientists, institutions with substantial minority enrollment and groups which serve important functions within the minority community. Not less than 3 of the 12 members are to be nonscientists. There will be no discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion or sex in the appointment of committee members.

5. Advisory Group Operation: The Advisory Committee for Minority Programs in Science Education will operate in accordance with provisions of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (Pub. L. 92-463), Foundation policy and procedures, OMB Circular No. A-63, Revised, and other directives and instructions in implementation of the Act.

RICHARD C. ATKINSON,
Acting Director.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-13152; File Nos. SR-MCC-76-4 and SR-MSTC-76-13]

MIDWEST CLEARING CORP. AND MIDWEST SECURITIES TRUST CO.

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Proposed Rule Changes

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1), as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29, 16 (June 4, 1975), notice is hereby given that on December 22, 1976, the above-mentioned self-regulatory organizations filed with the Securities Exchange Commission proposed rule changes as follows:

STATEMENT OF THE TERMS OF SUBSTANCE OF THE PROPOSED RULE CHANGES

The Institutional Pledge Account, a central depository service for book entry pledge of securities underlying option writing programs, allows Institutional Participants to pledge deposited securities to the benefit of Options Clearing Corporation (OCC) to collateralize short option positions.

Previously, Institutional Participants wishing to collateralize a short position usually issued an Escrow Receipt which was delivered to the OCC member in lieu of the securities and satisfied the collateral requirements of both the broker/dealer and OCC. An Escrow Receipt, however, may only be issued by a bank with a minimum of $20 million in stockholders' equity and an institution may only issue escrow receipts for securities having a market value not exceeding 10% of the bank's stockholders' equity. In addition, Escrow Receipts necessitate extensive bookkeeping and create timing and coordination difficulties.

Through the Institutional Pledge Account, the Institutional Participant submits a Pledge of Collateral Form which initiates a book entry movement of the security position from the Depository Free Positon of the Institution's Regular Account to the Depository Free Positon of the Institution's Pledge Account. The book entry movement can be processed either versus free or "for payment". If "for payment" a cash adjustment is made within the system debiting the OCC member's (broker's) account and crediting the Institution's Pledge Account with the corresponding net premium monies. Release of Collateral, either upon expiration, closing purchase transaction, or assignment of the option, is also within the system after approval by OCC and the OCC member. If the transaction is "for payment", net exercise value funds move from the OCC member to the Institution's Pledge Account.

SCHEDULE OF CHARGES
MIDWEST INSTITUTIONAL PLEDGE ACCOUNTS

Account charges

Pledge Account—symbol maintenance fee (in addition to monthly charges for regular MSTC/MCC Account): $50 per month.

Activity charges

(a) Pledge of Collateral movement from participant's regular account to participant's pledge account: $.65 per position to both accounts.

Premium monies credited to participant's pledge account from OCC member's account: No charge.

(b) Release of Collateral movement from participant's pledge account to participant's regular account (expiration) or from participant's pledge account to OCC member's account (assignment) or from participant's pledge account to participant's regular account (closing purchase transaction): $.65 per position to both accounts.

Exercise monies (assignment) credited to participant's pledge account and debited from OCC member's account: No charge.

Premium monies (closing purchase transaction) credited to OCC member's account and debited from participant's pledge account: No charge.

Safekeeping charges

The new Pledge account will establish positions separate from the regular MSTC/MCC Account.

Safekeeping (maximum charge $3,000/month: $.45/position/month; $.015/1,000 shares month.

Dividend credit: $.25 per position credited.

STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE

The basis and purpose of the foregoing proposed rule changes is as follows:

The purpose of the proposed rule changes is to establish an Institutional Pledge Account, a central depository service for book entry pledge of securities underlying option writing programs, which allows institutional participants to pledge deposited securities to the benefit of Options Clearing Corporation (OCC) to collateralize short option positions. The proposed rules also provide for attendant fees.

The proposed rule changes remove impediments to the prefection of a national market system by allowing such institutional participation, and represent an equitable allocation of reasonable fees among participants.

Comments have not been received.

The Midwest Clearing Corporation and the Midwest Securities Trust Company believe that no burden has been placed on competition. On or before February 22, 1977, or within such longer period (i) as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the above-mentioned self-regulatory organizations consents, the Commission will:

(A) By order approve such proposed rule changes, or

(B) Institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule changes should be disapproved.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views and arguments concerning the foregoing rule changes. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file 6 copies thereof with the Secretary of the Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. Copies of the filings with respect to the foregoing and of all written submissions will be available for inspection and copying in the Public Reference Room, 1100 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. Copies of such filings will also be available for inspection and copying at the principal offices of the above-mentioned self-regulatory organizations. All submissions should refer to the file numbers referenced in the caption above and should be submitted on or before February 8, 1977.

MIDWEST SECURITIES TRUST CO.

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Proposed Rule Change

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1), as amended by Pub. L. No. 94-29, 16 (June 4, 1975), notice is hereby given that on December 20, 1976, the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization filed with the Securities and Exchange Commisison a proposed rule change as follows:

Brackets indicate deletions and italics indicate new material

STATEMENT OF THE TERMS OF SUBSTANCE OF THE PROPOSED RULE CHANGE, RULE 3, SECTION 6, MIDWEST SECURITIES TRUST COMPANY

PLEDGEE POSITION REPORT

Sec. 6 [Each business day] There shall be made available to each Pledgee Participant a Pledgee Position Report as frequently as the Corporation from time to time may determine for each pledgee account of such Participant, showing, among other things, in respect of each security credited to such account:

(1) The quantity of such security credited to such account as the close of business on the business day preceding the date of the report.

(2) The identity of the Participant or Participants credited with corresponding pledged positions.

STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE

The basis and purpose of the foregoing proposed rule change is as follows:

The purpose of the proposed rule change is to allow the Midwest Securities Trust Company the discretion to determine how often Pledge Position Reports are generated, while requiring that such reports reflect the account as of the close of business preceding the date of the report. Such discretion is required to provide flexibility based on activity, so that an unnecessary and costly amount of reports are not generated.

The proposed rule change promotes the prompt and accurate settlement of securities transactions as a result of eliminating unnecessary generation of reports and unnecessary and time-consuming review by participants.

Comments have neither been solicited nor received.

The Midwest Securities Trust Company believes that no burden has been placed on competition.

On or before February 22, 1977, or within such longer period (i) as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the above-mentioned self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

(A) By order approve such proposed rule change, or

(B) Institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views and arguments concerning the foregoing. Persons desiring to make written submissions should file 6 copies thereof with the Secretary of the Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. [(SR-1) (SR-NASD-75-8)]

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SECURITIES DEALERS, INC.

Order Approving Proposed Rule Change Relating to Reporting of Transactions in Eligible Securities and Certain Anti-Manipulative Rules

The National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. (the "NASD"), 1735 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006, submitted on March 21, 1975, proposed Article XVIII of the By-Laws of the NASD, and Schedule G thereunder (the "NASD Rule Changes"), governing: (i) The reporting of transactions in eligible securities in the consolidated transaction reporting system (the "consolidated system") contemplated by Rule 17a-15 under the Secuirties Exchange Act of 1934, as amended by the Securities Acts Amendments of 1975 (the "Act"); (ii) charges to cover the costs of compliance with such reporting requirements; and (iii) anti-manipulative rules relating to over-the-counter trading in such securities.

The provisions of Schedule G were amended by the NASD and refiled with the Commission on June 4, 1975. The NASD Rule Changes were deemed by the Commission to have been filed under new section 19(b) of the Act. In view of the need to implement the NASD Rule Changes immediately to permit the scheduled commencement of the consolidated system on June 16, 1975, the Commission ordered the NASD Rule Changes into effect summarily pursuant to section 19(b)(3)(B) of the Act on June 11, 1975. Notice of that action was provided by Securities Exchange Act Release No. 11461 (June 11, 1975), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 18, 1975 (40 FR 25730). That release also solicited public comment on the NASD Rule Changes.[1]

On December 15, 1975, the NASD submitted, pursuant to Rule 19b-4 under the Act, a proposed modification to the NASD Rule Changes to provide that principal transactions effected by NASD members be reported in the consolidated system at the price recorded on the trade ticket without taking into account any commission, commission equivalent, or differential imposed in connection with the transaction. The proposed modification would eliminate the present disparity between the reporting of principal transactions effected by NASD members and the reporting of identical transactions effected by exchange members.[2] Notice of the proposed modification was provided in Securities Exchange Act Release No. 11951 (December 24, 1975) published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 5, 1976 (41 FR 836).

With respect to Article XVIII of the NASD By-Laws and Sections 1, 2 and 3 of Schedule G thereunder, which provide for reporting procedures for transactions in eligible securities effected by NASD members and establish certain anti-manipulative rules relating to over-the-counter trading in such securities, the Commission finds that the proposed additions, as proposed to be modified on December 15, 1975, are consistent with the requirements of the Act, and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to national securities associations, and in particular the requirements of section 15A of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder.[3]

[1] The deadline for submission of written comments pursuant to Securities Exchange Act Release No. 11461 (June 30, 1975) was extended until July 18, 1975, in Securities Exchange Act Release No. 11508 (June 30, 1975). See also Securities Exchange Act Release Nos. 11646 (July 23, 1975), 11653 (September 15, 1975), 11816 (November 10, 1975), and 11951 (December 24, 1975).

[2] Under the NASD Rule Changes as originally filed and ordered effective summarily, principal transactions effected by NASD members were required to be reported in the consolidated system inclusive of any commission, commission equivalent, or differential charge (i.e., after addition or subtraction of such charges). Principal transactions effected by exchange members, on the other hand, are reported in the consolidated system exclusive of such charges.

[3] With respect to section 4 of Schedule G, which establishes the fees and charges applicable to those members required to report their transactions in eligible securities to the NASD, the Commission has determined to take no formal action at this time. On May 6, 1976, the Commission received the consent of the NASD to a further extension of the time within which the Commission is required to act on section 4 of Schedule G, to July 14, 1976. The Commission acknowledges the consent of the NASD to extension of the deadline until July 14, 1976. In so doing, the Commission notes that it understands that the reason the NASD has consented to this further extension is in order to permit an opportunity for internal resolution of certain issues relating to the proposed fees contained in Section 4 of Schedules G. Although the Commission finds that the NASD reporting rules, as modified on December 15, 1975, are consistent with the requirements of the Act, the Commission intends to continue studying questions related to the reporting of transactions in eligible securities, particularly the method of reporting principal transactions confirmed by a dealer plus or minus a commission, commission equivalent or differential.

It is therefore ordered, Pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the proposed additions to the NASD Rules contained in Article XVIII of the NASD By-Laws and Sections 1, 2 and 3 of Schedule G thereunder, as modified on December 15, 1975, be, and hereby are, approved.

By the Commission.

GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS,
Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

[Treasury Department Order No. 246]

INSPECTOR GENERAL FOR INTERNATIONAL FINANCE, ET AL.

Authority Delegation Implementing of Executive Order 11905

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Secretary of the Treasury, including the authority vested in me by Reorganization Plan No. 26 of 1950 and pursuant to Executive Order 1195, it is ordered as follows:

1. The Inspector General for International Finance (hereinafter the Inspector General) shall assume for the Treasury Department the duties and responsibilities established under Executive Order 11905 (hereinafter Executive Order) for Inspectors General within the Intelligence Community.

2. The General Counsel shall assume for the Treasury Department the duties and responsibilities established under the Executive Order for General Counsels within the Intelligence Community.

3. The Inspector General shall inform in writing all employees in the Office of the Assistant Secretary for International Affairs (OASIA) and in the Office for National Security (ONS) of the restrictions on intelligence activities contained in Section 5 of the Executive Order and obtain a written acknowledgment from each such employee that he has read the materials provided by the Inspector General. Heads of inspection services of Treasury Department Bureaus shall provide a copy of Section 5 of the Executive Order to each employee within their bureau.

4. Treasury Department employees shall report in confidence to the Inspector General, the General Counsel, or the head of the inspection service of their bureau any matters which they feel raise questions of propriety or legality under the Executive Order.

5. The Inspector General shall review at appropriate intervals intelligence activities of OASIA and ONS to determine whether any such activities raise questions of propriety under the Executive Order. Any questions arising from this review as to the legality of such activities shall be referred by the Inspector General to the General Counsel. In connection with the activities of the OASIA representatives stationed overseas, the Inspector General shall seek to make appropriate arrangements with the State Department to provide for adequate inspection while avoiding duplication of inspection activities by the State and Treasury Departments.

6. The inspection service within a bureau shall review at appropriate intervals the activities of the bureau in its relations with U.S. foreign intelligence agencies to determine whether such activities raise questions of legality or propriety. Any questions of legality or propriety arising from this review shall be referred to the General Counsel. The procedures established by Treasury Department Order No. 24, which provides for coordination and review of support arrangements between the Treasury Department and U.S. foreign intelligence agencies, shall remain in full force and effect.

7. Treasury Department employees shall cooperate with the Inspector General, the General Counsel, and the inspection service within their bureau and shall make available all necessary data to allow those officials to perform their duties and responsibilities under this Order.

Dated: January 10, 1977.

Office of the Secretary

TREASURY NOTES OF JANUARY 31, 1979

Series L-1979

[Public Debt Series, No. 1-77]

JANUARY 13, 1977.

1. INVITATION FOR TENDERS

1.1. The Secretary of the Treasury, pursuant to the authority of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, invites tenders for $2,500,000,000, or thereabouts, of securities of the United States, designated Treasury Notes of January 31, 1979, Series L-1979 (CUSIP No. 912827 GJ 5). The securities will be sold at auction with bidding on the basis of yield. Payment will be required at the price equivalent of the bid yield of each accepted tender. The interest rate on the securities and the price equivalent of each accepted bid will be determined as set forth below. Additional amounts of these securities may be issued to Federal Reserve Banks as agents of foreign and international monetary authorities.

2. DESCRIPTION OF SECURITIES

2.1. The securities will be dated February 3, 1977, and will bear interest from that date, payable on a semiannual basis on July 31, 1977, and each 6 months thereafter on January 31 and July 31 until the principal amount becomes payable. They will mature January 31, 1979, and will not be subject to call for redemption prior to maturity.

2.2. The income derived from the securities is subject to all taxes imposed under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The securities are subject to estate, inheritance, gift or other excise taxes, whether Federal or State, but are exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed on the principal or interest thereof by any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority.

2.3. The securities will be acceptable to secure deposits of public moneys. They will not be acceptable in payment of taxes.

2.4. Bearer securities with interest coupons attached, and securities registered as to principal and interest, will be issued in denominations of $5,000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Book-entry securities will be available to eligible bidders in multiples of those amounts. Interchanges of securities of different denominations and of coupon, registered and book-entry securities, and the transfer of registered securities will be permitted.

2.5. The securities will be subject to the general regulations of the Department of the Treasury governing United States securities, now or hereafter prescribed.

3. SALE PROCEDURES

3.1. Tenders will be received at Federal Reserve Banks and Branches and at the Bureau of the Public Debt, Washington, D.C. 20226, up to 1:30 p.m., Eastern Standard time, Wednesday, January 19, 1977. Noncompetitive tenders, as defined below, will be considered timely if postmarked no later than Tuesday, January 18, 1977.

3.2. Each tender must state the face amount of securities bid for, which must be $5,000 or a multiple thereof. Competitive tenders must show the yield desired, expressed in terms of an annual yield with two decimals, e.g., 7.11%. Common fractions may not be used. Noncompetitive tenders must show the term "noncompetitive" on the tender form in lieu of a specified yield. No bidder may submit more than one noncompetitive tender, and the amount may not exceed $1,000,000.

3.3. Commercial banks, which for this purpose are defined as banks accepting demand deposits, and primary dealers, which for this purpose are defined as dealers who make primary markets in Government securities and report daily to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York their positions with respect to Government securities and borrowings thereon, may submit tenders for account of customers, provided the names of the customers and the amount for each customer are furnished. Others will not be permitted to submit tenders except for their own account.

3.4. Tenders will be received without deposit for their own account from commercial banks and other banking institutions; primary dealers, as defined above; Federally-insured savings and loan associations; States and political subdivisions or instrumentalities thereof; public pension and retirement and other public funds; international organizations in which the United States holds membership, foreign central banks and foreign states; Federal Reserve Banks; and Government accounts. Tenders from others must be accompanied by a deposit of 5% of the face amount of securities applied for (in the form of cash, maturing Treasury securities or readily collectible checks), or by a guarantee of such deposit by a commercial bank or a primary dealer.

3.5. Immediatly after the closing hour, tenders will be opened, following which public announcement will be made of the amount and yield range of accepted bids. Subject to the reservations expressed in Section 4, noncompetitive tenders will be accepted in full at the average price (in three decimals) of accepted competitive tenders, and competitive tenders with the lowest yields will be accepted to the extent required to attain the amount offered. Tenders at the highest accepted yield will be prorated if necessary. After the determination is made as to which tenders are accepted, a coupon rate will be determined at a ⅛ of one percent increment that translates into an average accepted price close to 100.000 and a lowest accepted price above the original issue discount limit of 99.750. That rate of interest will be paid on all of the securities. Based on such interest rate, the price on each competitive tender allotted will be determined and each successful competitive bidder will be required to pay the price equivalent to the yield bid. Price calculations will be carried to three decimal places on the basis of price per hundred, e.g., 99.923, and the determinations of the Secretary of the Treasury shall be final. If the amount of noncompetitive tenders received would absorb all or most of the offering, competitive tenders will be accepted in an amount sufficient to provide a fair determination of yield. Tenders received from Government accounts and Federal Reserve Banks will be accepted at the average price of accepted competitive tenders.

3.6. Those submitting competitive tenders will be advised of the acceptance or rejection thereof. Those submitting noncompetitive tenders will not be notified except when the tender is not accepted in full or when the price is over par.

4. RESERVATIONS

4.1. The Secretary of the Treasury expressly reserves the right to accept or reject any or all tenders in whole or in part, to allot more or less than the amount of securities specified in Section 1, and to make different percentage allotments to various classes of applicants when he deems it to be in the public interest, and the Secretary's action in any such respect shall be final.

5. PAYMENT AND DELIVERY

5.1. Settlement for securities allotted hereunder must be made or completed on or before Thursday, February 3, 1977, at the Federal Reserve Bank or Branch, or the Bureau of the Public Debt, Wherever the tender was submitted. Payment must be in cash; in other funds immediately available to the Treasury; in Treasury bills, notes or bonds (with all coupons detached) maturing on or before the settlement date but which are not overdue as defined in the general regulations governing United States securities; or by check drawn to the order of the institution to which the tender was submitted, which must be received at such institution no later than:

(a) Monday, January 31, 1977, if the check is drawn on a bank in the Federal Reserve District of the institution to which the check is submitted (the Fifth Federal Reserve District in case of the Bureau of the Public Debt), or

(b) Friday, January 28, 1977, if the check is drawn on a bank in another Federal Reserve District. Checks received after the dates set forth in the preceding sentence will not be accepted unless they are payable at the applicable Federal Reserve Bank. Payment will not be deemed to have been completed where registered securities are requested if the appropriate identifying number as required on tax returns and other documents submitted to the Internal Revenue Service (an individual's social security number or an employer identification number) is not furnished. When payment is made in securities, a cash adjustment will be made to or required of the bidder for any difference between the face amount of securities presented and the amount payable on the securities allotted.

5.2. In every case where full payment is not completed on time, the deposit submitted with the tender, up to 5 percent of the face amount of securities allotted, shall, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, be forfeited to the United States.

5.3. Registered securities tendered as deposits and in payment for securities allotted hereunder are not required to be assigned if the new securities are to be registered in the same names and forms as appear in the registrations or assignments of the securities surrendered. Specific instructions for the issuance and delivery of the new securities, signed by the owner or his authorized representative, must accompany the securities presented. Otherwise, the presented securities should be assigned by the registered payees or assignees thereof in accordance with the general regulations governing United States securities, as hereinafter set forth. When the new securities are to be registered in names and forms different from those in the inscriptions or assignments of the securities presented, the assignment should be to "The Secretary of the Treasury for (securities offered herein) in the name of (name and taxpayer identifying number)." If new securities in coupon form are desired, the assignment should be to "The Secretary of the Treasury for coupon (securities offered herein) to be delivered to (name and address)." Securities tendered in payment should be surrendered to the Federal Reserve Bank or Branch or to the Bureau of Public Debt, Washington, D.C. 20226. The securities must be delivered at the expense and risk of the holder.

5.4. If bearer securities are not ready for delivery on the settlement date, purchasers may elect to receive interim certificates. These certificates shall be issued in bearer form and shall be exchangeable for the securities offered herein, when such securities are available, at any Federal Reserve Bank or Branch, or at the Bureau of the Public Debt, Washington, D.C. 20226. The interim certificates must be returned at the risk and expense of the holder.

5.5. Delivery of securities in registered form will be made after the requested form of registration has been validated, the registered interest account has been established and the securities have been inscribed.

6. GENERAL PROVISIONS

6.1. As fiscal agents of the United States, Federal Reserve Banks are authorized and requested to receive tenders, to make such allotments as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, to issue such notices as may be necessary, to receive payment for and make delivery of securities on full-paid allotments, and to issue interim certificates pending delivery of the definitive securities.

6.2. The Secretary of the Treasury may at any time, or from time to time, prescribe supplemental or amendatory rules and regulations governing the offering, which will be communicated promptly to the Federal Reserve Banks.

WILLIAM E. SIMON,
Secretary of the Treasury.

GATEWAY ELIMINATION PROJECT

Investigation of Fuel, Time, and Cost Savings

JANUARY 12, 1977.

At a General Session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 27th day of December, 1976.

It appearing, That this Commission's gateway elimination regulation (49 CFR 1065), as promulgated in Gateway Elimination, 119 M.C.C. 530 (1974), was adopted for the purpose of eliminating wasteful fuel practices in a manner consistent with the National Transportation Policy declared by the Congress; that by order of February 23, 1976, the Commission, acting pursuant to the provisions of section 204 of the Interstate Commerce Act, instituted an investigation in this proceeding for the purpose of assessing the fuel, cost, and time savings engendered by the Gateway Elimination Project; that the Commission's Bureau of Economics was authorized to undertake the investigation with the specific objective of determining annual savings respecting costs, manhours, mileage, and fuel; and that by the order of February 23, 1976 (referred to above), and by supplemental order of June 14, 1976, a total of 144 motor common carriers, each of which had received authority pursuant to the regulation, were authorized to comply with informational requests of the Bureau of Economics thereby enabling the Bureau to effectuate its task;

It further appearing, That the Bureau of Economics has issued a report containing findings on the issues noted in the preceding paragraph; that a copy of the report, entitled "Report of Gateway Elimination Savings Ex Parte No. 55 (Sub-No. 8A)" is annexed to this order;[1] and that a synopsis of the report's contents appears in the next paragraph below;

It further appearing, That the initial portion of the Bureau's report is devoted to a brief, general discussion of the history and nature of the Gateway Elimination Project, followed by a concise statement of the Bureau's objective in making this study; that the report then indicates the results of the Bureau's study and the method utilized in reaching these results; that inasmuch as its findings are based on information acquired from a sampling of all motor carriers affected by the regulation in 49 CFR 1065, the Bureau acknowledges that "there is a standard error associated with each," but that "one can state with a 90 percent confidence that the true savings lie between the lower and upper limits" delineated; that, specifically, the Bureau found that savings (for the year July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976), were as follows: (1) vehicle miles: 63,270,006 (lower limit being 40,471,466 and upper limit being 86,068,546), (2) gallons of fuel: 13,936,396 (lower limit being 8,669,838 and upper limit being 19,202,954), (3) dollars: 37,156,044 (lower limit being 24,398,496 and upper limit being 49,913,595, and (4) manhours: 1,729,957 (lower limit being 1,085,256 and upper limit being 2,374,658); that the Bureau also indicated that actual annual savings would probably be somewhat higher upon final disposition of presently pending "gateway elimination" applications; that the Bureau estimates total annual savings will be as follows: (1) vehicle miles: 96,977,000 (lower limit being 74,179,000 and upper limit 119,776,000), (2) gallons of fuel: 21,329,000 (lower limit being 14,147,000 and upper limit being 28,510,000), (3) dollars: 58,506,000 (lower limit being 41,109,000 and upper limit being 75,902,000), and (4) manhours: 2,690,000 (lower limit being 1,811,000 and upper limit being 3,569,000); that, moreover, the Bureau has expressed its belief that these savings may increase in time as carriers take greater advantage of their newly acquired operating authorities; that the Bureau also made a general finding that the Gateway Elimination Project was beneficial to motor carriers in other areas including ecology, conservation, highway safety, and increased service availability; and that, the Bureau having completed its authorized task, this proceeding should be discontinued; and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That the above-entitled proceeding be, and it is hereby, discontinued.

By the Commission.

ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

[Notice No. 4]

MOTOR CARRIER TEMPORARY AUTHORITY APPLICATIONS

JANUARY 7, 1977.

The following are notices of filing of applications for temporary authority under Section 210a(a) of the Interstate Commerce Act provided for under the provisions of 49 CFR 1131.3. These rules provide that an original and six (6) copies of protests to an application may be filed with the field official named in the FEDERAL REGISTER publication no later than the 15th calendar day after the date the notice of the filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. One copy of the protest must be served on the applicant, or its authorized representative, if any, and the protestant must certify that such service has been made. The protest must identify the operating authority upon which it is predicated, specifying the "MC" docket and "Sub" number and quoting the particular portion of authority upon which it relies. Also, the protestant shall specify the service it can and will provide and the amount and type of equipment it will make available for use in connection with the service contemplated by the TA application. The weight accorded a protest shall be governed by the completeness and pertinence of the protestant's information.

Except as otherwise specifically noted, each applicant states that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of its application.

A copy of the application is on file, and can be examined at the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., and also in the ICC Field Office to which protests are to be transmitted.

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

ARBITRATION OR OTHER DISPUTE SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES CAUTIONARY LANGUAGE

Title 17—Commodity and Securities Exchanges

CHAPTER I—COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

PART 180—ARBITRATION OR OTHER DISPUTE SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

Cautionary Language Requirement

The Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("Commission") has amended regulation § 180.3(b)(4) under the Commodity Exchange Act, which requires certain cautionary language to be included in any agreement between a customer and a futures commission merchant, floor broker or associated person, in which the customer agrees to arbitrate any future claim or grievance.

As originally adopted, § 180.3(b)(4) was introduced by a clause which provided that such customer agreements must contain "the following" cautionary language, 41 FR 42946-47 (September 29, 1976). The amendment to § 180.3(b)(4) modifies the introductory clause to provide that the customer agreement must contain cautionary language "to the following effect." The purpose of this amendment is to facilitate incorporating the required cautionary language into the arbitration agreements presently used by futures commission merchants and other registrants without necessitating the use of the verbatim language.

Several commentators said that requiring futures commission merchants to use the exact language specified in § 180.3(b)(4) creates a number of practical problems. For example, one commentator said that some arbitration agreements presently used by futures commission merchants refer to the customer as "I," while in the cautionary language of § 180.3(b)(4) refers to the customer as "you." To comply with the regulation, one commentator said, some futures commission merchants might have to rewrite their customer agreements completely. One commentator also suggested that, in the case of a futures commission merchant that is also a securities broker, the cautionary language should apply only to a commodities account, rather than both commodities and securities accounts, if a single agreement is to be used for disputes involving both types of accounts.

The Commission is persuaded that technical, non-substantive deviations from the cautionary language required by § 180.3(b)(4) like those mentioned above would not undermine the basic purpose of § 180.3: to ensure that the use by commodity customers of contract market arbitration or other dispute settlement procedures is voluntary. Accordingly, that provision has been amended to permit registrants to make such minor changes in the cautionary language. However, the Commission wishes to emphasize that it does not intend by this amendment to authorize any deviations from the text of the cautionary language required by § 180.3(b)(4) which alters, in substance or effect, the plain meaning of the language in any material respect.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Commission hereby revises § 180.3(b)(4) of Chapter I, Title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as follows:

§ 180.3 Voluntary procedure and compulsory payments.

* * * * * * *

(b) * * *

(4) The customer agreement must contain cautionary language, printed in large boldface type, to the following effect:

WHILE THE COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION (CFTC) RECOGNIZES THE BENEFITS OF SETTLING DISPUTES BY ARBITRATION, IT REQUIRES THAT YOUR CONSENT TO SUCH AN AGREEMENT BE VOLUNTARY. YOU NEED NOT SIGN THIS AGREEMENT TO OPEN AN ACCOUNT WITH [name]. See 17 CFR 180.1-180.6.

BY SIGNING THIS AGREEMENT, YOU MAY BE WAIVING YOUR RIGHT TO SUE IN A COURT OF LAW, BUT YOU ARE NOT WAIVING YOUR RIGHT TO ELECT AT A LATER DATE TO PROCEED PURSUANT TO SECTION 14 OF THE COMMODITY EXCHANGE ACT TO SEEK DAMAGES SUSTAINED AS A RESULT OF A VIOLATION OF THE ACT. IN THE EVENT A DISPUTE ARISES, YOU WILL BE NOTIFIED IF [name] INTENDS TO SUBMIT THE DISPUTE TO ARBITRATION. IF YOU BELIEVE A VIOLATION OF THE COMMODITY EXCHANGE ACT IS INVOLVED AND IF YOU PREFER TO REQUEST A SECTION 14 "REPARATIONS" PROCEEDING BEFORE THE CFTC, YOU WILL STILL HAVE 45 DAYS IN WHICH TO MAKE THAT ELECTION.

* * * * * *

(Secs. 5a(11) and 8a Commodity Exchange Act, as amended, 7 U.S.C. §§ 7a(11). 12a (Supp. V, 1975).)

This amendment shall be effective immediately. The Commission finds that the notice and other public procedures called for by 5 U.S.C. 553 (1970) are not required. To begin with, the amendment relieves a restriction in that registrants are no longer required to adhere verbatim to the exact language contained in § 180.3(b)(4). The amendment will impose no additional duty of affirmative action on anyone, nor will immediate adoption impose a hardship. Second, the amendment is technical in nature and is similar in substance and effect to an interpretative rule.

Issued in Washington on January 13, 1977.

By the Commission.

WILLIAM T. BAGLEY,
Chairman, Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANTS—HOUSING ASSISTANCE PLANS

Proposed Rulemaking

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

Office of Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development

[24 CFR Part 570]

[Docket No. R-77-292]

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANTS—HOUSING ASSISTANCE PLANS

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

The Department is proposing to amend Chapter V, Part 570, to provide under § 570.303 (published on February 19, 1976, 41 FR 7503 and amended on March 16, 1976, 41 FR 11128) with respect to Housing Assistance Plans, an alternative methodology for reducing the estimates of housing assistance needs of lower-income families who may be expected to reside in an applicant community as a result of existing or planned employment, in those applicant communities whose proportion of lower-income families exceeds that of the metropolitan areas as a whole.

This proposed amendment does not affect the basic methodology for calculating expected-to-reside as prescribed in Paragraph (c)(2)(ii) of § 570.303, but only alters the method under Paragraph (c)(2)(ii)(A) by which a community may reduce its estimate because of an undue concentration of lower-income persons. The only cities affected by this proposed amendment are those whose percentage of lower-income families exceeds that of the metropolitan area as a whole.

Analysis by the Department of continuing public comments concerning the methodology prescribed in the March 16, 1976, regulations for reducing estimates of families with lower-income workers expected to reside has indicated that the current methodology does not adequately take into account the undue concentrations of lower-income families in certain communities.

The revised methodology established by this proposed amendment allows an applicant community whose percentage of lower-income families is at least 133 percent of the percentage of lower-income families in the metropolitan area as a whole, to reduce to zero its estimate of lower-income families with workers who could reasonably be expected to reside in the community. A community whose percentage of lower-income families is between 100 and 133 percent of the percentage of lower-income families in the metropolitan areas as a whole, may reduce its estimate of families expected to reside by three times the percentage by which its percentage of such lower-income families exceeds 100 percent of the metropolitan percentage.

This proposed revision is being published for a thirty day period for public comment. It is the Department's intention to publish a final rule as soon as possible after the expiration of the public comment period and following an analysis of all comments and suggestions.

Many communities have already prepared housing assistance plans to be submitted with fiscal year 1977 community development block grant applications. Others will have done so by the time a final rule is published for effect. In light of that fact, the Department will accept amendments to approved housing assistance plans, at any time during the year, from those communities that elect to follow the revised methodology for estimating housing assistance needs of lower-income families who may be expected to reside in the community as a result of existing or planned employment.

Use of the alternate methodology for reducing estimates of families expected to reside is optional rather than mandatory. If a community chooses to amend its approved housing assistance plan to use the alternate methodology, it must refer the amendment to State and areawide clearinghouses for review and comment pursuant to § 570.300(d), and shall otherwise comply with § 570.305(a) concerning program amendments.

Housing assistance plans which are approved using the revised methodology will not affect the fiscal year 1977 allocation or reallocation of housing assistance funds, but they will affect the fiscal year 1978 allocation. In other words, housing assistance plans approved with fiscal year 1977 community development block grant applications, or amended in fiscal year 1977, will serve as the basis for the allocation of housing assistance funds in fiscal year 1978.

The use of the revised ETR figure as the basis for a finding of inconsistency under Review of Applications for Housing Assistance is also limited during fiscal year 1977. If an invitation for applications or notification of fund availability has been issued prior to the effective date of this regulation, a community could not subsequently amend its housing assistance plan under this amendment and find the housing applications inconsistent on the basis of that revision.

It has been determined that this change will not have a substantial effect upon the quality of the environment, and a statement to that effect has been prepared and is available for inspection and copying in the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk, Office of the Secretary, Room 10141, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 7th Street, SW, Washington, D.C.

It is hereby certified that the economic and inflationary impacts of this proposed rule have been carefully considered and evaluated in accordance with OMB Circular A-107.

Interested persons may participate in this proposed rulemaking by submitting such written data, suggestions, or arguments as they may desire. All such materials should be filed with the Rules Docket Clerk at the address listed above. All comments received on or before February 21, 1977, will be considered before adoption of a final rule in this matter. Copies of all comments received will be available for public inspection at the above address during regular business hours both before and after the close of the comment period.

Accordingly, it is proposed that § 570.303(c)(2)(ii)(A) be revised as follows:

§ 570.303 Application requirements.

* * * * * *

(c) Housing assistance plan. * * *

(2) * * *

(ii) * * *

(A) An applicant community, within a metropolitan area, may consider undue concentrations of lower-income persons in estimating the number of lower-income families with workers already employed in the community and living elsewhere that could be expected to reside in the community. Applicant communities shall consider the following in preparing such estimates:

(1) If the proportion of the community's percentage of lower-income families to the metropolitan area's percentage is less than 100 percent, the estimate of lower-income families expected to reside shall not be reduced.

Example: SMSA C Lower-income families percentage: 24 percent;
City CD Lower-income families percentage: 19 percent;
City CD percentage SMSA C percentage = 79 percent.

(2) If the proportion of the community's percentage of lower-income families to the metropolitan area's percentage is greater than 100 percent but less than 133 percent, the estimate of lower-income families expected to reside may be reduced by three times the percentage amount over 100 percent.

Example: SMSA X Lower-income families percentage: 10 percent;
City XY Lower-income families percentage: 12 percent;
City XY percentage/SMSA × percentage = 120 percent;
Allowed reduction (120 percent − 100 percent = 20 percent × 3) = 60 percent.

(3) If the proportion of the community's percentage of lower-income families to the metropolitan area's percentage is greater than 133 percent, the estimate of lower-income families expected to reside may be reduced to zero.

The allocation or reallocation of contract authority for housing assistance, made in accordance with the procedures provided at Part 891, Review of Applications for Housing Assistance; Allocation of Housing Assistance Funds, Subpart D, will not be adjusted during Fiscal Year 1977, on the basis of housing assistance plans which have been approved or amended using this methodology. Furthermore, such amendments shall not be considered, by HUD or the community, as grounds for a determination of inconsistency pursuant to Part 891, Subpart B, for housing applications which were received in response to an invitation for applications or notification of fund availability issued prior to the effective date of this regulation.

(Sec. 7(d) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act, 42 U.S.C. 3535(d).)

Issued at Washington, D.C., January 11, 1977.

ROOSEVELT JONES,
Acting Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Development.

CHAPTER V—EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

PART 656—LABOR CERTIFICATION PROCESS FOR PERMANENT EMPLOYMENT OF ALIENS IN THE UNITED STATES

Notice is hereby given that the Department of Labor, Employment and Training Administration, is publishing new regulations governing the labor certification process for the permanent employment of aliens in the United States. The regulations, designated 20 CFR Part 656, replace the Department's previous regulations at 29 CFR Part 60—Immigration: Immigrant Labor Certifications, which are being rescinded in a separate document being published in today's FEDERAL REGISTER.

The regulations are being issued under section 212(a)(14) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, which provides that certain aliens may not obtain a visa for entry into the United States in order to engage in permanent employment unless the Secretary of Labor has first certified, by granting a labor certification, that:

(1) There are not sufficient United States workers who are able, willing, qualified and available to perform the work; and

(2) The employment of the aliens will not adversely affect the wages and working conditions of United States workers similarly employed.

The regulations set forth the labor certification process in detail. They delineate the responsibilities of the public employment service in assisting employers to find available United States workers. They also set forth the responsibilities of employers who desire to employ aliens on a permanent basis. For example, such employers must recruit U.S. workers by advertising, through the public employment service, and by other reasonable means, in order to make a good faith test of U.S. worker availability. An employer's advertising, moreover, must offer prevailing wages and working conditions so as to avoid any potential adverse effect upon the wages and working conditions of U.S. workers.

The regulations implement the Immigration and Nationality Act Amendments of 1976 to the extent those amendments affect the labor certification process.

The regulations implement the amendments made to the Immigration and Nationality Act by Title VI of the Health Professions Educational Assistance Act of 1976 to the extent those amendments affect the labor certification process.

The regulations were published as proposed rule-making on November 5, 1976 at 41 FR 48938. Comments were invited until December 6, 1976. About seventy persons and organizations submitted comments. The most significant comments were as follows:

1. The proposed Schedule A included only physical therapists who had Ph. Ds or master's degrees. The comment process revealed that there is a shortage of U.S. workers who have bachelor's degrees in physical therapy. Schedule A has been revised to include physical therapists who have bachelor's degrees.

2. Some commenters requested a definition of the terms "science" and "art" for purposes of Group II of Schedule A. The final regulations include such a definition.

3. One comment requested that Group IV of Schedule A be expanded to include aliens who will be engaged in the United States in managerial or executive positions with the same international corporations or organizations which currently employ them. Such aliens have been added to Schedule A, Group IV. In addition, upon further discussion with the INS and the Department of State, the words "specialized knowledge" were deleted as they represented too broad a category of aliens for Schedule A predetermination purposes.

4. Some commenters suggested that the documentary requirements for household domestic service workers be clarified and simplified. This has been done.

5. Some commenters stated that the documentation required by the basic labor certification process put an unlawful burden on employers. The Department wishes to note that much of the documentation required of employers will be taken care of by the filling out of the Application for Alien Employment Certification form. The regulations have been revised to indicate that the form and its instructions will make clear to employers the extent of their documentation obligations. The Department also wishes to note that, under the statutory scheme, it is clear that Congress intended that employers make an effort to recruit U.S. workers before seeking to employ aliens and that the Department believes that the regulations, which require that these efforts be documented, do not impose an unreasonable burden on employers.

6. The House Subcommittee on Immigration, Citizenship, and International Law commented that the recent amendment, by Pub. L. 94-571, to sec. 212(a)(14) of the Immigration and Nationality Act with respect to members of the "teaching profession" was intended to apply only to educators at the college and university level, not to all members of the teaching profession. The final regulations have been revised in keeping with the Congressional intent.

7. Many commenters objected to the proposed requirement that the employer and the local employment service office recruit U.S. workers for 60 days. It was pointed out, for example, that State employment service agencies with Statewide computerized Job Banks could recruit Statewide rather quickly. The recruitment period has been reduced to 30 days.

8. Some commentators stated that it was contrary to sec. 212(a)(14) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, as amended by Pub. L. 94-571, for Certifying Officers to consider the availability of U.S. workers outside the area of intended employment who are willing to move to take the job. The Department, however, does not believe that it was Congress' intent to permit employers to recruit and import aliens to take jobs and to ignore or refuse to consider American workers who may live beyond commuting distance from the jobs but who are willing or will be reimbursed to move to take the jobs.

9. Many commentors from Texas objected to the removal of Nurses from Schedule A. Most of these commentors, however, seemed to believe that the removal of nurses from Schedule A would prohibit nurses from entering the country for work purposes. This, however, is not the case. Nurses may still enter the U.S. as immigrants through the regular labor certification route or as nonimmigrants through the temporary immigration procedures administered by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

10. Some commentors objected to the exclusion from Schedule A, Group III, of persons with religious commitments who work in non-religious occupations such as nursing and teaching. Group III has been revised to include persons with a religious commitment who will work for non-profit religious organizations.

11. Some commenters objected to the definition of "agent" which, as proposed, included an attorney. The regulations have been revised to clarify this point. Attorneys may be agents, but need not necessarily be agents.

12. One commenter suggested that prior experience be required for aliens seeking certification for Schedule A Group III religious occupations. This suggestion has been accepted. The requirement for 2-years experience for these religious occupations is the same requirement as that for the "priest and minister" "special immigrant" set forth at sec. 101(a)(27)(D)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

13. One commentator suggested that it was unlawful for the Department to require that professionals have a job offer before they may receive a labor certification. The Department, however, has always believed that it could require job offers of any alien seeking to become the beneficiary of a labor certification as a reasonable method of carrying out the Secretary's statutory obligation. Heretofore the Department, recognizing that professionals were not required to have prearranged employment in order to obtain a visa, had decided not to require a job offer for a labor certification. However, it has been the Department's experience, that it is very difficult to adequately determine the availability of U.S. workers without a job opportunity to which U.S. workers may be referred. Nor, absent a specific job opportunity, can the adverse effect of an alien's employment of similarly employed U.S. workers be adequately determined. It should be noted too that Pub. L. 94-571 recently amended the Immigration and Nationality Act and that the law now requires prearranged employment for professionals for purposes of obtaining an employment related preference status.

14. Some commenters requested that the Department set forth standards for determining whether or not an alien was of "exceptional ability" for Schedule A, Group II purposes. The Department has added detailed requirements for documentation for the purposes of showing exceptional ability. It is intended that such aliens have international recognition and other evidence of their exceptional ability. Such aliens should be so far above the average members of their field that they will clearly be an asset to the United States.

15. One commenters stated that, since there are a great many performing artists who are unemployed in the U.S. today, artists of exceptional ability should not be placed on Schedule A. The Department has taken this category of aliens off of Schedule A.

16. Some commenters objected to the statement in the preamble to the proposed regulations wherein the Department reasserted its belief that labor certification determinations were not judicially reviewable under the Administrative Procedure Act. Both the House and the Senate Reports on the 1976 amendments to the Administrative Procedure Act note favorably Professor Davis' testimony that the Congress never intended the Administrative Procedure Act to be jurisdictional. The Reports, however, note that several Courts of Appeals have held otherwise in an effort to avoid the harshness of the sovereign immunity doctrine. The 1976 amendments, in limiting sovereign immunity, leave the defense of "agency discretion" untouched (see p. 12 of H. Rpt. 94-1656). The labor certification determination under sec. 212(a)(14) of the Immigration and Nationality Act is clearly an action committed to agency discretion, and is clearly exempted from judicial review under the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act.

The Department would like to note that regional Certifying Officers have been notified by telegraphic instruction to implement the amendments to sec. 212(a)(14) of the Immigration and Nationality Act made by Pub. L. 94-571 as of the effective date of those statutory amendments.

Accordingly, Title 20 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by adding a new Part 656, effective February 18, 1977 for all labor certifications filed pursuant to the requirements of these regulations at any Consular or Immigration office or at any local employment service office on or after the effective date of this Part (applications filed prior to Feb. 18, 1977 will be processed pursuant to the prior regulations at 29 CFR Part 60) to read as follows:

Subpart A—Purpose and Scope of Part 656

§ 656.1 Purpose and scope of Part 656.

(a) Under section 212(a)(14) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (Act) certain aliens may not obtain a visa for entrance into the United States in order to engage in permanent employment unless the Secretary of Labor has first certified to the Secretary of State and to the Attorney General that:

(1) There are not sufficient United States workers, who are able, willing, qualified and available at the time of application for a visa and admission into the United States and at the place where the alien is to perform the work, and

(2) The employment of the alien will not adversely affect the wages and working conditions of United States workers similarly employed.

(b) The regulations under this Part set forth the procedures whereby such immigrant labor certifications may be applied for, and given or denied.

§ 656.2 Description of the Immigration and Nationality Act and of the Department of Labor's role thereunder.

(a)(1) Description of the Act. The Immigration and Nationality Act (Act) regulates the admission of aliens into the United States. The Act designates the Attorney General and the Secretary of State as the principal administrators of its provisions.

(2) The Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) performs most of the Attorney General's functions under the Act.

(3) The Consular offices of the Department of State throughout the world are generally the initial contact for aliens in foreign countries who wish to come to the United States. These offices determine the type of visa for which aliens may be eligible, obtain visa eligibility documentation, and issue visas.

(b) Burden of proof under the Act. Section 291 of the Act states, in pertinent part, that:

> Whenever any person makes application for a visa or any other document required for entry, or makes application for admission, or otherwise attempts to enter the United States, the burden of proof shall be upon such person to establish that he is eligible to receive such visa or such document, or is not subject to exclusion under any provision of this Act * * *

(c) Numerical limitations on immigrant visas under the Act. (1) Immigrant visas may be given only on an individual basis:

(2) Except for immediate relatives of U.S. citizens, to whom no numerical restriction applies, only 290,000 immigrant visas may be issued in each fiscal year, of which

(i) No more than 120,000 may be issued to immigrants born in the Western Hemisphere;

(ii) No more than 170,000 may be issued to immigrants born in the Eastern Hemisphere; and

(iii) No more than 20,000 may be issued to immigrants born in a single country.

(3) No numerical restriction exists on the number of labor certifications which may be issued by the Department of Labor in any year.

(d) Visa preferences including nonpreference status. (1) Under section 203 of the Act certain immigrants are eligible for preferences in obtaining visas. The INS has responsibility for determining whether such aliens qualify for preferences. The preferences for which an immigrant may be eligible are:

(i) First, second, fourth and fifth preferences, which require a close family relationship between the alien and a United States citizen or permanent resident alien of the United States;

(ii) Third preference, which requires that the alien's services be sought by an employer, and that the alien be a qualified member of a profession or a person who, because of exceptional ability in the sciences or the arts, will substantially benefit prospectively the national economy, cultural interests, or welfare of the United States;

(iii) Sixth preference, which requires that the alien be capable of performing some specific kind of skilled or unskilled labor, which is not of a temporary or seasonal nature, and for which a shortage of employable and willing persons exists in the United States; and

(iv) Seventh preference, which requires that the alien have a refugee status as described at section 203(a)(7) of the Act.

(2) Under section 203(a)(8) of the Act aliens, who are not immediate relatives of U.S. citizens, and who are not eligible for one of the preferences described in paragraph (d)(1) of this section, may be eligible for a nonpreference status and obtain visas strictly in chronological order.

(e) Role of the Department of Labor. (1) The role of the Department of Labor under the Act derives from section 212(a)(14), which provides that certain aliens who seek to immigrate to the United States for the purpose of employment in the United States are not eligible for a visa and shall be excluded unless the Secretary of Labor has first certified to the Secretary of State and to the Attorney General that:

(i) There are not sufficient United States workers, who are able, willing, qualified and available at the time at application for a visa and admission into the United States and at the place where the alien is to perform the work, and

(ii) The employment of the alien will not adversely affect the wages and working conditions of United States workers similarly employed.

(2) This certification is referred to in this Part as a "labor certification".

(3) Aliens required to be a beneficiary of a labor certification by section 212(a)(14) of the Act are:

(i) Aliens who are eligible for a nonpreference status as described in paragraph (d)(2) of this section; and

(ii) Aliens who are eligible for third or sixth preferences described in paragraphs (d)(1)(ii) and (d)(1)(iii) of this section.

(4) The Department of Labor issues labor certifications for both the temporary and permanent employment of aliens in the United States. The regulations under this Part apply only to labor certifications for permanent employment.

Subpart B—Occupational Labor Certification Determinations

§ 656.10 Schedule A.

The Administrator, United States Employment Service, (Administrator) has determined that there are not sufficient United States workers who are able, willing, qualified and available for the occupations listed below on Schedule A and that the wages and working conditions of the United States workers similarly employed will not be adversely affected by the employment of aliens in Schedule A occupations:

SCHEDULE A

(a) Group I:

(1) Persons who have received an advanced degree (equivalent to a Ph.D. or master's degree conferred by a United States college or university) in any of the following specialties from an institution of higher learning accredited in the country where the degree was obtained:

(i) Dietetics;

(2) Persons who have received a degree (equivalent to a bachelor's degree conferred by a United States college or university) in any of the following specialties from an institution of higher learning accredited in the country in which the degree was obtained:

(i) Physical Therapy.

(3) Definitions of Group I occupations:

(i) "Dietetics" means the occupation which involves the application of the principles of nutrition to plan menus and diets and direct the preparation and serving of meals. This occupation includes activities involved with service programs designed to feed individuals and groups with special nutritional requirements in schools, restaurants, and other institutions, and participation in research in the field of nutrition.

(ii) "Physical Therapy" means the occupation which involves the treatment of patients with disabilities, disorders and injuries to relieve pain, develop or restore function, and maintain performance, using physical means, such as exercise, massage, heat, water, light, and electricity, as prescribed by a medical doctor.

(b) Group II:

Aliens (except for aliens in the performing arts) of exceptional ability in the sciences or arts including college and university teachers of exceptional ability who have been practicing their science or art during the year prior to application and who intend to practice the same science or art in the United States. For purposes of this group, the term "science or art" means any field of knowledge and/or skill with respect to which colleges and universities commonly offer specialized courses leading to a degree in the knowledge and/or skill. An alien, however, need not have studied at a college or university in order to qualify for the Group II occupation.

(c) Group III:

(1) Aliens who seek admission to the United States in order to perform a religious occupation, such as the preaching or teaching of religion; and

(2) Aliens with a religious commitment who seek admission into the United States in order to work for a nonprofit religious organization.

(d) Group IV:

(1) Aliens who have been admitted to the United States in order to work, and who are currently working, in managerial or executive positions with the same international corporations or organizations with which they were continuously employed for one year before they were admitted; and

(2) Aliens who will be engaged in the United States in managerial or executive positions with the same international corporations or organizations with which they have been continuously employed for the immediately prior year.

§ 656.11 Schedule B.

(a) The Administrator has determined that there generally are sufficient United States workers who are able, willing, qualified and available for the occupations listed below on Schedule B and that the wages and working conditions of United States workers similarly employed will generally be adversely affected by the employment in the United States of aliens in Schedule B occupations:

(b) Descriptions of Schedule B occupations. (1) "Assemblers" perform one or more repetitive tasks to assemble components and subassemblies using hand or power tools to mass produce a variety of components, products or equipment. They perform such activities as riveting, drilling, filing, bolting, soldering, spot welding, cementing, gluing, cutting and fitting. They may use clamps or other work aids to hold parts during assembly, inspect or test components, or tend previously set-up or automatic machines.

(2) "Attendants, Parking Lot" park automobiles for customers in parking lots or garages and may collect fees based on time span of parking.

(3) "Attendants (Service Workers such as Personal Service Attendants, Amusement and Recreation Service Attendants)" perform a variety of routine tasks attending to the personal needs of customers at such places as amusement parks, bath houses, clothing checkrooms, and dressing rooms, including such tasks as taking and issuing tickets, checking and issuing clothing and supplies, cleaning premises and equipment, answering inquiries, checking lists, and maintaining simple records.

(4) "Automobile Service Station Attendants" service automotive vehicles with fuel, lubricants, and automotive accessories at drive-in service facilities; may also compute charges and collect fees from customers.

(5) "Bartenders" prepare, mix, and dispense alcoholic beverages for consumption by bar customers, and compute and collect charges for drinks.

(6) "Bookkeepers II" keep records of one facet of an establishment's financial transactions by maintaining one set of books; specialize in such areas as accounts-payable, accounts-receivable, or interest accrued rather than a complete set of records.

(7) "Caretakers" perform a combination of duties to keep a private home clean and in good condition such as cleaning and dusting furniture and furnishings, hallways and lavatories; beating, vacuuming, and scrubbing rugs; washing windows, waxing and polishing floors; removing and hanging draperies; cleaning and oiling furnaces and other equipment; repairing mechanical and electrical appliances; and painting.

(8) "Cashiers" receive payments made by customers for goods or services, make change, give receipts, operate cash registers, balance cash accounts, prepare bank deposits and perform other related duties.

(9) "Charworkers and Cleaners" keep the premises of commercial establishments, office buildings, or apartment houses in clean and orderly condition by performing, according to a set routine, such tasks as mopping and sweeping floors, dusting and polishing furniture and fixtures, and vacuuming rugs.

(10) "Chauffeurs and Taxicab Drivers" drive automobiles to convey passengers according to the passengers' instructions.

(11) "Cleaners, Hotel and Motel" clean hotel rooms and halls, sweep and mop floors, dust furniture, empty wastebaskets, and make beds.

(12) "Clerks, General" perform a variety of routine clerical tasks not requiring knowledge of systems or procedures such as copying and posting data, proofreading records or forms, counting, weighing, or measuring material, routing correspondence, answering telephones, conveying messages, and running errands.

(13) "Clerks, Hotel" perform a variety of routine tasks to serve hotel guests such as registering guests, dispensing keys, distributing mail, collecting payments, and adjusting complaints.

(14) "Clerks and Checkers, Grocery Stores" itemize, total, and receive payments for purchases in grocery stores, usually using cash registers; often assist customers in locating items, stock shelves, and keep stock-control and sales-transaction records.

(15) "Clerk Typists" perform general clerical work which, for the majority of duties, requires the use of typewriters; perform such activities as typing reports, bills, application forms, shipping tickets, and other matters from clerical records, filing records and reports, posting information to records, sorting and distributing mail, answering phones and similar duties.

(16) "Cooks—Short Order" prepare and cook to order all kinds of short-preparation-time foods; may perform such activities as carving meats, filling orders from a steamtable, preparing sandwiches, salads and beverages, and serving meals over a counter.

(17) "Counter and Fountain Workers" serve food to patrons at lunchroom counters, cafeterias, soda fountains, or similar public eating places; take orders from customers and frequently prepare simple items, such as dessert dishes; itemize and total checks; receive payment and make change; clean work areas and equipment.

(18) "Dining Room Attendants" facilitate food service in eating places by performing such tasks as removing dirty dishes, replenishing linen and silver supplies, serving water and butter to patrons, and cleaning and polishing equipment.

(19) "Electric Truck Operators" drive gasoline- or electric-powered industrial trucks or tractors equipped with forklift, elevating platform, or trailer hitch to move and stack equipment and materials in a warehouse, storage yard, or factory.

(20) "Elevator Operators" operate elevators to transport passengers and freight between building floors.

(21) "Floorworkers" perform a variety of routine tasks in support of other workers in and around such work sites as factory floors and service areas, frequently at the beck and call of others; perform such tasks as cleaning floors, materials and equipment, distributing materials and tools to workers, running errands, delivering messages, emptying containers, and removing materials from work areas to storage or shipping areas.

(22) "Groundskeepers" maintain grounds of industrial, commercial, or public property in good condition by performing such tasks as cutting lawns, trimming hedges, pruning trees, repairing fences, planting flowers, and shoveling snow.

(23) "Guards" guard and patrol premises of industrial or business establishments or similar types of property to prevent theft and other crimes and prevent possible injury to others.

(24) "Helpers (any industry)" perform a variety of duties to assist other workers who are usually of a higher level of competency of expertness by furnishing such workers with materials, tools, and supplies, cleaning work areas, machines and equipment, feeding or offbearing machines, and/or holding materials or tools.

(25) "Hotel Cleaners" perform routine tasks to keep hotel premises neat and clean such as cleaning rugs, washing walls, ceilings and windows, moving furniture, mopping and waxing floors, and polishing metalwork.

(26) "Household Domestic Service Workers" perform a variety of tasks in private households, such as cleaning, dusting, washing, ironing, making beds, maintaining clothes, marketing, cooking, serving food, and caring for children or disabled persons. This definition, however, applies only to workers who have had less than one year of documented full-time paid experience in the tasks to be performed, working on a live-in or live-out basis in private households or in public or private institutions or establishments where the worker has performed tasks equivalent to tasks normally associated with the maintenance of a private household. This definition does not include household workers who primarily provide health or instructional services.

(27) "Housekeepers" supervise workers engaged in maintaining interiors of commercial residential buildings in a clean and orderly fashion, assign duties to cleaners (hotel and motel), charworkers, and hotel cleaners, inspect finished work, and maintain supplies of equipment and materials.

(28) "Janitors" keep hotels, office buildings, apartment houses, or similar buildings in clean and orderly condition, and tend furnaces and boilers to provide heat and hot water; perform such tasks as sweeping and mopping floors, emptying trash containers, and doing minor painting and plumbing repairs; often maintain their residence at their places of work.

(29) "Keypunch Operators", using machines similar in action to typewriters, punch holes in cards in such a position that each hole can be identified as representing a specific item of information. These punched cards may be used with electronic computers or tabulating machines.

(30) "Kitchen Workers" perform routine tasks in the kitchens of restaurants. Their primary responsibility is to maintain work areas and equipment in a clean and orderly fashion by performing such tasks as mopping floors, removing trash, washing pots and pans, transferring supplies and equipment, and washing and peeling vegetables.

(31) "Laborers, Common" perform routine tasks, upon instructions and according to set routine, in an industrial, construction or manufacturing environment such as loading and moving equipment and supplies, cleaning work areas, and distributing tools.

(32) "Laborers, Farm" plant, cultivate, and harvest farm products, following the instructions of supervisors, often working as members of a team. Their typical tasks are watering and feeding livestock, picking fruit and vegetables, and cleaning storage areas and equipment.

(33) "Laborers, Mine" perform routine tasks in underground or surface mines, pits, or quarries, or at tipples, mills, or preparation plants such as cleaning work areas, shoveling coal onto conveyors, pushing mine cars from working faces to haulage roads, and loading or sorting material onto wheelbarrows.

(34) "Loopers and Toppers" (i) tend machines that shear nap, loose threads, and knots from cloth surfaces to give uniform finish and texture. (ii) operate looping machines to close openings in the toes of seamless hose or join knitted garment parts. (iii) loop stitches or ribbed garment parts on the points of transfer bars to facilitate the transfer of garment parts to the needles of knitting machines.

(35) "Material Handlers" load, unload, and convey materials within or near plants, yards, or worksites under specific instructions.

(36) "Nurses' Aides and Orderlies" assist in the care of hospital patients by performing such activities as bathing, dressing and undressing patients and giving alcohol rubs, serving and collecting food trays, cleaning and shaving hair from the skin areas of operative cases, lifting patients onto and from beds, transporting patients to treatment units, changing bed linens, running errands, and directing visitors.

(37) "Packers, Markers, Bottlers, and Related" pack products into containers, such as cartons or crates, mark identifying information on articles, insure that filled bottles are properly sealed and marked, often working in teams on or at end of assembly lines.

(38) "Porters" (i) carry baggage by hand or handtruck for airline, railroad or bus passengers, and perform related personal services in and around public transportation environments. (ii) Keep building premises, working areas in production departments of industrial organizations, or similar sites in clean and orderly condition.

(39) "Receptionists" receive clients or customers coming into establishments, ascertain their wants, and direct them accordingly; perform such activities as arranging appointments, directing callers to their destinations, recording names, times, nature of business and persons seen and answering phones.

(40) "Sailors and Deck Hands" stand deck watches and perform a variety of tasks to preserve painted surfaces of ships and to maintain lines, running gear, and cargo handling gear in safe operating condition; perform such tasks as mopping decks, chipping rust, painting chipped areas, and splicing rope.

(41) "Sales Clerks, General" receive payment for merchandise in retail establishments, wrap or bag merchandise, and keep shelves stocked.

(42) "Sewing Machine Operators and Hand-Stitchers" (i) operate single- or multiple-needle sewing machines to join parts in the manufacture of such products as awnings, carpets, and gloves; specialize in one type of sewing machine limited to joining operations; (ii) join and reinforce parts of articles such as garments and curtains, sew button-holes and attach fasteners to such articles, or sew decorative trimmings on such articles, using needles and threads.

(43) "Stock Room and Warehouse Workers" receive, store, ship, and distribute materials, tools, equipment, and products within establishments as directed by others.

(44) "Streetcar and Bus Conductors" collect fares or tickets from passengers, issue transfers, open and close doors, announce stops, answer questions, and signal operators to start or stop.

(45) "Telephone Operators" operate telephone switchboards to relay incoming and internal calls to phones in an establishment, and make connections with external lines for outgoing calls; often take messages, supply information and keep records of calls and charges; often are involved primarily in establishing, or aiding telephone users in establishing, local or long distance telephone connections.

(46) "Truck Drivers and Tractor Drivers" (i) drive trucks to transport materials, merchandise, equipment or people to and from specified destinations, such as plants, railroad stations, and offices. (ii) Drive tractors to move materials, draw implements, pull out objects imbedded in the ground, or pull cables of winches to raise, lower, or load heavy materials or equipment.

(47) "Typists, Lesser Skilled" type straight-copy material, such as letters, reports, stencils, and addresses, from drafts or corrected copies. They are not required to prepare materials involving the understanding of complicated technical terminology, the arrangement and setting of complex tabular detail or similar items. Their typing speed in English does not exceed 52 words per minute on a manual typewriter and/or 60 words per minute on an electric typewriter and their error rate is 12 or more errors per 5 minute typing period on representative business correspondence.

(48) "Ushers (Recreation and Amusement)" assist patrons at entertainment events to find seats, search for lost articles, and locate facilities.

(49) "Yard Workers" maintain the grounds of private residences in good order by performing such tasks as mowing and watering lawns, planting flowers and shrubs, and repairing and painting fences. They work on the instructions of private employers.

(c) Requests for waivers from Schedule B. Any employer who desires a labor certification involving a Schedule B occupation may request such a waiver by submitting a written request to the appropriate regional Certifying Officer pursuant to § 656.23 of this Part. (For the addresses of regional Certifying Officers see Subpart F of this Part.)

(d) The Administrator may revise Schedule B from time to time on the Administrator's own initiative, upon the request of a Regional Administrator, Employment and Training Administration, or upon the written request of any other person which sets forth reasonable grounds therefor. Such requests should be mailed to the Administrator, United States Employment Service, Room 8000, Patrick Henry Building, 601 D Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20213.

Subpart C—Labor Certification Process

§ 656.20 Introduction.

(a) A request for a labor certification on behalf of any alien who is required by the Act to become a beneficiary of a labor certification in order to obtain permanent employment within the United States may be filed as follows:

(1) An application for a labor certification, except for an application involving an occupation listed on Schedule A, must be filed pursuant to § 656.21 of this Part.

(2) An alien seeking labor certification for an occupation listed on Schedule A may apply for a labor certification pursuant to § 656.22 of this Part.

(3) An employer seeking a labor certification for an occupation listed on Schedule B may apply for a labor certification pursuant to § 656.23 of this Part.

(b) (1) Aliens and employers may have agents apply for labor certifications on their behalf.

(2) The alien and/or the employer shall sign a statement that the agent is representing the alien and/or employer and that the alien and/or employer takes full responsibility for the accuracy of any representations made by the agent.

(c) Aliens and employers may have attorneys represent them. Each attorney shall file a notice of appearance, naming the attorney's client. Whenever, under this Part, any notice or other document is required to be sent to an employer or alien, the document shall be sent to their attorneys or attorney if they have an attorney or attorneys.

(d) The forms required under this Part for applications for labor certification are available at U.S. Consular offices abroad, at INS offices in the United States, and at local offices of the State employment service agencies. The forms will contain instructions on how to comply with the documentation requirements for applying for a labor certification under this Part.

§ 656.21 Basic labor certification application process.

(a) Except as otherwise provided at § 656.22 of this Part (labor certifications for Schedule A occupations), an employer who desires to apply for a labor certification on behalf of an alien shall file, in duplicate, a Department of Labor Application for Alien Employment Certification form and any attachments required by this Part with the local employment service office serving the area where the alien proposes to be employed. The employer shall set forth on the Application for Alien Employment Certification form, as appropriate, or in attachments:

(1) A statement of the qualifications of the alien, signed by the alien;

(2) A description of the job offer for the alien employment, including the items required by paragraph (b) of this section;

(3) If the application involves a job offer as a college or university teacher or an alien represented to be of exceptional ability in the performing arts, documentation that the employer selected the alien pursuant to a competitive recruitment and selection process through which the alien was found to be more qualified than any of the U.S. workers who applied for the job;

(4) If the application is for an alien represented to have exceptional ability in the performing arts, documentation to show this exceptional ability such as:

(i) Documents testifying to the current widespread acclaim and international recognition accorded to the alien, receipt of internationally recognized prizes or awards for excellence;

(ii) Documents showing the alien's work experience during the past year did, and the alien's intended work in the United States will, require exceptional ability;

(iii) Published material by or about the alien such as critical reviews in major newspapers, periodicals and trade journals. The title, date and author of such material shall be indicated;

(iv) Documentary evidence of earnings commensurate with the claimed level of ability;

(v) Playbills and star billings;

(vi) Documents attesting to the outstanding reputation of theaters, concert halls, night clubs and other establishments in which the alien has appeared or is scheduled to appear; and/or

(vii) Documents attesting to the outstanding reputation of repertory companies, ballet groups, orchestras or other organizations with which the alien has performed during the past year in a leading or starring capacity;

(5) If the application involves a job offer as a live-in household domestic service worker:

(i) A statement describing the household living accommodations;

(ii) Two copies of the employment contract, each signed and dated by both the employer and the alien (not by their agents). The contract shall clearly state:

(A) The wages to be paid on an hourly and weekly basis;

(B) Total hours of employment per week, and exact hours of daily employment;

(C) That the alien is free to leave the employer's premises during all non-work hours except that the alien may work overtime if paid for the overtime at no less than the legally required hourly rate;

(D) That the alien will reside on the employer's premises;

(E) Complete details of the duties to be performed by the alien;

(F) The total amount of any money to be advanced by the employer with details of specific items, and the terms of repayment by the alien of any such advance by the employer;

(G) That in no event shall the alien be required to give more than two weeks' notice of intent to leave the employment contracted for and that the employer must give the alien at least two weeks' notice before terminating employment;

(H) That a duplicate contract has been furnished to the alien;

(I) That room and board will be provided at no cost to the worker; and

(J) Any other agreement or conditions not specified on the Application for Alien Employment Certification form; and

(iii) (A) Documentation of the alien's paid experience in the form of statements from past or present employers setting forth the dates (month and year) employment started and ended, hours of work per day, number of days worked per week, place where the alien worked, detailed statement of duties performed on the job, equipment and appliances used, and the amount of wages paid per week or month. The total paid experience must be equal to one full year's employment on a full-time basis. For example, two year's experience working half-days is the equivalent of one year's full time experience. Time spent in a household domestic service training course cannot be included in the required one year of paid experience.

(B) Each statement must contain the name and address of the person who signed it and show the date on which the statement was signed. A statement not in the English language shall be accompanied by a translation certified by the translator as to the accuracy of the translation, and as to the translator's competency to translate.

(b) Except for labor certification applications involving Schedule A occupations, the employer shall submit, as part of every labor certification application, on the Application for Alien Employment Certification form, as appropriate, or in attachments, documentation which shows clearly that:

(1) The employer has been recruiting at the prevailing wage, as described at § 656.40 of this Part, and at prevailing working conditions, and has reason to think it will continue to be unsuccessful in its recruiting of U.S. workers through the public employment system and/or through other labor referral and recruitment sources normal to the occupation;

(2) The employer has enough funds available to pay the wage or salary offered the alien;

(3) The wage offered equals or exceeds the prevailing wage as determined pursuant to § 656.40 of this Part, and that the employer guarantees that, if a labor certification is granted, the wage the employer will pay to the alien when the alien begins work will equal or exceed the prevailing wage which is applicable at the time the alien begins work;

(4) The wage offered is not based on commissions, bonuses or other incentives, unless the employer guarantees a wage paid on a weekly, bi-weekly or monthly basis;

(5) The employer will be able to place the alien on the payroll on or before the date of the alien's proposed entrance into the United States;

(6) The job opportunity does not involve unlawful discrimination by race, creed, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, handicap, or citizenship;

(7) The job opportunity has been and is clearly open to any qualified U.S. worker;

(8) The job opportunity has been and is being described without unduly restrictive job requirements:

(i) The job opportunity's requirements, unless adequately documented as arising from business necessity, shall be those normally required for the job in the United States, be those defined for the job in the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) including those for subclasses of jobs, and not include requirements for a language other than English.

(ii) If the job opportunity involves a combination of duties, for example engineer-pilot, the employer must document that it has normally employed persons for that combination of duties and/or workers customarily perform the combination of duties in the area of intended employment, and/or the combination job opportunity is based on a business necessity.

(9) (i) The employer has advertised and is still advertising the job opportunity without success in such media as newspapers of general circulation, and ethnic and professional publications;

(ii) The employer's advertising offers prevailing working conditions and requirements and the prevailing wage for the occupation calculated pursuant to § 656.40 of this Part, states the rate of pay, offers training if the job opportunity is the type for which the employer customarily provides training, and offers wages, terms and conditions of employment which are no less favorable than those offered to the alien;

(iii) The employer's advertising describes the job opportunity with particularity; the documentation shall include a copy of at least one advertisement placed by the employer;

(iv) The employer's advertising has produced no satisfactory results;

(10) The employer has posted within its organization notices of the job opportunity which contain the information required by paragraph (b)(9)(ii) of this section;

(11) The employer's job opportunity is not:

(i) Vacant because the former occupant is on strike or is being locked out in the course of a labor dispute, or

(ii) At issue in a labor dispute;

(12) The employer's other efforts to locate and employ U.S. workers for the job opportunity such as recruitment efforts by means of private employment agencies, labor unions, advertisements placed with radio or TV stations, recruitment at trade schools, colleges, and universities or attempts to fill the job opportunity by development or promotion from among its present employees, has been and continues to be unsuccessful;

(13) If unions are customarily used as a recruitment source in the area or industry, they were unable to refer U.S. workers;

(14) The employer's requirements for the job opportunity, as described, represent the employer's actual minimum requirements for the job opportunity, and the employer has not hired workers with less training or experience for jobs similar to that involved in the job opportunity or that it is not feasible to hire workers with less training or experience than that required by the employer's job offer;

(15) If U.S. workers have applied for the job opportunity, they were rejected solely for lawful job-related reasons; and

(16) The employer's job opportunity's terms, conditions and occupational environment are not contrary to Federal, State or local law.

(c) The local employment service office shall determine if the application is for a labor certification involving Schedule A. If the application is for a Schedule A labor certification, the local employment service office shall advise the employer that the forms must be filed with an INS or Consular Office pursuant to § 656.22 of this Part, and shall explain that the Administrator has determined that U.S. workers in the occupation are unavailable throughout the United States (unless a geographic limitation is applicable) and that the employment of the alien in the occupation will not adversely affect U.S. workers similarly employed.

(d) The local office shall date stamp the application (see § 656.30 for the significance of this date), and shall make sure that the Application for Alien Employment Certification form is complete. If it is not complete the local office shall return it to the employer and shall advise the employer to re-file it when it is completed.

(e) If the Application for Alien Employment Certification form is complete, the local office, using the information on the form, shall prepare and process an employment service job order. If this job order is discriminatory or otherwise unacceptable as a job order under employment service regulations, the local office shall, as appropriate either contact the employer to try to remedy the defect or return the Application for Alien Employment Certification form to the employer with instructions on how the defect can be remedied.

(f) The local office shall calculate, to the extent of its expertise using wage information available to it, the prevailing wage for the job opportunity pursuant to § 656.40 of this Part and shall put its finding in writing. If the local office finds that the rate of wages offered is below the prevailing wage, it shall advise the employer to increase the amount offered. If the employer refuses to do so, the local office shall advise the employer that the application will have to be refiled at the local office if the labor certification is denied by the Certifying Officer because the rate of wages does not meet the prevailing wage.

(g) (1) The local office, in cooperation with the employer, shall then attempt to recruit United States workers for a period of 30 calendar days by placing the job order into the regular ES recruitment system, except that, if the employer has a previous job order for the same job on file with the same local office, the 30 days shall be reduced by the number of days which have elasped since the first job order was filed. As part of these efforts, the employer shall advertise the job in a newspaper of general circulation. This advertisement shall conform to the requirements at § 656.21(b)(9) of this Part, and shall direct applicants to report to the local office for referral to the employer.

(2) The regional Certifying Officer, at the request of a local office manager, may reduce the 30-day recruitment period for good cause shown.

(h) If, after the required recruitment period, the recruitment is not successful, the local office shall send the application, its prevailing wage finding and any appropriate additional information such as local labor market data, to the State office or, if authorized, to the regional Certifying Officer.

(i) A State office, which receives an application, may add appropriate data or comments and shall promptly transmit the application to the appropriate regional Certifying Officer.

§ 656.22 Applications for labor certifications for Schedule A occupations.

(a) An alien or agent of an alien shall apply for a labor certification for a Schedule A occupation by filing an Application for Alien Employment Certification form in duplicate with a U.S. Consular office abroad or with an INS office in the United States, not with the Department of Labor or a State employment service local office.

(b) An alien whose occupation is on Schedule A and who is seeking a third or sixth preference, as described in § 656.2 (d)(1)(ii) and (iii) of this Part, shall show evidence of prearranged employment by having an employer complete, and sign, the job offer description portion of the Application for Alien Employment Certification form. There is, however, no need for the employer to provide the other documentation required under this Part for non-Schedule A occupations.

(c) Aliens seeking labor certifications under Group I of Schedule A shall file as part of their labor certification applications documentary evidence of their degrees and of the equivalence of their degrees to United States granted Ph.D.s, master's or bachelor's degrees, as appropriate.

(d) Aliens who are applying for labor certifications under Group II of Schedule A shall file as part of their labor certification applications documentary evidence testifying to the current widespread acclaim and international recognition accorded them, receipt of internationally recognized prizes or awards for excellence, and documents testifying that they are members of international associations requiring outstanding achievements of their members as judged by recognized international experts in their disciplines or fields. They shall also submit additional documentation supporting their claim to have exceptional ability such as:

(1) Affidavits or published material testifying to their technical training or specialized experience;

(2) Published material by or about the alien. Such material shall identify the title, date and author of each publication or article;

(3) Documentary evidence of earnings commensurate with their claimed level of ability; and/or

(4) Documentation showing that their work experience during the past year did, and their intended work in the United States will, require exceptional ability.

(e) Aliens seeking a labor certification under Group III of Schedule A shall file as part of their labor certification applications documentary evidence showing that they have been primarily engaged in the regilious occupation or in working for the non-profit religious organization for the previous two years, and they will be principally engaged (more than 50 percent of working time) in the United States in performing the religious occupation or working for the non-profit religious organization.

(f) If the alien is requesting a preference described at § 656.2(d) of this Part, and if the alien has filed an Application for Alien Employment Certification form at a Consular office, the Consular Officer shall review the form as appropriate and shall then forward the application to the INS in accordance with the procedures of the Department of State and the INS.

(g) An Immigration Officer, or Consular Officer (except as provided in paragraph (f) of this section), shall determine whether the alien has met the applicable requirements of this section and of Schedule A (§ 656.10.) of this Part, shall review the application and shall determine whether or not the alien is qualified for and intends to pursue the Schedule A occupation.

(1) The Immigration or Consular Officer may request an advisory opinion as to whether the alien is qualified for the Schedule A occupation from the Division of Labor Certifications, United States Employment Service, Washington, D.C. 20213.

(2) The Schedule A determination of the INS or Department of State shall be conclusive and final. The alien, therefore, may not make use of the review procedures set forth at § 656.26 of this Part.

(h) If the alien qualifies for the occupation, the Immigration or Consular Officer shall indicate the occupation on the Application for Alien Employment Certification form. The Consular or Immigration Officer shall then promptly forward a copy of the Application for Alien Employment Certification form, without attachments, to the Administrator, indicating thereon the occupation, the Immigration or Consular office which made the Schedule A determination and the date of the determination (see § 656.30 for the significance of this date).

§ 656.23 Applications for labor certifications for Schedule B occupations: requests for waivers from Schedule B.

(a) Occupations listed on Schedule B require little or no education or experience, and employees can be trained quickly to perform them satisfactorily. In addition, many of these occupations are entry jobs in their industries which offer opportunities for high school graduates and other U.S. workers who otherwise would have difficulty finding their first employment and gaining work experience. The Administrator has determined that there is generally a nationwide surplus of U.S. workers who are available for and who can qualify for Schedule B job opportunities which offer prevailing wages and working conditions.

(b) Some of the occupations on Schedule B are also often characterized by relatively low wages, long and irregular working hours, and poor working conditions which lead to excessive turnover. In most instances, the Administrator has determined through past experience that the employment of aliens has failed to resolve such employment problems since the aliens, like U.S. workers, often quickly move to other jobs. This results in an adverse effect upon the wages and working conditions of U.S. workers who are employed in occupations which require similar education and experience.

(c) Therefore, the Administrator has determined that for occupations listed on Schedule B, U.S. workers are generally available throughout the United States, and that the employment of aliens in Schedule B occupations will generally adversely affect the wages and working conditions of U.S. workers similarly employed.

(d) An individual employer or the employer's agent may petition the regional Certifying Officer for the geographic area in which the job opportunity is located for a Schedule B waiver on behalf of an alien with respect to a specific job opportunity. (For the addresses of regional Certifying Officers see Subpart F of this Part.) The petition shall include:

(1) The documentation required by § 656.21 of this Part;

(2) Documentary verification, which the employer has obtained from the local employment service office which contains the job opportunity in its administrative area, that the employer has had a job order for the same job on file with the same local office for a period of 30 calendar days and that the local office and the employer, using the job order, were not able to obtain a qualified U.S. worker.

(e) The regional Certifying Officer, using the procedures and standards set forth at § 656.24 of this Part, shall either grant or deny the waiver and shall inform the employer of the determination in writing.

(f) If the waiver is granted, the regional Certifying Officer shall issue a labor certification.

(g) If the waiver is denied, the regional Certifying Officer shall deny the labor certification and shall follow the procedures at § 656.25(f)(2) of this Part.

§ 656.24 Labor certification determinations.

(a) If the labor certification presents a special or unique problem, the regional Certifying Officer may refer the application to the national Certifying Officer for determination. If the Administrator has directed that certain types of applications or specific applications be handled in the USES national office, the regional Certifying Officer shall refer such applications to the National Certifying Officer.

(b) The regional or national Certifying Officer, as appropriate, shall make a determination either to grant the labor certification or to issue a Notice of Findings on the basis of whether or not:

(1) The employer has met the requirements of § 656.21 of this Part;

(2) There is in the United States a worker who is able, willing, qualified and available for and at the place of the job opportunity according to the following standards:

(i) The Certifying Officer, in judging whether a U.S. worker is willing to take the job opportunity, shall look at the documented results of the employer's and the employment service office's recruitment efforts, and shall determine if there are other appropriate sources of workers where the employer should have recruited or might be able to recruit U.S. workers.

(ii) The Certifying Officer shall consider a U.S. worker able and qualified for the job opportunity if the worker, by education, training, experience, or a combination thereof, is able to perform in the normally accepted manner the duties involved in the occupation as customarily performed by other U.S. workers similarly employed, except that, if the application involves a job opportunity as a college or university teacher, or for an alien whom the Certifying Officer determines to be currently of exceptional ability in the performing arts, the U.S. worker must be at least as qualified as the alien;

(iii) In determining whether U.S. workers are available, the Certifying Officer shall consider as many sources as is appropriate and shall look to the public employment service system as one source.

(iv) In determining whether a U.S. worker is available at the place of the job opportunity, the Certifying Officer shall consider U.S. workers living or working in the area of intended employment, and may also consider U.S. workers who are willing to move from elsewhere to take the job at their own expense, or, if the prevailing practice among employers employing workers in the occupation in the area of intended employment is to pay such relocation expenses, at the employer's expense.

(3) The employment of the alien will have an adverse effect upon the wages and working conditions of U.S. workers similarly employed. In making this determination the Certifying Officer shall consider such things as labor market information, the special circumstances of the industry, organization, and/or occupation, the prevailing wage in the area of intended employment, and the prevailing working conditions, such as hours, in the occupation.

§ 656.25 Procedures following a labor certification determination.

(a) After making a labor certification determination, the Certifying Officer shall notify the employer in writing of the determination and shall send a copy of the notice to the alien.

(b) If a labor certification is granted, the Certifying Officer shall follow the document transmittal procedures set forth at § 656.28 of this Part.

(c) If a labor certification is not granted, the Certifying Officer shall issue to the employer, with a copy to the alien, a Notice of Findings, as defined in § 656.50 of this Part. The Notice of Findings shall:

(1) Contain the date on which the Notice of Findings was issued;

(2) State the specific bases on which the decision to issue the Notice of Findings was made;

(3) Specify a date, 35 calendar days from the date of the Notice of Findings, by which documentary evidence may be submitted to rebut the bases of the determination, and advise that, if the rebuttal evidence has not been mailed by certified mail by the date specified, the Notice of Findings shall automatically become the final decision of the Secretary, denying the labor certification; and

(4) Cite the rebuttal procedures set forth at paragraphs (d), (e) and (f) of this section.

(d) Rebuttal evidence may be submitted:

(1) By the employer; and

(2) By the alien, but only if the employer has also submitted rebuttal evidence.

(e) Documentary evidence to rebut the basis of a Notice of Findings shall be mailed by certified mail on or before the date specified in the Notice of Findings to the Certifying Officer who issued the Notice of Findings.

(f) If evidence rebutting the bases of the Notice of Findings is submitted on time, the Certifying Officer shall review that evidence in relation to the evidence in the file, and shall then either grant or deny the labor certification pursuant to the standards set forth in § 656.24(b) of this Part.

(g) The Certifying Officer shall send a Determination and Transmittal form to the employer, and shall send a copy to the alien.

(1) If a labor certification is granted, the Certifying Officer shall follow the document transmittal procedures set forth at § 656.28 of this Part.

(2) If the labor certification is denied, the Determination and Transmittal form shall:

(i) Contain the date of the determination;

(ii) State the reasons for the determination;

(iii) Quote the request for review procedures at § 656.26 (a) and (b) of this Part; and

(iv) Advise that, if a request for review is not made within the specified time, the denial shall become the final determination of the Secretary.

§ 656.26 Administrative-judicial review of denials of labor certification.

(a) If a labor certification is denied, a request for an administrative-judicial review of the denial may be made:

(1) By the employer; and

(2) By the alien, but only if the employer also requests such a review.

(b) The request for review shall be in writing and shall be sent by certified mail to the Certifying Officer who denied the application within 35 calendar days of the date of the determination, that is, by the date specified on the Determination and Transmittal form, shall clearly identify the particular labor certification determination from which review is sought, shall set forth the particular grounds for the request, and include all the documents which accompanied the Determination and Transmittal form. If the labor certification denial involved an application as a college or university teacher or an application on behalf of an alien represented to be of exceptional ability in the performing arts, the employer may designate the names and addresses of persons or organizations of specialized competence which the employer has asked to submit amicus briefs.

(c) Upon the receipt of a request for review, the Certifying Officer shall immediately assemble an Appeal File, which shall be in chronological order and indexed, and which shall contain the request for review, the complete application file, and copies of all other written material such as pertinent parts and pages of surveys, reports, etc. upon which the denial was based. The Certifying Officer shall send the Appeal File to the Chief Administrative Law Judge of the Department of Labor, Vanguard Building, 1111 20th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. If the certification was denied by the national Certifying Officer, the national Certifying Officer shall also send a copy of the Appeal File to the Solicitor of Labor, Attn: Associate Solicitor for Employment and Training Legal Services, Room N2101, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20210. If the certification was denied by a regional Certifying Officer, the regional Certifying Officer shall send a copy of the Appeal File to the Administrator, and a copy to the Solicitor of Labor, Attn: Associate Solicitor for Employment and Training Legal Services. In the cases of denials involving the college and university teachers and aliens represented to be of exceptional ability in the performing arts, two additional copies of the Appeal File shall be sent to the Chief Administrative Law Judge.

(d) A hearing officer, designated by the Chief Administrative Law Judge, shall afford all parties, including the Solicitor, 30 days to submit or decline to submit any appropriate legal brief. In the cases of denials involving college and university teachers and aliens represented to be of exceptional ability in the performing arts, if the employer has designated a person or organization which the employer has asked to submit an amicus brief, the hearing officer shall also afford the person or organization 30 days to submit an amicus brief.

(e) The hearing officer shall review the denial of labor certification on the basis of the record upon which the denial of labor certification was made, the request for review and any legal briefs submitted and shall:

(1) Affirm the denial of the labor certification; or

(2) Direct the Certifying Officer to grant the certification; or

(3) Remand the matter to the Certifying Officer for further consideration or factfinding and determination; or

(4) Direct that a hearing be held on the case.

(f) The hearing officer shall notify the employer, the alien, the Certifying Officer, and the Solicitor of the determination, and shall return the record to the Certifying Officer unless the case has been set for hearing.

(g) If the case is remanded, the Certifying Officer shall do the additional factfinding or consideration, make a new determination, and issue a new Determination and Transmittal form.

(h) If the case has been set for hearing, the hearing officer shall notify the employer, the alien, the Certifying Officer and the Solicitor:

(1) Of the date, time, and place of the hearing; and

(2) That the hearing may be rescheduled upon written request and for good cause shown.

(i) If a labor certification has been ordered granted, the Certifying Officer shall grant the certification and shall follow the document transmittal procedures set forth at § 656.28 of this Part.

§ 656.27 Hearings.

(a) If a hearing has been ordered by the hearing officer pursuant to § 656.26 (e)(4) of this subpart, the hearing officer:

(1) May reschedule the hearing, as appropriate;

(2) Shall regulate the course of the hearing;

(3) Shall assure that all relevant issues are considered;

(4) Shall rule on the introduction of evidence and testimony;

(5) Shall rule on appropriate motions; and

(6) Shall take any other action, consistent with due process, necessary to insure an orderly hearing.

(b) The testimony at the hearing shall be recorded and transcribed except to the extent the substance thereof is stipulated for the record.

(c) The Department of Labor shall be represented by the Solicitor of Labor.

(d) The parties shall be afforded the opportunity to present, examine, and cross-examine witnesses.

(e) The hearing officer may elicit testimony from witnesses, but shall not act as advocate for any party.

(f) The hearing officer may receive and make part of the record documentary evidence offered by any party. Copies thereof shall be made available to the other interested parties by the party submitting the evidence.

(g) The case record, or any portion thereof, shall be available for inspection and copying by any party at, prior to, or subsequent to the hearing upon request. Special procedures may be used for disclosure of medical and psychological records such as disclosure to a physician designated by the individual.

(h) The hearing shall be conducted in accordance with sections 5–8 of the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 U.S.C. 553 et seq.

(i) Technical rules of evidence shall not apply, but rules or principles designed to assure production of the most credible evidence available, and to subject testimony to test by cross-examination, shall be applied where reasonably necessary by the hearing officer conducting the hearing. The hearing officer may exclude irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitious evidence.

(j) The general provisions governing discovery as provided in the Rules of Civil Procedure for the United States District Court, Title V, 28 U.S.C., Rules 26 through 37, may be made applicable in any hearing conducted under this part to the extent that the hearing officer concludes that their use would promote the efficient advancement of the hearing.

(k) When a public officer is a respondent in a hearing in the officer's official capacity and during its pendency dies, resigns, or otherwise ceases to hold office, the proceeding does not abate and the officer's successor shall be automatically substituted as a party. Proceedings following the substitution shall be in the name of the substituted party, but any misnomer not affecting the substantive rights of the parties shall be disregarded. An order of substitution may be entered at any time, but the omission to enter such an order shall not affect the substitution.

(l) The hearing officer shall have jurisdiction to decide all issues of fact and related issues of law, but shall not have jurisdiction to decide upon the validity of Federal statutes or regulations.

(m) The hearing officer may rule:

(1) that the case is improperly before it, that is, that there is a lack of jurisdiction over the case;

(2) that the request for review has been withdrawn in writing;

(3) that reasonable cause exists to believe that the request for review has been abandoned or that repeated requests for re-scheduling are arbitrary and for the purpose of unduly delaying or avoiding a hearing; or

(4) render such other rulings as are appropriate to the issues in question.

(n) The hearing officer shall prepare a written decision and order. The decision shall state its legal and/or factual bases. The hearing officer shall send a copy of the decision and order to the applicant, the Certifying Officer, the Administrator, and the Solicitor. The hearing officer may order the labor certification granted, affirm the denial of the certification, or remand the case to the Certifying Officer for further fact-finding.

(o) Except when a case is remanded to the Certifying Officer for further factfinding, the decision of the hearing officer shall be the final decision of the Secretary of Labor.

§ 656.28 Document transmittal following the granting of a labor certification.

If a labor certification is granted, except for labor certifications granted for occupations listed on Schedule A, the Certifying Officer shall:

(a) If the employer has already indicated in writing that it will file a petition for a preference described at § 656.2(d)(1) of this Part, send the certified application containing the official labor certification stamp, supporting documents, and complete Determination and Transmittal form to the employer or, if appropriate, to the employer's agent. The Determination and Transmittal form shall indicate that the employer should submit all the documents to the appropriate INS office.

(b) If the employer has not indicated in writing whether or not it will, or that it will not, file a petition for a preference described at § 656.2(d)(1) of this Part,

(1) If the alien is abroad and preference or non-preference numbers are currently available, send the certified application containing the official labor certification stamp, supporting documents, and complete Determination and Transmittal form to the appropriate Consular office;

(2) If the alien is in the U.S. and preference or non-preference numbers are currently available, send the certified application containing the official labor certification stamp, supporting documentation, and complete Determination and Transmittal form to the employer, or, if appropriate, to the employer's agent. The Determination and Transmittal form shall indicate that the employer should submit all the documents to the appropriate INS office; and

(3) Whether the alien is abroad or in the U.S., if preference or non-preference numbers are not currently available, send the certified application containing the official labor certification stamp, supporting documentation, and complete Determination and Transmittal form to the employer, or, if appropriate, to the employer's agent, indicating that the employer should file all the documents with the appropriate INS office;

§ 656.29 Filing of a new application after the denial of a labor certification.

(a) A new application for labor certification by the same employer involving the same occupation may be filed at any time after the expiration of 6 months from the date of a denial of certification, except that, if the certification was denied solely because the wage or salary offered was below the prevailing wage, the employer may reapply immediately pursuant to § 656.21 of this Part.

(b) An alien who is denied a labor certification for a Schedule A occupation may at any time have an employer file for a labor certification on the alien's behalf pursuant to § 656.21 of this Part.

§ 656.30 Validity of and invalidation of labor certifications.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, a labor certification is valid indefinitely. Labor certifications for Household Domestic Service Workers and teachers which were granted under the previous regulations at 29 CFR Part 60 and which lapsed after one year, shall be deemed automatically revalidated on the effective date of this Part.

(b)(1) labor certifications involving job offers shall be deemed validated as of the date the local employment service office date stamped the application; and

(2) labor certifications for Schedule A occupations shall be deemed validated as of the date the applications were dated by the Immigration or Consular Officer.

(c)(1) A labor certification for a Schedule A occupation is valid only for the occupation set forth on the Application for Alien Employment Certification form and throughout the United States unless the certification contains a geographic limitation.

(2) A labor certification involving a specific job offer is valid only for the particular job opportunity and for the area of intended employment stated on the Application for Alien Employment Certification form.

(d) After issuance labor certifications are subject to invalidation by the INS or by a Consul of the Department of State upon a determination, made in accordance with those agencies' procedures or by a Court, of fraud or willful misrepresentation of a material fact involving the labor certification application. If evidence of such fraud or willful misrepresentation becomes known to a Regional Administrator, Employment and Training Administration or to the Administrator, the Regional Administrator or Administrator, as appropriate, shall notify in writing the INS or State Department, as appropriate.

(e) Certifying Officers shall issue duplicate labor certifications only upon the written request of a Consular or Immigration Officer. Certifying Officers shall issue such duplicate certifications only to the Consular or Immigration Officer who submitted the written request. An alien, employer, or an employer or alien's agent, therefore, may petition an Immigration or Consular Officer to request a duplicate from a Certifying Officer.

§ 656.31 Labor certification applications involving fraud or willful misrepresentation.

(a) If possible fraud or willful misrepresentation involving a labor certification is discovered prior to a final labor certification determination, the Certifying Officer shall refer the matter to the INS for investigation, shall notify the employer of this referral in writing, and shall send a copy of the notification to the alien. If 90 days pass without the filing of a criminal indictment or information, the Certifying Officer shall continue to process the application.

(b) If it is learned that an application is the subject of a criminal indictment or information filed in a Court, the processing of the application shall be halted until the judicial process is completed. The Certifying Officer shall notify the employer of this fact in writing and shall send a copy of the notification to the alien.

(c) If a Court finds that there was no fraud or willful misrepresentation, or if the Department of Justice decides not to prosecute, the Certifying Officer shall not deny the labor certification application on the grounds of fraud or willful misrepresentation. The application, of course, may be denied for other reasons pursuant to this Part.

(d) If a Court, the INS or the Department of State determines that there was fraud or willful misrepresentation involving a labor certification application, the application shall be deemed invalidated, processing shall be terminated, a notice of the termination and the reason therefor shall be sent by the Certifying Officer to the employer, and a copy of the notification shall be sent by the Certifying Officer to the alien.

§ 656.32 Fees for services and documents.

(a) No Department of Labor or State employment service agency employee shall charge a fee in connection with the filing, determination, reconsideration, or review of applications for labor certification. Such employees, on request, shall advise applicants on the completion of applications and on procedures set forth in this Part without charge. No charge shall be made for the issuance or transmission of a labor certification.

(b) The Department of Labor's regulations under the Freedom of Information Act at 29 CFR Part 70 on the Examination and Copying of Labor Department Documents provide that fees may be charged for special searching and copying services. These fees shall be applicable to requests to the Department for copies of documents in the custody of the Department which were produced pursuant to this Part, except for official copies of labor certification documents.

Subpart D—Determination of Prevailing Wage

§ 656.40 Determination of prevailing wage for labor certification purposes.

(a) Whether the wage or salary stated in a labor certification application involving a job offer equals the prevailing wage as required by § 656.21(b)(3) of this Part, shall be determined as follows:

(1) If the job opportunity is in an occupation which is subject to a wage determination in the area under the Davis-Bacon Act, 40 U.S.C. 276a et seq., 29 CFR Part 1, or the McNamara-O'Hara Service Contract Act, 41 U.S.C. 351 et seq., 29 CFR Part 4, the prevailing wage shall be at the rate required under the statutory determination. Certifying Officers shall request the assistance of the DOL Employment Standards Administration wage specialists if they need assistance in making this determination.

(2) If the job opportunity is an occupation which is not covered by a prevailing wage determined under the Davis-Bacon Act or the McNamara-O'Hara Service Contract Act, the prevailing wage for labor certification purposes shall be:

(i) the average rate of wages, that is, the rate of wages to be determined, to the extent feasible, by adding the wage paid to workers similarly employed in the area of intended employment and dividing the total by the number of such workers. Since it is not always feasible to determine such an average rate of wages with exact precision, the wage set forth in the application shall be considered as meeting the prevailing wage standard if it is within 5 percent of the average rate of wages; or

(ii) If the job opportunity is covered by a union contract which was negotiated at arms-length between a union and the employer, the wage rate set forth in the union contract shall be considered as not adversely affecting the wages of U.S. workers similarly employed, that is, it shall be considered the "prevailing wage" for labor certification purposes.

(b) For purposes of this section, "similarly employed" shall mean "having substantially comparable jobs in the occupational category in the area of intended employment," except that, if no such workers are employed by employers other than the employer applicant in the area of intended employment, "similarly employed" shall mean:

(1) "Having jobs requiring a substantially similar level of skills within the area of intended employment"; or

(2) If there are no substantially comparable jobs in the area of intended employment, "having substantially comparable jobs with employers outside of the area of intended employment."

(c) A prevailing wage determination for labor certification purposes made pursuant to this section shall not permit an employer to pay a wage lower than that required under any other Federal, State or local law.

Subpart E—Definitions

§ 656.50 Definitions, for purposes of this Part, of terms used in this Part.

"Act" means the Immigration and Nationality Act, as amended, 8 U.S.C. 1101 et seq.

"Administrator" means the chief official of the United States Employment Service or the Administrator's designee.

"Agent" means a person who is not an employee of an employer, and who has been designated in writing to act on behalf of an alien or employer in connection with an application for labor certification.

"Application" means an Application for Alien Employment Certification form and any other documents submitted by an alien and/or employer (or their agents) in applying for a labor certification under this Part.

"Area of intended employment" means the area within normal commuting distance of the place (address) of intended employment. If the place of intended employment is within a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA), any place within the SMSA is deemed to be within normal commuting distance of the place of intended employment.

"Attorney General" means the chief official of the U.S. Department of Justice or the designee of the Attorney General.

"Certifying Officer" means a Department of Labor official who makes determinations about whether or not to grant applications for labor certifications:

(1) a regional Certifying Officer designated by a Regional Administrator, Employment and Training Administration (RA) makes such determinations in a regional office of the Department;

(2) a regional Certifying Officer designated by the Administrator makes such determinations for the Virgin Islands;

(3) a national Certifying Officer makes such determinations in the national office of the USES.

(4) The addresses of the regional Certifying Officers are set forth in Subpart F of this Part.

"Consular Officer" means an official of the U.S. Department of State who handles applications for labor certifications pursuant to this Part.

"Determination and Transmittal form" means the form used by the Certifying Officer to notify employers of labor certification determinations.

"Employment" means permanent full-time work by an employee for an employer other than oneself. For purposes of this definition an investor is not an employee.

"Employment and Training Administration (ETA)" means the agency within the Department of Labor (DOL) which includes the United States Employment Service (USES).

"Employer" means a person, association, firm, or a corporation which currently has a location within the United States to which U.S. workers may be referred for employment, and which proposes to employ a full-time worker at a place within the United States or the authorized representative of such a person, association, firm, or corporation. For purposes of this definition an "authorized representative" means an employee of the employer whose position or legal status authorizes the employee to act for the employer in labor certification matters.

"Hearing Officer" means a Department of Labor official, whether hearing officer or Administrative Law Judge, designated to preside at DOL administrative hearings.

"Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS)" means the agency within the U.S. Department of Justice which administers that Department's principal functions under the Act.

"Immigration Officer" means an official of the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) who handles applications for labor certifications pursuant to this Part.

"INS", see Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"Job opportunity" means a job opening for employment at a place in the United States to which U.S. workers can be referred.

"Labor certification" means the determination and certification to the Secretary of State and to the Attorney General by the Secretary of Labor pursuant to section 212(a)(14) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (1) that there are not sufficient U.S. workers who are able, willing, qualified, and available at the time of an alien's application for a visa and admission to the United States and at the place where the alien is to perform the work, and (2) that the employment of the alien will not adversely affect the wages and working conditions of similarly employed U.S. workers.

"Local employment service office" means an office of a State employment service agency which serves a particular geographic area within a State.

"Notice of Findings" means a notice which sets forth the bases upon which a Certifying Officer intends to deny a labor certification unless the bases are satisfactorily rebutted.

"Regional Administrator, Employment and Training Administration (RA)" means the chief official of the Employment and Training Administration (ETA) in a Department of Labor (DOL) regional office.

"Schedule A" means the list of occupations set forth at § 656.10 of this Part, with respect to which the Administrator has determined that there are not sufficient United States workers who are able, willing, qualified and available, and that the employment of aliens in such occupations will not adversely affect the wages and working conditions of United States workers similarly employed.

"Schedule B" means the list of occupations set forth at § 656.11 of this Part, with respect to which the Administrator has determined that there are generally sufficient United States workers who are able, willing, qualified and available, and that the employment of aliens in such occupations will generally adversely affect the wages and working conditions of United States workers similarly employed.

"Secretary" means the Secretary of Labor, the chief official of the U.S. Department of Labor, or the Secretary's designee.

"Secretary of State" means the chief official of the U.S. Department of State or the Secretary of State's designee.

"United States Employment Service (USES)" means the agency of the U.S. Department of Labor, established under the Wagner-Peyser Act of 1933, which is charged with administering the national system of public employment offices and with carrying out the functions of the Secretary under section 212(a)(14) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

"United States worker" means any worker who, whether U.S. citizen or alien, is legally permitted to work permanently within the United States.

PART V

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

Final Rulemaking

Title 41—Public Contracts and Property Management

CHAPTER 60—OFFICE OF FEDERAL CONTRACT COMPLIANCE PROGRAMS, EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY, DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Final Rulemaking

Section 201 of Executive Order 11246, as amended (30 FR 12319; amended, 32 FR 14303), provides that the Secretary of Labor shall adopt rules, regulations and orders as he deems necessary and appropriate to achieve the purposes of the Order.

On September 17, 1976, the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP), U.S. Department of Labor, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 40340) a proposal to revise and redesignate the regulations in 41 CFR Parts 60–1 through 60–60. Interested persons were given until November 16, 1976, to submit written comments, suggestions or objections. Public hearings regarding the proposals were held in New York, Atlanta, Chicago and Los Angeles during the weeks of December 6 and 13, 1976 (41 FR 48128), and the records of those hearings remained open for the submission of written testimony through December 27, 1976.

On December 14, 1976, the OFCCP published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (41 FR 54499) a proposal to amend 41 CFR 60–1.40(a) and 41 CFR 60–2.1 to comply with a settlement agreement reached between the Department of Labor and the plaintiffs in "Castillo v. Usery," USDC ND Calif., Civil No. 73–282 AJZ. Interested persons were given until January 13, 1977, to submit written comments, suggestions or objections.

Numerous comments and thousands of pages of hearing transcript have been received and have been given careful consideration. The comments indicate a need for further consideration of many of the proposals and, accordingly, the major revision and redesignation proposed on September 17, 1976, will be postponed for such further consideration. Other proposed amendments and revisions, however, evoked little or no public comment, or are of overriding importance, and are adopted herein.

As was proposed on September 17, 1976, the term and definition of "Administrative law judge" are substituted for the term and definition of hearing officer in § 60–1.3 and are inserted between "administering Agency" and "agency." This change conforms the definition section in the regulations with changes being made in Part 60–30, Rules of Practice for Administrative Proceedings to Enforce Equal Opportunity Under Executive Order 11246. The definition of "Compliance agency" is amended as proposed on September 17. No comments were received regarding either of these amendments. In addition, the lettered paragraph designations in § 60–1.3 (e.g. § 60–1.3 (a) and (b) are deleted and the term and definition of "minority group" (formerly § 60–1.3(z)) is inserted, unchanged, in alphabetical order, between "Government contract" and "modification." In this manner all definitions will be in alphabetical order and the lettered paragraph designations are unnecessary.

Section 60–1.4(d) is amended by combining elements of the prior section with elements of the September 17 proposal. As amended, § 60–1.4(d) permits the incorporation by reference of the equal opportunity clause in all contracts and subcontracts, irrespective of the amount of the contract or subcontract, and in such other contracts and subcontracts as the Director may designate. The previous regulation permitted incorporation by reference only in contracts or subcontracts of $50,000 or less, and in Government bills of lading, transportation requests, contracts for the deposit of Government funds, and contracts for issuing and paying U.S. savings bonds and savings notes, and in such other contracts as the Director designated. The amendment has no substantive effect on coverage. No comments either favoring or opposing the proposal were received.

Section 60–1.4(e), as published in the September 17 proposal, replaces previous § 60–1.4(e). The effect of the change in § 60–1.4(e) is to make it clear that, consistent with the intent of the Secretary and with existing case law, the equal opportunity clause is considered a part of all non-exempt contracts, including unwritten contracts. No comments were received.

Section 60–1.5(a)(1), regarding exemption of transactions of $10,000 or under from the requirements of the equal opportunity clause, is amended by (1) explicitly stating that no dollar amount exemption is applicable to contracts and subcontracts with depositories of Federal funds and with financial institutions which are issuing and paying agents for U.S. savings bonds and savings notes, and (2) eliminating the exemption where a contractor has contracts or subcontracts which in any 12-month period total in excess of $10,000, irrespective of the dollar value of any single contract.

The provision pertaining to Executive Order coverage of financial institutions clarifies existing practice as reflected in the Department of Treasury regulations at 41 CFR 10–12.804. While the September 17 proposal did not explicitly refer under this section to the coverage of financial institutions regardless of dollar amount, this point was reflected in proposed § 60–1.6(a) regarding affirmative action programs. A banking organization recommended the establishment of dollar amount exemptions for financial institutions. However, we are reluctant to remove already existing coverage without further consideration of the impact of such removal on equal employment opportunity.

The aggregation provision is similar to that presented in the September 17 proposal, except that the dollar amount has been reduced from $50,000 to $10,000. Only one comment opposing aggregation for equal opportunity clause purposes was received. The commentator suggested that aggregation would increase the administrative and paperwork burden on small contractors. Several comments generally favoring aggregation were submitted. Upon consideration of the matter we have concluded that the burden of complying with the equal opportunity clause (as opposed, for instance, to meeting affirmative action program-type reporting requirements) is not so substantial that it should not be shouldered by all contractors doing more than $10,000 worth of business with the Government. Moreover, we have concluded that aggregation should be to $10,000 rather than $50,000 for the sake of consistency; ten contracts of $1000 each or two contracts of $5000 each are of the same value to the contractor as one contract of $10,000.

Section 1.5(a)(6) of the September 17 proposal, dealing with work on or near Indian reservations, is adopted without change as 41 CFR 60–1.5(a)(6). This provision was previously proposed by the OFCCP on June 25, 1976 (41 FR 26229) and republished as part of the September 17 proposal. It expands the employment opportunities of American Indians living on or near an Indian reservation in both construction and nonconstruction employment. The rule parallels Section 703(i) of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, and allows construction and nonconstruction contractors and subcontractors to engage in certain preferential hiring of such Indians.

Section 703(i) of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, states:

> Nothing contained in this title shall apply to any business or enterprise on or near an Indian reservation with respect to any publicly announced employment practice of such business or enterprise under which a preferential treatment is given to any individual because he is an Indian living on or near a reservation.

The use of the word "near" includes all that area where a person seeking employment could reasonably be expected to commute to and from in the course of a work day. This definition is consistent with that offered by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights in an opinion letter dated July 18, 1973.

In accordance with the Federal equal employment policy contained in Section 715 of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, for consistent standards among the Federal equal employment opportunity enforcement agencies, the Department of Labor adopts the policy enunciated in Section 703(i) of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as the applicable standard under Executive Order 11246 for contractors performing contracts on or near an Indian reservation.

In order to implement the proposed permissive employment preference for Indians living on or near an Indian reservation meaningfully, the Department also adopts the remainder of its June 25, 1976, proposal in 41 CFR 60–2.12(j) (republished on September 17 as 41 CFR 60–2.12(h) of Alternative A and 41 CFR 60–2.12(g) of Alternative B) to provide that a contractor or subcontractor extending a publicly announced preference for Indians under 41 CFR 60–1.5(a)(6) may reflect such preference in the goals and timetables of its written affirmative action compliance program.

The few written comments and the limited testimony at the hearings on these matters generally supported these provisions. An employer questioned the legality of these provisions, their precedential value for other groups, and the effect the implementation of the provisions would have on other protected groups. We believe that these amendments further the objectives of the Executive Order in that they support a policy of hiring American Indians living on or near reservations. The proposed amendments are consistent with Section 703(i) of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, and with the Indian Self Determination and Education Assistance Act (Pub. L. 93–638), which also covers the preferential employment of Indians by certain Federal contractors. These Indian preference provisions of these regulations do not establish mandatory Indian preference requirements on contractors nor do they impose new obligations on contractors. Rather, they clarify the Department of Labor's position as to certain contractors who choose to announce publicly a particular Indian hiring policy. With the recent passage of the Indian Self Determination and Education Assistance Act, certain Federal contractors are required to give preference to Indians when performing certain contracts. Therefore, the permissive Indian preferences set forth below are fully compatible with the new Act.

Both the proposed and the final version of § 60–1.5(a)(6) provide that contractors or subcontractors extending an Indian employment preference shall not discriminate among Indians on the basis of religion, sex or tribal affiliation. One tribe objected to this prohibition against tribal discrimination when the tribe itself forms a construction company. The favorable written comments of another tribe did not address this issue. A witness representing an Indian organization at the Los Angeles hearings expressed no position on this point, when asked, but did favor the prohibition on sex discrimination among Indians. To allow a tribal contractor to use the permissive Indian preference to discriminate against members of other Tribes would frustrate one of our basic objectives—to encourage the employment of American Indians generally. This purpose would be hindered were we to allow disparate treatment based on tribal affiliation. Further, we have not been referred to any specific provisions in the Executive Order or in other legislation which would suggest such separate treatment for tribal contractors.

Section 60–1.13 of the September 17 proposal, "Foreign government practices," as corrected at 41 FR 42678 (September 28, 1976), is adopted with one change in wording as 41 CFR 60–1.10. In the third sentence the word "shall" replaces "may." That sentence now reads as follows:

> Therefore, a contractor hiring workers in the United States for either Federal or non-federally connected work shall be in violation of Executive Order 11246, as amended, by refusing to employ or assign any person because of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin regardless of the policies of the country where the work is to be performed or for whom the work will be performed. (Emphasis added.)

Several comments opposing the proposal and several favoring it were received. The objectors generally felt that it is beyond the scope of these regulations to confront the hiring and admittance practices of foreign governments. As one commentator put it, "These regulations are not going to change the policies of any foreign nation. A contractor should not be penalized by virtue of complying with the immigration policy of a foreign country." Those favoring the proposal felt that adoption, as amended above, was appropriate in light of previous directives of the President and the Secretary of Labor prohibiting such discrimination. We agree that inasmuch as the regulation implements the stated policy of both the President and the Secretary, it is appropriately adopted.

The complaint procedures at §§ 60–1.21 through 60–1.24 have been revised to specifically provide that OFCCP and the compliance agencies may refer appropriate complaints to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) for processing under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, rather than processing them under Executive Order 11246 and the implementing regulations. Complainants and contractors would be informed of the referral of a complaint to EEOC. This provision is intended to ensure that OFCCP and the compliance agencies establish rational compliance priorities. Requiring OFCCP or the compliance agencies to investigate, as some commentators suggested, each individual complaint would interfere with a balanced compliance review and enforcement program designed to maximize federal resources for the greatest equal employment opportunity benefit and results.

The comments of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights supported the language in the proposed regulations which would permit OFCCP and the compliance agencies to refer complaints to the EEOC. The Commission stated, in part, "We believe that this provision will enhance the ability of the Federal contract compliance program to concentrate on systemtic administration."

Some of the written comments and testimony at the hearings referred to EEOC's backlog as a reason for opposing referral of complaints to EEOC. However, it should be recognized that even in situations where EEOC itself is unable to act upon a matter, referral of a complaint to EEOC will ensure that the complainant can commence a private right of action under Title VII as a result of EEOC's issuance of a right-to-sue letter. Therefore, our referral policy will enable the matters raised in the complaint to be addressed in a timely manner under other means.

In addition to comments on referral to EEOC of individual complaints which do not raise issues of systemtic discrimination, some comments also questioned the referral of class-wide complaints to EEOC. In this regard, it is the general policy of OFCCP that such broader complaints normally be processed under Executive Order 11246. This enables OFCCP and the agencies to focus on large-scale discrimination/affirmative action matters affecting large numbers of minorities and women and to establish compliance priorities accordingly.

Referral of appropriate complaints to EEOC reflects existing policy. See OFCCP/EEOC Memorandum of Understanding (31 FR 35855, Oct. 4, 1974). It is consistent with Sections 206(b) and 209(a)(3) of Executive Order 11246, as amended, and federal equal employment policy as reflected in Section 715 of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, calling for the maximization of effort, the promotion of efficiency, and the elimination of conflict, competition, duplication and inconsistency among federal EEO agencies.

Section 60–1.23(a) adopts most of the language of proposed § 60–1.30(c)(1) to indicate that complaints filed by public interest or advocate-type organizations will be accepted notwithstanding that such complaints do not identify all or any of the alleged discriminatees so long as the complaint is of sufficient specificity as to indicate where the complaint investigation should focus. As indicated above, class-wide complaints (including those filed by third parties) would normally be retained and processed under Executive Order 11246. However, to indicate that such complaints may, on occasion, be referred to EEOC, we have deleted the phrase "for investigation" in adopting the last sentence of proposed § 60–1.30(c)(1). Some commentators opposed acceptance of complaints of this nature; they favored the identification of complainants and opposed giving public interest groups the right to file complaints on behalf of individuals or a class of individuals. They also feared harassment and the filing of specious complaints. Others favored the Department's proposal by pointing out that victims of discrimination frequently fear employer retaliation and would be reluctant to identify themselves specifically in a complaint. In order to maximize equal employment opportunity, the OFCCP and the compliance agencies need to obtain as much information as possible, including information gathered through the complaint process. Therefore, we are unwilling to deny access to these complaint procedures to organizations alleging violations of the Executive Order or implementing regulations. Our position is fully consistent with Section 206 of the Executive Order, regarding investigations and complaints.

Other changes are as follows: (1) Section 60–1.22 now states OFCCP's address for filing complaints; (2) § 60–1.24(b) has been captioned "Complaint investigations," rather than "Investigations" and adopts the language of proposed § 60–1.23, indicating that OFCCP, as well as the agencies, may conduct complaint investigations (also provided in § 60–

1.22), and that the case record should refer to at least one federal contract to ensure that the employer under investigation is subject to the Executive Order; (3) § 60–1.24(c)(3) has been revised to correspond with the enforcement scheme of § 60–1.26, which includes reference to the sanctions formerly contained in this provision; (4) § 60–1.24 (d), has been revised by having the first sentence begin with the new clause, "With the exception of complaints which have been referred to EEOC, • • •," to indicate that such complaints are not subject to the compliance agency complaint processing requirements contained therein; and (5) references to "agency" in § 60–1.21 through § 60–1.24 have been clarified by substituting the term "compliance agency".

Proposed § 60–1.25, "Enforcement proceedings," is adopted with minor changes at 41 CFR 60–1.26, and previous § 60–1.26 is deleted. Conforming amendments dealing with the administrative complaint process are made at 41 CFR 60–2.2 (b) and (c). The concepts formerly found in § 60–1.26 have been retained, to the extent applicable, and published in 41 CFR Part 60–30 (see discussion, below).

Section 60–1.26 clarifies procedures and policies regarding administrative and judicial proceedings to enforce the Executive Order and to seek appropriate relief. This section restates existing OFCCP policy that enforcement procedures are applicable to both construction and nonconstruction contracts. Seven categories of violations for which enforcement proceedings would be appropriate are set forth as examples. In the event of an alleged violation or threat of violation, the OFCCP or the compliance agency (with the approval of the Director) may institute administrative proceedings to enjoin the violation and seek appropriate relief, which may include affected class and back pay relief. This section codifies OFCCP policies regarding back pay and affected class relief which have been in effect for several years.

If it is determined after a hearing that the contractor is violating the Executive Order the compliance agency or the Secretary of Labor shall issue an Administrative Order enjoining the violations, requiring the contractor to provide whatever remedies are appropriate, imposing whatever sanctions are appropriate, or implementing any combination of these provisions.

The procedure thus established draws a critical distinction between the concepts of remedy and sanction. A remedy (such as seniority reform, red circling, or back pay) is an affirmative step which is required to eliminate discrimination or the effects of past discrimination at the subject establishment. It is remedial rather than punitive. It is the mechanism by which the contractor may bring its employment practices into compliance with the Executive Order. On the other hand, a sanction such as debarment is the Government's recourse, or the penalty to be levied, in the event of failure to comply and does not provide relief to victims of the contractor's discrimination.

This section specifies that when requesting approval to institute enforcement proceedings, the compliance agency shall provide the Director with:

Information regarding at least one contract which subjects the contractor to Executive Order liability;

Specification of the sections of the Order, regulations or equal opportunity clause allegedly violated, including a brief description of the relevant facts;

Appropriate documentation and statistical analysis;

A proposed administrative complaint, where appropriate.

In addition, the section specifies that all Executive Order administrative enforcement proceedings will be conducted under the control and supervision of the Solicitor of Labor and under OFCCP's hearing rules. This will provide greater uniformity in the processing of enforcement proceedings. However, it does not preclude other agencies from conducting enforcement proceedings under the supervision of the Solicitor. Finally, this section outlines procedures pertaining to the referral of enforcement matters to the Department of Justice and includes authorization for the Attorney General or his designee to conduct any necessary investigation, make efforts to secure compliance and institute civil actions.

A number of commentators opposed the portion in proposed § 60–1.25(a)(2) which references affected class and back pay relief as being appropriate under the Executive Order. They opined that the Executive Order is only prospective in nature, and that it contains no provision authorizing remedial relief. However, it has been OFCCP policy for a number of years that affected class and back pay relief are authorized by the Executive Order. That policy was recently upheld in "U.S. v. Duquesne Light Co." (C.A. No. 75–1110, W.D. Pa., November 30, 1976).

Commentators also questioned the legality of proposed § 60–1.25 (a)(2), (e) and (f) regarding referrals to the Department of Justice, in light of the 1972 amendments to Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which transferred most Title VII authority to the EEOC. However, we believe that these provisions represent an appropriate exercise of the powers of the Secretary of Labor, catalogued at subparagraphs (2), (3) and (4) of Section 209(a) of the Executive Order as follows:

(2) Recommend to the Department of Justice that, in cases in which there is substantial or material violation or the threat of substantial or material violation of the contractual provisions set forth in Section 202 of this Order, appropriate proceedings be brought to enforce those provisions, including the enjoining, within the limitations of applicable law, of organizations, individuals, or groups who prevent directly, or seek to prevent directly or indirectly compliance with the provisions of this Order.

(3) Recommend to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or the Department of Justice that appropriate proceedings be instituted under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

(4) Recommend to the Department of Justice that criminal proceedings be brought for the furnishing of false information to any contracting agency or to the Secretary of Labor as the case may be.

Comments regarding proposed § 1.25 (c), which is intended to provide greater uniformity in the processing of enforcement actions, were generally favorable. Several comments objected to the control and supervision of enforcement by the Solicitor of Labor because, the commentators felt, this would delay the enforcement process. Because enforcement hearings will, as a general matter, be conducted by the staffs of the various compliance agencies (the Solicitor will control and supervise; not conduct), no undue delay should result.

Sections 60–1.40(a) and 60–2.1 are amended consistent with the December 14 proposal. Accordingly, contractors and subcontractors having 50 or more employees and Government bills of lading which, in any 12-month period, total or can reasonably be expected to total $50,000 or more are now subject to the written affirmative action program requirement.

In response to both the September 17 and December 14 proposals, an industry organization commented that aggregation of bills of lading discriminates against the motor carrier industry by establishing equal employment compliance standards which are different than those applicable to other contractors. However, if the previous provisions were to be retained, virtually the entire motor carrier industry would be excluded from the affirmative action program requirements contained in 41 CFR Part 60–2. As an industry witness stated at the Atlanta hearings, there are between three and twelve motor carriers out of 16,005 which without accumulating bills of lading, would be subject to the affirmative action program requirements of 41 CFR Part 60–2. Goals and timetables and related affirmative action requirements have been recognized as an extremely useful and effective method for ensuring that the objectives of the Executive Order are met. See, e.g., "Contractors Assn. of Eastern Pa. v. Secretary of Labor," 442 F.2d 149 (3rd Cir., 1971), cert. den., 404 U.S. 854 (1971); "U.S. v. Mississippi Power & Light Co."; —— F. Supp. —— (S.D. Miss., 1975), 10 FEP Cases 1084; "Association of General Contractors of Massachusetts v. Altshuler," 490 F. 2d 9 (1st Cir., 1973), cert. denied, 416 U.S. 957 (1974); "Joyce v. McCrane," 320 F. Supp. 1284 (D.N.J., 1970); "Barnett v. International Harvester," —— F. Supp. —— (W.D. Tenn., 1976), 12 FEP Cases 787.

Further, there are significant equal employment problems in the motor carrier industry. In this regard, as the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights stated: "The statistical record on employment of minorities and women in the trucking industry, as well as the number of court cases alleging discrimination by trucking companies, indicate that the compliance examiners have failed to obtain voluntary compliance." U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, The Challenge Ahead: Equal Opportunity in Referral Unions at 170 (1976). See also "U.S. v. Trucking Employers, Inc., et al.," C.A. No. 74–453 (USDC DC, 1974); "Sagers v. Yellow Freight System", 529 F. 2d 721 (5th Cir., 1976), and the cases cited therein. The Commission's report noted that individual bills of lading for shipment of goods "rarely reach $50,000," (p. 239), and although "many firms receive in excess of $50,000 in Government bills of lading cumulated over a year, individual bills of lading almost never exceed $50,000." (p. 171). Since each Government bill of lading constitutes a separate Government contract, most motor carriers were not subject to previous 41 CFR 60–1.40 and 41 CFR Part 60–2, for the development and implementation of written affirmative action programs. The Commission's report (p. 251) supported the application of 41 CFR Part 60–2 to the surface transportation industry, and, noting the inapplicability of that regulation as it then existed to most of the industry under E.O. 11246, recommended that the Interstate Commerce Commission adopt the standards of 41 CFR Part 60–2 for its regulatees.

In order to ensure full and equal employment opportunity in the surface transportation industry, we have decided to amend 41 CFR 60–1.40 and 41 CFR Part 60–2 as described above to reach a significant portion of that important industry, which will now be subject to the same nondiscrimination and affirmative action requirements as other major segments of American industry with which the Government contracts.

In light of these considerations, we are unable to accept the assertion, in the above-referenced trade association's comments on the December 14 proposal, that this provision would be "counterproductive to the ends of equal employment and affirmative action." We believe that the new provision will have a highly salutary and beneficial effect in achieving equal employment opportunity in the surface transportation industry.

In addition, depositories of Federal funds and financial institutions which are issuing and paying agents for U.S. savings bonds and savings notes will be subject to the written affirmative action program requirement regardless of the dollar value of their contractual relationships with the Government. This was proposed at § 60–1.6(a) of the September 17 proposal, and is consistent with existing Department of Treasury practice (41 CFR 10–12.814). Opposition to this proposal was voiced by a banking industry organization, but as we noted in discussing § 1.5(a)(1), we are reluctant to remove existing coverage without further study.

One commentator noted that proposed § 1.6(e):

• • • only recognizes noncompliance in three situations: No AACP, inadequate AACP and deviation from "a previously approved program." Under this provision, the only situation in which a contractor can be found in noncompliance for failure to implement an AACP is where that AACP has previously been approved. Given the extreme understaffing of the federal compliance system, only a small portion of AACP's are ever reviewed and approved by the compliance agencies. Assume that a contractor has an acceptable written AACP which has not previously been approved by the compliance agency. Assume further that a review is conducted which reveals that the contractor has totally failed to implement the AACP and has thus "deviated" from its terms. In this situation, the compliance agencies are not authorized to find the contractor in noncompliance.

The commentator went on to note the same problem was present in the existing regulations. Sections 2.2 (b) and (c) are amended to eliminate this deficiency.

The wording of § 2.2(b) is amended to clarify procedures under which the Director may determine that there are substantial issues of law or fact as to the contractor/bidder's responsibility to the extent that a hearing is required. This provision is cross-referenced in a new paragraph (g) in § 60–1.26.

The portions of proposed § 60–8.7 which specify the information which must be contained in a notice of deficiencies have been adopted and made applicable to the 30-day notice to show cause in § 60–2.2(c)(1). Public comment regarding this "bill of particulars" approach was overwhelmingly favorable. Both contractors and public interest groups felt that it was beneficial to the effective and timely resolution of EEO issues for contractors to be made aware of specific deficiencies and suggested remedies.

The subparagraphs of § 60–2.2(c) have been renumbered to accommodate this additional provision.

In addition, language has been added to the show cause provision to clarify that it is only applicable when administrative enforcement under Part 60–2 (as opposed to judicial enforcement) is contemplated. This is consistent with OFCCP policy and Federal court decision in "United States v. Mississippi Power and Light Co.", 9 EPD (CCH) ¶ 10,164 (S.D. Miss., 1975), appeal pending, and "United States v. New Orleans Public Service, Inc.", 8 EPD (CCH) ¶ 9795 (E.D. La.,) 1974), appeal pending, and is reflected in 41 CFR 60–1.26.

On September 17, we proposed that the previously existing "Hearing rules for sanction proceedings" (41 CFR Part 60–30) be revised, be renamed "Rules of Practice for Administrative Proceedings to Enforce Equal Opportunity Under Executive Order 11246," and be published at Part 60–5. At that time we stated:

Ordinarily, rules of practice, since they deal with procedural matters, would not be subject to proposed rulemaking. However, it is the policy of the Department of Labor, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process. Because of the proposed general revision of the regulations, the Department therefore will consider all comments submitted on this part.

A few comments regarding the rules of practice were received, the majority of which asserted that some of the filing deadlines, most notably those for responding to interrogatories and requests for admissions, were too short. Accordingly, most of the time limitations have been lengthened. In addition, the parties will be referred to as plaintiff (Department of Labor, OFCCP and/or compliance agency) and defendant (employer), rather than complainant and respondent, as proposed.

The rules of practice are adopted as 41 CFR Part 60–30, replacing the previous Part 60–30.

In consideration of the foregoing, 41 CFR Parts 60–1, 60–2 and 60–30 are amended as set forth below.

Effective date. The Rules of Practice for Administrative Proceedings To Enforce Equal Opportunity Under Executive Order 11246 are effective on January 18, 1977, and shall be applicable to actions and proceedings brought thereafter and also to further procedure in actions and proceedings now pending, except to the extent that in the opinion of the Administrative Law Judge their application in a particular action or proceeding now pending would not be feasible or would work injustice in which event the former procedure applies.

All other provisions take effect on February 17, 1977.

Dated: January 14, 1977.

W. J. USERY, Jr.,
Secretary of Labor

JOHN C. READ,
Assistant Secretary, Employment Standards Administration.

LAWRENCE Z. LORBER,
Deputy Assistant Secretary, Director, OFCCP.

1. The title page and indexes to 41 CFR Chapter 60 and 41 CFR Part 60–1 are amended as follows:

CHAPTER 60—OFFICE OF FEDERAL CONTRACT COMPLIANCE PROGRAMS, EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY, DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

NOTE.—The President, by Executive Order 11246 (30 FR 12319), abolished the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity and delegated the functions of the abolished Committee to the Secretary of Labor. By order of the Secretary of Labor, 30 FR 13441, Oct. 22, 1965, all rules, regulations, orders, instructions, and other directives, issued by the abolished Committee, not inconsistent with E.O. 11246 remain in effect for the present as those of the Secretary of Labor. All references in this chapter to "Committee", "Chairman", "Vice-Chairman", and "Executive Vice-Chairman" shall mean the Director of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs of the United States Department of Labor, and all references to "a panel of the Committee" shall mean an appropriate panel of three appointed by the Director.

Subpart A—Preliminary Matters; Equal Opportunity Clause; Compliance Reports

2. 41 CFR 60–1.3 is revised to read as follows:

§ 60–1.3 Definitions.

"Administering agency" means any department, agency and establishment in the Executive Branch of the Government, including any wholly owned Government corporation, which administers a program involving federally assisted construction contracts.

"Administrative Law Judge" means an Administrative Law Judge appointed as provided in 5 U.S.C. 3105 and Subpart B of Part 930 of Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations (see 37 FR 16787) and qualified to preside at hearings under 5 U.S.C. 557.

"Agency" means any contracting or any administering agency of the Government.

"Applicant" means an applicant for Federal assistance involving a construction contract, or other participant in a program involving a construction contract as determined by regulation of an administering agency. The term also includes such persons after they become recipients of such Federal assistance.

"Compliance Agency" means the agency designated by the Director on a geographical, industry or other basis to conduct compliance reviews and to undertake such other responsibilities in connection with the administration of the Order as the Director may determine to be appropriate.

"Construction work" means the construction, rehabilitation, alteration, conversion, extension, demolition or repair of buildings, highways, or other changes or improvements to real property, including facilities providing utility services. The term also includes the supervision, inspection, and other onsite functions incidental to the actual construction.

"Contract" means any Government contract or any federally assisted construction contract.

"Contracting agency" means any department agency, establishment, or instrumentality in the Executive Branch of the Government, including any wholly owned Government corporation, which enters into contracts.

"Contractor" means, unless otherwise indicated, a prime contractor or subcontractor.

"Director" means the Director, Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP), U.S. Department of Labor or any person to whom he delegates authority under the regulations in this part.

"Equal opportunity clause" means the contract provisions set forth in § 60–1.4 (a) or (b), as appropriate.

"Federally assisted construction contract" means any agreement or modification thereof between any applicant and a person for construction work which is paid for in whole or in part with funds obtained from the Government or borrowed on the credit of the Government pursuant to any Federal program involving a grant, contract, loan, insurance, or guarantee, or underwritten pursuant to any Federal program involving such grant, contract, loan, insurance, or guarantee, or any application or modification thereof approved by the Government for a grant, contract, loan, insurance, or guarantee under which the applicant itself participated in the construction work.

"Government" means the Government of the United States of America.

"Government contract" means any agreement or modification thereof between any contracting agency and any person for the furnishing of supplies or services or for the use of real or personal property, including lease arrangements. The term "services", as used in this section includes, but is not limited to the following services: Utility, construction, transportation, research, insurance, and fund depositary. The term "Government contract" does not include (1) agreements in which the parties stand in the relationship of employer and employee, and (2) federally assisted construction contracts.

"Minority group" as used herein shall include, where appropriate, female employees and perspective female employees.

"Modification" means any alteration in the terms and conditions of a contract, including supplemental agreements, amendments, and extensions.

"Order", "Executive Order", or "Executive Order 11246" means Parts II, III, and IV of Executive Order 11246 dated September 24, 1965 (30 FR 12319), any Executive order amending such Order, and any other Executive order superseding such order.

"Person" means any natural person, corporation, partnership, unincorporated association, State or local government, and any agency, instrumentality, or subdivision of such a government.

"Prime contractor" means any person holding a contract and, for the purposes of Subpart B of this part, any person who has held a contract subject to the Order.

"Recruiting and training agency" means any person who refers workers to any contractor or subcontractor or who provides for employment by any contractor or subcontractor.

"Rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the Secretary of Labor" used in paragraph (4) of the equal opportunity clause means rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the Secretary of Labor or his designee issued pursuant to the Order.

"Secretary" means the Secretary of Labor, U.S. Department of Labor.

"Site of construction" means the general physical location of any building, highway, or other change or improvement to real property which is undergoing construction, rehabilitation, alteration, conversion, extension, demolition, or repair and any temporary location or facility at which a contractor, subcontractor, or other participating party meets a demand or performs a function relating to the contract or subcontract.

"Subcontract" means any agreement or arrangement between a contractor and any person (in which the parties do not stand in the relationship of an employer and an employee):

(1) For the furnishing of supplies or services or for the use of real or personal property, including lease arrangements, which, in whole or in part, is necessary to the performance of any one or more contracts; or

(2) Under which any portion of the contractor's obligation under any one or more contracts is performed, undertaken, or assumed.

"Subcontractor" means any person holding a subcontract and, for the purposes of Subpart B of this part, any person who has held a subcontract subject to the Order. The term "First-tier subcontractor" refers to a subcontractor holding a subcontract with a prime contractor.

"United States" as used herein shall include the several States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Panama Canal Zone, and the possessions of the United States.

3. 41 CFR 60–1.4 is amended by revising paragraphs (d) and (e) as follows:

§ 60–1.4 Equal opportunity clause.

• • • • •

(d) Incorporation by reference.—The equal opportunity clause may be incorporated by reference in all Government contracts and subcontracts, including Government bills of lading, transportation requests, contracts for deposit of Government funds, and contracts for issuing and paying U.S. savings bonds and notes, and such other contracts and subcontracts as the Director may designate.

(e) Incorporation by operation of the Order.—By operation of the Order, the equal opportunity clause shall be considered to be a part of every contract and subcontract required by the Order and the regulations in this part to include such a clause whether or not it is physically incorporated in such contracts and whether or not the contract between the agency and the contractor is written.

• • • • •

4. 41 CFR 60–1.5 is amended by revising paragraph (a)(1) and by adding a new paragraph (a)(6) as follows:

§ 60–1.5 Exemptions.

(a) General—(1) Transactions of $10,000 or under.—Contracts and subcontracts not exceeding $10,000, other than Government bills of lading and other than contracts and subcontracts with depositories of Federal funds in any amount and with financial institutions which are issuing and paying agents for U.S. savings bonds and savings notes, are exempt from the requirements of the equal opportunity clause. In determining the applicability of this exemption to any federally assisted construction contract, or subcontract thereunder, the amount of such contract or subcontract rather than the amount of the Federal financial assistance shall govern. No agency, contractor, or subcontractor shall procure supplies or services in a manner so as to avoid applicability of the equal opportunity clause: Provided, That where a contractor has contracts or subcontracts with the Government in any 12-month period which have an aggregate total value (or can reasonably be expected to have an aggregate total value) exceeding $10,000, the $10,000 or under exemption does not apply, and the contracts are subject to the Order and the regulations issued pursuant thereto regardless of whether any single contract exceeds $10,000.

• • • • •

(6) Work on or near Indian reservations.—It shall not be a violation of the equal opportunity clause for a construction or nonconstruction contractor to extend a publicly announced preference in employment to Indians living on or near an Indian reservation in connection with employment opportunities on or near an Indian reservation. The use of the word "near" would include all that area where a person seeking employment could reasonably be expected to commute to and from in the course of a work day. Contractors or subcontractors extending such a preference shall not, however, discriminate among Indians on the basis of religion, sex, or tribal affiliation, and the use of such a preference shall not excuse a contractor from complying with the other requirements contained in this chapter.

• • • • •

5. 41 CFR Part 60–1 is amended by adding a new § 60–1.10 as follows:

§ 60–1.10 Foreign government practices.

Contractors shall not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex or national origin when hiring or making employee assignments for work to be performed in the United States or abroad. Contractors are exempted from this obligation only when hiring persons outside the United States for work to be performed outside the United States (see 41 CFR 60–1.5(a)(3)). Therefore, a contractor hiring workers in the United States for either Federal or nonfederally connected work shall be in violation of Executive Order 11246, as amended, by refusing to employ or assign any person because of race, color, religion, sex or national origin regardless of the policies of the country where the work is to be performed or for whom the work will be performed. Should any contractor be unable to acquire a visa of entry for any employee or potential employee to a country in which or with which it is doing business, and which refusal it believes is due to the race, color, religion, sex, or national origin of the employee or potential employee, the contractor must immediately notify the Department of State and the Director of such refusal.

Subpart B—General Enforcement; Compliance Review and Complaint Procedure

6. 41 CFR 60–1.21, 1.22, 1.23 and 1.24 are revised to read as follows:

§ 60–1.21 Filing complaints.

Complaints shall be filed within 180 days of the alleged violation unless the time for filing is extended by the compliance agency or the Director for good cause shown.

§ 60–1.22 Where to file.

Complaints may be filed with the compliance agency or the OFCCP, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C., 20210. Those filed with the Director may be referred to the compliance agency for processing, or they may be processed in accordance with § 60–1.26.

§ 60–1.23 Contents of complaint.

(a) The complaint shall include the name, address, and telephone number of the complainant, the name and address of the contractor or subcontractor committing the alleged discrimination, a description of the acts considered to be discriminatory, and any other pertinent information which will assist in the investigation and resolution of the complaint. The complaint shall be signed by the complainant or his/her authorized representative. Complaints alleging class-type violations which do not identify the alleged discriminatee or discriminatees will be accepted, provided the other requirements of this paragraph are met.

(b) Where a complaint contains incomplete information, the compliance agency or OFCCP shall seek the needed information from the complainant. In the event such information is not furnished to the compliance agency or the Director within 60 days of the date of such request, the case may be closed.

§ 60–1.24 Processing of matters by agencies and the Director.

(a) Complaints.—A copy of each complaint filed with the compliance agency shall be transmitted to the Director within 10 days after the receipt thereof. OFCCP and the compliance agencies may refer appropriate complaints to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) for processing under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, rather than processing under E.O. 11246 and the regulations in this chapter. Upon referring complaints to the EEOC, compliance agencies or the OFCCP, as appropriate, shall promptly notify complainant(s) and the contractor of such referral.

(b) Complaint investigations.—In conducting complaint investigations, OFCCP or the compliance agency shall, as a minimum, conduct a thorough evaluation of the allegations of the complaint and shall be responsible for developing a complete case record. The compliance agency shall follow such other guidance in investigating the complaints as the Director provides. The case record should contain the name, address, and telephone number of each person interviewed, the interview statements, copies, transcripts, or summaries (where appropriate) of pertinent documents, a reference to at least one covered contract, and a narrative report of the investigation with references to exhibits and other evidence which relate to the alleged violations. When a complaint is filed against a prime contractor or sub-contractor who has contracts involving more than one agency, unless otherwise provided, the compliance agency shall conduct the investigation and make such findings and determinations as shall be appropriate for the administration of the Order.

(c) Resolution of matters.—(1) If the complaint investigation by the compliance agency pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section shows no violation of the equal opportunity clause, the agency shall so inform the Director. The Director may review the findings of the agency, and he may request further investigation by the agency or may undertake such investigation as he may deem appropriate.

(2) If any complaint investigation or compliance review indicates a violation of the equal opportunity clause, the matter should be resolved by informal means whenever possible. Such informal means may include the holding of a compliance conference by the compliance agency. Each prime contractor and subcontractor shall be advised that the resolution is subject to review by the Director and may be disapproved if he determines that such resolution is not sufficient to achieve compliance.

(3) Where any complaint investigation or compliance review indicates a violation of the equal opportunity clause and the matter has not been resolved by informal means, the Director or the compliance agency, with the approval of the Director, shall proceed in accordance with § 60–1.26.

(4) When a prime contractor or subcontractor, without a hearing, shall have complied with the recommendations or orders of a compliance agency or the Director and believes such recommendations or orders to be erroneous, he shall, upon filing a request therefor within ten days of such compliance, be afforded an opportunity for a hearing and review of the alleged erroneous action by the agency or the Director.

(5) For reasonable cause shown, the Director or a compliance agency may reconsider or cause to be reconsidered any matter on his own motion or pursuant to a request.

(d) Reports to the Director.—(1) With the exception of complaints which have been referred to EEOC, within 60 days from receipt of a complaint by the compliance agency, or within such additional time as may be allowed by the Director for good cause shown, the compliance agency shall process the complaint and submit to the Director the case record and a summary report containing the following information:

(i) Name and address of the complainant;

(ii) Brief summary of findings, including a statement as to the agency's conclusions regarding the contractor's compliance or noncompliance with the requirements of the equal opportunity clause;

(iii) A statement of the disposition of the case, including any corrective action taken and any sanctions or penalties imposed or, whenever appropriate, the recommended corrective action and sanctions or penalties.

(2) A written report of every preaward compliance review required by this regulation or otherwise required by the Director, including findings, will be forwarded to the Director within 10 days after the award for a postaward review.

(3) A written report of every other compliance review or any other matter processed by the agency involving an apparent violation of the equal opportunity clause shall be submitted to the Director. Such report shall contain a brief summary of the findings, including a statement of conclusions regarding the contractor's compliance or noncompliance with the requirements of the Order, and a statement of the disposition of the case, including any corrective action taken or recommended and any sanctions or penalties imposed or recommended.

7. 41 CFR 60–1.26 is revised to read as follows:

§ 60–1.26 Enforcement proceedings.

(a) General.—(1) Violations of the Order, equal opportunity clause, the regulations in this chapter, or of applicable construction industry equal employment opportunity requirements, may result in the institution of administrative or judicial enforcement proceedings to enforce the Order and to seek appropriate relief. Violations may be found based upon, inter alia, any of the following: (i) The results of a complaint investigation; (ii) analysis of an affirmative action program; (iii) the results of an on-site review of the contractor's compliance with the Order and its implementing regulations; (iv) a contractor's refusal to submit an affirmative action program; (v) a contractor's refusal to allow an on-site compliance review to be conducted; (vi) a contractor's refusal to supply records or other information as required by these regulations or applicable construction industry requirements; or (vii) any substantial or material violation or the threat of a substantial or material violation of the contractual provisions of the Order, or of the rules or regulations issued pursuant thereto.

(2) If the investigation of a complaint, or a compliance review, results in a determination that the Order, equal opportunity clause or regulations issued pursuant thereto, have been violated, and the violations have not been corrected in accordance with the conciliation procedures in this chapter, the compliance agency (with the prior approval of the Director), or OFCCP may institute an administrative enforcement proceeding to enjoin the violations, to seek appropriate relief (which may include affected class and back pay relief), and to impose appropriate sanctions, or any of the above. However, if the contractor refuses to submit an affirmative action program, or refuses to supply records or other requested information, or refuses to allow the compliance agency access to its premises for an on-site review; and if conciliation efforts under this chapter are unsuccessful, the compliance agency (with the prior approval of the Director) or OFCCP, notwithstanding the requirements of Part 60–60 of this chapter, may go directly to administrative enforcement proceedings to enjoin the violations, to seek appropriate relief, and to impose appropriate sanctions, or any of the above. Whenever the Director has reason to believe that there is substantial or material violation or the threat of substantial or material violation of the contractual provisions of the Order or of the rules, regulations or orders issued pursuant thereto, he/she may institute administrative enforcement proceedings as set forth in this section or refer the matter to the Department of Justice to enforce the contractual provisions of the Order, to seek injunctive relief (including relief against noncontractors, including labor unions, who seek to thwart implementation of the Order and regulations) and to seek such additional relief, including back pay, as may be appropriate. There are no procedural prerequisites to a referral to the Department of Justice by the Director, and such referrals may be accomplished without proceeding through the conciliation procedures in this chapter, and a referral may be made at any stage in the procedures under this chapter: Provided, That no order for debarment from further contracts or subcontracts pursuant to section 209(a)(6) of the Order shall be made without affording the contractor an opportunity for a hearing, either administrative or judicial.

(b) Request to institute enforcement proceedings.—(1) If a compliance agency determines that a contractor or any other person, organization or group is in violation or threatens violation of the Order or the regulations issued pursuant thereto (through, e.g., any of the seven examples listed in § 60–1.26(a)), the compliance agency shall attempt to resolve the matter, where appropriate, through the conciliation procedure set out in this chapter. If the compliance agency is unable to resolve the matter, it shall send to the Director a written request for the institution of either administrative or judicial enforcement proceedings. The request shall describe at least one contract which covers the contractor under the Order (or if the proposed defendant is not a contractor, the basis for finding coverage under the Order) and under § 60–1.40, if appropriate. The request shall specify sections of the Order or regulations allegedly violated and briefly describe the facts which give rise to the violations. Appropriate documentation and statistical analysis also shall be attached.

(2) If the compliance agency requests that administrative enforcement proceedings be instituted, a proposed administrative complaint which conforms to the regulations in § 60–30.5 of this chapter shall be attached to the request to institute enforcement proceedings.

(3) The Director is not bound by a request for enforcement from a compliance agency, and he/she may take such action as he/she deems appropriate: Provided, That where analysis of a request for enforcement proceedings (including additional investigation, if necessary) indicates a violation of the Order or its implementing regulations, and the Director is unable to resolve the matter through informal methods, he/she shall institute enforcement proceedings under § 60–1.26.

(c) Administrative enforcement proceedings.—Administrative enforcement proceedings instituted by a compliance agency or the OFCCP shall be conducted under the control and supervision of the Solicitor of Labor and under the Rules of Practice for Administrative Proceedings to Enforce Equal Opportunity Under Executive Order 11246 contained in Part 60–30 of this chapter.

(d) Decision following administrative proceeding.—If it is determined after a hearing (or after the contractor waives a hearing) that the contractor is violating the Order or the regulations issued thereunder, the compliance agency (in accordance with 41 CFR 60–30.30(b)) or the Secretary (in accordance with 41 CFR 60–30.30(a)) shall issue an Administrative Order enjoining the violations and requiring the contractor to provide whatever remedies are appropriate, and imposing whatever sanctions are appropriate, or any of the above. In any event, failure to comply with the Administrative Order shall result in the imposition of the sanctions contained in section 209(a)(5) or (a)(6) of the Executive Order.

(e) Referrals to the Department of Justice.—(1) Whenever a matter has been referred to the Department of Justice for consideration of judicial proceedings pursuant to § 60–1.26(a)(2) of these regulations, the Attorney General may bring a civil action in the appropriate district court of the United States requesting a temporary restraining order, preliminary or permanent injunction, and an order for such additional equitable relief, including back pay, deemed necessary or appropriate to ensure the full enjoyment of the rights secured by the Order, or any of the above.

(2) The Attorney General is authorized to conduct such investigation of the facts as he may deem necessary or appropriate to carry out his responsibilities under these regulations.

(3) Prior to the institution of any judicial proceedings, the Attorney General, on behalf of the Director, is authorized to make reasonable efforts to secure compliance with the contract provisions of the Order. He may do so by providing the contractor and any other respondent with reasonable notice of his findings, his intent to file suit, and the actions he believes necessary to obtain compliance with the contract provisions of the Order without contested litigation, and by offering the contractor and any other respondent a reasonable opportunity for conference and conciliation, in an effort to obtain such compliance without contested litigation.

(4) As defined in these regulations, the Attorney General shall mean the Attorney General, the Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights, or any other person authorized by regulations or practice to act for the Attorney General with respect to the enforcement of equal employment opportunity laws, orders and regulations generally, or in a particular matter or case.

(5) The Director or his/her designee, representatives of the compliance agencies and representatives of the Attorney General may consult from time to time to determine what investigations should be conducted to determine whether contractors or groups of contractors or other persons may be engaged in patterns or practices in violation of the Executive Order or these regulations, or of resistance to or interference with the full enjoyment of any of the rights secured by them, warranting judicial proceedings.

(f) Initiation of lawsuits by the Attorney General without referral from the Director.—In addition to initiating lawsuits upon referral under 41 CFR 60–1.26, the Attorney General may, subject to approval by the Director, initiate independent investigations of contractors which he/she has reason to believe may be in violation of the Order or the rules and regulations issued pursuant thereto. If, upon completion of such an investigation, the Attorney General determines that the contractor has in fact violated the Order or the rules and regulations issued thereunder, he shall make reasonable efforts to secure compliance with the contract provisions of the Order. He may do so by providing the contractor and any other respondent with reasonable notice of the Department's findings, its intent to file suit, and the actions that the Attorney General believes are necessary to obtain compliance with the contract provisions of the Order without contested litigation, and by offering the contractor and any other respondent a reasonable opportunity for conference and conciliation in an effort to obtain such compliance without contested litigation. If these efforts are unsuccessful, the Attorney General may, upon approval by the Director, bring a civil action in the appropriate district court of the United States requesting a temporary restraining order, preliminary or permanent injunction, and an order for such additional equitable relief, including back pay, deemed necessary or appropriate to ensure the full enjoyment of the rights secured by the Order, or any of the above.

(g) To the extent applicable, this section shall govern proceedings resulting from the Director's determination under § 60–2.2(b) that there are substantial issues of law or fact as to the contractor/bidder's responsibility.

Subpart C—Ancillary Matters

8. 41 CFR 60–1.40(a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 60–1.40 Affirmative action compliance programs.

(a) Requirements of programs.—Each agency or applicant shall require each prime contractor who has 50 or more employees and (1) has a contract of $50,000 or more; or (2) has Government bills of lading which, in any 12-month period, total or can reasonably be expected to total $50,000 or more; or (3) serves as a depository of Government funds in any amount; or (4) is a financial institution which is an issuing and paying agent for U.S. savings bonds and savings notes in any amount, and each prime contractor and subcontractor shall require each subcontractor who has 50 or more employees and (i) has a subcontract of $50,000 or more; or (ii) has Government bills of lading which, in any 12-month period, total or can reasonably be expected to total $50,000 or more; or (iii) serves as a depository of Government funds in any amount; or (iv) is a financial institution which is an issuing and paying agent for U.S. savings bonds and savings notes in any amount, to develop a written affirmative action compliance program for each of its establishments. A necessary prerequisite to the development of a satisfactory affirmative action program is the identification and analysis of problem areas inherent in minority employment and an evaluation of opportunities for utilization of minority group personnel. The contractor's program shall provide in detail for specific steps to guarantee equal employment opportunity keyed to the problems and needs of members of minority groups, including, when there are deficiencies, the development of the specific goals and timetables for the prompt achievement of full and equal employment opportunity. Each contractor shall include in its affirmative action compliance program a table of job classifications. This table should include but need not be limited to job titles, principal duties (and auxiliary duties, if any), rates of pay, and where more than one rate of pay applies (because of length of time in the job or other factors), the applicable rates. The affirmative action compliance program shall be signed by an executive official of the contractor.

PART 60–2—AFFIRMATIVE ACTION PROGRAMS

Subpart A—General

9. 41 CFR 60–2.1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 60–2.1 Title, purpose and scope.

(a) This part shall also be known as "Revised Order No. 4" and shall cover nonconstruction contractors. Section 60–1.40 of this chapter, Affirmative action compliance programs, requires that within 120 days from the commencement of a contract each prime contractor or subcontractor with 50 or more employees and (1) a contract of $50,000 or more; or (2) Government bills of lading which, in any 12-month period, total or can reasonably be expected to total $50,000 or more; or (3) who serves as a depository of Government funds in any amount; or (4) who is a financial institution which is an issuing and paying agent for U.S. savings bonds and savings notes in any amount, develop a written affirmative action compliance program for each of its establishments.

A review of agency compliance surveys indicates that many contractors do not have affirmative action programs on file at the time an establishment is visited by a compliance investigator. This part details the agency review procedure and the results of a contractor's failure to develop and maintain an affirmative action program and then sets forth detailed guidelines to be used by the contractors and Government agencies in developing and judging these programs as well as the good faith effort required to transform the programs from paper commitments to equal employment opportunity. Subparts B and C of this part are concerned with affirmative action programs only.

(b) Relief, including back pay where appropriate, for members of an affected class who by virtue of past discrimination continue to suffer the present effects of that discrimination, shall be provided in the conciliation agreement entered into pursuant to § 60–60.6 of this title. An "affected class" problem must be remedied in order for a contractor to be considered in compliance. Section 60–2.2 herein pertaining to an acceptable affirmative action program is also applicable to the failure to remedy discrimination against members of an "affected class."

10. 41 CFR 60–22.2 (b) and (c) are amended to read as follows:

§ 60–2.2 Agency action.

* * * * *

(b) If, in determining such contractor's responsibility for an award of a contract, it comes to the contracting officer's attention through sources within his agency or through the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs or other Government agencies, that the contractor has no affirmative action program at each of his establishments, or has substantially deviated from an approved affirmative action program, or has failed to develop or implement an affirmative action program which complies with the regulations in this chapter, the contracting officer shall declare the contractor/bidder nonresponsible and so notify the contractor, the Director, and the compliance agency unless he can otherwise affirmatively determine that the contractor is able to comply with his equal employment obligations. Any contractor/bidder which has been declared nonresponsible in accordance with the provisions of this section may request the Director to determine that the responsibility of the contractor/bidder raises substantial issues of law or fact to the extent that a hearing is required. Such request shall set forth the basis upon which the contractor/bidder seeks such a determination. If the Director, in his/her sole discretion, determines that substantial issues of law or fact exist, an administrative or judicial proceeding may be commenced in accordance with the regulations contained in § 60–1.26; or the Director may require the compliance agency to develop the investigation or compliance review further or to conduct additional conciliation: Provided, That during any pre-award conferences, every effort shall be made through the processes of conciliation, mediation and persuasion to develop an acceptable affirmative action program meeting the standards and guidelines set forth in §§ 60–2.10 through 60–2.32 so that in the performance of his contract, the contractor is able to meet his equal employment obligations in accordance with the equal opportunity clause and applicable rules, regulations, and orders: Provided further, That when the contractor-bidder is declared nonresponsible more than once for inability to comply with the equal employment opportunity clause, the compliance agency shall promptly send to the Director a written request that enforcement proceedings be initiated pursuant to § 60–1.26. Such request for initiation of enforcement proceedings shall be sent to the Director no later than the date of issuance of the second nonresponsibility determination.

(c) (1) Immediately upon finding that a contractor has no affirmative action program, or has deviated substantially from an approved affirmative action program, or has failed to develop or implement an affirmative action program which complies with the requirements of the regulations in this chapter, the compliance agency representative or the representative of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs, whichever has made such a finding, shall notify officials of the appropriate compliance agency and the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs of such fact. Whenever administrative enforcement is contemplated, the compliance agency shall issue a notice to the contractor giving him 30 days to show cause why enforcement proceedings under section 209(b) of Executive Order 11246, as amended, should not be instituted. The notice to show cause should contain:

(i) An itemization of the sections of the Executive Order and of the regulations with which the contractor has been found in apparent violation, and a summary of the conditions, practices, facts or circumstances which give rise to each apparent violation;

(ii) The corrective actions necessary to achieve compliance or, as may be appropriate, the concepts and principles of an acceptable remedy and/or the corrective action results anticipated;

(iii) A request for a written response to the findings, including commitments to corrective action or the presentation or opposing facts and evidence; and

(iv) A suggested date for the conciliation conference.

(2) If the contractor fails to show good cause for his failure or fails to remedy that failure by developing and implementing an acceptable affirmative action program within 30 days the compliance agency shall promptly send to the Director a written request for enforcement proceedings pursuant to § 60–1.26 of this chapter, giving the contractor 20 days to request a hearing. If a request for hearing has not been received within 20 days from such notice, such contractor will be declared ineligible for future contracts, and current contracts will be terminated for default.

(3) During the "show cause" period of 30 days, every effort will be made by the compliance agency through conciliation, mediation, and persuasion to resolve the deficiencies which led to the determination of nonresponsibility. If satisfactory adjustments designed to bring the contractor into compliance are not concluded, the compliance agency shall promptly send to the Director a written request for enforcement proceedings pursuant to § 60–1.26 of this chapter.

11. 41 CFR 60–2.12 is amended by redesignating paragraphs (j), (k), (l) and (m) as (k), (l), (m), and (n) and by adding a new (j) as follows:

§ 60–2.12 Establishment of goals and timetables.

* * * * *

(j) a contractor or subcontractor extending a publicly announced preference for Indians as authorized in 41 CFR 60–1.5(a)(6) may reflect in its goals and timetables the permissive employment preference for Indians living on or near an Indian reservation.

AUTHORITY: Secs. 201, 205, 208, 209, 301, 302(b) and 303(a) of the Executive Order 11246, as amended, 30 FR 12319; 32 FR 14303; § 50–1.25 of Part 60–1 of this chapter (41 CFR Part 60–1).

GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 60–30.1 Applicability of rules.

This part provides the rules of practice for all administrative proceedings, instituted either by the OFCCP or by a compliance agency, including but not limited to proceedings instituted against construction contractors or subcontractors, which relate to the enforcement of equal opportunity under Executive Order 11246, as amended. In the absence of a specific provision, procedures shall be in accordance with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

§ 60–30.2 Waiver, modification.

Upon notice to all parties, the Administrative Law Judge may, with respect to matters pending before him, modify or waive any rule herein upon a determination that no party will be prejudiced and that the ends of justice will be served thereby.

§ 60–30.3 Computation of time.

In computing any period of time under these rules or in an order issued hereunder, the time begins with the day following the act, event, or default, and includes the last day of the period, unless it is a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday observed by the Federal Government in which event it includes the next business day.

§ 60–30.4 Form, filing, service of pleadings and papers.

(a) Form.—The original of all pleadings and papers in a proceeding conducted under the regulations in this part shall be filed with the Administrative Law Judge assigned to the case or with the Chief Administrative Law Judge if the case has not been assigned. Every pleading and paper filed in the proceeding shall contain a caption setting forth the name of the agency instituting the proceeding, the title of the action, the case file number assigned by the Administrative Law Judge, and a designation of the pleading or paper (e.g. complaint, motion to dismiss, etc.). The pleading or papers shall be signed and shall contain the address and telephone number of the person representing the party or the person on whose behalf the pleading or paper was filed. Unless otherwise ordered for good cause by the Administrative Law Judge regarding specific papers and pleadings in a specific case, all such papers and pleadings are public documents.

(b) Service.—Service upon any party shall be made by the party filing the pleading or document by delivering a copy or mailing a copy to the party's last known address. When a party is represented by an attorney, the service shall be upon the attorney.

(c) Proof of service.—A certificate of the person serving the pleading or other document by personal delivery or by mailing, setting forth the manner of service, shall be proof of the service.

PREHEARING PROCEDURES

§ 60–30.5 Administrative complaint.

(a) Issuance.—The Solicitor of Labor, upon referral from the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs, shall institute enforcement proceedings by issuing a complaint and causing the complaint to be served upon the contractor which shall be designated in the complaint as the defendant. The Department of Labor, OFCCP, and/or the compliance agency handling the case shall be designated as the plaintiff.

(b) Contents.—The complaint shall contain a concise jurisdictional statement, and a clear and concise statement sufficient to put the defendant on notice of the acts or practices it is alleged to have committed in violation of the Order, the regulations, or its contractual obligations. The complaint shall also contain a prayer regarding the relief being sought, a statement of whatever sanctions the Government will seek to impose and the name and address of the attorney who will represent the Government.

(c) Amendment.—The complaint may be amended once as a matter of course before an answer is filed, and the defendant may amend its answer once as a matter of course not later than 10 days after the filing of the original answer. Other amendments of the complaint or of the answer to the complaint shall be made only by leave of the Administrative Law Judge or by written consent of the adverse party; and leave shall be freely given where justice so requires. An amended complaint shall be answered within 14 days of its service, or within the time for filing an answer to the original complaint, whichever period is longer. An amended answer shall be responded to within 14 days of its service.

§ 60–30.6 Answer.

(a) Filing and service.—Within 20 days after the service of the complaint, the defendant shall file an answer with the Chief Administrative Law Judge if the case has not been assigned to an Administrative Law Judge. The answer shall be signed by the defendant or its attorney, and served on the Government in accordance with § 60–30.4(b).

(b) Contents; failure to file.—The answer shall (1) contain a statement of the facts which constitute the grounds of defense, and shall specifically admit, explain, or deny, each of the allegations of the complaint unless the defendant is without knowledge, in which case the answer shall so state; or (2) state that the defendant admits all the allegations of the complaint. The answer may contain a waiver of hearing; and if not, a separate paragraph in the answer shall request a hearing. The answer shall contain the name and address of the defendant, or of the attorney representing the defendant. Failure to file an answer or to plead specifically to any allegation of the complaint shall constitute an admission of such allegation.

(c) Procedure, upon admission of facts.—The admission, in the answer or by failure to file an answer, of all the material allegations of fact contained in the complaint shall constitute a waiver of hearing. Upon such admission, the Administrative Law Judge, without further hearing, may prepare his decision in which he shall adopt as his proposed findings of fact the material facts alleged in the complaint. The parties shall be given an opportunity to file exceptions to his decision and to file briefs in support of the exceptions.

§ 60–30.7 Notice of prehearing conference.

The Administrative Law Judge shall respond to defendant's request for a hearing within 15 days and shall serve a notice of prehearing conference on the parties. The notice shall contain the time and place of the conference.

§ 60–30.8 Motions; disposition of motions.

(a) Motions.—Motions shall state the relief sought, the authority relied upon and the facts alleged, and shall be filed with the Administrative Law Judge. If made before or after the hearing itself, the motions shall be in writing. If made at the hearing, motions may be stated orally, but the Administrative Law Judge may require that they be reduced to writing and filed and served on all parties in the same manner as a formal motion. Unless otherwise ordered by the Administrative Law Judge, written motions shall be accompanied by a supporting memorandum. Within 10 days after a written motion is served, or such other time period as may be fixed by the Administrative Law Judge, any party may file a response to a motion.

(b) Disposition of motions.—The Administrative Law Judge may not grant a written motion prior to the expiration of the time for filing responses thereto, except upon consent of the parties or following a hearing, but may overrule or deny such motion without awaiting response: Provided, That prehearing conferences, hearings, and decisions need not be delayed pending disposition of motions.

§ 60–30.9 Interrogatories and admissions as to facts and documents.

(a) Interrogatories.—Not later than 25 days prior to the date of the hearing, except for good cause shown, or not later than 14 days prior to such earlier date as the Administrative Law Judge may order, any party may serve upon an opposing party written interrogatories. Each interrogatory shall be answered separately and fully in writing under oath, unless objected to. Answers are to be signed by the person making them and objections by the attorney or by whoever is representing the party. Answers and objections shall be filed and served within 25 days of service of the interrogatory.

(b) Admissions.—Not later than 14 days prior to the date of the hearing, except for good cause shown, or not later than 14 days prior to such earlier date as the Administrative Law Judge may order, any party may serve upon an opposing party a written request for the admission of the genuineness and authenticity of any relevant documents described in and exhibited with the request, or for the admission of the truth of any relevant matters of fact stated in the request. Each of the matters as to which an admission is requested shall be deemed admitted, unless within 25 days after service, the party to whom the request is directed serves upon the requesting party a sworn statement either (1) denying specifically the matter as to which an admission is requested, or (2) setting forth in detail the reasons why he cannot truthfully either admit or deny such matters.

(c) Objections or failures to respond.—The party submitting the interrogatory or request may move for an order with respect to any objection or other failure to respond.

§ 60–30.10 Production of documents and things and entry upon land for inspection and other purposes.

(a) After commencement of the action, any party may serve on any other party a request to produce and/or permit the party, or someone acting on his behalf, to inspect and copy any documents, phonorecords, and other compilations, including computer tapes and printouts which contain or may lead to relevant information and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the party upon whom the request is served. If necessary, translation of data compilations shall be done by the party furnishing the information.

(b) After commencement of the action, any party may serve on any other party a request to permit entry upon designated property which may be relevant to the issues in the proceeding and which is in the possession or control of the party upon whom the request is served for the purpose of inspection, measuring, surveying or photographing, testing, or sampling the property or any designated object or area.

(c) Each request shall set forth with reasonable particularity the items to be inspected and shall specify a reasonable time and place for making the inspection and performing the related acts.

(d) The party upon whom the request is served shall respond within 25 days after the service of the request. The response shall state, with respect to each item, that inspection and related activities will be permitted as requested, unless there are objections, in which case the reasons for each objection shall be stated. The party submitting the request may move for an order with respect to any objection or to other failure to respond.

§ 60–30.11 Depositions upon oral examination.

(a) Depositions; notice of examination.—After commencement of the action, any party may take the testimony of any person, including a party, having personal or expert knowledge of the matters in issue, by deposition upon oral examination. A party desiring to take a deposition shall give reasonable notice in writing to every other party to the proceeding, and may use an administrative subpoena. The notice shall state the time and place for taking the deposition and the name and address of each person to be examined, if known, and, if the name is not known, a general description sufficient to identify him or the particular class or group to which he belongs. The notice shall also set forth the categories of documents the witness is to bring with him to the deposition, if any. A copy of the notice shall be furnished to the person to be examined unless his name is unknown.

(b) Production of witnesses; obligation of parties; objections.—It shall be the obligation of each party to produce for examination any person, along with such documents as may be requested, at the time and place, and on the date, set forth in the notice, if that party has control over such person. Each party shall be deemed to have control over its officers, agents, employees, and members. Unless the parties agree otherwise, depositions shall be held within the county in which the witness resides or works. The party or prospective witness may file with the Administrative Law Judge an objection within 5 days after notice of production of such witness is served, stating with particularity the reasons why the party cannot or ought not produce a requested witness. The party serving the notice may move for an order with respect to such objection or failure to produce a witness. All errors or irregularities in compliance with the provisions of this section shall be deemed waived unless a motion to suppress the deposition or some part thereof is made with reasonable promptness after such defect is or, with due diligence, might have been ascertained.

(c) Before whom taken; scope of examination; failure to answer.—Depositions may be taken before any officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the United States or of the place where the deposition is held. At the time and place specified in the notice, each party may examine and cross-examine the witness under oath upon any matter which is revelant to the subject matter of the proceeding, or which is reasonably calculated to lead to the production of relevant and otherwise admissible evidence. All objections to questions, except as to the form thereof, and all objections to evidence are reserved until the hearing. A refusal or failure on the part of any person under the control of a party to answer a question shall operate to create a presumption that the answer, if given, would be unfavorable to the controlling party, unless the question is subsequently ruled improper by the Administrative Law Judge or the Administrative Law Judge rules that there was valid justification for the witness' failure or refusal to answer the question: Provided, That the examining party shall note on the record during the deposition the question which the deponent has failed, or refused, to answer, and state his intention to invoke the presumption if no answer is forthcoming.

(d) Subscription; certification; filing.—The testimony shall be reduced to typewriting, either by the officer taking the deposition or under his direction, and shall be submitted to the witness for examination and signing. If the deposition is not signed by the witness because he is ill, dead, cannot be found, or refuses to sign it, such fact shall be noted in the certificate of the officer and the deposition may then be used as fully as though signed. The officer shall immediately deliver the original copy of the transcript, together with his certificate, in person or by mail to the Administrative Law Judge. Copies of the transcript and certificate shall be furnished to all persons desiring them, upon payment of reasonable charges, unless distribution is restricted by order of the Administrative Law Judge for good cause shown.

(e) Rulings on admissibility; use of deposition.—Subject to the provisions of this section, objection may be made at the hearing to receiving in evidence any deposition or part thereof for any reason which would require the exclusion of the evidence if the witness were then present and testifying. Any part or all of a deposition, so far as admissible in the discretion of the Administrative Law Judge, may be used against any party who was present or represented at the taking of the deposition or who had reasonable notice, in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) Any deposition may be used by any party for the purpose of contradicting or impeaching the testimony of the deponent as a witness.

(2) The deposition of a party or of anyone who at the time of taking the deposition was an officer, director, or managing agent, or was designated to testify on behalf of a public or private corporation, partnership, association, or governmental agency which is a party may be used by the adverse party for any purpose.

(3) The deposition of a witness whether or not a party, may be used by any party for any purpose if the hearing examiner finds: (i) That the witness is dead; or (ii) that the witness is unable to attend or testify because of age, illness, infirmity, or imprisonment; or (iii) that the party offering the deposition has been unable to procure the attendance of the witness by subpoena; or (iv) upon application and notice, that such exceptional circumstances exist as to make it desirable to allow the deposition to be used.

(4) If only part of a deposition is introduced in evidence by a party, any party may introduce any other parts by way of rebuttal and otherwise.

(f) Stipulations.—If the parties so stipulate in writing, depositions may be taken before any person at any time or place, upon any notice and in any manner, and when so taken may be used like other depositions.

§ 60–30.12 Prehearing conferences.

(a) Upon his own motion or the motion of the parties, the Administrative Law Judge may direct the parties or their counsel to meet with him for a conference to consider:

(1) Simplification of the issues;

(2) Necessity or desirability of amendments to pleadings for purposes of clarification, simplification, or limitation;

(3) Stipulations, admissions of fact and of contents and authenticity of documents;

(4) Limitation of the number of expert witnesses;

(5) Scheduling dates for the exchange of witness lists and of proposed exhibits; and

(6) Such other matters as may tend to expedite the disposition of the proceeding.

(b) The record shall show the matters disposed of by order and by agreement in such pretrial conferences. The subsequent course of the proceeding shall be controlled by such action.

§ 60–30.13 Consent findings and order.

(a) General.—At any time after the issuance of a complaint and prior to or during the reception of evidence in any proceeding, the parties may jointly move to defer the receipt of any evidence for a reasonable time to permit negotiation of an agreement containing consent findings and an order disposing of the whole or any part of the proceeding. The allowance of such deferment and the duration thereof shall be in the discretion of the Administrative Law Judge after consideration of the nature of the proceeding, the requirements of the public interest, the representations of the parties, and the probability of an agreement being reached which will result in a just disposition of the issues involved.

(b) Content.—Any agreement containing consent findings and an order disposing of a proceeding shall also provide:

(1) That the order shall have the same force and effect as an order made after full hearing;

(2) That the entire record on which any order may be based shall consist solely of the complaint and the agreement;

(3) That any further procedural steps are waived; and

(4) That any right to challenge or contest the validity of the findings and order entered into in accordance with the agreement is waived.

(c) Submission.—On or before the expiration of the time granted for negotiations, the parties or their counsel may:

(1) Submit the proposed agreement to the Administrative Law Judge for his consideration; or

(2) Inform the Administrative Law Judge that agreement cannot be reached.

(d) Disposition.—In the event an agreement containing consent findings and an order is submitted within the time allowed, the Administrative Law Judge within 30 days, shall accept such agreement by issuing his decision based upon the agreed findings and his decision shall constitute the final Administrative Order.

HEARINGS AND RELATED MATTERS

§ 60–30.14 Designation of Administrative Law Judges.

Hearings shall be held before an Administrative Law Judge of the compliance agency or of the Department of Labor who shall be designated by the Chief Administrative Law Judge of the compliance agency or of the Department of Labor. After commencement of the proceeding but prior to the designation of an Administrative Law Judge pleadings and papers shall be filed with the Chief Administrative Law Judge.

§ 60–30.15 Authority and responsibilities of Administrative Law Judges.

The Administrative Law Judge shall propose findings and conclusions to the compliance agency or to the Secretary on the basis of the record. In order to do so, he shall have the duty to conduct a fair hearing, to take all necessary action to avoid delay, and to maintain order. He shall have all powers necessary to those ends, including, but not limited to, the power to:

(a) Hold conferences to settle, simplify, or fix the issues in a proceeding, or to consider other matters that may aid in the expeditious disposition of the proceeding by consent of the parties or upon his own motion.

(b) Require parties to state their position with respect to the various issues in the proceeding;

(c) Require parties to produce for examination those relevant witnesses and documents under their control; and require parties to answer interrogatories and requests for admissions in full.

(d) Administer oaths;

(e) Rule on motions, and other procedural items or matters pending before him;

(f) Regulate the course of the hearing and conduct of participants therein;

(g) Examine and cross-examine witnesses, and introduce into the record documentary or other evidence;

(h) Receive, rule on, exclude, or limit evidence and limit lines of questioning or testimony which are irrelevant, immaterial or unduly repetitious;

(i) Fix time limits for submission of written documents in matters before him and extend any time limits established by this part upon a determination that no party will be prejudiced and that the ends of justice will be served thereby;

(j) Impose appropriate sanctions against any party or person failing to obey an order under these rules which may include:

(1) Refusing to allow the disobedient party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting it from introducing designated matters in evidence;

(2) Excluding all testimony of an unresponsive or evasive witness, or determining that the answer of such witness, if given, would be favorable to the party having control over him; and

(3) Expelling any party or person from further participation in the hearing;

(k) Take official notice of any material fact not appearing in evidence in the record which is among the traditional matters of judicial notice;

(l) Recommend whether the respondent is in violation of the Order, regulations, or its contractual obligations, as well as the nature of the relief necessary to ensure the full enjoyment of the rights secured by the Order;

(m) Issue subpoenas;

(n) Take any action authorized by these rules.

§ 60–30.16 Appearances.

(a) Representation.—The parties or other persons or organizations participating pursuant to this Part 60–30 have the right to be represented by counsel.

(b) Failure to appear.—In the event that a party appears at the hearing and no party appears for the opposing side, the party who is present shall have an election to present his evidence in whole or such portion thereof sufficient to make a prima facie case before the Administrative Law Judge. Failure to appear at the hearing shall not be deemed to be a waiver of the right to be served with a copy of the Administrative Law Judge's recommended decision and to file exceptions to it.

§ 60–30.17 Appearance of witnesses.

(a) A party wishing to procure the appearance at the hearing of any person having personal or expert knowledge of the matters in issue shall serve on the prospective witness a notice which may be accomplished by an administrative subpoena, setting forth the time, date and place at which he is to appeal for the purpose of giving testimony. The notice shall also set forth the categories of documents the witness is to bring with him to the hearing, if any. A copy of the notice shall be filed with the Administrative Law Judge and additional copies shall be served upon the opposing parties.

(b) It shall be the obligation of each party to produce for examination any person, along with such documents as may be requested, at the time and place, and on the date, set forth in the notice, if that party has control over such person. Each party shall be deemed to have control over its officers, agents, employees, and members. Due regard shall be given to the convenience of witnesses in scheduling their testimony so that they will be detained no longer than reasonably necessary.

(c) The party or prospective witness may file an objection within 5 days after notice of production of such witness is served, stating with particularity the reasons why the party cannot produce a requested witness. The party serving the notice may move for an order with respect to such objection or failure to produce a witness.

§ 60–30.18 Evidence; testimony.

Formal rules of evidence shall not apply, but rules or principles designed to assure production of the most probative evidence available shall be applied. Testimony shall be given orally by witnesses at the hearing. A witness shall be available for cross-examination, and, at the discretion of the Administrative Law Judge, may be cross-examined without regard to the scope of direct examination as to any matter which is relevant and material to the proceeding. The Administrative Law Judge may exclude evidence which is immaterial, irrelevant, or unduly repetitious.

§ 60–30.19 Objections; exceptions; offer of proof.

(a) Objections.—If a party objects to the admission or rejection of any evidence or to the limitation of the scope of any examination or cross-examination or the failure to limit such scope, he shall state briefly the grounds for such objection. Rulings on all objections shall appear in the record. Only objections made on the record may be relied upon subsequently in the proceedings.

(b) Exceptions.—Formal exception to an adverse ruling is not required. Rulings by the Administrative Law Judge shall not be appealed prior to the transfer of the case to the compliance agency or to the Secretary but shall be considered by the compliance agency or the Secretary upon filing exceptions to the Administrative Law Judge's recommendations and conclusions.

(c) Offer of proof.—An offer of proof made in connection with an objection taken to any ruling excluding proffered oral testimony shall consist of a statement of the substance of the evidence which counsel contends would be adduced by such testimony; and, if the excluded evidence consists of evidence in written form or consists of reference to documents, a copy of such evidence shall be marked for identification and shall accompany the record as the offer of proof.

§ 60–30.20 Ex parte communications.

The Administrative Law Judge shall not consult any person, or party, on any fact in issue unless upon notice and opportunity for all parties to participate. No employee or agent of the Federal Government engaged in the investigation and prosecution of this case shall participate or advise in the rendering of the recommended or final decision, except as witness or counsel in the proceeding.

§ 60–30.21 Oral argument.

Any party shall be entitled upon request to a reasonable period between the close of evidence and termination of the hearing for oral argument. Oral arguments shall be included in the official transcript of the hearing.

§ 60–30.22 Official transcript.

The official transcripts of testimony taken, together with any exhibits, briefs, or memorandums of law, shall be filed with the Administrative Law Judge. Transcripts of testimony may be obtained from the official reporter by the parties and the public as provided in Section 11(a)(1) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (86 Stat. 770). Upon notice to all parties, the Administrative Law Judge may authorize such corrections to the transcript as are necessary to reflect accurately the testimony.

§ 60–30.23 Summary judgment.

(a) For the Government.—At any time after the expiration of 20 days from the commencement of the action, or after service of a motion for summary judgment by the respondent, the Government may move with or without supporting affidavits for summary judgment upon all claims or any part.

(b) For defendant.—The defendant may, at any time after commencement of the action, move with or without supporting affidavits for summary judgment in its favor as to all claims or any part.

(c) Other parties.—Any other party to a formal proceeding under this part may support or oppose motions for summary judgment made by the Government or respondent, in accordance with this section, but may not move for a summary judgment in its own behalf.

(d) Statement of Uncontested Facts.—All motions for summary judgment shall be accompanied by a "Statement of Uncontested Facts" in which the moving party sets forth all alleged uncontested material facts which shall provide the basis for its motion. At least 5 days prior to the time fixed for hearing on the motion, any party contending that any material fact regarding the matter covered by the motion is in dispute, shall file a "Statement of Disputed Facts." Failure to file a "Statement of Disputed Facts" shall be deemed as an admission to the "Statement of Uncontested Facts."

(e) Motion and proceedings.—The motion shall be served upon all parties and at least 15 days before the time fixed for the hearing on the motion. The adverse party or parties may serve opposing affidavits prior to the day of hearing. The judgment sought shall be rendered forthwith if the complaint and answer, depositions, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Summary judgment rendered for or against the Government or the respondent shall constitute the findings and recommendations on the issues involved. Hearings on motions made under this section shall be scheduled by the Administrative Law Judge.

(f) Case not fully adjudicated on motion.—If on motion under this section, judgment is not rendered upon the whole case or for all the relief asked and a final hearing is necessary, the Administrative Law Judge at the hearing of the motion, by examining the notice and answer and the evidence before him and by interrogating counsel, shall, if practicable, ascertain what material facts exist without substantial controversy and what material facts are actually and in good faith controverted. He shall thereupon make an order specifying the facts that appear without substantial controversy, including the extent to which relief is not in controversy, and directing such furthering proceedings as are just. At the hearing on the merits, the facts so specified shall be deemed established, and the final hearing shall be conducted accordingly.

§ 60–30.24 Participation by interested persons.

(a) (1) To the extent that proceedings hereunder involve employment of persons covered by a collective bargaining agreement, and compliance may necessitate a revision of such agreement, any labor organization which is a signatory to the agreement shall have the right to participate as a party.

(2) Other persons or organizations shall have the right to participate as parties if the final Administrative Order could adversely affect them or the class they represent and such participation may contribute materially to the proper disposition of the proceedings.

(3) Any person or organization wishing to participate as a party under this paragraph shall file with the Administrative Law Judge and serve on all parties a petition within 25 days after the commencement of the action or at such other time as ordered by the Administrative Law Judge, so long as it does not disrupt the proceeding. Such petition shall concisely state (i) petitioner's interest in the proceedings, (ii) who will appear for petitioner, (iii) the issues on which petitioner wishes to participate, and (iv) whether petitioner intends to present witnesses.

(4) The Administrative Law Judge shall determine whether each petitioner has the requisite interest in the proceedings and shall permit or deny participation accordingly. Where petitions to participate as parties are made by individuals or groups with common interest, the Administrative Law Judge may request all such petitioners to designate a single representative to represent all such petitioners: Provided, That the representative of a labor organization qualifying to participate under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph must be permitted to participate in the proceeding. The Administrative Law Judge shall give each petitioner written notice of the decision on his petition; and if the petition is denied, he shall briefly state the grounds for denial and shall then treat the petition as a request for participation as amicus curiae. The Administrative Law Judge shall give written notice to each party of each petition granted.

(b) (1) Any other interested person or organization wishing to participate as amicus curiae shall file a petition before the commencement of the final hearing with the Administrative Law Judge. Such petition shall concisely state (i) the petitioner's interest in the hearing, (ii) who will represent the petitioner, and (iii) the issues on which petitioner intends to present argument. The Administrative Law Judge may grant the petition if he finds that the petitioner has a legitimate interest in the proceedings, and that such participation may contribute materially to the proper disposition of the issues. An amicus curiae is not a party but may participate as provided in this paragraph.

(2) An amicus curiae may present a brief oral statement at the hearing, at the point in the proceedings specified by the Administrative Law Judge. He may submit a written statement of position to the Administrative Law Judge prior to the beginning of a hearing, and shall serve a copy on each party. He may also submit a brief or written statement at such time as the parties submit briefs and exceptions, and shall serve a copy on each party.

POST HEARING PROCEDURES

§ 60–30.25 Proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law.

Within 20 days after receipt of the transcript of the testimony, each party and amicus may file a brief. Such briefs shall be served simultaneously on all parties and amici, and a certificate of service shall be furnished to the hearing examiner. Requests for additional time in which to file a brief shall be made in writing, and copies shall be served simultaneously on the other parties. Requests for extensions shall be received not later than 3 days before the date such briefs are due. No reply brief may be filed except by special permission of the Administrative Law Judge.

§ 60–30.26 Record for recommended decision.

The transcript of testimony, exhibits, and all papers, documents, and requests filed in the proceedings, including briefs, but excepting the correspondence section of the docket, shall constitute the record for decision.

§ 60–30.27 Recommended decision.

Within a reasonable time after the filing of briefs, the Administrative Law Judge shall recommend findings, conclusions, and a decision. These recommendations shall be certified, together with the record for recommended decision to the head of the compliance agency if the proceeding was instituted by the agency, or to the Secretary if it was instituted by the OFCCP, for a final Administrative Order. The recommended findings, conclusions, and decision shall be served on all parties and amici to the proceeding.

§ 60–30.28 Exceptions to recommended decisions.

Within 14 days after receipt of the recommended findings, conclusions, and decision, any party may submit exceptions to said recommendation. These exceptions may be responded to by other parties within 14 days of their receipt by said parties. All exceptions and responses shall be filed with the compliance agency or, where appropriate, with the Secretary. Service of such briefs or exceptions and responses shall be made simultaneously on all parties to the proceeding. Requests to the compliance agency or the Secretary for additional time in which to file exceptions and responses shall be in writing and copies shall be served simultaneously on other parties. Requests for extensions must be received no later than 3 days before the exceptions are due.

§ 60–30.29 Record.

After expiration of the time for filing briefs and exceptions, the compliance agency or, where appropriate, the Secretary shall make a final decision, which shall be the final Administrative Order, on the basis of the record. The record shall consist of the record for recommended decision, the rulings and recommended decision of the Administrative Law Judge and the exceptions and briefs filed subsequent to the Administrative Law Judge's decision.

§ 60–30.30 Final Administrative Order.

(a) After expiration of the time for filing, the Secretary shall make a final Administrative Order which shall be served on all parties. If the Secretary concludes that the defendant has violated the Executive Order, the equal opportunity clause, or the regulations, an Administrative Order shall be issued enjoining the violations, and requiring the contractor to provide whatever remedies are appropriate, and imposing whatever sanctions are appropriate, or any of the above. In any event, failure to comply with the Administrative Order shall result in the immediate cancellation, termination and suspension of the respondent's contracts and/or debarment of the respondent from further contracts.

(b) If the administrative proceeding was instituted by the compliance agency, a similar order will be prepared by the agency and forwarded to the Director for approval. When approved by the Director, the order becomes the final Administrative Order and shall be served on all parties. In any event, failure to comply with the Administrative Order will result in the immediate cancellation, termination and suspension of the contractor's contracts and/or debarment of the respondent from further contracts.

2 EXPLANATION OF CHANGES

.1 Part 120:
a. Amended section 122.514 to increase the charge for correcting mailing lists.
b. Revised section 122.53 to specify the proper manner of marking address cards arranged in sequence of carrier route delivery.
c. Added new section 123.44(b) to include Matter Promoting Animal Fighting Ventures (7 U.S.C. 2156) in Part 123, which deals with nonmailable written, printed, and graphic matter.
d. Corrected section 125.52 to show the proper address to which Forms 2201 should be mailed and to indicate weekly submission of Forms 2201.

s. Modified section 134.53 so that municipal, county, or State governmental bodies are not excluded from eligibility for special third-class rates, if they can otherwise qualify within one of the defined categories which may be authorized to mail at the special rates.
t. Amended Part 135 to reflect the current rates for fourth-class matter.
u. Added new section 135.112 to provide bulk zone rates for 300 or more pieces of fourth-class (parcel post) mail.
v. Amended section 135.12 to include both fourth-class catalogs and similar bound printed matter in a subclass called bound printed matter and provide the rates for such matter.
w. Added new section 135.132 to provide bulk presort rates for special fourth-class matter and establish an annual fourth-class mailing fee for mailers using such rates.
x. Revised section 135.2 to clarify the classification of fourth-class mail and to provide for the special fourth-class presort rate.
y. Redesignated section 135.22 as 135.15 and amended to describe the postal zones and otherwise clarify the regulation.
z. Expanded section 135.26b to include books mailed by a publisher or distributor to a school, college, university, or library as items eligible to be mailed at library rate.
aa. Amended section 135.3 to reflect the size and weight limitations of bulk rate parcel post and bound printed matter.
bb. Amended section 135.4 to require that mailers of fourth-class matter at presort and bulk rates pay postage by permit imprint.
cc. Added new section 135.521(i) to permit enclosures or attachments to fourth-class mail on which the first-class rate has been paid.
dd. Renumbered sections 135.6 and 135.7/ as 135.53 and 135.6 respectively.
ee. Added new section 135.7 requiring a ZIP Code on all fourth-class matter mailed at bound printed matter, bulk parcel post, library and special fourth-class rates.
ff. Amended section 135.8 to require that mailings at bulk or presort rates be made at a station or branch specified by the postmaster.

(134.122); and bulk fourth-class catalogs and similar advertising matter (135.121):

Mr. John Doe/or current occupant; or
Mr. John Doe/or current resident; followed by the complete address as shown in 122.421.

b. Users of the authorized exceptional form of address on bulk third-class and fourth-class catalogs and advertisements may not use the postal endorsements Address Correction Requested, Return Postage Guaranteed, or Forwarding and Return Postage Guaranteed simultaneously with the exceptional form of address.
c. The materials addressed in this manner must not be enclosed in a sealed envelope or wrapper.

.43 NUMBER OF CUSTOMERS

On request, postmasters will furnish, without charge, information as follows:
a. Number of post office boxholders.
b. Route numbers and number of boxholders on each rural and star route.
c. Route numbers and number of families on each rural route.
d. Number of families served or number of business places served within the total delivery area or on particular carrier routes.

.44 MAILING UNDER CONGRESSIONAL FRANK

.441 Address by Name and Post Office

Except as provided in 122.442, all mail sent under the franking privilege must be addressed to the recipient by name and post office address.

.442 Simplified Address

a. Mail sent under the franking privilege of a Member of, or Member-elect, Delegate, Delegate-elect, Resident Commissioner, or Resident Commissioner-elect to the House of Representatives may be addressed under the simplified forms in 122.411 and 122.42 for delivery to customers within the area he was elected to represent. A member whose congressional district is redistricted may also send mail under his frank using the simplified forms for delivery within any additional area added to his district, beginning on the date the redistricting is completed by legislative or judicial proceedings (whether or not the redistricting is actually in effect), and continuing until his district is again changed by further legislative or judicial proceedings. Mail so addressed will be delivered within that district to any or all of the following:
(1) Each boxholder on a rural or star route or each family on a rural or star route.
(2) Each post office boxholder.
(3) Each stop or possible delivery on city carrier routes.
b. The information in 122.43 will, on request, be furnished for a congressional district in those instances where a post office serves areas which are located in more than one district.
c. Simplified address mailings sent under the frank must be prepared as prescribed in 122.413. Each facing slip should show the congressional district or other area in which delivery is to be made.
d. Representatives elected at large may send franked mail with simplified address to Postal customers within the entire State which elected the Member.

.45 OVERSEAS MILITARY POST OFFICES

The simplified forms of address in this section are not acceptable on mail for overseas military post offices. See 122.81 for the proper methods of addressing mail for overseas military post offices.

122.5 MAILING LIST SERVICES

.51 CORRECTION OF MAILING LISTS

.511 Service Available

Mailing lists submitted by Members of Congress, Federal agencies, departments of State governments, municipalities, religious, fraternal, and recognized charitable organizations and mailing lists used by concerns or persons for the solicitation of business by mail will be corrected as frequently as requested. Postal employees must not compile mailing lists, including occupant lists. Persons other than Postal employees may not copy or record by any other means names or addresses from city or rural carrier cases.

.512 Name and Address Lists

a. Method of Submission. Submit typewritten or printed lists on cards, one name and address to a card, to the post office that serves the addresses. The cards should be about the size and quality of a postal card. Data processing cards are acceptable. The owner of the list must place his name in the upper left corner of each card. The employee responsible for the correction and return of the mailing list will record the name and address of the owner, number of cards or sheets, and date received for accounting purposes. At post offices with 189 or fewer revenue units, mailing lists may be submitted in sheet form. Submit lists by mail only, except large lists presented by local firms for correction.
b. Type of Corrections to be Made. Cross off names to which mail cannot be delivered or forwarded. Correct incorrect house, rural, or post office box numbers. Correct initials where apparently the name is known to the owner of the list. Indicate the head of the family, if known, when two or more names are shown for the same address. Furnish new addresses, including ZIP Code numbers for customers who have moved, when permanent forwarding orders are on file. If no change is necessary, mark an X in the upper right corner of the card. New names will not be added to a list. See 122.53 for delivery sequence.

.513 Occupant Lists

a. Method of Submission. Submit lists of street addresses on cards (as described in 122.512a), one address to a card, or in sheet form, provided the sheets are made up separately by carrier routes and each sheet bears the list owner's name and address.
b. Type of Corrections to be Made. Correct lists for mail addressed to occupant and street address. Cross off numbers representing incorrect or nonexistent street addresses, but do not change or add numbers. Indicate business addresses by inserting B opposite the number. Indicate addresses on a rural route by R. Indicate the number of separate family units opposite addresses of apartment houses or other multiple dwellings. If no change is necessary, mark an X in the upper right corner of the card or sheet. Group corrected cards or sheets by routes when returning to the owner so that he may handle and label mailings by routes.

.514 Charges

a. The minimum charge for each list corrected is $1. For list of more than 10 names or addresses, the charge is 10 cents per name or street address, including individual apartments. Where rural routes have been consolidated or changed to another post office, no charge will be made for correction if the list contains only names of persons residing on the route or routes involved.

b. Except for authorized users of official mail, payment must be made in advance by cash or money order. Do not return lists to commercial mailers until charges and postage fees have been collected.
c. Payment for correction of lists submitted by Members of Congress is made under the official mail reimbursement program. Submit a report on Form 103, Originating Franked Mail, to:
Revenue Statistics Branch
Office of Statistical Programs and Standards
U.S. Postal Service
Washington, DC 20260
(Attn: Originating Franked Mail)
d. Payment for correction of lists submitted by Federal agencies is made under the official mail reimbursement program. Submit a report on Item 013, Routing Slip, or by memorandum indicating the applicable charges and the name of the Federal agency for which the list was corrected, to:
Manager, Government Revenue and Examination Branch Finance Department
U.S. Postal Service
Washington, DC 20260

.515 Postage on Lists

Typewritten lists are subject to postage at the first-class rate. Those prepared by stencil, mimeograph, printing, or similar process may be mailed at the third- or fourth-class rate depending on the weight. Return lists to customers free of postage.

.516 Mailing List Correction Time Limitation

Within 10 working days after receipt by the employee responsible for the correction and return of mailing lists, the lists must be corrected and returned to the owners. EXCEPTION: The 10-working days time limitation shall not apply to mailing lists received for correction between November 16 and January 1. Mailing lists received for correction between these dates shall be corrected and returned at the convenience of the post office, but as early as possible.

.52 FURNISHING ADDRESS CHANGES TO ELECTION BOARDS AND REGISTRATION COMMISSIONS

Residential change-of-address information is available to duly constituted election boards or registration commissions using permanent registration, at a cost of 8 cents for each change-of-address Form 3575 notwithstanding the schedule of fees in 262.7. An election board or registration commission desiring this information must submit to the postmaster a written request signed by an authorized official. The postmaster will send the request to the Regional Postmaster General for approval. On approval, the postmaster will receive necessary instructions from the Regional Postmaster General for release, control, and return of change-of-address Form 3575.

.53 ADDRESS CARDS ARRANGED IN SEQUENCE OF CARRIER DELIVERY

Arrange address cards in sequence of carrier route delivery without charge. Each card must include only one address. Withdraw cards with incorrect, nonexistent, or other undeliverable addresses. Mailers may submit address plates or stencils instead of cards when satisfactory arrangements can be made to handle them. Insert a blank card for each existing address that is not included in the owner's address cards, plates, or stencils. If several addresses are missing in a series, insert a single blank card for the series and indicate on the card the number of addresses which are missing. The missing address must not be provided by the Postal Service. Postmasters must check to see that mailers whose lists have been arranged in sequence prepare bundles for each route with the individual pieces in address sequence. This service shall not be provided to mailers who do not make the required premailing preparation. It must not be provided as a substitute for the list correction service provided by 122.51.

.54 FURNISHING CITY AND STATE SCHEMES

To assist volume mailers in preparing their mailings, postmasters may furnish, on request, a copy of the city scheme or the State scheme used by clerks for sorting mail, and he may arrange address cards, plates, or stencils by carrier routes.

.55 ZIP CODING OF MAILING LISTS

.551 Single-ZIP-Coded Offices

It is the mailer's responsibility to ZIP Code mailing lists for the single ZIP-Code post offices described in 122.632 and the multi-ZIP-Coded post offices described in 122.633 (see also 122.634).

.552 Multi-ZIP-Coded Post Offices

Under the following conditions, post offices will sort mailing lists consisting of addresses for the multi-ZIP-Coded post offices described in section 122.633 (see also 122.634) according to five-digit ZIP Code delivery units at a charge of $1.50 per thousand addresses or fraction thereof, payable to the local postmaster upon submission of the list:
a. Mailers with EDP equipment must first match their mailing lists with Postal Service EDP magnetic tapes or data processing cards, or both, to obtain the maximum number of ZIP Codes for those addresses which were previously zoned and which were unaffected by zone boundary changes when the ZIP Code system was introduced. It will also provide ZIP Codes for one-code offices. The addresses to be separated by the post offices must be submitted on cards about the size and quality of a postal card. Data processing cards are acceptable. The cards must be separated by the post offices of address and submitted by the owner to his local post office.
b. Post offices will not write ZIP Codes on individual cards. The cards will be sorted to local ZIP Code areas by city primary distributors and will be securely tied in bundles with a facing slip on each bundle reading "All for ZIP Code Area _____." Return the ZIP Coded bundles to the post office or the owner according to who submitted the cards.
c. Mailing lists should be wrapped by the owner for mailing, when practicable, and must bear the name and address of the owner. The local postmaster shall enclose addressed penalty labels (Label 41) for use in returning the coded cards to his office.
d. Gummed labels, wrappers, envelopes, or postal or post cards indicative of one-time use will not be accepted as mailing lists.

d. Lewd or Filthy Matter (18 U.S.C. 1461, 1463). Obscene, lewd, lascivious, or filthy publications or writings, or mail containing information concerning where, how, or from whom such matter may be obtained, and matter which is otherwise mailable but which has on its wrapper or envelope any indecent, lewd, lascivious, or obscene writing or printing. Any mail containing any filthy, vile, or indecent thing.

e. Matter Inciting to Violence (18 U.S.C. 1461, 1717). Any matter of a character tending to incite arson, murder, assassination, treason, insurrection, or forcible resistance to any law of the United States, or containing any threat to take the life of, or to inflict harm upon, the President of the United States.

f. Libelous Matter (18 U.S.C. 1718). Any matter otherwise mailable which has on its outside wrapper or envelope or any postal card which bears on its face, any libelous, scurrilous, defamatory or threatening language or delineation, or is otherwise obviously intended to reflect injuriously on the character or conduct of another.

g. Other Matter (18 U.S.C. 1717). Every letter, writing, circular, postal card, picture, print, engraving, photograph, newspaper, pamphlet, book, or other publication, matter or thing, described in the statutes hereinafter referenced:
(1) Forged or altered military or official passes (18 U.S.C. 499);
(2) Matter bearing forged or altered seals of Government departments or agencies (18 U.S.C. 506);
(3) Defense information (18 U.S.C. 793, 794);
(4) Documents obtained by persons falsely assuming to be foreign diplomats (18 U.S.C. 915);
(5) False statements influencing foreign governments (18 U.S.C. 954);
(6) Matter relating to a conspiracy to injure property of a foreign government (18 U.S.C. 956);
(7) Matter unlawfully in aid of a foreign government (18 U.S.C. 957);
(8) Matter relating to an expedition against a friendly nation (18 U.S.C. 960);
(9) Matter relating to delivery of an armed vessel to a belligerent nation (18 U.S.C. 964);
(10) Matter wrongfully bearing the seal of a Government department or agency (18 U.S.C. 1017);
(11) Passport applications containing false statements, and passports falsely obtained (18 U.S.C. 1542);
(12) Forged, altered or misused passports (18 U.S.C. 1543, 1544);
(13) Matter bearing false statements intended to injure armed forces during war (18 U.S.C. 2388).

h. Matter Promoting an Animal Fighting Venture (7 U.S.C. 2156). Matter promoting or in any other manner furthering an animal fighting venture conducted in any State, except a venture involving live birds which is permitted under the laws of the State in which it is conducted. For purposes of this provision:
(1) The term State means any State of the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or any territory or possession of the United States;
(2) The term animal means any live bird, or any live dog or other mammal, except man; and
(3) The term animal fighting venture means any event involving a fight between at least two animals which is conducted for sport, wagering, or entertainment, but does not include any activity whose primary purpose involves using one or more animals in hunting another animal or animals.

123.5 SEXUALLY ORIENTED ADVERTISEMENTS

.51 GENERAL

.511 Section 3010 of title 39, United States Code, provides a means by which a member of the public can act to protect himself and his minor children from receiving unsolicited sexually oriented advertisements through the mails. This section permits any person who is served by the U.S. Postal Service to file with the Postal Service a statement that he does not desire to receive any sexually oriented advertisements through the mails. Any mailer who sends that person an unsolicited sexually oriented advertisement more than 30 days after the date on which the Postal Service adds his name to its reference List of those who desire this protection, may be subject to both civil and criminal sanctions, as provided in 39 U.S.C. 3011 and in 18 U.S.C. 1735–37.

.512 39 U.S.C. 3010(d) defines a "sexually oriented advertisement" as "any advertisement that depicts, in actual or simulated form, or explicitly describes, in a predominantly sexual context, human genitalia, any act of natural or unnatural sexual intercourse, any act of sadism or masochism, or any other erotic subject directly related to the foregoing." It further provides that "material otherwise within the definition of this subsection shall be deemed not to constitute a sexually oriented advertisement if it constitutes only a small and insignificant part of the whole of a single catalog, book, periodical or other work the remainder of which is not primarily devoted to sexual matters."

.513 The responsibility for ensuring that no unsolicited sexually oriented advertisement is sent through the mails to any person in violation of section 3010 is placed by that section on the mailers of sexually oriented advertisements. No provision of Postal Service regulations may be used to place this responsibility upon the Postal Service. For example, the privilege of a sender to recall a piece of mail provided by section 153.5 may not be so used, although it may be used in good faith to request the recall of a specific piece of mail inadvertently deposited in the mails addressed to a person on the List.

.52 APPLICATION FOR LISTING

.521 A person may invoke the protection of section 3010 by completing and filing, with any postmaster or other designated Postal Service representative, Part II of Application for Listing Pursuant to 39 U.S.C. 3010, Form 2201, which may be obtained at any post office. Form 2201 bears a preprinted identifying number in two places: On the instruction portion (part I) and on the application portion (part II). After filing the application portion the customer should retain the instruction portion and should use the identifying number in any subsequent communication with the Postal Service concerning his application.

.522 A person may file on his own behalf and on behalf of any of his children under the age of 19 years who reside with him or are under his care, custody or supervision. An authorized officer, agent, fiduciary, surviving spouse or other representative, may file in behalf of a corporation, firm, association, estate, or deceased or incompetent addressee.

.523 Each postmaster shall transmit all applications received at his post office to the Office of Mail Classification, Rates & Classification Department, U.S. Postal Service, Washington, DC 20260 on a weekly basis.

.524 The Office of Mail Classification, Rates and Classification Department, as soon as practical after receipt of a Form 2201, shall place the customer's name and address, the names and addresses of his minor children if any are included on the application, on the Postal Service's List (hereafter, "List") of persons desiring not to receive sexually oriented advertising. This information will be processed and the List updated monthly. The 30-day period provided by section 3010(b) starts on the effective date of the List on which the person's name first appears.

.525 A person's name and address will be retained on the List for a period of 5 years, unless a request for revocation is sooner filed by that person. A person must file a new application at the end of the 5-year period if he desires to continue his name on the List. The names and addresses of minor children will be automatically removed from the List when they attain 19 years of age. A minor must file an original application in his own behalf if he desires to continue his name on the List after reaching 19 years of age.

.526 The filing of a single application results in the listing of a single address for the person filing. A person who receives mail at more than one address and who wishes the protection of section 3010 at more than one address should file a separate application for each. A person who moves must file a new application to receive the protection of section 3010 at his new address. The submission of Change of Address Order, Form 3575, will not be effective for this purpose. It would not be a violation of section 3010 to mail a sexually oriented advertisement to a person at an address other than that which is shown for him on the List. It would be a violation, however, to mail such an advertisement to him at the address shown for him even though he has moved from that address.

.53 REVOCATION OF LISTING

A person, at any time, may request the removal of his name and address, or that of one or more of his minor children, from the List by so notifying his postmaster. It would not be evidence of a violation of section 3010 if a person received a sexually oriented advertisement in the mails on or after the date he gives such notice.

.54 AVAILABILITY OF POSTAL SERVICE LISTS

.541 Copies of the List and/or periodic amendments thereto shall be available to any person upon payment of the annual service fee. A program year runs from January 1 through December 31. Buyers will receive a copy of the List and monthly updates of additions and deletions to the List for the year in which the purchase is made. The List may be ordered in the form of reduced reproduction of computer printout or magnetic tape. Further information on the format of the tapes may be obtained from the Director, Office of Mail Classification.

.542 The annual service fee will be determined by dividing the number of buyers for the previous calendar year into the total cost to the Postal Service of compiling, processing, printing, and distributing the List.

.543 Requests for the List shall be submitted to the Director, Office of Mail Classification, Rates & Classification Department, U.S. Postal Service, Washington, DC 20260. A certified or cashier's check made payable to the U.S. Postal Service must be received in payment before the List will be provided the buyer.

.544 This List may be used by mailers only to protect persons whose names appear on it from receiving unwanted sexually oriented advertisements through the mails. No person, including a subscriber to the List, may use the List for any other purpose, and no person may sell, lease, rent, lend, exchange, or license another to use this List for any purpose whatsoever, including its use by another to remove names from a list of persons to whom sexually oriented advertisements will be sent. No person may use the List or a copy thereof for the purpose of preparing mailing or other lists for sale.

lease, rent, loan, exchange or use by another. Violators are subject to criminal prosecution.

.55 MARKING OF ENVELOPE

Section 3010(a) authorizes and directs the Postal Service to provide a mark or notice which must be placed on the envelope or cover of any sexually oriented advertisement sent through the mails, together with the name and address of the sender. The following provisions are in implementation of this authority and direction:

a. Any person who mails or causes to be mailed any sexually oriented advertisement shall place in the upper left-hand corner of the exterior face of the mail piece, whereon appear the address designation and postmarks, postage stamps, or indicia thereof, the sender's name and address. In the right-hand portion below the postage stamp, or indicia thereof, and above the addressee designation, there shall be placed Sexually Oriented Ad. The words Sexually Oriented Ad, however, need not be placed on the exterior envelope or cover of a mail piece containing such an advertisement if the contents of the mail piece are enclosed in a sealed envelope or cover, inside the exterior envelope or cover, which sealed envelope or cover bears conspicuously the words Sexually Oriented Ad.

b. The name and address of the sender and the required legend, if it is placed on the exterior face of the mail piece, shall be printed in a size type no smaller than that used for any other word on the envelope or other cover, and in no event smaller than 12-point type. Such type shall be no less conspicuous than the boldest type used to print other words on the exterior face of the mail piece.

c. The contrast between the background and printing of the sender's name and address and the contrast between the background and the printing of the prescribed notice shall be no less than the contrast between the background and printing of any other words on the envelope or other wrapper.

d. A clear space no less than one-quarter of an inch wide shall surround the sender's name and address and the prescribed notice, separating each from any other matter appearing on the same envelope or cover.

.56 VIOLATIONS

.561 The following is a partial list of conduct which may violate 39 U.S.C. 3010 or 18 U.S.C. 1735:

a. The mailing of a sexually oriented advertisement in an envelope or other wrapper which does not bear the name and address of the sender and the legend Sexually Oriented Ad as provided by section 123.55;

b. The mailing directly or indirectly of a sexually oriented advertisement to a person whose name and address have been on the List for more than 30 days;

c. The sale, loan, lease, or licensing the use of the List or a copy thereof in whole or in part;

d. The use of the List or a copy of it in whole or in part for any other purpose than to insure that no mailings of sexually oriented advertisements are made to persons on the List.

.562 No person who mails sexually oriented advertisements only to persons who have specifically requested to receive the same will be deemed to have violated the statute or regulations, provided he is otherwise in compliance with the law, regardless of whether he has purchased and used the U.S. Postal Service List.

.563 A person who wishes to report that he has received an unsolicited sexually oriented advertisement after his name and address have been on the List for more than 30 days should submit the entire mail piece, including the envelope or other wrapper, to any postmaster. The mail piece must be opened by the addressee. When submitting the mail piece, the addressee must endorse the envelope or other wrapper and also the contents thereof in substance as follows: "I received this mail piece on (date)", and sign the statement. He should also state the identifying number appearing on his application if it is known to him. See section 123.521. The postmaster of the installation to which the mail piece is submitted shall send it without delay to the Postal Inspector in Charge of the Division which has geographical jurisdiction over the address of the mailer.

.564 If a violation of section 123.54 comes to the attention of any postal officer or employee, he shall, through his postmaster, report such violation to the postal inspector whose territory includes his postal installation. Mail of a mailer in violation or apparent violation of section 3010 may not be refused for dispatch or delivery without a proper court order. Appropriate instructions to postmasters will be issued in the event that a court order is obtained.

.565 A customer who wishes to ascertain whether his name has been placed on the List should direct his inquiry to the Director, Office of Mail Classification, Rates and Classification Department, U.S. Postal Service, Washington DC 20260.

.57 DISPOSAL OF ORIGINAL FORM 2201

It is anticipated that because of the possible volume of filings pursuant to section 123.521, it may be an undue burden upon the Postal Service to retain the original executed application forms. If it is determined by the Senior Assistant Postmaster General, Finance Group, to be such a burden, each application shall be photographed on microfilm as soon as the information required for compliance with section 123.524 has been obtained and shall thereafter be destroyed.

123.6 PANDERING ADVERTISEMENTS

.61 APPLICATION FOR PROHIBITORY ORDERS (39 U.S.C. §3008)

.611 An addressee who receives by mail an advertisement, whether solicited by him or not, offering for sale matter which he determines, in his sole discretion, is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative," may obtain a prohibitory order directing the mailer of the advertisement to refrain from making further mailings to him. Postal Service forms (Form 2150, Notice for Prohibitory Order Against Sender of Pandering Advertisement in the Mails; Publication 123, How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements) are available for the purpose of requesting such orders. The use of these forms is not mandatory, provided the information they solicit is presented in a signed written statement.

.612 An addressee who is the parent of one or more children under nineteen years of age residing with him may request an order on behalf of any or all of such children. Where the parent of any such child determines that matter offered for sale in an advertisement addressed to the child is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative," he may request issuance of an order prohibiting further mailings to such child.

.613 If at the time he applies for issuance of a prohibitory order, the addressee is receiving mail at more than one address, he may request that the order apply to any or all such addresses.

.614 A person entitled to receive mail addressed to a deceased person will be regarded as the addressee of such mail for purposes of obtaining a prohibitory order in the name of the deceased.

.615 A person authorized to receive mail addressed to a job title (e.g., sales manager) of any business, government agency, or institution, will be regarded as the addressee of such mail for purposes of obtaining a prohibitory order covering such job title.

.616 Any person having apparent authority to act for a business, governmental or institutional addressee will be regarded as the addressee of such organization's mail for purposes of obtaining a prohibitory order in the name of such organization.

.617 The application for prohibitory order may be submitted at any post office and must be accompanied by the advertisement upon which the application is based, and its opened envelope or other cover or wrapper. The postal services center serving the applicant's address (see Publication 26, Directory of Post Offices) is responsible for granting or denying the application. Applications submitted to other than the appropriate postal services center are to be forwarded promptly to such postal services center for processing. Publication 125, Administering the Pandering Advertisements Statute: A Guide for Postal Services Centers, provides guidance to assist the postal services centers in such processing.

.62 DENIAL OF APPLICATIONS

A prohibitory order will not be issued when the application is based upon one or more of the following:

a. The request of one whom the Postal Service finds does not qualify under any of the foregoing paragraphs of this section.
b. A mail piece which the Postal Service finds does not offer matter for sale.
c. A mail piece not originating with the person against whom the order is sought (e.g., a newspaper or magazine not mailed by the advertiser therein upon whose advertisement the application is based).
d. A mail piece received by a foreign addressee who has no regular mailing address at which mail is delivered directly by the Postal Service.
e. A mail piece sent by a mailer not subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.
f. A basis in any other way insufficient under the statute.

.63 ISSUANCE OF ORDERS

The prohibitory order forbids the mailer, his agents or assigns from making any further mailings to the designated addressees, effective on the thirtieth calendar day after the mailer's receipt of the order; directs immediate deletion of such addressees from all mailing lists owned or controlled by the mailer, his agents or assigns; and, prohibits any sale, rental, exchange, or other transaction by the mailer, his agents or assigns, involving mailing lists bearing the names of the designated addressees.

.64 AVAILABILITY OF REMEDIES

The fact that a name and address is included on the Postal Service list of those desiring not to receive any sexually oriented advertisements through the mails (see 123.5) does not in any way limit or affect the authority of the Postal Service to issue a prohibitory order protecting such name and address. Likewise, issuance of a prohibitory order does not in any way limit or affect the authority of the Postal Service to list, in accordance with 123.5, the name and address protected by such prohibitory order.

.65 VIOLATIONS

A person protected by a prohibitory order who receives a mail piece apparently in violation of such order should open the envelope or other outside cover of such mail piece and write thereon the identifying number of the prohibitory order (if known) and a statement indicating his receipt by mail and the date of receipt, e.g., "I received this mail piece (date)," followed by his signature. The mail piece should then be submitted directly, or via a post office, to the postal services center which issued the order. Such submission will constitute an application for enforcement of the order. When the Postal Service finds, after appropriate administrative proceedings as described in Publication 125 and Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 916, that enforcement action is warranted, it requests the Department of Justice to seek a court order directing compliance with the prohibitory order.

.66 ABANDONMENT OF APPLICATIONS

An applicant for a prohibitory order or its enforcement will be deemed to have abandoned his application if he fails to comply, within 60 days, with any request by the Postal Service to supplement, correct, or complete his application. Abandoned applications need not be retained by the Postal Service.

.67 VOID ORDERS

A prohibitory order will be considered void upon expiration of five years from the date of issuance, except that when application for enforcement of a prohibitory order has been made, it will not be considered void until expiration of five years from the last application for enforcement. Postal Service files relating to such void orders may be disposed of provided a record is maintained of the disposal of each such file and the reason therefor.

.68 MODIFIED ORDERS

.681 An addressee protected by a prohibitory order who has a permanent change of mailing address may continue the protection provided by the order by notifying the mailer of his change of address and his desire to have the order honored with respect to the new address. The notification should be in writing and should be forwarded to the mailer by registered mail, return receipt requested. The notification should state that the addressee previously obtained a prohibitory order, and should identify the order by giving the prohibitory order number. It should also state the address covered by the order, that the addressee has had a permanent change of address, and the new address which the addressee wishes covered.

.682 To permit enforcement with respect to any violation of the order at the new address, a copy of the notification and return mailing receipt must be submitted to the postal services center which issued the order. Such written notification shall modify the order by substituting the new address for the address designated in the original or previously modified order. An order thus modified will take effect in the same manner as the original order.

.69 RATIFIED ORDERS

Orders issued on behalf of persons who had not attained nineteen years of age will not be enforced with respect to mailings received by such persons after they attain the age of nineteen, unless they ratify the order by giving written notice to the postal services center which issued the order that they wish to have the order continue in effect as to themselves. Such notice should include the prohibitory order number.

Part 124

NONMAILABLE MATTER—ARTICLES AND SUBSTANCES; SPECIAL MAILING RULES

124.1 GENERAL PROVISIONS

.11 SCOPE

Certain potentially harmful or dangerous articles and substances are nonmailable. Some of them may be mailed if specially prepared for mailing, or if mailed between specified classes of persons. This Part covers the rules applicable to nonmailable articles and substances and the special rules under which certain of them may be mailed. See Part 123 for rules relating to nonmailable written, printed or graphic material.

.12 RESPONSIBILITY OF MAILER

The mailer is responsible for compliance with applicable postal laws and regulations governing mailability and preparation for mailing, as well as other laws and regulations pertaining to the shipment of particular matter. The general requirements applicable to preparation, packaging, and packing of mailable matter are contained in Part 121.

.13 MAILABILITY RULINGS

For rules on giving advice as to the mailability of matter covered by this Part and Part 123, see 123.3.

.14 OTHER LAWS AND REGULATIONS

The customer's right to mail particular matter may be affected by conditions or limitations upon transportation of specific articles imposed by Federal agencies having jurisdiction over interstate transportation. See, for example: 49 CFR Parts 100 through 189 (Department of Transportation Regulations); 14 CFR Part 103 (Federal Aviation Regulations); the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 (Public Law 91-513), 21 U.S.C. 801; and the Gun Control Act of 1968 (Public Law 90-618), 18 U.S.C. 921. For the rule on advising mailers about these other laws and regulations see 123.34.

.15 MARKINGS AND LABELS

.151 Identification of Contents

The identity or nature of contents of anything mailed under any of the provisions of Part 124, except firearms and switchblade knives (124.4), controlled substances (124.5) and motor vehicle master keys (124.6), must be stated plainly on the outside of the parcel as a condition of mailing. When the contents are hazardous material subject to Title 49 CFR, each package must be clearly marked on the outside with the required shipping name as set forth in 49 CFR Section 172.5.

.152 Address Marking

The name and address of both the mailer and the addressee must be affixed to the outside of any package, the mailing of which is covered by Part 124, using a material or method which is not water soluble and which cannot be easily rubbed off or smeared.

.153 Labels

Except for controlled substances mailed under 124.5, labels or other markings required by Federal law or regulation of any Federal agency must be securely affixed to the outside of the package. If the package is to be transported via aircraft, it must also bear the appropriate Department of Transportation hazardous material label.

.154 Airmail Shipment Certification

Every airmail shipment of restricted articles mailable under Part 124 shall be accompanied by a shipper's certification prepared in accordance with Federal Aviation Regulations, completed and signed in duplicate by the mailer.

.155 Customs Declaration for Canal Zone

Any package of merchandise, weighing 16 ounces or more, addressed to an individual in the Canal Zone must have customs declaration Form 2966-A, Parcel Post Customs Declaration (adhesive), and Form 2966, Customs Declaration (tie-on-tag), attached. Parcels addressed to a U.S. Government agency, including the Panama Canal Company, and the Canal Zone Government are exempt from this requirement.

124.2 HARMFUL MATTER (18 U.S.C. 1716)

.21 GENERAL

Except as provided below, any article, composition, or material which may kill or injure another, or injure the mail or other property, is nonmailable. Harmful matter includes, but is not limited to:

a. All kinds of poison or matter containing poison;
b. All poisonous animals, except scorpions (see 124.293d) all poisonous insects, all poisonous reptiles, and all kinds of snakes;
c. All disease germs or scabs;
d. Narcotics and other controlled substances as defined by 21 U.S.C. 801 or the regulations thereunder; and
e. All explosives, flammable material, infernal machines, and mechanical, chemical, or other devices or compositions which may ignite or explode.

Harmful matter also includes that which is likely to destroy, deface, or otherwise damage the mails or postal equipment, or which is likely to harm postal employees, such as caustic poisons (acids and alkalies), oxidizing materials, or highly flammable liquids, gases or solids; or which is likely under conditions incident to transportation to cause fires through friction, through absorption of moisture, through spontaneous chemical changes, or as a result of retained heat from manufacturing or processing; explosives or containers

.543 Use of Registered Mail Required

Parcels containing controlled substances, including those sent to D.E.A. Regional Offices for disposal (see 21 CFR 1307.21), generally must be sent by registered mail, return receipt requested. The Drug Enforcement Administration number or exemption status of the sender shall be set forth in the sender's address section of Form 3806 or Form 3877, as applicable. This information shall appear in the following format:

DEA Registration No. 654321

or

DEA Exempt—Police

.544 Regular Mail Permitted

The following may be sent by regular mail without regard to the provisions of 124.543:

a. Prescription medicines containing non-narcotic controlled substances listed in Schedule II in amounts not exceeding 100 dosage units.
b. Prescription medicine containing non-narcotic controlled substances listed in Schedules III, IV and V in amounts not exceeding a 100-day supply or 300 dosage units, whichever is less.
c. Physician's samples of medicines containing non-narcotic controlled substances in amounts not exceeding the limitations set forth in 124.544 a or b.

.55 EXEMPT SHIPMENTS

Small quantities of unknown matter suspected of containing controlled substances may be sent by regular mail without regard to the other provisions of 124.5 only when addressed to a Federal, State or local law enforcement agency for law enforcement purposes. Such mailings must comply with 124.542 (c) and (d).

.56 VIOLATIONS

Violations of this section shall be referred to the Inspection Service.

124.6 MOTOR VEHICLE MASTER KEYS (18 U.S.C. 1716A; 39 U.S.C. 3002)

.61 DEFINITION

Motor vehicle master key means any key (other than the key furnished by the manufacturer with the motor vehicle, or the key furnished with a replacement lock, or an exact duplicate of such keys) or manipulation type device designed to operate two or more motor vehicle ignition, door, or trunk locks of different combinations, including any pattern, impression, or mold from which a master key or manipulation device can be made.

.62 MAILABILITY

The items defined in 124.61, and any advertising (see 123.432) for the sale of any of these items, are nonmailable except when sent to:

a. Lock manufacturers
b. Professional locksmiths
c. Motor vehicle manufacturers or dealers
d. Federal, State or local Government agencies.

.63 MARKING

No markings of any kind which would indicate the nature of the contents shall be placed on the outside wrapper or container of any parcel containing motor vehicle master keys.

.64 QUESTIONED MAILINGS

When the postmaster at either the office of mailing or the office of address has reason to question whether the addressee qualifies under 124.62 to receive a mailing, or whether an item is nonmailable for any other reason, he shall require the mailer or addressee to furnish a written explanation of the addressee's eligibility, or of the item's mailability. If the explanation is not satisfactory to the postmaster, he shall forward it with his statement of the pertinent facts to the Office of Mail Classification, Rates and Classification Department, for a ruling.

124.7 ABORTIVE AND CONTRACEPTIVE DEVICES OR MATERIALS

.71 ABORTIVE DEVICES AND MATERIALS (18 U.S.C. 1461)

Any article or thing designed, adapted or intended for producing abortion is nonmailable. (For advertisements of abortive devices and materials see 123.433.)

.72 UNSOLICITED SAMPLES OF CONTRACEPTIVE MATERIALS (39 U.S.C. 3001; 18 U.S.C. 1461)

Unsolicited samples of articles or things, which are designed, adapted or intended for preventing conception, are mailable only when sent through the mails to a manufacturer of such articles or things, a dealer therein, a licensed physician or surgeon, or a nurse, pharmacist, druggist, hospital or clinic. (For advertisements of contraceptive materials, see 123.434.)

124.8 NONMAILABLE ARTICLES (18 U.S.C. 1716)

.81 INTOXICATING LIQUORS

Potable beverages of ½ percent or more alcoholic content by weight, which are taxable under Chapter 51, Internal Revenue Service Code, are nonmailable. If the product conforms to applicable requirements of the Internal Revenue Service and Food and Drug Administration and is neither an alcoholic beverage, poisonous nor flammable (see 124.24), it may be mailed. (For advertisements for the mailing of intoxicating liquor, see 123.431.)

.82 MATTER EMITTING OBNOXIOUS ODORS

Any matter which is a source of an obnoxious odor is nonmailable.

.83 LIQUIDS

Liquids and semi-solids which may liquefy under normal conditions and are otherwise mailable, must be adequately prepared for mailing in accordance with 121.53.

.84 BATTERY POWERED DEVICES

Devices which are powered by dry cell batteries shall have the batteries removed or deactivated to prevent activation of the device in the mail. Batteries with liquid electrolite are not acceptable (see 124.2).

.85 ODD SHAPED ITEMS IN ENVELOPES

Pens, bottle caps and similar odd-shaped items are not acceptable in letter style envelopes at the single piece first-, third- or fourth-class rate because they could burst the envelope and damage mail processing equipment or injure employees (see 121.324 and 123.431).

R. All alcoholic beverages, including those mailable under part 124.81 are prohibited.

S. No parcels (merchandise) of any kind accepted.

Subchapter 130 MAIL CLASSIFICATION AND RATES

Part 131

FIRST CLASS

131.1 RATES

.11 SINGLE PIECE RATES

The single piece rates are applied to each letter or piece of first-class mail according to its weight.

Kind of Mail	Rate
All first-class mail weighing 13 ounces or less except postal and post cards. See 136.12 for rates on first-class mail weighing more than 13 ounces.	13¢ for the first ounce or fraction of an ounce, 11¢ for each additional ounce or fraction of an ounce.
Single postal cards sold by the post office (see 141.13)	9¢ each.
Double postal cards sold by the post office (see 141.13)	18¢ (9¢ each portion).
Single post cards (see 131.222)	9¢ each.
Double post cards (see 131.222) (Reply portion of double post card does not have to bear postage when originally mailed.)	18¢ (9¢ each portion).
Presort rate (see 131.12)	The applicable first-class rate, less 1¢ per piece.
Business reply mail:
Cards	14¢ each.
Other than cards:
Weight not over two ounces	13¢ for the first ounce plus 11¢ for the second ounce, plus 5¢ per piece.
Weight over two ounces but not over 13 ounces	The applicable first-class rate plus 8¢ per piece.
Weight over 13 ounces	8¢ per piece plus rate in 136.12.
Airmail	See 136.1.

.12 BULK PRESORT RATE

.121 Identical Pieces

The bulk presort rate is equal to the applicable single piece first-class rate, less one cent for each piece that is part of a group of ten or more pieces sorted to the same five-digit ZIP Code, or of a group of fifty or more pieces sorted to the same three-digit ZIP Code, when they are presented at one post office as part of a single mailing of not less than 500 pieces of first-class mail of identical size and weight, each weighing 13 ounces or less. All pieces must be individually addressed to different addressees, and must be sorted to the maximum extent; i.e., all five-digit sorts in groups of ten or more must be exhausted before proceeding to make up all three-digit sorts in groups of fifty or more. Full first-class postage must be paid on the residue not sorted to groups of 5- or 3-ZIP Code digits as described above. The mailing must be presented at a place and between the hours designated by the postmaster and must comply with the preparation requirements in 131.5. Deposit of metered presort rate mail at other than these designated places will be considered misuse of a postage meter and grounds for revocation of the meter license in accordance with 144.23. Cards subject to sortation requirements of 131.224 are eligible for the presort rate if they meet all requirements for the rate.

.122 Nonidentical Pieces

A group of 500 or more nonidentical pieces within the same postage rate increment, which otherwise qualify under 131.121, may be mailed at the presort rate when postage is paid by meter stamps. Nonidentical pieces of the same or different postage rate increments which otherwise qualify under 131.121 may be mailed at the presort rate under permit imprint only when authorized by the Postal Service as part of an optional procedure in accordance with 145.8, or an experimental procedure under the provisions of 145.9. Optional procedures for mailing nonidentical pieces must be approved by the Office of Mail Classification.

.12 NONSTANDARD SURCHARGE

There is currently no surcharge for nonstandard mail as defined in 131.34. However, it is anticipated that such a surcharge will be imposed sometime in calendar year 1978.

131.2 CLASSIFICATION

.21 DESCRIPTION

.211 First-class mail consists of mailable:

a. Postal cards.
b. Post cards.
c. Matter wholly or partially in writing or typewriting, except authorized additions to second-, third-, and fourth-class mail provided by 132.471, 132.472, 134.6 and 135.5, and written or typewritten matter listed in 135.24 and 135.26.
d. Matter closed against postal inspection.
e. Bills and statements of account.

.212 Examples of first-class matter:

a. Handwritten or typewritten matter, including identical copies prepared by automatic typewriter, and manifold or carbon copies of such matter. Handwritten or typewritten matter does not include matter produced by computers.
b. Autograph albums containing writing.

c. Notebooks or blank books containing written or typewritten entries or stenographic or shorthand notes.
d. Blank printed forms filled out in writing, such as notices, certificates, and checks either canceled or uncanceled.
e. Printed price lists containing written figures changing individual items.
f. Printed cards or letters bearing a written date, where the date is not the date of the card but gives information as to when something will occur or has occurred.
g. Printed matter such as receipts, orders and printed letters not sent in identical terms to several persons that, by having a signature attached, are converted into personal communications. This does not apply to Christmas or similar printed greeting cards.

.213 Two or more individuals or firms, or a party acting as the agent of two or more individuals or firms, may not mail in one envelope to a mutual addressee the bills, statements of account, or other letters of the individuals or firms, unless the envelope is endorsed on the address side to show the number and weight of each letter enclosed and sufficient postage is paid at the first-class rate on each such letter. Firms that are distinct legal entities are treated as separate firms for purposes of this regulation, regardless of their affiliation.

.214 An individual or firm may mail in one envelope more than one of its own letters to an addressee and pay postage at the first-class rate on the weight of the piece. Agents of a licensing authority may forward completed applications in one envelope to an office of the licensing authority and pay postage at the first-class rate on the weight of the piece.

.215 The following provisions are applicable to matter closed against postal inspection:

a. The Postmaster General may prescribe the manner of wrapping and securing mail not charged with first-class postage so that the contents of the mail may be easily examined. He shall charge the first-class rate of postage on all matter that cannot be examined easily.
b. To ascertain whether the proper rate of postage has been paid, postmasters may examine second-class mail and remove the wrappers and envelopes from other mail not bearing first-class postage if it can be done without destroying them.
c. Matter closed against inspection includes mail of any class so wrapped as not to be easily examined, except second-, third-, or fourth-class matter sealed subject to postal inspection. See 125.25, 134.8, and 135.6.

.216 The following is a description of bills and statements of account:

a. A bill is a request for payment of a definite sum of money claimed to be owing by the addressee either to the sender or to a third party. The mere assertion of an indebtedness in a definite sum combined with a demand for payment is sufficient to make the message a bill.
b. Generally, a statement of account is the assertion of the existence of a debt in a definite amount owed by the addressee either to the sender or to a third party but which does not necessarily contain a request or a demand for payment. The amount may be immediately due or may become due after a certain time or upon demand or billing at a later date.
c. A bill or statement of account must present the particulars of an indebtedness with sufficient definiteness to inform the debtor of the amount he is required to pay to acquit himself of the debt. However, neither a bill nor a statement of account need state the precise amount if it contains sufficient information to enable the debtor to determine the exact amount of the claim asserted.
d. A bill or statement of account is not the less a bill or statement of account merely because the amount claimed is not in fact owing or may not be legally collectible.

.22 POSTAL AND POST CARDS

.221 Postal Cards

A postal card is a card supplied by the Postal Service with a postage stamp printed or impressed on it, for the transmission of messages. A double postal card consists of two attached cards, each of which has printed or impressed thereon a postage stamp of the first-class rate for postal cards denomination, and one of which may be detached by the receiver and returned by mail as a reply.

.222 Post Cards

Post cards are privately printed mailing cards for the transmission of messages. They may not be larger than the size fixed by the Convention of the Universal Postal Union in effect and of approximately the same form, quality, and weight as postal cards. A double post card consists of two attached cards, each of which is subject when mailed to the first-class postage rate for post cards, and one of which may be detached by the receiver and returned by mail as a reply. The cardboard used for single and double post cards may be of any light color that does not prevent legible addresses and postmarks from being placed thereon. Brilliant colors must not be used. Single post cards and each part of double post cards must conform to the following specifications to qualify for mailing at the first-class postage rate for post cards (see 131.1):

a. Size, Shape, and Ratio. Not larger than 4¼ by 6 inches, nor smaller than 3 by 4¼ inches. Rectangular in shape. A ratio of width (height) to length between 1 to 1.3 & 1 to 2.5 is recommended. (See 131.32 and 134.32.)
b. Quality, Weight, and Thickness. An unfolded and uncreased piece of cardboard of approximately the quality and weight of a postal card; thickness not less than 0.006 or more than 0.0095 of an inch; and the cardboard to be uniform in thickness and as near 0.0090 as possible.
c. Green Border Cards. See 141.115.

.223 Restrictions on the Use of Double Postal and Post Cards

The users of both double postal and post cards which conform to the specifications stated in 131.222 a and b must comply with the following rules:

a. Double cards must be folded before mailing. The first half must be detached when the reply half is mailed for return.
b. The reply portion of a double card must be used for reply purposes only. It must not be used to convey a message to the original addressee of the double card, to cover up the message on the original portion, or to send statements of account.
c. Double cards must be prepared so that the address on the reply portion is on the inside when the double card is mailed.
d. Plain stickers or seals or a single wire stitch may be used to fasten the edges, provided they are so fixed that the inner folds of the cards can be readily examined.
e. Enclosures are prohibited.

.224 Additions, Attachments, and Other Alterations to Single and Double Postal and Post Cards

The users of both single and double postal and post cards which conform to the specifications stated in 131.222 a and b must comply with the following limitations:

a. The face of the card may be divided by a vertical line, the left half to be used for the message and the right half for the address only.
b. The message on a single card, or on the first portion of a double card, may occupy the space to the left of the vertical line and the entire back of the card.
c. Labels may be affixed by adhesive for the purpose of showing the address and the return address. Cards bearing other attachments are nonmailable as postal cards or post cards.
d. Numbers used for accounting purposes may be shown on a shaded background below the address. Holes which do not eliminate any letters or numbers may be punched in either the address or message portion of the card. A vertical tearing guide may divide the face of the card. The address portion may be smaller than the remainder of the card. However, mailings of cards having one or more of these four characteristics must meet all of the following conditions:

(1) The mailings must consist of not less than 200 cards which are identical as to size and weight.
(2) The addresses on the cards must include ZIP Code numbers.
(3) Postage must be paid in cash by permit imprints (see part 145); by meter stamps (see part 144); or by precanceled stamps (see part 143).
(4) The mailer must separate the cards to the finest extent possible and sack them in the manner prescribed by 134.43.

e. It is recommended that all cards having a thickness less than 0.0085 of an inch meet all of the conditions in 131.224d (1), (2), (3), and (4).

.225 Cards Other Than Postal and Post Cards

Matter which is in the form of a single or double card but which does not conform to the specifications for a single or double post card stated in 131.222a and b may not be mailed at the first-class postage rate for post cards. Nonconforming mailable matter in the form of single or double cards is not subject to the rules and restrictions provided in 131.223 and 131.224; it is subject when mailed to postage at the first-class letter rate or at the applicable third-class rate according to its classification as first- or third-class matter; and it must not bear the words Post Card or Double Post Card. Single or double cards conforming to the specifications stated in 131.222a and b, which are entirely in print, and which do not bear the words Post Card or Double Post Card, if otherwise mailable, may at the option of the mailer be mailed at the applicable third-class postage rate instead of the first-class postage rate for post cards. See 131.3 and 134.3 for a list of physical characteristics which cause cards to be nonmailable.

.226 Postal and Post Cards as Enclosures

Stamps on postal and post cards enclosed in outer wrappers may not apply as postage on the mailing piece.

.227 Presorted First-Class Mail

Presorted first-class mail is mail presented in a manner that preserves the orientation, facing, and ZIP Code sequence of the pieces.

.23 BUSINESS REPLY MAIL

.231 Purpose

Specially printed business reply cards, envelopes, cartons, and labels may be distributed for use by mailers in sending mail to the distributor without prepayment of postage.

.232 Permit

a. A permit to distribute business reply cards, envelopes, cartons, and labels is required. An application on Form 3614, Application to Distribute Business Reply Cards, Envelopes and Labels, must be submitted at the post office where the mail will be returned, except as follows: if matter bearing the business reply imprint is distributed from a central office to be returned to branches or dealers in other cities, one permit obtained from the post office where the central office is located may be used to cover all the business reply mail.
b. On receipt of the application, the postmaster will complete the permit portion of the form and deliver it to the applicant. The application portion of the form will be filed in the post office by the permit number. Permits issued at each post office will be numbered consecutively starting with No. 1 for the first permit. Numbers of canceled permits may be used when issuing new permits. Each post office will keep an alphabetical card record of each permit on Form 3619, Permit Number Record.

c. When payment is not by use of an advance deposit trust account, postage is collected on each piece of business reply mail at the time it is delivered. Postage due stamps for the amount due will be affixed to the mail or to Form 3582-A, Postage Due Bill. The stamps will be canceled and delivered to the addressee with the mail when he pays the amount due. Business reply mail will not be mixed with other mail in direct packages or sacks for individuals or concerns. See 131.233 for amount to be collected which may not include fees for any special services.
d. Cards which do not conform to the specifications contained in 131.222 are to be charged postage at the regular first-class rate, and not at the card rate.

.233 Postage and Fees

a. An annual fee of $30 will be charged each calendar year for each permit issued. The $30 permit fee is applicable at each office where mail will be returned except that if the business reply is to be distributed from a central office for return to branches or dealers in other cities, one permit obtained from the post office where the central office is located may be used to cover all the business reply mail of the distributor, if the holder provides a copy of the receipt to each office where mail is to be returned under that permit. The permit holder guarantees payment of postage and fees on any returns refused by such branches or dealers.
b. Permit holders will have the option of keeping a Business Reply Mail (BRM) advance deposit trust account at the post office, or paying postage due charges to the carrier upon delivery. A $75 accounting fee will be charged for each BRM advance deposit trust account at each post office where the mail is to be returned. This fee will be paid each calendar year or portion thereof. No accounting fee will be charged to customers who do not maintain an advance deposit. The business reply advance deposit trust account will be used only for payment of business reply postage and fees.
c. When payment is by BRM advance deposit trust account as provided for in 131.233b, the amount to be collected is the appropriate first-class, airmail, or priority postage plus a surcharge of 3.5 cents per peice.
d. When no BRM advance deposit trust account is maintained, the amount to be collected is the appropriate first-class, airmail or priority postage, plus a surcharge of 12 cents per piece. Payment at the 12-cent rate may be paid in cash or through a regular postage due account.
e. Business reply mail addressed to several different firms at the same delivery unit may be delivered to one agent under one advance deposit trust account. The business reply mail for each firm participating in such arrangements must be covered under a valid business reply permit. Only one billing is to be provided by the Postal Service for each business reply advance deposit trust account. If the agent, or any of the firms participating in such arrangements desire separation of their charges, a separate trust account and accounting fee are required.
f. Third party business reply mail arrangements, whereby business reply pieces are distributed by a company, under its own permit and with its own indicia, for use by another party which is neither a branch nor a dealer of the distributor, are permissible provided:
   (1) The holder of the permit number appearing on the mail guarantees payment of postage and fees for all business reply pieces which he distributes;
   (2) The holder of the permit number appearing on the piece pays the annual business reply permit fee; and
   (3) The addressee to whom the piece is returned obtains its own business reply permit fee and itself pays the annual business reply permit fee and, if desired, the annual business reply accounting fee.

.234 Form of Imprint and Address

Any photographic, mechanical, or electronic process, or any combination of such processes, other than handwriting, typewriting, or handstamping, may be used to prepare the address side of business reply cards, envelopes, cartons, or labels. The address side must be prepared both as to style and content in one of the following forms without the addition of any matter other than a return address (see 141.114g for business reply window envelope requirements):

a. Alternate Style and Content for Domestic Surface Mail

b. Alternate Style and Content for Domestic Surface Mail

c. Style and Content for Domestic Airmail. Use alternating red and blue parallelograms for the border.

.235 Distribution

Business reply cards, envelopes, cartons, and labels may be distributed:

a. In any quantity for return by surface or airmail. When prepared by the distributor for return by surface mail, business reply mail may not be accepted for return by air unless postage is fully prepaid at the airmail rate.
b. To any post office in the United States and its Territories and possessions, including military post offices overseas; except in the Canal Zone, where they may not be returned without prepayment of postage. They should not be sent to any foreign country.
c. In any manner except by depositing in receptacles provided by customers for receipt of mail.

.236 Responsibility of Distributor

The distributor guarantees payment on delivery of postage on returned business reply mail. Any concern distributing business reply cards, envelopes, cartons, or labels under one permit for return to its branches or dealers guarantees to pay postage on any returns refused by any authorized addressees.

131.3 WEIGHT AND SIZE LIMITS

.31 WEIGHT

Each piece may weigh not more than 70 pounds.

.32 SIZE

Each piece may measure not to exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined. See 135.32 for instructions on how to measure.

.33 SHAPE, RATIO, AND SEALING FOR ENVELOPES, CARDS, AND SELF-MAILERS

The following standards apply to envelopes, cards, and self-mailers having postage paid thereon at the first-class postage rate:

a. Pieces less than 3 inches in width (height) or 4¼ inches in length are nonmailable.
b. Pieces having shapes other than rectangular are nonmailable.
c. Pieces having a ratio of width (height) to length between 1 to 1.3 and 1 to 2.5 are recommended.
d. Pieces not sealed or secured on all four edges so that they may be handled by machines are not recommended.
e. Cards having a thickness of less than 0.006 of an inch are nonmailable.

.34 NONSTANDARD FIRST-CLASS MAIL

.341 First-class mail weighing one ounce or less is nonstandard unless it meets the following size standards:

a. Length not greater than 11.5 inches, and
b. Height not greater than 6.125 inches, and
c. Thickness not greater than .25 inch, and
d. An aspect ratio (ratio of height to length) between 1:1.3 and 1:2.5 inclusive.

.342 Nonstandard mail often results in delays or damage to mail because it does not lend itself to machine processing. For this reason, mailers are encouraged to avoid mailing nonstandard first-class mail. It is anticipated that a surcharge will be imposed sometime in calendar year 1978 for nonstandard first-class mail.

131.4 PAYMENT OF POSTAGE

.41 SINGLE PIECE RATE

Mailers of first-class matter at single piece rate may pay postage by adhesive stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards, meter stamps, and permit imprints.

.42 BULK RATE

Mailings made at presort rates must be paid only by meter stamps or permit imprints. Metered postage must be for the first-class presort rate for qualifying pieces and the full first-class rate for residual pieces.

.43 ANNUAL FEE

A first-class presort mailing fee of $30 must be paid once each calendar year at each office of mailing by or for any person who mails first-class or airmail matter at presort rates. Any person who engages a business concern or another individual to mail for him must pay the $30 fee. This fee is separate from the fee that must be paid for a permit to mail under the permit imprint system (146.1).

131.5 PREPARATION OF PRESORT RATE MAIL

.51 ADDRESSES

The address on each piece must include the ZIP Code (or carrier route code if presorted directly to carriers).

.52 MARKINGS REQUIRED

Identifying words PRESORTED FIRST-CLASS or PRESORTED AIRMAIL must be incorporated as part of the permit imprint or be printed or rubber stamped by the mailer on each piece above the address and immediately below or to the left of the meter stamps or permit imprints. The marking may be printed by a postage meter, special slug, or ad plate. All pieces in the mailing including residual pieces not qualifying for the lower presort rate must be so marked.

.53 MAILING STATEMENT

Mailers who qualify for the first-class presort rate (see 131.121) must complete and submit a mailing statement with each mailing. The statement must be signed by the mailer or his authorized agent:

a. Form 3602, Statement of Mailing - Permit Imprint, for mail with permit imprints. If editions of the form earlier than December 1975 are used, two forms must be used: one for those qualifying for the lower presort rate, and one for those which do not. The form for those qualifying for the lower presort rate must be marked PRESORT RATE across the top of the form, and should only list the items which qualify for the lower presort rate. The form for the non-qualifying pieces must be marked Presort Residual across the top of the form and should only list the items which do not qualify for the lower presort rate.

b. Form 3602-PC, Mailing Statement - Bulk Rates, for mail bearing meter stamps. If editions of the form earlier than May 1976 are used, two forms must be used: one for those qualifying for the lower presort rate, and one for those which do not. The form for the qualifying pieces must be marked PRESORT RATE across the top of the form, and should only list the items which qualify for the lower presort rate. The form for the non-qualifying pieces must be marked Presort Residual across the top of the form and should only list the items which do not qualify for the lower presort rate.

.54 SORTING REQUIREMENTS

.541 Packages

When there are 10 or more pieces to the destinations described in 131.545a and/or 50 or more pieces to the destinations described in 131.545b and c, they must be secured together as a package by the mailer. Rubber bands are the only acceptable means of securing packages in trayed mail.

.542 Rubber Bands

Rubber bands will be provided by USPS and will be used by mailers to secure packages of bulk mail under the following conditions:

a. Packages of pieces measuring up to 5 by 11-1/2 inches are to be secured in packages with rubber bands.
b. Packages should not exceed approximately 4 inches in thickness.
c. Packages up to one inch in thickness shall be secured with one rubber band around the girth. Packages between one and four inches in thickness shall be secured with two rubber bands, the first around the length and the second around the girth.

.543 Labeling of Packages

Package labels must be used to identify the makeup of presorted bundles of mail:

a. Place coded pressure sensitive labels in the lower left corner on the address side of the top piece in the package.
b. Do not date package labels.

.544 Traying

a. Packages are to be made up into trays in accordance with 131.545. Two-letter state abbreviations are to be used on labels. In lieu of traying, postmasters may authorize pouching or other suitable containerization of presorted mail when mutually beneficial to the mailer and the Postal Service and when the integrity of the presort can be maintained.
b. Pouches must be made up in accordance with the procedures prescribed for trays in 131.545 and with the prescribed pouch tags. Packages must be pouched by the mailer when there are enough for the same destination to fill approximately one-third of a pouch. The total weight of pieces placed in one pouch must not exceed 50 pounds. The residual must be clearly segregated from the lower rated presorted mail.

.545 Sortation

a. Five-digit ZIP Code Delivery Unit Packages and Trays
(1) Packages. When there are 10 or more pieces but less than a full tray addressed to the same five-digit ZIP Code delivery unit, they must be prepared in packages of 10 or more pieces not more than 4 inches in thickness by the mailer. The pieces in the packages must be faced in the same direction and secured with one or two rubber bands around each package as provided by 131.542. Red label D must be affixed to the lower left corner on the address side of the top piece in each package.

(2) Presorted Trays. When there is enough mail for the same five-digit ZIP Code delivery unit to fill a tray (approximately 500 pieces), a direct five-digit tray must be prepared. Mail left over after filling direct trays must be bundled and placed in the appropriate city or SCF mail tray with the same first three digits. A pouch label must be firmly affixed to the end of the tray. Direct five-digit trays or containers must be labeled in the following manner:

PHILADELPHIA PA 19118
FCM PRESORTED
FR JC COMPANY BOSTON MA

b. City Packages and Trays
(1) Packages. When there are 50 or more pieces, but less than a full tray, remaining for a city with a unique three-digit ZIP Code prefix, after the five-digit ZIP Code delivery unit packages required by 131.545a(1) have been prepared, they must be made up as city packages and must be secured with one or two rubber bands as provided by 131.542. Cities with unique 3-digit ZIP Codes are listed in the upper case letters in the listing of ZIP Code Prefixes contained in Publication 26, Directory of Post Offices. Yellow Label C must be affixed in the lower left corner on the address side of the top piece each package.
(2) Presorted Trays. City mail plus any packages for five-digit ZIP Code delivery units within those cities not trayed, as provided for by 131.545a(2), must be prepared in City trays. A mixed city pouch label must be firmly affixed to the end of each tray. City trays must be labeled in the following manner:

PHILADELPHIA PA 191
FCM PRESORTED
FR JAY MAILING CO CINCINNATI OH

Mail left over after filling trays must be bundled and placed in an SCF tray.

c. Sectional Center Facility (SCF) Packages and Trays
(1) Packages. When there are 50 or more pieces, but less than a full tray, remaining for the same three-digit ZIP Code prefix, after the packages required by 131.545a(1) and b(1) have been prepared, they must be bundled as SCF packages to that three-digit ZIP Code prefix. The pieces in the packages must be faced in the same direction and secured with one or two rubber bands as provided by 131.542. Green Label 3 must be affixed in the lower left corner on the address side of the top piece in each package.
(2) Presorted Trays. SCF packages plus any five-digit and city packages not trayed, as provided for by 131.545a(2) and b(2), and which are destined for the same sectional center facility must be prepared in SCF trays. An SCF pouch label must be firmly affixed to the end of each tray. SCF trays must be labeled in the following manner:

SCF PHILADELPHIA PA 190
FCM PRESORTED
FR Q MAILERS BALTO MD

Presorted mail left over after filling SCF trays must be bundled. It is recommended, but not required, that these be placed in state trays. If state trays are not prepared, bundles must be placed in mixed states trays.

d. State Trays
It is recommended, but not required, that packages remaining after traying, in accordance with 131.545a(2), b(2), and c(2), be prepared in state trays. A state pouch label in the following format must be firmly affixed to the end of the tray:

DIS CHICAGO IL 606
IL FCM PRESORTED
FR RECORD CHICAGO IL

e. Mixed States Trays

Packages remaining after traying in accordance with 131.454a(2), b(2), c(2) and d, must be prepared in Mixed States trays. A mixed states pouch label in the following format must be firmly affixed to the end of the tray:

DIS CHICAGO IL 606
MIXED STATES FCM PRESORTED
FR RECORD CHICAGO IL

f. Residual Mail
(1) Pieces remaining after bundles have been prepared into packages in accordance with 131.545a through e, are residual mail and are ineligible for the lower presort rate. Packages of residual mail must be placed in trays in such a way as to maintain the orientation and the ZIP Code sequence of the presort. Trays containing residual mail are not to bear a pouch label. The mail must be presented together with the lower-rated portion of a mailing, but must be clearly segregated therefrom to facilitate verification of the quantities of both the lower rated and residual pieces.
(2) In order to speed processing of the mail, it is recommended, but not required, that the mailer prepare state packages when there are 10 or more pieces to the same state. Orange label S must be affixed to the lower left corner of the address side of the top piece in each package.

g. Exceptions to Bundling
(1) The bundling requirements for presorted mail left over after filling full trays described in a through e may be waived when the use of separating tabs is approved by the local postmaster.
(2) The local postmaster may also waive the bundling requirements for loose-packed presorted flat mail sorted to one five-digit ZIP Code destination, when there is enough quantity to fill a number 3 sack. The flats must measure not less than approximately 8 inches high by 10 inches long.

131.6 PRESORT VERIFICATION

.61 Procedure

A designated employee in the weighing section, or other location where bulk mailings are accepted, shall verify that each mailing made at the presort rate is properly made up and presorted and qualifies for the presort rate. This is in addition to the postage computation verification performed for permit imprint mailings in accordance with 145.57. The designated employee must:

a. Verify that each mailing consist of at least 500 presorted pieces.
b. For each 10 trays or fraction thereof in a mailing:
(1) Select 2 trays of five-digit makeup and randomly withdraw and inspect by riffling 3 handfuls (about 120 letters) from each of the 2 trays to determine whether the tray contains letters bearing other than the five-digit ZIP Code as shown on the tray label. If a discrepancy of 10 or more pieces is found, the mailing is disqualified.

(2) Select 2 trays of three-digit makeup and follow the procedures in (1).

(3) For the trays in (1) and (2), check if the proper labels are attached. If one improper label is found, check a total of ten trays. More than one improper label in ten trays is considered disqualifying.

(4) Check one tray of bundled mail to determine if the proper color-coded pressure sensitive package label is used on packages. If a wrong label is encountered, check a total of ten packages. More than one occurrence in ten packages is considered disqualifying.

(5) Check two packages to see if all pieces are in the proper bundles. If any improper bundling is detected, a total of five packages is to be checked. If more than four such improper pieces are in the five packages, the mailing is disqualified.

c. Riffle through one tray of residual mail to verify that it is in ZIP Code sequence. More than ten out of sequence in a tray is considered disqualifying.

d. If a mailing is disqualified, the next mailing by the customer at presort rates shall have twice the amount of pieces checked as called for above. In addition, one-fifth of the customer's mailings over the next six months shall receive such intensified checks.

e. For permit mailings, verify that the quantity of lower rated presorted mail agrees with Form 3602. This is done by weighing the presorted mail and dividing the weight by the weight of a single piece.

f. For permit mailings, verify that the quantity of residual mail agrees with Form 3602. This is done by weighing the residual mail and dividing the weight by the weight of a single piece.

g. Return permit imprint mailings to the mailer for corrective action or apply full rates as prescribed in 131.62 when the mailing does not qualify for the presort rate.

h. For metered mail spot check at least one tray of lower-rated pieces and one tray of residual mail to verify that proper postage is applied. If the pieces are not of identical weight, several of the heavier pieces are to be weighed and verified.

i. Return metered mailings and Form 3602-PC to the mailer for corrective action when one or more trays or pouches are found to contain mail with incorrect postage affixed, or improperly dated, or when the mailing does not qualify for the presort rate (see 131.62).

j. Mailers who elect to correct presort problems that result in disqualification of the mailing will generally be unable to return metered mail to the acceptance unit on the same day originally presented. The date in the meter stamp will thus reflect an incorrect mailing date. If the mailing is presented on the day immediately following its initial presentation and if it then meets all other acceptance requirements, accept the mailing on a one-time only basis when:

(1) Its initial presort deficiencies resulted from mailing equipment problems beyond the mailer's control, or

(2) It is the customer's first mailing at the presort rate and the improper presort resulted from misinformation or misunderstanding of the presort requirements.

.82 ACCEPTANCE OF UNQUALIFIED METERED OR PERMIT IMPRINT MAILING AT SINGLE PIECE RATES

When the verification prescribed by 131.61 reveals a disqualification for the presort rate on a mailing, the mailer may elect to pay the single piece first-class or airmail rate in lieu of correcting the disqualification. Mailers may correct the Form 3602 or Form 3602-PC for unqualified mailings to indicate postage is to be paid at single piece first-class or airmail rates in 131.11 and 136.11. All other provisions of Part 145 are applicable to such mailings. Mailers of unqualified metered mailings must pay the difference in cash at the window and present their copy of the cash receipt at the acceptance point before their mail can be released for processing.

131.7 MAIL SENT BY MEMBERS OF THE U.S. ARMED FORCES

.71 LETTERS SENT POSTAGE COLLECT

Letters sent by soldiers, sailors, airmen, and marines in the United States military service located in the United States or other places where United States domestic mail service operates, addressed to places in the United States, may be dispatched for collection on delivery, under the following conditions:

a. The address side of the letter must be marked Soldier's Letter, Airman's Letter, Sailor's Letter, or Marine's Letter, as appropriate.

b. Under the marking, the letter must bear the signature and official designation, either with facsimile handstamp or in writing, of a commissioned officer to whose command the soldier or airman belongs, or of a surgeon or chaplain at a hospital where he is; and in the Navy and Marine service, of a commissioned officer attached to the vessel on which the member is serving or an officer commanding a hospital or detachment ashore where he is.

c. Postage, at single rate for each ounce or fraction, is collected on delivery.

.72 LETTERS SENT FREE

.721 Any personal letter mail, including post cards, in the usual and generally accepted form, and sound-recorded communications having the character of personal correspondence may be mailed free of postage under the following conditions:

a. When mailed by:

(1) Any member of the U.S. Armed Forces (Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard) at any U.S. military post office in Vietnam and contiguous waters, as defined by regulations of the Department of Defense.

(2) Any member of the U.S. Armed Forces hospitalized in a facility under the jurisdiction of the Armed Forces of the United States as the result of disease or injury incurred as a result of military service or operations in Vietnam and contiguous waters, and air space thereover.

b. When mailed to:

(1) Any place within the United States, including Puerto Rico or any other possession of the United States, where the domestic mail service operates.

(2) Any Army and Air Force or Navy post office.

c. When such mail bears:

(1) In the upper right corner of the address side, in the handwriting of the sender, the word FREE, and

(2) In the upper left corner of the address side the name of the sender, his service number, grade, and complete military address.

.722 Letter mail, post cards, and sound-recorded communications sent free under the conditions in 131.721 will be afforded transportation by air or other means which will give the earliest possible delivery to the addressee. This mail may not be registered, insured, or certified. It may be accepted as special delivery mail upon payment of the required fee.

131.8 SHIP LETTERS

.81 VESSELS NOT REGULAR MAIL CARRIERS

Letters for delivery in the United States, carried by vessels not regularly employed in carrying the mail, are charged double rate of postage to cover the fee paid to the vessel. The postage may be collected at the office of delivery or prepaid with United States postage stamps.

.82 VESSELS OPERATING OVER POST ROAD

Letters and packages carried from one port to another in the United States over a water route that is wholly a post road by law, in a private ship or vessel, are charged single rate of postage. If part of the water route is not a post road, double rates of postage are charged.

.83 DELIVERY BY THE MASTER OF A VESSEL

Wholly unpaid printed matter delivered to the post office by the master of a vessel arriving from a foreign port and not regularly engaged in carrying mail, is charged with double the third-class rate of domestic postage, to be collected on delivery, and dispatched to its destination.

Part 132

SECOND CLASS

132.1 RATES

.11 RATES CHARGED ON COPIES FOR DELIVERY WITHIN THE COUNTY WHERE PUBLISHED AND ENTERED AND FOR DELIVERY AT POST OFFICE WHERE PUBLISHERS' HEADQUARTERS OR GENERAL BUSINESS OFFICES ARE LOCATED

.111 When Mailed at Office of Original Entry

a. For delivery of publications other than weeklies at office of original entry by its letter carriers. b. For delivery of publications other than weeklies by the letter carriers at a different post office than the office of original entry within the delivery limits of which the headquarters or general business office of the publisher is located (except that the pound rates from the office of mailing apply if they are higher).	Publications issued more frequently than weekly: 1.6¢ per copy. Publications issued less frequently than weekly: Copies weighing 2 ounces or less: 1.6¢ per copy. Copies weighing more than 2 ounces: 2.7¢ per copy.
c. For delivery of weekly publications to addressees residing within the county where published from all offices within or without the county including the office of original entry. d. For delivery of all publications, of whatever frequency, through post office boxes or general delivery, and for delivery by rural or star route carriers, at an office of original entry which has letter carrier service. e. For delivery of all publications, of whatever frequency, by whatever services are provided, at an office of original entry which does not have letter carrier service. f. For delivery of all publications, of whatever frequency, to addressees residing within the county where published, from all offices within or without the county, other than the office of original entry.	1.8¢ (one and eight tenths cents) per pound or fraction of a pound plus 0.6¢ (six-tenths of a cent) per piece charge.

.112 When Mailed at Office of Additional Entry

a. The per copy rates in 132.111 a or b, for publications other than weekly, apply to copies mailed at additional entry offices and addressed for delivery either at the office of original entry or at the publisher's headquarters office, when postage at these rates is higher than the postage computed at the rates in 132.12.

b. The charges prescribed by 132.111 c, d, e, and f also apply to copies of publications, of whatever frequency, mailed at an office of additional entry located within the county where published and entered, to addressees residing within the county, for delivery at all offices within or without the county, including the office of additional entry, by whatever delivery services are provided.

.113 Independent Cities

Each publication having original entry at an incorporated city which is situated entirely within a county or which is situated contiguous to one or more counties in the same State, but which is politically independent of such county or counties, shall be considered to be within and a part of the county with which it is principally contiguous and copies mailed into that county are chargeable with postage at the rates in 132.111. Where more than one county is involved, the publisher will select the principal county and notify the postmaster.

.12 RATES CHARGED ON COPIES FOR DELIVERY OUTSIDE THE COUNTY WHERE PUBLISHED AND ENTERED, AND ON COPIES MAILED AT AN OFFICE OF ADDITIONAL ENTRY LOCATED OUTSIDE THE COUNTY WHERE PUBLISHED AND ENTERED (Publishers authorized to mail publications at the postage rates in 132.121 must submit an annual written request for authority to mail matter at the phased rates of postage provided pursuant to 39 U.S.C. 3626. A block for this purpose is provided on Form 3526, Statement of Ownership, Management and Circulation, for the editor, publisher, business manager or owner to sign in order to comply with this requirement. Failure to sign the appropriate block will subject the publication to the full rates.)

.121 All Publications, Except Those Accepted at the Special Rate (132.122), Classroom Rate (132.123), or Science of Agriculture Rate (132.124)
